RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

Taking everything into consideration, the Eastern Ontario division of the OHA's senior "A" set-up is sitting rather pretty.

Forget this "Cinderella" tripe. It's been overworked. The Eastern league set a record by it's champions the Whitby Dunlops grabbing the Allan Cup, thereby elevating the toddling infantile loop into mature practically overnight.

Three of its five active teams finished in the black. That, in itself is a record, as far as senior "A" leagues go. Its champions may represent Canada in next year's world hockey championships. That is another record.

The tottering western and northern groups, beset by financial juggling, are now clutching at straws. In other words both are indulging in desperate battles for survival.

Actually, the winning of the Allan Cup by the Eastern division champions from Whitby, a precedent if ever there was one, has started a general shake-up of senior "A" hockey in all leagues.

The Dunlops proved, as did their Eastern Ontario league clubs, that senior "A" hockey can provide fandom with the type of hockey it wants with — and get this— proper administration and emphasis on operational costs, especially players salaries.

That, is the bugbear of the western and northern divisions. And it is their own fault.

They paid the players — now they are paying the hockey piper. Chatham and wealthy Windsor appear to be the only teams left in the western division. Stratford and Owen Sound have to be resurrected.

In the southern division of the Northern Ontario Hockey Association three teams are said to be ready for next year's operations, if not the loop is a dish hungry. All the league squads with the exception of Sudbury look a heavy financial beating. The Michigan Soo lost ten grand. The North Bay Trappers, champions of the league and Eastern Canada finalists, saw another ten grand go down the drain. And both clubs were heavily subsidized.

So what to do, In, as we said before, a desperate effort for survival and to get Joe Fan's interest and dough back into the picture, the northern league is going afield to recruit other clubs. The latest story is that Hull, Ottawa and Pembroke are interested, under pressure.

Vern (Onkle) DeGreer late of Saskatoon, via Windsor to the Gazette now thoroughly Montreal indoctrinated, says in his column that "thanks to Montreal, interest has been renewed in northern Ontario."

Who is he kidding — and who are the Montreal Canadiens interest kidding? The story goes that Hull and Ottawa (The Baby Habs) are all for joining the northern group. There is, the story says, the possibility of the Pembroke Lumber Kings going back to former hockey haunts.

Frank Selke and Sam Pollock, who yakked one of the strangest pieces of sportsmanship this corner ever read or heard when both flipped their lids about the Piln Flon Bombers Memorial Cup victory being made to order for the west, or words to that effect, have said their pieces about the future.

At the spring meeting of the Eastern Ontario senior "A" group the Ottawa Canadiens were not personally represented. Pollock was provided by Manager Wren Blair of the Whitby Dunlops. Blair read a letter from Pollock who stated that he, his club and the Canadiens were more than satisfied with the treatment they received from the eastern group last season. "and while no commitments had been made with any league for next season I (Pollock) will recommend to my directors that we again play in this (Eastern) league."

Selke stated that he was not satisfied with the "ham-and-egg" setup for his junior club. Now he states an Ottawa club and also one from Hull are desirous of playing in the northern group.

But listen to what Art Bogart, Pembroke Community Centre manager had to say about it. He quoted the Hull manager as saying "If they're going to play in Ottawa, they won't play in this arena."

Okay, you figure it out.

Dying gestures, all of them. The north knows it has to do something about hockey. So does the west. And they're doing their dangdest about it. If they got down to earth, played ball with each other as far as player salaries are concerned, they might retrieve hockey in their respective districts.

Meanwhile the Eastern group is standing in the wings, happy and satisfied. A baby that grew to manhood overnight and did it himself, without help from the paternal? west and north. In fact Mom and Pop can take lessons on how to operate a senior "A" league successfully from their upstart offspring.

Scuttle Yanks in 8-4 Rout As Sox Scalp Tribe 11-0; Redlegs Wallop Brooks 8-1

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Staff Writer

What manager Al Lopez was able to accomplish only once in six years at Cleveland, he may achieve in his first year at Chicago.

That would be beating the Yankees, of course.

The White Sox' early whirlwind pace no longer is to be snickered at. Even the so-called experts who predicted a New York runaway are beginning to take the White Sox seriously.

How can you ignore a team which owns a comfortable three-game lead after five weeks of play, a team that has won 20 out of 27, a team that has received from three straight defeats by the Yankees to win nine in succession, the last two from the same Yankees in their own back yard?

BEST ROAD TRIP EVER

No wonder Lopez' merry men were in a jovial mood today as they reared west after cleaning up everything in sight in the East. The Chicagoans capped one of their best road trips in history Wednesday by winning their second straight from New York 8-4 to increase their first place American League margin to three games over Cleveland and four over the Yankees.

Boston Red Sox tied a league record with four home runs in one inning as they routed the Indians 11-0 behind the four-hit pitching of Tom Brewer. Baltimore nipped Detroit 4-3 in 10 innings and Kansas City outslugged Washington 8-6.

Jim Wilson scattered 10 Yankee hits to register his fifth victory against one defeat as White Sox clubbed starter Johnny Kucks and two relievers for 11 hits. Nellie Fox, who had hit only 19 home runs in 10 previous seasons in the majors, slammed his second of the year for the White Sox. He also drove a 400-foot fly that Mickey Mantle muffed after a long run in center field, scoring two.

FIVE UNEARNED RUNS

A tight battle between 35-year-old Wilson and young Kucks was broken up in the sixth inning when Chicago scored five unearned runs on four hits and two Yankee errors.

Brewer had an easy time registering his sixth Boston victory against two defeats. Sixth inning homers by Gene Mauch, Ted Williams, Dick Gernert and Frank Malzone equalled the four-in-one-inning record first set by the Red Sox Williams was in that one, too) in 1940 and tied by Detroit in 1950. The major league record is five by the 1939 Giants and 1949 Phillies. Williams had two for two to raise his average to .404.

Al Pilarcik's single in the 10th scored Tito Francona with the run that gave Baltimore its first extra inning victory of four they played this week. Frank Lary, Detroit's 13-game winner in '56, was the loser, his sixth in eight decisions. George Zuvernlai, in relief, was credited with his third win against no defeats.

Big Gus Zernial slammed two home runs and a single to drive in three runs as the Athletics snapped a three - game losing streak. Alex Kellner, with the help of Wally Burnette, won his first game of the year while Ted Abernathy dropped his fifth in six decisions.

Leafs Join Vees, Bisons At Loop Top

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Three clubs were in a virtual tie for first place in the International League today chiefly because Toronto Maple Leafs found strength on their bench and Richmond Virginians got another top pitching performance from Jim Coates.

While the pace setting Buffalo Bisons were rained out at Montreal, Wednesday night, Leafs defeated Rochester Red Wings 7-4 and Virginians shut out Havana Sugar Kings 5-0 on the two-hit pitching of Coates. Columbus kept Miami from moving in on the leaders by winning 4-3.

Seldom used outfielders Russ Mac and Bill Antonello provided the punch in Leafs' victory. Mac drove in two runs, one with a bases-empty homer in the first. Antonello sent the tie breaking fatly across in the sixth with a 410-foot triple. Rac also doubled in the eighth and tallied on Mike Goliat's two bagger.

WINS FOURTH

Although tagged for three runs in the ninth on two talks and Gary Geiger's homer, Jim Pearce went the route for his fourth win in five decisions.

In scoring his sixth victory against one setback, Coates went only 30 men as he snapped Havana's winning streak at six games. Lyn Johnston supplied Coates with all the margin he needed when he led off the game with a triple and scored on a wild pitch. Tommy Carroll's fifth home run with Johnston on base highlighted a three-run burst in the third.

Extra base hits figured in all of Jets' runs. John Powers' lead-off double in the second paved the way for one. Russ Sullivan's single drove in the first of a four-hit attack which produced two in the third. And in the fifth Johnny Powers tripled and scored on Danny Kravitz's single. Kravitz also singled Powers home in the second.

Wallace Ready For Fight With Durelle

BRANTFORD (CP) — British Empire light-heavyweight champion Gordon Wallace, who loads trucks for exercise when he gets tired of training, says he plans to weigh more than usual for his Canadian title bout with Canadian champion Yvon Durelle in Moncton May 30.

The 28-year-old Wallace, training in his hometown here, thinks he has been giving away too much weight in his latest fights.

"I usually train down to about 162," he explained. "But I weigh between 165 and 167 now and I plan to try and stay there."

Wallace and Durelle will meet for the fourth time next week—their first in three years. Durelle has decisioned Wallace on all previous occasions.

Point Anne Edges Merchants 5-3 To Open District Softball Loop

By GARRY ALEXANDER

Jackie Wardhaugh drove home the tying and winning runs and scored the winning marker to climax an eighth-inning four-run explosion and give Point Anne a 5-3 victory over the Belleville Merchants to open the Belleville and District softball league last night.

The Ox-pointers trailed 3-1 entering the eighth frame at the Canada Cement diamond and had picked up only five safeties off the slants of Bep Guidolin. Meanwhile the Merchants had massed three tallies in the initial frame but thereafter could do little with Pat Maracle's offerings.

Doug Hull opened the rally for the winners in the eighth with a line double to centre. Pat Gilmour drew a free pass after one was out and Pete Green cut the margin to 3-2 with his single. Wardhaugh then struck the deciding blow. He lifted one to right field which fell just out of Keith Sincery's reach, good for a triple and two markers. Wardhaugh and third baseman Claude Carr teamed as the runner rounded third and umpire Mike Whelan called interference against Carr, sending Wardhaugh on home with the insurance tally.

The veteran Pat Maracle picked up the victory in going the route for the Cementmen. He scattered five hits and fanned four but lacked his usual control, walking ten batters. The Merchants failed to capitalize on the free base runners however, leaving 13 on the paths.

Guidolin was touched for nine hits in all while nipping one on strikes and walking seven. He stranded nine Pointers on base as both clubs came up with excellent fielding plays to keep the score low. Keith MacDonald stabbed a bullet at shortstop for the Merchants while Sam Mulholland raced deep in the winners' outfield to pull down a blast by Crawford.

Playing-coach Don Barclay walked, Carr sacrificed and MacDonald plated one with a single to put the visitors ahead early. Denny Hayden's fielder's choice added another, Floyd Crawford singled and Maracle walked to pair to force in the third marker.

Point Anne got one back in the second when Pete Green singled through the middle and Wardhaugh slashed a double down the left field line. Both teams had many chances during the middle innings but could not get the time hits. Maracle had enough stuff to pull out of trouble in the first and eighth innings with the sacks loaded and he left two on in the second following Barclay's single. Carr's second sacrifice and a walk, Carr, Crawford and Hayden combined for the game's only double play when Point Anne was threatened in the sixth. Carr nailing Pat Gilmour, who had singled, going into second and Crawford's relay beating Wardhaugh to first.

Jackie Wardhaugh was the batting hero with his three runs batted in on a triple and double. Doug Hull had a double and single for the winners with Dave Jones, Pat Gilmour and Pat Maracle each netting one base hit and Pete Green his two timely singles.

Keith MacDonald drove in one with a single and drew three walks to prove the most productive for the Merchants. Wayne "Winner" Brown slammed a long triple to left while the other safties went to Bep Guidolin, Don Barclay and Floyd Crawford.

Lineups:

MERCHANTS — Barclay, Carr, MacDonald, Hayden, Crawford, Brown, Bone, Stacey, Guidolin.

PT. ANNE — Mulholland, D. Jones, D. Hull, J. Batchelor, Gilmour, P. Green, J. Wardhaugh, T. Batchelor, Maracle, Elliott. Sr.

Hotspurs Whip Essex Club 8-1 In Tour Opener

WINDSOR (CP) — Tottenham Hotspur opened their Canadian exhibition soccer tour here Wednesday night with an easy 8-1 win over Essex County All-Stars before a crowd of 4,200.

Paced by center forward Bobby Smith, Tottenham first four goals in the first period and added four more in the second. Essex scored their lone goal in the closing minutes of the first period.

Harmer set up the opening goal when he fired a quick pass to Smith who drilled a shot past Laborio Ferregotto in the Essex goal, in the first four minutes.

Five minutes later Harmer again was the playmaker, this time passing to Wilkie.

It was Harmer to Smith for Tottenham's third goal and then Harmer scored on a penalty kick.

Essex broke into the scoring when Radulski "headed" a high pass from Harry Morrison into the Tottenham goal.

Tottenham stepped up the pace in the second period with Wilkie scoring on a clean drive from 25 yards out.

Harmer, the penalty kick specialist for the visitors, scored the sixth goal and then Smith scored two.

Will Play Pleasing Style Says Meeker

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) Howie Meeker, newly - appointed general manager of Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League, says Leafs will play a style of hockey more pleasing to the fans next year.

He said Wednesday night the Leafs can regain the lofty position they once held in the hockey world.

He was speaking at a banquet held to honor the Sault Ste. Marie 9th Regiment Gunners, Eastern Canadian Senior basketball finalists.

Sport leaders at the $5-a-plate dinner praised the Gunners for "attaining great success despite financial obstacles which ordinarily would have discouraged any other sports organization."

The Gunners won the Ontario Senior crown in 1955 and 1957 and the Eastern Canadian title in 1956.

Juniors Use Whiff Whammy

HAMILTON (CP)—Two opposing pitchers recorded 25 strikeouts Wednesday night as Hamilton Cardinals defeated Stratford Nationals 4-1 in a Junior Intercounty baseball game.

Tornado Wrecks Pitcher's Home

TORONTO (CP)—Bobby Tiefenauer, relief pitcher of the International League Toronto Maple Leafs, learned Wednesday that his home in Desloge, Mo. was blown away by a tornado Monday afternoon.

"The tornado picked it up and carried it a block before it was smashed to pieces," said Tiefenauer. "The foundation and a couple of inside walls were left standing. A wristwatch of mine was found three blocks away."

He said the same storm took the roof off his parents' home. Falling boards knocked his mother unconscious.

Floor Sweats, Players Quit

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — In lacrosse it's usually the players who sweat.

Wednesday night it was the floor of Civic Arena here.

As a result the Ontario Lacrosse Association junior game between Peterborough Petes and Huntsville Giels had to be called with Petes leading 6-2 at the end of the first period.

The moisture seeping from the terrazzo floor as a result of a sudden temperature change had players slipping, sliding and falling frequently. Coaches and referees agreed to postpone the game to avoid injuries.

Short Putts

From the Country Club
By DOUG GRANT

The ladies' opening field day at the club ran off merrily in marked contrast to the muted Presidents - Vice President's match which failed to materialize because of lack of entries. Competitive interest is expected to warm up with the season.

Local stars like Tommy Carruthers, Art Bridge, Val Smith, Mike Aquafreddo, Pete Jones, Murray McIntosh, Harry Ridley, Doug Green and others face a challenge in overcoming the tournament edge of Napanee's sharpshooting Gelen Wagar, Fred Bentley, Jack Ford, Stu Gilbert, Harold Webster, Pete Culhane, Clair Nidderry and other birdie bashers from Trenton who will also take a lot of beating.

Garry Bowerman overdrove the first green which incidentally has been measured at 275 instead of 300 yards as indicated. Garry posted a 41. He has a close rival in Sonny McDonald who plays to the handicap. Either may be surpassed by young Wayne Mountford who played the first five in par to finish with a 41. Wayne has exceptional control and accuracy for a second year player.

Quite a controversy is raging in the city regarding junior hours and participation in club competitions. Some senior members believe that juniors should be restricted in both regards while others say they should be encouraged to play in all matches. It has also been suggested that the juniors be divided into categories according to handicap and operated to prevent holding up senior play.

Pro George Balazs has been lending a helping hand with free instruction on fundamentals and playing etiquette designed to help the newcomers conduct themselves in approved fashion on the course.

George incidentally is a strong proponent of the Ernest Jones "swing the clubhead" method of teaching which is regarded by many as the best instructional system in the world.

The story of Jones is quite interesting. He was a fine young player in England prior to the First Great War. After losing a leg in that conflict he continued to play par golf but changed his competitive ambitions towards teaching. His book "Swing The Clubhead" has been a best seller among golfers for 25 years. He is reported to have made up to $50,000 a year teaching golf in New York.

After briefly referring to the correct grip and stance, Jones concentrates on three precepts only: 1. Swing the club head back; 2. Swing the club down; 3. Swing the club head through.

If you do this Jones maintains the complex and frustrating movements of the hips and shoulders, which play such a part in most orthodox instruction, will automatically fall into place.

The trick, of course, is to swing the clubhead. Most of us only think we do. I'm one of 'em as I found out at the driving range the other night. A brash young fellow's drives were just starting to take off when he fell to a dismal death. I asked George who was watching painfully from the sidelines how long the humiliator had been playing. "Just a few weeks. He swings the clubhead. You don't." There's one thing about golf — it's never too late to go back to the library and benefit from the books you digested so well and effectively 25 years ago.

On the Tracks

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. George Zauderer's Poly Ili had a rough time capturing the $5th running of the $18,000 Acorn Stakes for two-year-old fillies at Jamaica Wednesday.

Ridden by Eric Guerin, she scored by one-half length over Oil Rich but Lady Juric third. Time was one minute flat for the five furlongs.

Guerin had to withstand a foul claim by Angel Valenzuela, rider of Oil Rich, for bumping in the stretch.

The $12,575 net boosted Poly Ili's earnings to $33,350.

WNS PHOTO FINISH

Hasty Doll was clocked in 1:06 3-5 in the 5½-furlong dash for juvenile fillies. To The Dance finished third.

Night Amulet scored an upset victory in the $18,950 Cherry Hill Stakes at Garden State Park, Camden, N.J., outrunning Bolero U and seven other two-year-olds.

Starting on command late, Night Amulet pulled ahead and scored by a length over Bolero U. The latter was a nose ahead of Lil Falls.

Strike Strong Blows for IBC In Govt. Fight

NEW YORK (AP)—Two influential organizations were lined up behind the International Boxing Club today in its stand against a government proposal the IBC says could mean an end to boxing as we know it and as television has made it.

In this corner: Julius Helfand, chairman of the powerful New York State Athletic Commission. In the same corner: Tom Gallery, sports director of the National Broadcasting Company, which telecasts the weekly Friday night fights.

Both struck key blows for the IBC while testifying Wednesday before federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan in the government's monopoly suit against the IBC, its subsidiaries, and club officials James D. Norris and Arthur M. Wirtz.

Judge Ryan, who has declared the IBC guilty of anti-trust violations in conspiring to monopolize promotion of fights, is conducting hearings to determine the extent of penalties to be meted out.

WOULD WITHDRAW

Helfand said sponsors of the Friday night TV fights probably would withdraw their support if Madison Square Garden was not permitted to continue the present particularly if title fights could not be included.

Asked what effect it would have on boxing if the Friday series were cancelled, the commissioner said bluntly: "I don't think you would have any boxing."

Gallery confirmed Helfand's opinion saying that NBC would not be interested in contracting for less than 52 weekly bouts a year.

"NBC would not be interested in a Friday night fights," he said, "if it could not televise championship bouts that grew out of the weekly series."

SPORT IN BRIEF

ROYALS BUY COLLUM

MONTREAL (CP) — The last-place Montreal Royals of the International League have announced purchase of southpaw Jackie Collum from Chicago Cubs of the National League.

Collum's purchase was the third major deal worked out by Montreal in a bid to lift itself out of the second division. The club also bought outfielder Bobby DelGreco from the Cubs while selling Bert Hamric to Los Angeles of the Pacific Coast League.

Royals also announced the signing of 19-year-old pitcher Charles Lyons of Knoxville, Tenn., and said he will be optioned to a club of lower classification than the Triple A International circuit.

IN HALL OF FAME

DETROIT (AP)—Three athletes who either came from Michigan or gained fame with teams in the state—Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings, former Detroit Tigers catcher Mickey Cochrane and the late George Gipp, one of Notre Dame's football stars — were named Wednesday to the Michigan Sports Hall of Fame.

Selections were made by state sports editors and sportscasters as part of Michigan Week.

Neither Howe nor Cochrane was born in Michigan. Howe, 29-year-old native of Floral, Sask., has starred with the National Hockey League for 10 years.

Cochrane led the Tigers to American League pennants in 1934 and 1935 and to the world championship in 1935.

Gipp was a native of Lairium, Mich.

Mexican Movie Colony Faces Rocky Future Says Producer

By BOB THOMAS

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Though film quality is better and man-to-man rates are expanding, the Mexican movie industry faces a rocky future.

This was the report of Luis Sanchez, Tello, veteran producer here and co-ordinator for Hollywood locations. He blamed government-induced monopolists for the sad plight of the movie makers.

The movie operation here is different from its California counterpart, he learned. There are no big, powerful studios in Mexico and Mexico is virtually monopolized, Tello must accept the monopoly's terms."

As a result of the monopolies and rising labor costs, Tello said, Churubusco Studios, largest and most modern in Mexico, is slated to shut down.

FIRST SOUND PICTURE

Tello ran away from his Mexican home to work for Hollywood for six years in the '20s. He returned here in 1930 to make the first Mexican sound picture and help found the film industry.

The producer has long aided Hollywood locations in Mexico, his films including Viva Villa, The Story of Dr. Wassel, Fiesta, The Treasure of the Sierra Madre, Serenade and the current The Sun Also Rises.

"Our industry has avoided some of the pitfalls of Hollywood," Tello remarked. "There you have 27 different unions connected with production. Here we have 23 branches but they are all connected, all wick' as one.

Because of low labor costs, sets can be built for a third the Hollywood cost, the producer remarked. Extras can be had for $2 a day, compared with $21 in Hollywood.

Weekly Half-Hour Program On the Dance Is Advocated

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Sometimes, when you can't find a new television program that pleases you, it's fun to make one up. Why somebody hasn't tried this one is surprising.

Let's start a weekly half-hour program on the dance. It isn't necessary to go all the way back to ancient Greece or even to the minuet.

There's much nostalgia in this proposed television program that would have smart writers launch at any time it wishes. It may be significant, for instance, that the Charleston is popular again.

DANCE TO ANYTHING

Does anybody remember the Grapevine? All right, call it the Peabody. It's the same thing. It's quite a dance, children. With that break and cut and dip you can dance to absolutely any music—even the music of Lawrence Welk. Dancing is less of a group sport than it was in the 1930s when people united everyone. What ever happened to the Big Apple? And what ever became of that fine thing, the Lambeth Walk? Gone with the conga line apparently. Lost with the Shag.

This TV program of ours, by the way, could bring back the Shag. If you did the Shag you wouldn't need to diet." It will shake the pounds off. Of course the Shag can give a middle-aged fat man a heart attack, but the chances are he'll be that a thin man.

Have any of you younger dancers ever seen George Raft do the tango? That was something.

Raft did as much for Latin American music as Xavier Cugat, and there are a few old hands on records who still insist the tango is more graceful than the rhumba or the samba.

Let's not forget the polka, which is merely a fast schottische. Above all, let's not forget the waltz which has one wonderful characteristic: The older you are the better you waltz—provided you've learned to control that old arm pump-handle.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

For Friday, May 24, 1957

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Generous influences for most trades, professions, occupations. Keep in the swim of things; show your capability but don't flaunt it. Be cooperative.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — This should and can be a progressive, productive and happy day for you and your interests. New matters are avidly favored with families and unfinished business. Work well so that you may enjoy the weekend.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — A day to stimulate your good intentions and good deeds. Both practical and artistic matters, as well as mental work favored; you are slated for refreshing gains, benefits, advancement.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Abundant reasons here for really striving, for success in professions, trades; scientific work, research, skilled workmanship, writing, and the many important "little" tasks.

August 24 to September 23 — (Virgo) — Influences similar to those of Gemini. Fine aspects for launching new ventures, augmenting present holdings and completing tasks already started. Enjoy the week-end.

September 24 to October 23 — (Libra) — You can now further your own and your family's interests; also aid associates, employers in their projects. Let nothing vex you; keep looking ahead and working for bigger gain. Pleasant going!

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — Don't be satisfied with mediocre attainment this fine planetary day. If you think and act big, you'll get at least better than "good" returns. You are brave, capable but forth that type of effort.

December 22 to January 20 — (Capricorn) — Whatever your line of endeavor (and this includes homemakers) generous influences should inspire you to exhibit your finest qualities and most saleable talents. You are especially favored now.

January 21 to February 19 — (Aquarius) — Read, heed Sagittarius. The new, the unique, the daring in enterprise encouraged and stimulated now. Don't be idle when all the influences urge you to do and achieve.

February 20 to March 20 — (Pisces) — New ideas, original methods encouraged now. Your special interests and activities you like should progress satisfactorily. Don't retire, go forlacking in ambition. Double your efforts, finish incomplete tasks, start new projects, get things in line generally. Profits are indicated.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Abundant reasons here for really striving, for success in professions, trades; scientific work, research, skilled workmanship, writing, and the many important "little" tasks.

You born today are strong, able, a delightful personality; interesting, helpful, generous — a vital person. At times you are misunderstood, underrated because you often talk too much to cover up a really sensitive nature. Don't fear the censorship of others; they can encourage and enjoy your accomplishments. Confide in family and trusted friends but be wary of those who flatter you to further their own desires. Cultivate your many talents; they can be of great value later in life. Birthdate: Victoria, Queen of Eng.

TEST PILOT KILLED

PARIS (Reuters)—Test pilot and former cycling champion Charles Forestier was killed Tuesday when his Trident II supersonic jet fighter blew to pieces on a test flight near here. Goujon was to have flown the plane at the Paris air show, which opens this week.

Couples Honor Tweed Family

TWEED

TWEED — A delightful "going away" party was held at the Stoco Hotel on Friday evening in honour of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McDonald, who will be leaving Tweed soon for Chatsworth. Mr. McDonald has been employed at the Tweed branch of the Bank of Montreal and has been promoted to manage the Wales' branch.

It was a pleasant surprise when about 20 couples gathered to wish them well and to present them with a step-table and a table lighter. Mrs. McDonald was presented with a corsage for which she graciously thanked the donors.

The evening was spent in dancing and card playing.

Everyone had a lovely time.

Tickets were sold in the course of the evening on a corsage and the winner of this was Mrs. Clarence Thompson.

The McDonalds will be moving to Wales about June 3rd. Mr. McDonald may go a little earlier. There is a staff of seven in the bank where he will assume duties. He has been in bank work for 20 years, and has served in Kingston, Meaford, Thamesford, Tillsonburg, Belleville and London. His home town is Chatsworth, and Mrs. McDonald was originally from Meaford. They have one daughter, Mary Grace, who is still in grade school.

Mr. McDonald has been an active member of the Canadian Legion, The Knights of Columbus and the Kinsmen Club since his coming to Tweed. He will be succeeded in the bank by Mr. J. D. Oddie, Gore Bay, Ontario.

Eventually the village of Wales will be totally flooded in the St. Lawrence Seaway project, and a new townsite is being created on Highway 401. Work has already started on the new village, where the Bank of Montreal will have a new modern and up-to-date office.

There was a beautiful cake at the party and it was lit with candles and the words "Good Bye" spelled out in the candles and the cake was then cut by the recipients of the gifts and a series of prize and refreshments were enjoyed by all to conclude an enjoyable evening.

Gardenville

GARDENVILLE — An interesting baptism took place in Carrying Place United Church on Sunday afternoon when Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Brown, of Gardenville, presented their second daughter for baptism into the church family.

The baby's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Brown, reside along the Murray Canal.

The Rev. E. V. Cook administered the holy rite, and, in his message, challenged all present to fulfill their responsibility to not only their own family, but to all children, both by training and example, that they may develop into disciplined Christians. Purple lilacs and yellow tulips adorned the altar.

Sympathy is extended to the relatives of the late Mr. Thos. Young, who passed away in the Kingston hospital, this past week.

Congratulations are in order for Mr. Jack Herr, who was successful in winning a scholarship, in Greek, from Queen's University, and has completed his second year, with honors.

Dr. and Mrs. D. Meaker and Master Michael, spent the holiday weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Arnot Young.

Mrs. Harold and Mrs. Jack Baxter visited with Mrs. H. Nelson and Mrs. W. Hill, on Sunday evening.

Best wishes go with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rolling as they move to the home they recently bought in Carrying Place.

Mr. J. A. Dymond has returned home from Trenton Memorial Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Herb Hart, Trenton, visited Mrs. Sarah Bailey, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Baxter visited with Mr. and Mrs. Arnot Young and Mr. and Mrs. D. Meakes, Sunday evening.

U.S. Proposes Limited First-Step Cut In Arms

Will Be Offered to Russians In London Meeting Monday

WASHINGTON (CP) — The United States now is aiming for a first-step disarmament treaty which would become world-wide in scope and include limited reductions in manpower, military expenditures and all weapons capable of firing or delivering atomic bombs.

This new American plan has been hammered out in talks here this week between administration officials and Harold E. Stassen, President Eisenhower's disarmament aide, and will be offered to the Russians when the five-power UN disarmament negotiations reopen in London next Monday.

It will be looked at by the London sessions with the blessings of State Secretary John Foster Dulles and the president, who told a press conference here earlier this week that the United States must be open-minded and meet the Russian half-way on the question of disarmament.

LIMITED INSPECTION

The American plan calls for limited open-skies aerial photographic inspection of territory and small —perhaps 10 or 15 per cent — reduction of such major armaments as aircraft, warships, submarines, missiles and tanks—all weapons capable of carrying or firing hydrogen or other atomic explosives.

It can be said authoritatively that the Americans feel that a limited first-step disarmament plan is worthwhile because once the first step is taken it is easier to take the second step and perhaps eventually agree on the ultimate goal of atomic disarmament.

The proposal also envisages the setting up of an International depot, probably under UN auspices, into which nations party to the treaty would be required to deposit the armaments they shed as a result of the agreement.

In its early stages, the first nations involved in the current talks — the U.S., the Soviet Union, Britain, France and Canada—probably would sign the treaty but it would be open to signature by other nations. In fact, the U.S. government feels that, to be effective, it should be signed by all nations of military significance.

A KEY POINT

The United States, as a key point, is trying to negotiate a treaty which would ban atomic weapons for all except the three powers already known to have them. They are the United States, Russia and Britain.

All countries joining which do not already have atomic weapons would pledge not to develop or otherwise obtain them. American officials believe that other countries would be willing to accept this restriction in the interest of ending the arms race and of devoting their resources to the peaceful needs of their people.

The number of atomic bombs in the possession of the present nuclear powers would be limited under the treaty since the bombs could be improved or added without an adequate and widespread inspection system, something the Russians have refused to consider to date.

However, the Russians have indicated they are prepared, with the U.S. and the other Western powers, to accept, initially, the first-step treaty such as the American negotiators are about to undertake.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis: In the wake of Thursday's showers, cooler weather has invaded Southern Ontario. Sunny weather will prevail today and most of Saturday.

In the North it will be mainly sunny today. By Saturday the leading edge of cooler air from Northwestern Canada will have reached the James Bay - Lake Superior area and this will likely cause a few scattered showers over the Timmins - Kapuskasing and White River regions.

Pacific Natives Burned by Bomb To Return Home

WASHINGTON (CP) — Eighty-two displaced South Pacific islanders exposed to fall-out during the United States nuclear tests in Eniwetok in March, 1954, will return to their home atoll in about two months.

The interior department said Thursday night that the islanders concerned were the inhabitants of Rongelap in the Marshall Islands. Surveys "indicate the presence of residual radioactivity at a level that is acceptable from a health point of view," the department added.

"The superficial radiation skin burns received by some of the people as a result of their exposure were healed by the autumn of 1954," the department said. "There has been a growth of hair, normal in color, texture and amount, among the individuals who experienced loss of hair following the fall-out."

Further medical examinations will be continued.

Civilian Pilots Told to Organize

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's civilian pilots and aircraft owners have been told they must amalgamate into a national organization if the federal government can consider a possible role for a Canadian air patrol within the federal civil defence setup.

G. S. Hatton, deputy co-ordinator of the federal CD organization, said in an interview that the government would like to see organizations responsible to civilian pilots and aircraft owners form a Canadian air patrol for use in emergencies.

The functions of an air patrol would be to help in the location for missing aircraft, to rescue persons marooned by floods and other disasters, to fly sick persons to hospital from isolated areas, to express cargo and supplies to distressed areas and to be available for CD work.

With those words, Governor-Leroy Collins of Florida granted sanctuary in Florida to Mr. and Mrs. Melvin B. Ellis, Jewish foster parents of six-year-old Hildy, who was born of an unwed Roman Catholic mother.

Massachusetts—which has tried for four years to take the child away from the Ellises under a law requiring adoptions within religious faiths — meanwhile charged the Ellises with kidnaping Hildy.

Collins called the charge "synthetic" and said "The real issue is whether Hildy shall be reunited of Hildy McCoy should continue with the Ellises or be placed under Massachusetts control and direction."

The governor, a Protestant, said that while he respected the right of the natural mother to have the child in her faith "it must yield to more fundamental rights.

"God . . . grants to every child . . . first the right to be wanted and secondly the right to be loved by Hildy's mother has denied both of these rights to her. Admittedly she did not want Hildy in the first place. . . . The mother claims that she now loves the child, but this must be true in a real sense. She may want to love the child, class, but love can only result from the give of one's self to another.

"It was for these reasons that in the face of what have been the persons through whom God has assured to Hildy these first two rights as one of His children. It was the Ellises who wanted Hildy to be born. . . . It was the Ellises also who have given of themselves to Hildy, as only parents understand."

Collins, the father of four children, concluded:

"I sincerely hope that this child now can be allowed to continue to grow in love and faith in only home and with the only mother and father she has ever known."

A crowded hearing room applauded. With joy shining through tears, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Ellis thanked the governor.

The fight has cost the Ellises a home and a successful dry-cleaning business in Massachusetts. They have been able to visit friends and relatives there, Ellis said, and he won't be able to see his father's grave again.

"But," he said, "when I weigh it all against having Hildy safe and secure, I don't feel sorry."

They went from the hearing directly to an airliner taking them back to Miami Beach and a reunion with Hildy. Today the child graduates from the first grade at Lear School there. Her mother announced proudly she is first in her

MOTHER, CHILD PERISH IN FIRE NEAR NORTH BAY

Frantic Father Fails In Rescue Attempts

Mrs. Orville Smith, about 32 and Linda, 9, were believed to have been asleep when fire engulfed their 1½-storey frame house.

Smith, a Canadian National Railways sectionman, arose at 6 a.m. and started a fire in the kitchen stove. He went outside and returned to find the kitchen full of flames.

He grabbed a ladder and ran to the front of the house where his daughter was located on the upper floor. But the flames had already swept through the room and he couldn't enter the window. An attempt to reach his wife's bedroom window also failed.

Metro Council Wants Expansion Of Road System

TORONTO (CP)— Metropolitan Toronto council has asked the provincial government to undertake a $75,000,000-expenditure to expand the Metropolitan Toronto highway system.

The province was requested Thursday to build and assume maintenance of a proposed $75,000,000-extension of a road including a tunnel under the bay, to a future controlled-access highway between this city and Hamilton.

The council also asked that a $5,000,000-extension of a proposed Don Valley parkway between the Toronto by-pass portion of Highway 401 and Leslie Avenue in Toronto's north end, be built and maintained by the province.

Metropolitan Toronto comprises Toronto and 12 adjacent municipalities sharing in some public services.

TORONTO (CP) — A suburban Scarborough householder who died of drowning was found dead in a bathtub in her home, an autopsy revealed on Thursday, Coroner D. C. D. Farquharson said it was thought at first Mrs. Florence L. Hall, died as an indirect result of a subway accident April 17. She fell under a subway train and fractured her leg.

By CP STAFF WRITER

Power, housing, taxes, along with a hazardous and now-foggy these were in Thursday's mixture in the campaign for the June 10 federal election.

And they stood in a Vancouver street Thursday night to hear John Diefenbaker promise "a new birth of unity and freedom in Canada" under a Progressive Conservative government.

Fresh from an afternoon barbecue where he met the woman who gave him his first dancing lesson, Mr. Diefenbaker spoke also of power development to the largest crowd of the campaign to date—3,000 in the Georgia Auditorium and that many more listening to loudspeakers in a blocked street.

But he also discussed power Thursday night at Fredericton with a suggestion that New Brunswick and Nova Scotia give serious consideration to the federal government's offer to help finance steam power generating plants and integrate electricity transmission systems in the two provinces.

CCF Leader M. J. Coldwell, moving east himself after his appearance there tonight, told reporters "inflation will continue until the government institutes price controls which should apply to profits and other basic industrial requirements."

The Liberals could not blame inflation on rising food prices for with few exceptions, such as eggs and pork, prices of farm products in Canada had declined rather than risen. "One of the real causes" of inflation, he said, was "rise in expenditures by corporations out of reserves."

Social Credit Leader Solon Low continued his activities in his northern Alberta constituency of Peace River.

Mr. Coldwell also discussed his party's objection to further tests of hydrogen bombs. There was a division of opinion among scientists as to the effects of such blasts, but "so long as a large number of eminent atomic scientists are convinced of the dangers, the world has no right to risk the world health and the welfare of future generations in connection with it."

He was not criticizing Britain for its recent tests. "Obviously if the United States and Russia engage in them, other nations will feel obligated to arm themselves with the same instruments."

But Canada should call for an international conference of the UN's scientific committee to give an authoritative statement on effects of the tests and urge meanwhile that further tests cease.

Mr. Diefenbaker attacked the Liberals' "cynical attempt to buy votes" with the present housing policy. By refusing to lay greater emphasis on low-cost and low-rental housing program we have failed to meet the real need, he said, which is not the homes most.

"Yet now the federal tight-money policy had cut housing starts by 70 per cent this year.

The Progressive Conservative leader said Thursday night that current tax rates would produce $1,000,000,000 into the federal treasury, meaning the head of an average Canadian family of five will be overtaxed about $250 this year.

He urged abolition of the provincial PC Association, seeking re-election in Toronto Broadview, as symbol of the "old order" practicing "double-talk" in a recent television broadcast. Both parties, he sought to demonstrate there was no money available for tax cuts but the Liberals were trying to mislead Canadians when he knew that large surpluses in the treasury could be reduced.

At Victoria Thursday, Health Minister Martin said Mr. Diefenbaker's campaigning is "not worthy of the party with a great political past." Mr. Diefenbaker's meritimes promises alone would cost about $1,380,000,000 in extra federal expenditures, yet he said "every one in Parliamentary I will reduce taxes."

New U.S. Foreign Aid Bill Would Ease Yearly Battle

WASHINGTON (AP)—If President Eisenhower's new foreign aid bill becomes law without major change, it will mark a turning point in the history of the program.

The pivotal issue today is not the amount of money—it is how much yearly battle the administration will continue to exercise over U.S. assistance to foreign countries. Battle lines already are being drawn.

Ever since foreign aid got going in a big way nearly a decade ago with the launching of the Marshall plan, the U.S. Congress has passed its appropriations bill year after year setting out the terms and ceilings for the next year's program. Then it passed an appropriations bill providing the actual cash.

Under the Eisenhower bill, all but a fraction of the aid program would be authorized indefinitely. For the bulk of the aid the administration in this and future years would not have to seek any appropriation. That is the normal process for permanent federal agencies.

Foreign aid officials make no bones about their wish to get away from the arduous task of running the gauntlet twice each year to get congressional approval for a politically unappealing program. Once for authorization and a second time for the money.

They said too that military assistance and a large amount of the economic help should go into the defence budget because it is part of the over-all security program.

Put already some congressmen are saying Eisenhower's plan will lead to endless "grab-bag" action" to retain for Congress the control of overseas spending.

Quebec Headed For Quietest Vote in Years

QUEBEC (CP)—Barring a brisk stretch drive, Quebec province is headed for its quietest federal election campaign in years.

Apart from a few meetings, their attendance, newspaper and radio advertising is relatively scant. Two factors might liven matters.

A campaigning accident-prone — after nomination day—next Monday, two weeks before voting. And some of the busy activity going on in other parts of the country is being ignored in Quebec.

Aside from quiet weekends at his Quebec home, his only campaign appearance is Wednesday —apart from TV addresses—has been in Montreal's Maisonneuve St. He addressed a meeting at Montreal's Forum two weeks ago. Neither CCF Leader Coldwell nor Social Credit Leader Low is scheduled to appear.

A hard-fought provincial election last year, in which the victorious Union Nationale party turned its usual spirited campaigning against a dogged Liberal organization, helped reduce the impact of this federal campaign.

EX-COMMUNIST STATES NORMAN DID NOT SUICIDE

Was Either Pushed Or Hypnotized--Walsh

TORONTO (CP) — Pat Walsh, secretary-treasurer of the Pan-Canadian Anti-Communist League, says he has learned that E. Herbert Norman, Canadian ambassador to Egypt, did not commit suicide.

He told a federal election campaign meeting Thursday night the Canadian diplomat who died in a fall from a seventh-storey window in Cairo "was either pushed from the window or was hypnotized into jumping."

The Canadian Embassy, in reporting Mr. Norman's death, said he apparently committed suicide. His fall from the window followed a period of depression said to have resulted from the renewal of charges by a U.S. congressional sub-committee that he had at one time been a Communist. The charges were branded as false by the Canadian government.

Mr. Walsh spoke at a meeting in support of John Boland, Independent Progressive Conservative candidate in Toronto-Parkdale.

HEARS REPORT

He said he had "received word that the Canadian team involved casting the Norman death in Cairo had discovered that he did not commit suicide."

He added that the government is afraid to reveal this "because it would be an election boomerang."

"We know Norman was either pushed from the window or hypnotized into jumping. Both methods are used by the Russian secret police."

Mr. Walsh said the Liberal government, "ignorant, innocent or otherwise, has supported "communism in high government jobs."

EXTERNAL AFFAIRS

Minister Pearson was guilty of supporting Mr. Norman "although he knew he was a Commie sympathizer or had been one."

HAS PARTNER

Mr. Walsh has been outspoken in anti - Communist statements since 1948 when he resigned from a number of Communist-front organizations and declared he planned to expose Communist activities.

Of the June 10 election, he said the Liberals will "get the licking we know they deserve" and that four other candidates will be returned.

"Mr. Walsh said the four have already conceded their defeat "quietly to friends."

St. Laurent, Diefenbaker Invited To Address Same Woodstock Rally

WOODSTOCK (CP) — The election campaign tussle of Prime Minister St. Laurent and John Diefenbaker bring them to Woodstock on the same platform next Monday, June 6. The Woodstock Sentinel-Review announced today it has invited the two party leaders to speak from the same platform at a political rally the newspaper is ready to sponsor.

Alf Burman, the paper's managing editor, has sent telegrams to Liberal and Progressive Conservative headquarters at Ottawa saying the newspaper wishes to arrange a joint appearance to provide the "best in political information." The paper said it would do all possible to set the time of the rally to fit in with schedules of both leaders.

Under present arrangements Mr. Diefenbaker is scheduled to address an outdoor meeting in Victoria Park and to leave at 5 p.m. for Brantford. Mr. St. Laurent's train is scheduled to arrive at 5 p.m. and his speech is slated for the park shortly afterwards.

Nine Americans Injured By Mobs In Tapei, Formosa

Enraged When Man Freed After Killing Peeping Tom

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Chinese mobs went on an anti-American rampage today wrecking the U.S. Information Service Office, besieging a military headquarters and chasing Americans on the street.

Nine Americans were injured. A U.S. flag was hauled down from the embassy flagpole and torn to shreds.

Thousands of Chinese, worked up to a frenzy by a U.S. military court's acquittal of an American army sergeant who killed a Chinese peeping tom, stormed the embassy, and spent most of the afternoon tearing broken furniture and documents through the windows.

The disorders spread and the mobs tried to invade the U.S. military communications center in the Sugar Building. About 100 Americans slammed down the steel gates and were besieged inside.

1,000 DEMONSTRATORS

Another mob assaulted the U.S. Information Service Office and ransacked it in the same pattern as at the embassy. Furniture, papers, typewriters and equipment were wrecked and tossed out of the windows.

Some 1,000 demonstrators formed before a police station in downtown Taipei.

Informed sources said Chinese authorities were preparing to proclaim a state of siege or a curfew as a result of the worst anti-American disorders since Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek escaped here with the remnants of his Nationalist forces in 1949.

U.S. authorities advised all American personnel to stay indoors. The British consul issued similar advice to Britons.

GUARD U.S. BUILDINGS

Tonight three lines of defence were set up around the American Embassy—military police in a hand-to-hand chain in the center of the circle, police in a middle cordon and troops in an inside ring. Civilian police guarded other American installations and to American homes.

Two of the Americans injured in the attack on the embassy were taken to hospital. They are the press attache, Alexander Boase, who was seriously hurt, and the seven-year-old daughter by charcoal plane for Manila.

ESCORTED TO AIRPORT

A U.S. court martial acquitted Pfc. Jimmy Napp of Chicago, Ill., of voluntary manslaughter of a Chinese caught peering through a bathroom window while his wife was taking a shower. A guard of armed police escorted Reynolds and his family to the airport.

The attack on the embassy erupted after the widow of the slain Chinese entered the embassy compound with a banner protesting Reynolds' acquittal.

The war department said: "Elder Reynolds innocent? U.S. court-martial decision unfair, unjust."

Govt. Refuses To Reopen Case Against Admiral

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Macmillan has refused to reopen the case of admiral Sir Dudley North, fired by Sir Winston Churchill for letting the French fleet escape in the Second World War.

North, now 75, has been trying for 17 years to get a public inquiry or court martial on the charges that he failed to take action when the French warships sailed casually past Gibraltar in 1940 to oppose Allied landings in Africa.

North insisted the admiralty had given him strict orders not to attack the French, then later told him it was relieving him as commander-in-chief of the North Atlantic because it "could not retain full confidence in an officer who fails in emergency to take all prudent precautions without waiting for admiralty instructions."

Macmillan told the House of Commons Thursday: "A careful claim a state of siege or a curfew as a result of the worst anti-American disorders since Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek escaped here with the remnants of his National forces in 1949.

U.S. authorities advised all American personnel to stay indoors. The British consul issued similar advice to Britons.

W.N. Crandall Will Run Under Socred Ticket

Entry of the Social Credit party into the political race in Prince Edward-Lennox was announced Tuesday night when Wilbur Nickerson Crandall, principal of Tamworth Continuation School said he would definitely contest the constituency.

Mr. Crandall said he was waiting until Rev. E. L. Ripley, minister of Evangel Temple in Napanee had declared himself running before he announced his intention to enter the race. Mr. Ripley announced last week that he "might" run but withdrew his name Friday, saying pressure of ministerial duties forced him to drop out.

The new entry, a complete dark horse in the riding, said he had intended to contest Hastings-Frontenac if Mr. Ripley ran in Prince Edward-Lennox.

However, another candidate is taking over that constituency for Mr. Crandall while he devotes his efforts here.

He taught school in Tamworth two years ago and this year was called back as principal.

An idealist, he says he has "a moral obligation to tell the people about the Social Credit party."

He is an active member of the Napanee Baptist Church and has preached in that church in Napanee. He is a close friend of the Napanee Baptist minister, Rev. D. Cairns.

The Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment has added more than 100 battle honors to its shield of achievement.

The announcement was made the other day that the regiment has been awarded thirty battle honors for service in the Second World War. Ten of these will be emblazoned on the battle flag of the regiment. These were selected by a special committee comprised of former commanding and high-ranking officers.

The new honors and the regimental flag will take a proud position beside another flag of the regiment which carries nine battle honors of the First World War. This flag perpetuates the 39th, 80th and 254th battalions of the Canadian Expeditionary Force.

The Second Canadian regiment for the second conflict are: "Caen", "Falaise", "Gramindchelle", "Valguarera", "Assoro", "Agira", "Adrano", "Regalbuto", "Centuripe", "Sicily, 1943", "Casinovino", "Campobasso", "Torella", "Monte Cassino", "San Lorenzo", "The Gully", "Ortona", "Cassino II", "Gustav Line", "Liri Valley", "Hitler Line", "Gothic Line", "Lamone Crossing", "Misano Ridge", "Italian Love", "San Fortunato", "Bulgaria Village", "Naviglio Canal", "Posse Vecchio", "Italy, 1943-45", "Apeldoorn", and "North-West Europe."

The honors for the colors are: Assoro, Sicily, 1943, The Moro, Cassino II, Gothic Line, Hitler Line, Gemini Line, San Fortunato, Italy, 1943-45 and North-West Europe.

SPECIAL COMMITTEE

Members of the Regiment Honors Committee who selected the ten honors for emblazonment included Lt.-Col. General Howard Graham, DSO; Brigadiers, D. C. Cameron and L. N. Carr; Colonel Lord Tweedsmuir, VC; Honorary Colonels, A. A. Kennedy and E. S. Fairman, Majors J. Duffy, G. F. Goforth, H. K. Long, C. Broad, K. Ross, J. A. Bird and Captain F. Moore.

Of the ten honors selected three were thought to be chosen because they are all-embracing and establish for the information of future generations the general area of the world in which the regiment was engaged.

Five other honors were battle honors chosen because they were the heaviest and most important types of operations in which the unit fought.

The remaining two were "separate engagement" honors chosen because they were two historic operations which the regiment alone carried the main responsibility for the victory and was entitled to claim these honors.

The honors selected were the unanimous choice of the committee.

The idea is prevalent in some places that the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment was organized and formed in 1939 after war was declared.

Actually the unit came into being in the reorganization of the Canadian militia in 1920. At that time the Prince Edward Regiment and the 49th Regiment, Hastings Rifles, were amalgamated and became the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment. At that time orders stated the regiment was to consist of three battalions, each to perpetuate battle honors of three First World War units.

The first battalion was to perpetuate the 39th Battalion, CEF, the second battalion, the 80th Battalion CEF, and the third battalion, the 254th Battalion CEF.

In 1934 the regiment was presented with its colors by Lt. General Sir Archibald MacDonell, KBE, DSO. They were consecrated by the Rt. Rev. John Lyons, MA, DD, Lord Bishop of Ontario.

The same year the regiment became affiliated with the Royal Sussex Regiment of England and was granted the honor of adopting the colors of this famous regiment of the line.

The Royal Sussex Regiment was General Wolfe on the Plains of Abraham.

DUBBED "FLOWBOY"

Came the war, and men from field, farm, factory and shop and all walks of life flocked to the regimental colors. They were dubbed the "Flowboys" by facetious comrades of other units. Their brilliant war record is well known.

Nor did the regiment cease to function after the demobilization of the first battalion. The second militia battalion carried on the first.

In 1951 it raised two companies for the 27th Brigade service in Germany.

In September 1954 the regiment absorbed the 32nd and 34th Batteries of the 9th Anti-Tank (Militia) Regiment and the Midland Regiment.

It is now a member of the 13th Militia group which comprises several units. The "Hasty Pees" have long had the honor of having the best personnel strength of any unit in Eastern Canada.

On Sunday it will take part with other members units in the annual ceremonial parade of 13 Militia Group at Barriefield, near Kingston, when 1,000 and ranks will parade. The ceremonial takes place on the RCEME parade square starting 2.30 p.m.

Heavy Frosts Cause Damage To Factory Peas

The heavy frosts of last week have caused considerable damage to factory peas, strawberries and possibly may have harmed the apple crop, according to the weekly farm report of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Reports indicated that it was still too soon to estimate the amount of damage that might have been done but the thermometer in some parts of South Hastings dropped to 28 degrees.

The same was true in Northumberland county where many orchard owners with high-power sprayers kept the air blast running through the early morning hours.

Damage to cherries and apples could be considerable, while loss of early tomato plants and even some plants in green houses will be a heavy blow to tobacco and canning crop growers.

Cold and rain combined to dampen the enthusiasm of many of the members of the Quinte Field Naturalists for the annual trip to Presqu'ile on Victoria Day. Charles Niles, 40, of Belleville Drowns in Boiling Whirlpool At No. 3 Dam on Trent River

TRENTON (Special) — A boiling whirlpool in front of the spillways on the east side of No. 3 dam on the Trent River claimed the life of a Belleville man at 5 o'clock yesterday.

Harold Webb of Morganstown a witness to the tragedy said Charles Niles, 40, could not swim and saved if he or the other man who was in his assistance had carried a fishing pole or a six foot catch with them.

According to Webb the doomed man was carried around in the whirlpool twice before he sank out of sight.

The body of Niles is still missing. Searchers with flashlights probed the fast moving water in front of dam until darkness closed in. Searchers in a small power boat made many sorties into the swirling racers of the whirlpool. They left the scene intending to resume the grizzly research at first light today.

Hydro men from Frankford however hoped to continue the search throughout the night if they could manage to move a powerful searchlight to the river's edge. The light would have to be brought in across fields and through bush land where there is no road.

Niles intending to try the fishing at No. 3 dam motored to the dam four miles north of Trenton with his wife and two of their three children. He parked the car in the Provincial Park on the west side of No. 33 highway so that his family could watch. He walked directly across the 150 yard dam to the east side where there is a break wall running parallel with the river bank below the spillways.

HEARD NO CRIES

Webb, calculated Niles never had time to get his line in the water. He saw him slide down the slanting side of the concrete wall and bob up in seething current. He heard no cry for help because he figured the noise of the waters pouring over the dam muffled the sounds. Another man on top of the dam ran toward the helpless Niles and Webb followed. Mrs. Niles who had seen her husband's plight raced behind them screaming according to Webb.

The two men reached the breakwall in time to see Niles fighting to keep his head above the water. Thursday night.

Once the whirlpool carried him within a few inches of a man's hand reaching out to attempt a rescue. One of the men retraced his steps along the top of the dam to get a stick but by the time he returned Niles was gone.

Mrs. Niles sat sobbing on the breakwall helpless to aid her husband. Later she was administered a sedative and taken to a trained nurse's residence near Glen Miller. The children were sheltered by people in the little papermill community. Another child remained in Belleville, while his parents went to the river to fish.

The late Charles "Chuck" Niles was born in Belleville and was the son of Mrs. Laura Hadley and the late Harold N. Niles and had lived in the city all his life. He was a member of Christ Church. Mr. Niles served in the second world war for four years as a member of the Royal Rifles.

He is survived by his wife, the former Margaret Anne Simpson, one daughter, Linda Louise, and two sons, Donald Charles, and Richard Norman, all at home.

Queen, Prince Enjoying Rest At Castle

COPENHAGEN (Reuters) Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip rested this morning at Fredensborg Castle, free of the formalities of a state visit.

It is regarded as virtually certain that someone during their two-day stay as the private guests of King Frederik they will visit Kronborg Castle, the ancient castle on whose ramparts Shakespeare's Hamlet met the ghost.

Fredensborg means "castle of peace," and Danish authorities have appealed to the public to make it so for the Queen and Philip during their stay there.

Danes bade a warm farewell to the Queen and Philip, whom they greet affectionately as named, Mr. and Mrs. Philipsen during the three-day state visit which ended here today.

DERRAW. — In cherished memory of a dear husband and father, Thomas Derraw, who died so suddenly May 24th, 1956.
Sleep on dear one and take thy rest,
With sweet Mary's rosary over your breast.
Sometimes it's hard to understand,
Why those we love have to go,
But God, in His great wisdom, has His plan.
Inserted by his wife and son.
Each night your name is whispered
In our prayers,
With a smile and a tear and a thought to spare.
Dear daddy, how we do wish you

But we will try to live and do as you did God understands.

Soviet-German Trade Parley Proposed in June

MOSCOW (CP) — The Russian government has proposed the opening of Soviet-German trade negotiations in Moscow June 15.

The proposal was made in a diplomatic note delivered Thursday in Bonn by the Soviet foreign ministry to West German Ambassador Wilhelm Haas.

Haas also saw Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko today and handed him a German memorandum believed devoted to the subject of German reunification.

The memorandum is believed to have expressed Germany agreement about the necessity for further exchange of opinion, although not on the conditions spelled out in the last Soviet memorandum.

Apart from trade, the most important topic in the proposed Soviet-German talks will be a consular convention regulating the repatriation of Germans still in the Soviet Union.

German authorities say there still are some 3,000 to 5,000 German prisoners of war in the Soviet Union as well as about 100,000 German civilians who were born in Germany but were deported from the eastern provinces of Germany at the end of the Second World War.

Preliminary ideas for the 1957-58 program were discussed and the directors were asked to consider an appropriate theme to carry out the subjects which will be dealt with at the regular meetings next season.

Membership was another point of major discussion. Chairman Dave expressed the conviction that membership should be raised at least 50 per cent with a little effort on the part of all current members. Particularly the local financial accountants, have an obligation to their country, and the same token industry should be made aware of the educational facilities provided by the society in the accounting field to the extent that they offer courses and sponsoring memberships from their accounting staff.

The schedule for the coming year was full of enthusiasm as evidenced by the full turnout of the directors to their inaugural meeting.

Police Tighten Watch in Town Torn by Strike

MURDOCHVILLE, Que. (CP)—The 110-man provincial police detachment assigned to this strike-torn asbestos town has tightened its watch after a second clash between striking members of the United Steelworkers of America (CLC) and non-union workers at Gaspe Copper Mines Ltd.

The latest incident occurred Thursday. Six strikers were declared guilty on using what police called "abusive and intimidating language" against a group of non-strikers.

There was no violence — only shouted insults—and no charges were laid by police who released the strikers after a warning.

Tension rose Tuesday when a company driver was distributed warning the strikers that the dispute would not be settled with a "gun-shooting" strike. It warned further that when enough new men and replacement strikers are on the job all those remaining on strike would be fired.

Trouters Special Carries 250 Anglers to Creeks

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—The Trouters Special pulled out for the 20-mile trip to Argentia Thursday night through some of the finest trouting country in Southeastern Newfoundland. But something was missing.

Instead of the fire-snorting, hissing, steam locomotives that for almost 50 years hauled anglers to the happy fishing ground every May 25, the train was pulled by a sleek diesel. Diesels took over from steamers on the narrow-gauge Newfoundland line last year.

Nothing changed about the passengers but their numbers. Thursday night 250 started. Absently forgetting that Newfoundland has no snakes they prudently stocked up on snake medicine well in advance. The Trouters Special has been called the wettest thing on wheels.

They are always excited lot, ready to jump off the train into the blackness of a moonless night as the wilderness as it stops near their favorite trouting hole. They huddle and shiver and fight the mosquitoes in ways they think best, waiting for the dawn. At first light they dip lines in the water, hoping for trout as "big as dogs."

Will Visit Old Home, Friends After 37 Years in Europe Thanks to Buddies of "21st"

By GEO. H. CARVER

A colorful life garnished with the vagaries of war and the whims of fortune, Robert Mead deservedly happy climax here in September.

It will mark the end of years of yearning of an expartriate to visit his native land, and see loved ones.

The story of the life of seventy-year-old Foxboro — born Bob Logue, now residing in a Belgian village, resembles something taken from a motion picture script.

It is nearly forty years since Mr. Logue, ex-company sergeant major with the First World War Canadian infantry battalions and proud wearer of the Distinguished Conduct Medal and Military Medal, has seen the Canadian countryside.

Now, thanks to the efforts of friends, including many old Army buddies, Mr. Logue will visit Canada. He will arrive in time to attend the annual reunion of the famous "Fighting Twenty-First" — Battalion in which he served nobly — held well at Oshawa in September.

In January, 1955, he heard the wife phone from his home in Foxboro. He came to Belleville and visited the 49th 39th Battalion, CEF, then mobilizing in a armouries for the battalion left for overseas in May.

He was transferred to the "Twenty-First" and served in the bloody trenches until the cessation of hostilities.

He displayed fine leadership characteristics and his promotion was rapid. His courage and daring under fire earned him as an outstanding soldier, in the shadow of German guns he won the Military Medal. Later a more heroic exploit he was decorated with the Distinguished Conduct Medal, the second highest honor which can be bestowed on a non-commissioned officer.

The "cease-fire" sounded and in mid-November, 1918, the 21st started the trek to Germany, entering that country via the Rhineschlin bridge on December 13. Here the battalion was reviewed by Lieut.-General Sir Arthur W. Currie, corps commander.

On January 19, 1919 the battalion moved out of Germany and started on the march through Belgium to the channel ports, "Blighty" and Canada.

The battalion rested at a number of villages, but the most important was Hamm-Sur-Sambre. Here Company Sergeant Major Logue met and fell in love with a Belgian village lady. They were married and Logue returned to resign from the army. He has made it his permanent home to this day.

He paid a brief visit, his last to date, to Canada in 1920.

From that day he has lived a quiet happy life with his wife and family in the pretty Belgian village where he was born.

Then once again war clouds gathered over a battle-scarred country.

Hitler's Nazi hordes swept across the Rhine engulfing Belgium in a triumphant march on Paris and the channel ports.

Ham-Sur-Sambre was in their path. The village was lost in the maw of the German war machine. Every house was searched and nothing escaped.

They did not spare the former Canadian infantrymen's modest residence. Unfortunately for Sergeant Major Logue his Canadian medals were discovered by the Nazis.

He was sent to a labor battalion and toiled in the mines "for the duration."

Probably it was during his sojourn in the mines that the urge to visit his homeland became stronger. Perhaps it has been fostered during the Canadian pilgrimage to Vimy Ridge last May 25, the year was polled by a sleek diesel. Diesels took over from steamers on the narrow-gauge Newfoundland line last year.

Nothing changed about the passengers but their numbers. Thursday night 250 started. Absently forgetting that Newfoundland has no snakes they prudently stocked up on snake medicine well in advance. The Trouters Special has been called the wettest thing on wheels.

They are always excited lot, ready to jump off the train into the blackness of a moonless night as the wilderness as it stops near their favorite trouting hole. They huddle and shiver and fight the mosquitoes in ways they think best, waiting for the dawn. At first light they dip lines in the water, hoping for trout as "big as dogs."

CSM. Robert Logue, DCM., MM.

Gray contacted as many of his former battalion members as he could via mail, and the result is that funds were subscribed to enable the former sergeant major to visit Canada and his kith and kin.

Other donations have been received including a substantial amount by Branch 201 Army Navy, Air Force Veterans of Belleville.

Now Company Sergeant Major Bob Logue will realize the dream of nearly four decades.

He will sail on the S.S. Homeric on July 27 and hopes to arrive in Belleville on or about August 7. He will be greeted here by old comrades, friends and relatives at a special reception being readied for him at the CNR station.

Meanwhile efforts have been made to obtain facsimilies of the medals which were taken by the Germans and never returned. It is hoped these will be available when he arrives in Belleville.

Then comes the big moment when he will join his old buddies of the "Twenty-First" at the Oshawa reunion.

It will be a great day for Sergeant Major Logue. It should be a great day for the 21st.

A brother, Mr. W. J. Logue, writes from Ireland:

"Old Soldiers Never Die" and here is one, whom his comrades, thanks to unsparing camaraderie known to war veterans only, did not allow to "fade away."

West Germany May Come to Aid of France

NEW YORK (CP) — The New York Times says in a Paris dispatch that West Germany may come to the aid of France in a financial crisis that is developing away French reserves.

Suggestions that a West German loan to France have been made by French officials, the story says, has not been determined but a large a loan would be sought or West German bankers or by the Bonn government through the European Payments Union.

Purpose of the loan would be to replenish the reserves of foreign currency held by the French stabilization fund, which had reached a low ebb.

This would help France to meet the growing debts in her foreign trade and payments.

The Times story says "there is a certain historical irony in the fact that 12 years after Germany's defeat a German government is financially able to aid a former enemy."

SUPPER INADEQUATE

CARLISLE, S.C. (AP) — Leroy Jeter, 25-year-old laborer, had his wife arrested on a glutton supper here. Charges of assault and battery have been filed against two persons as a result of the affray.

WOULD DIVORCE ACTOR

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—One of the more durable marriages of show business hit the rocks officially Thursday when the wife of actor Barry Sullivan filed suit for divorce. Barry, 45, and Sullivan, wed to the actor for nearly 20 years, charged mental cruelty.

190 Planes Will Spray Forests

FREDERICTON (CP)—Twenty aircraft, the vanguard of a 190-plane armada assembled to combat the tree-killing budworm were to arrive today on route to bush airstrips to which they have been assigned.

Remainder of the fleet will arrive at intervals until June 4 at Edmundston, New Brunswick and eight in Quebec.

The budworm spraying operation, sixth in this province and fourth in Quebec, is the largest ever planned in this area. More than 5,000,000 acres in New Brunswick and 1,350,000 in Quebec's Gaspe Peninsula will be sprayed. The federal and provincial governments and forest companies whose property will be treated split the costs.

The DDT spray is effective for one or two years after which the insects can safely return in sufficient numbers to threaten the forests. Spraying is not expected to be keeping alive most of the trees in the infested woods but in control areas left unsprayed for experimental purposes most of the balsam fir and spruce trees have been killed.

Ike Barnhardt Is Killed, Driver Injured as Train Hits Car at Level Crossing

Fatally injured when the car in which he was riding was struck broadside by a CNR diesel-hauled freight almost within sight of his home, Mr. Ike Barnhardt, resident of the Boundary Road north of Desoronto, was killed early today.

Mr. Barnhardt was passenger in an auto driven by Don Goulash, 32, also a resident of the Boundary Road. Goulah is in serious condition at Belleville General Hospital where he was taken by ambulance following the accident. He has head lacerations and back injuries. Dr. F. R. Ross is the attending physician.

The car was welded to the front of the diesel engine and was carried along on the front of the locomotive for 400 yards until the train was brought to a stop. Both men were still in the completely wrecked auto, and had to be pried from the wreckage.

It was reported that the two men were on their way to work when the accident occurred at 6.35. Mr. Goulash works as a carpenter at Kingston.

Mr. Goulah had driven north across the tracks to pick up Mr. Barnhardt and had then returned along the Boundary Road when his car was struck by the eastbound diesel.

Hunt Killer Of Schoolgirl

PARAMUS, N.J. (AP)—Police pressed their search today for the killer of a 15-year-old girl whose semi-nude body was found in a wooded glen here Thursday.

Pretty Ruth Zeitler, missing from her home since last Friday, was found dead by two schoolchildren in a deserted area.

Scattered about the girl's body were her school books, a black shoulder pocketbook and various articles of clothing.

Medical examiners said the girl, examined by an insurance broker, had been strangled. Another official said "it appears that she has

GRIN AND BEAR IT

Periodically we hear of tempers flaring up among people who live near a military air station.

The cause of much of their annoyance is the deafening roar made by aircraft taking off low over the community at night, thereby interrupting the sleep of the folks below.

However, in spite of these inconveniences, we must keep in mind that the airplanes that are interrupting our sleep or television entertainment may be the same ones that will wing to our defence should the most likely enemy think it an opportune time to attack.

That brings us to the subject which is heard too often among Canadians: "We should cut the strength of the RCAF. It's costing us too much money."

If Canada or the United States cut their aerial strengths, our Red neighbors might not think twice before heading toward this continent with airborne cargoes of deadly explosives.

War in the air, in the future, will be fought differently from the way it was during World War II. Top militarists have said that an aerial attack is most likely to be launched when the target is "socked in" in inclement weather or in the dead of night, when most people are off guard.

We must not be caught napping!

That is why, when most of us are tucked comfortably in bed at night, we sometimes are disturbed by the racket of low flying RCAF aircraft.

In Canada, today, the RCAF's CF-100 all-weather jet interceptor squadrons are on a 24-hour alert to protect us from attack.

The safety and freedom of the 20th century Canadian depends largely on a few skilled aircrew teams, who are ready and willing to risk their lives to repel enemy invaded at any time.

These teams must be trained to cope with the many flying conditions that are peculiar to night time or inclement weather; that is why sleep of some district residents must be interrupted and our television reception disrupted momentarily.

It is better to hear the roar of a friendly aircraft than the wail of a falling bomb.

STRIKE WITH A DIFFERENCE

Workers at the International Harvester Co. Ltd. plant at Hamilton are on strike. We should not be overly surprised if the strike is a short one. The union and the company are behaving in a manner which is a happy contrast to that which is exhibited in many strikes.

This week 83 workers returned to their jobs for a two-day period — to use up the twine at present on machinery and thereby eliminate a fire hazard.

The union, a local of the United Steel Workers, has agreed that all goods in the company will be permitted to cross its picket line during the first two weeks of the strike. Often the efforts of pickets to stop such shipments lead to violence, as police are called in to prevent illegal obstruction of shipments. The Hamilton union, though, wants to keep the plant in working order and materials on hand so that work can be resumed as the strike is over.

It is sad that this attitude should be news, but that does not alter the fact that here is one strike where union and management, while differing, appear to have agreed to conduct their struggle in a civilized manner.

KEEP LAKES PUBLIC PROPERTY

The Ontario Department of Lands and Forests has adopted a praiseworthy policy in respect to the sale of Crown lands on lakes now being opened up for cottagers and other vacationists.

Not all the lots around these lakes will be sold. Every so often a lot will be set aside for public use, in order that the public will always have access to these lakes.

The only thing wrong with this policy is that it was not started soon enough. There are some parts of Ontario where access to lakes or rivers is already difficult and becoming more so, where the right to enjoy these waters, which are not privately owned, depends in great measure on the generosity of those who own the land surrounding them.

Would it be possible for the government to undertake a long-term policy of acquiring small parcels of land at strategic points so that, in the years to come, these lakes will never become, in effect, private ponds?

FAILURE

He'd failed a dozen times before
But thought he'd try it just once more.
A dozen times through labor long
He'd learned the methods used were wrong.
But if to search elsewhere he turned Perhaps the right way could be learned.

Twelve failures seem to be a lot,
But with success they matter not.
If they remembered are 'twill be,
To count the cost of victory;
The tedious hours that went before
The way was found, will count no more.

Failure's a teacher, stern and wise,
Demanding patient enterprise.
Its pupils blundering along
Must start again when they go wrong.
Its prize is victory's delight
When once they get the answer right.

Frying Pan For Lampreys

Sault Ste. Marie Star

If electric weirs fail to halt the growth of the serious menace of sea lampreys to lake fishing, what can the Fisheries Research Board do next?

Poison would seem to be out of the question, since it would be difficult to control, and there would be little use to be very much which can be done unless some clever scientist comes up with a disease to wipe them out or some monster which is prepared to make them its sole diet.

One suggestion we have made before in these columns, is to open a lamprey potting or canning plant. The sea lamprey is, according to the highest authorities, esteemed as a food in Europe, and there seems to be no reason why a good export trade could not be developed until such time as the species becomes extinct, as it surely would under these circumstances.

Unfortunately somewhat indigestible, the lamprey is exceedingly tasty, as well it should be, feeding as it does upon the freshest of the soon as they have been placed upon wild animals of any sort, they tend to disappear.

Lampreys also make excellent bait, and another sound suggestion for ridding the lakes of these destroyers would be to set a high price on this type of bait in encouraging the people who live beside the rivers to collect it for marketing.

Lampreys may avoid all scientific methods devised for their annihilation, but the moment they and their larvae begin to have some commercial value they are doomed.

Letters To The Editor

Council Decided Manager Needed

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer.

A note in your edition of May 15th that a motion to terminate the services of the present city manager is contemplated for the next council meeting.

Now, the council, in its wisdom, deemed it necessary that Belleville have a city manager form of government. This, we do not question; in fact, we applaud it.

Again, the council members in their wisdom and after due deliberation, select, from not less than sixty, the one applicant who, by the combined opinion is best suited for this position. Now, after a lapse of many years of cogitation and verbosity to determine that a city manager was required to council management it seems that only a few months are required to prove that their decision was at fault.

But can it be? Are we to doubt the perspicacity and sagacity of our council? Do they now contemplate their findings of such a short time ago?

We can wait, with eager anticipation, the decision of this wise assembly of the fathers of the rulers of this, our fair city of Belleville, the fount of wisdom and justice.

J. M. Hughes.

Dismissing Manager Said Unbusinesslike

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer.

I understand that our city manager was duly hired by solemn contract after having the approval of the citizens generally and the city council, and that after a very few months a group of Aldermen wish to dispense with his services. This seems rather unfair and unbusinesslike and will be a real black eye to Belleville if proceeded with.

Mr. Herring has had wonderful experience and recommendations and if he goes it will be almost impossible to hire any person of ability and real worth, knowing what he is likely to be up against, and the treatment handed out to his predecessor. He has had, as a mechanical engineer, a great deal of experience in civil and electrical engineering and seems to be just about what we need here. We should think twice before becoming known as a city that repudiates contracts and one that does not appreciate real worth.

The Other Kind

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

At this season of the year, we are starting to hear the usual fish stories, not of big fish alone, but of the miraculous things that happen to fishermen. Here is one, eminently attested, that I consider one of the greatest. Alex Forbes, the well-known Canadian sportsman, was fishing one day last year for salmon in the Mistassini river in Quebec. His guide meanwhile drew lots and then fished the consecutive pools thereafter in rotation, day by day. Alex was having the best pool of the river, the Dish pool, when he hooked the large twenty pound salmon, and after a brief fight, the knot holding the nine foot leader separated, and the fish was lost, with fly and nine foot leader in its jaw.

The following day, Alex was fishing the next pool upstream, called the Platform pool. This was a small, deep boiling cauldron of water, fished from a rock called the Platform. You could not really cast on this pool. All you could do was dunk your fly in with a short line, allowing it to swirl around in the deep, rushing eddies. Alex dunked his fly as directed above. Not many fish were caught here, fewer landed. It was a tough spot.

Alex was drawing in his line for a fresh toss when it tightened. He reeled up, and found to his astonishment that he was into a fish all right, but his own fly had hooked onto another leader! The miraculous part of this tale is that Alex's fly had caught not on the leader, but in the very loop, the one inch loop on the end of the leader he had tied the day before, otherwise it could not have held.

And he fought the twenty pounder in that narrow and difficult pool and the guide at last netted it, over 20 lbs. in the end, and kept or that it was indeed Alex's.

It is not uncommon when trolling for lake trout or other deep fish to hook somebody's lost line that had broken, perhaps at the No. wire line. And not infrequently, there is a fish still on, though generally only the line.

The only miracle I am a witness to was a long musselinging of twenty-three pounds who broke the line of my young companion on his first leap. But he continued to leap frantically to try to dislodge the large plug stuck to the end of his snout, and leaped right into the canoe. I claimed this muskie, because I was paddling; and I had the canoe right where I was sure the fish would leap from above.

Hen Faces Speed-up

Stratford Beacon-Herald

Better times are ahead for the hen, whether she likes it or not. Dr. E. C. Hope, economist for the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, spoke in this vein at a meeting of the Ontario Poultry Producers' Association in Toronto. At one point he said: "The hen that scratched casually in the barnyard, clucking as she went and producing eggs on a haphazard schedule, is being replaced by the assembly line hen, with a definite feeding program and a restricted area for a scratching."

Another angle, the doctor felt, was that the small farm flock —kept to provide a few eggs and eat up odds and ends in the way of grain—will be on the way out. In the next 20 years, in his opinion, the number of poultrymen will decrease but flocks will become larger as will poultry farm incomes. Profits will be located on all-weather roads within easy reach of large centres.

The poultry business is becoming more and more highly organized like other sections of agriculture and poultry production is becoming a factory form of agriculture, rather than a sideline. Specialized broiler flocks running into the thousands, will mean rapid and regular delivery to the big outlets. This, over a period of years should result in a steady reduction in seasonal price fluctuations by providing a constant flow of eggs. Less labor in the poultry business has been predicted.

But the hen is to work harder and attain a higher level of vitamin-'C') and vitamin B complex growth factors in order to overcorrect her nutritional deficiency. Later she may hold her red cell and hemoglobin (iron clorogin a measure of the blood) at or near par on a less rigid regimen, perhaps.

A healthy person requires and can use less than one-fourth of a grain of iron a day. One gets this daily ration of iron in two ounces of bacon, two ounces of peas, 2½ ounces of oatmeal, 2 ounces of prune, 2 ounces of egg yolks, or 4 ounces of beef. Other good sources of iron are: dried peas, wheat, oysters, almonds, walnuts, spinach, pecans, dates, dandelion greens, Cabbage, potatoes, peanuts, apples and raisins contain iron but less than the other items mentioned.

Secondary anemia is caused by: (1) frequent bleeding, as from peptic ulcer or internal piles or in women from excessive menstrual bleeding or irregular bleeding. (2) Frequent or habitual use of drugs which destroy blood corpuscles, such as sulfonamides, and especially the pain-killing ingredients in many nostrums. Indiscriminately used to relieve headache, neuralgia, aching joints or muscles, backache, lumbago, sciatica, etc. These drugs never cure anything—they merely deaden consciousness of discomfort. (3) Chronic or masked carbon monoxide poisoning as from being subpolluted with carbon monoxide (colorless and odorless) in bedroom, kitchen, shop, office, automobile. (4) New hazards, at home and at work, such as the use of carbon tetrachloride and other solvents in a place not thoroughly ventilated.

Finally, secondary anemia occurs in most cases of tuberculosis — sometimes the anemia is unrecognized and unsuccessfully treated long before the lung trouble is recognized.

Personal Health Talks

Cause and Treatment Of Secondary Anemia

"I have secondary anemia and have been taking vitamin B12 for 3½ years. Have not noticed any improvement as yet. Should I continue the tablets or try something else?" (D.V.)

If no improvement in 3½ weeks, or at most 3½ months, you probably notice none in 3½ years or 3½ decades.

Anyway, taking vitamin B-12 or any other medicine for secondary anemia is like constantly pumping more air into a leaky tire.

Anemia means without blood, lack of blood, insufficient blood, poor blood, weak blood, or "watery" blood.

In some instances, anemia is primary, that is to say due to some fault or failure in the normal blood production or development in the bone marrow, spleen, and liver. One type of primary anemia is called pernicious anemia (sometimes aplastic anemia), which can now be controlled, relieved, and even cured by (1) eating raw liver, (2) hypodermic injections of liver extract or (3) vitamin B-12 tablets in courses from time to time when blood tests show regrets low enough.

The other types of anemia may be called primary — first chlorosis, the green sickness, formerly prevalent in girls, and rarely encountered today, and second, hypochromic nutritional deficiency anemia, the gray sickness. The gray sickness occurs usually in girls who are fortyish and plumb discouraged with their complexion, hair and nails.

A woman with that gray look needs iron and ascorbic acid (vitamin 'C') and vitamin B complex growth factors in order to overcorrect her nutritional deficiency. Later she may hold her red cell and hemoglobin (iron clorogin a measure of the blood) at or near par on a less rigid regimen, perhaps.

A healthy person requires and can use less than one-fourth of a grain of iron a day. One gets this daily ration of iron in two ounces of bacon, two ounces of peas, 2½ ounces of oatmeal, 2 ounces of prune, 2 ounces of egg yolks, or 4 ounces of beef. A WORD TO LADS AND LASSIES

This is a message directed exclusively to young people. Robert Freeman, in a wise and witty verse, gives this good counsel:

Here's a tip, my lad, as forward you start,
With a light in your eye, and a smile in your heart.
With your plans and your powers! But how will you use them?

Now you are certainly going to be if you live but a few years longer, or, if you've passed 21, then a middle-aged man you will be before you know it! Gray hair and retirement will be upon you in no time.

Discouraging? Not at all. Your years of greatest achievement should be between 50 and 65. That is the time of harvest, but your later life will be almost certainly conditioned, to an important degree by what you think and act before you are 25. Hardened old sinners have been converted when they were well past 80, but such cases of reform are one in a million. Almost all of the men past 50 are basically the kind of persons we were when we were our 25th birthday. We hope we have improved. But still we are very much the same as we were 25 or 40 or 50 years ago. All these years we have been to live with the kind of person we have made ourselves before we were 25.

So good, my lad, to be old man you are going to be—or to the old woman you are going to be, lassie, which is equally, if not more important.

SPRINGTIME

How grateful each of us should be to be brought to another Spring-time! Nothing is so inspiring as the world of nature opening its eyes to the sunshine, and to the mystery of all created things. Every flower is a poem, and the song of every bird is one that is dedicated to the appreciation of the humblest listener.

The newness of the earth at springtime fascinates and inspires. What a marvelous creation is every leaf upon every tree and shrub! And when you think of all that man has taken from the bowels of the earth, and can still do otherwise than to bless His Holy Name?

Some time ago I came across a story of a Princeton science professor, who, before performing an experiment, would remove his hat

Tall, white standards of Easter lillies, yellow and white chrysanthemums, interspersed with ferns, and candelabra with white candles, formed the setting in King Street United Church, Trenton, on Saturday, April 27, at 3.30 p.m., for a lovely springtime wedding when the Reverend S. J. Minielly, pastor of the church, united in marriage Shirley Geraldine Finkle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Finkle, to Keith Lawrence Latchford, of Belleville, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Latchford.

Mr. Roy Kendall, church organist, presided at the console of the organ and accompanied the soloist, Miss Beth Minielly who sang before the ceremony "O Perfect Love" and during the signing of the register "The Wedding Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. C. H. Finkle, the bride was charming in her floor-length bell gown of white organza taffeta with molded bodice and yoke appliqued with imported French lace. Her finger-tip veil of tulle illusion was held by a mother-of-pearl headdress and she carried a bouquet of yellow Sweetheart roses and white feathered carnations.

Miss Margaret Finkle, sister of the bride, and Miss Betty Lou Shaw, both of Trenton, were bridesmaids, attired alike in yellow Italian brocaded cotton, in waltz-length, with matching picture hats, yellow satin shoes and white gloves. They carried bouquets of white Shasta daisy 'mums with yellow centres, backed by green leaves.

Miss Elizabeth Edwards, little four-year-old from Belleville as flower girl, was dressed in her short dress of Swiss dot over yellow in bouffant style, and matching sash. She wore a matching bonnet and gloves and carried a basket of yellow and white 'mums.

Mr. Jon Riles of Fort Wayne, Indiana, was groomsman; Mr. Robert Latchford of Belleville, brother of the bridegroom, and Mr. William O'Callaghan, of Downsview, Ontario, were ushers.

At the reception, which was held in the church parlors, the bride's mother received the guests, attired in a blue linen sheath and duster coat, with matching blue hat; black accessories, and corsage of pink roses. The bridegroom's mother, wearing beige silk with blending toast-brown accessories and corsage of rust 'mums, assisted.

The bride's table was prettily appointed with white damask and centred by a four-tier, pillared wedding cake united about the base with yellow tulle and topped by two white swans united by a arch of tiny flowers. Tall, yellow candles in silver candelabra, and the bridal bouquets accented the nuptial theme.

re you quite certain this boy

BEAUTY

By MME. QUI VIVE

NOW YOUR FOUNDATION CAN RECEIVE BETTER CARE

New liquid soap makes cleaning of foundation garments easier, eliminates hazards of hot water.

Every fastidious woman knows that slightly sickening of her lingerie is the first step toward complete grooming loveliness. She knows, too, that her bras, panties and slips will not last longer if perspiration and body oils are washed out of them after each wearing. Nylon underthings are a breeze, of course, but, even if she's the type who prefers cotton in that needs light ironing, she doesn't postpone sudsing. She washes each piece out nightly and irons them later when she can, for she knows that perspiration left in fabrics such as silk, rayon and cotton has a deteriorating effect on their color and on their durability.

Some women who are scrupulous about this nightly care of their dainty underthings, however, are not quite so meticulous about their foundations or girdles. But they shouldn't be neglectful about the care for the sake of their looks and wear, but for the sake of morale. There's nothing quite so devastating to a woman's spirits as donning a soiled girdle. And it's not necessary

If your girdle is a tight nylon elastic, it, too, can be sudsed out nightly in less than a minute. This is better than using it for a time, energy and wear and tear once it's had time to become really soiled. However, it's the slightly heavier foundation garments which most women are more likely to neglect because, until now, its washing—even once a week—has been a more difficult task. Not any more, however.

A brand new golden liquid now makes the cleansing of girdles and foundations easy as the proverbial pie. Furthermore, it eliminates the hazards of using hot water on elasticized garments.

Created by the makers of a popular cold-water soap for washing wool, the new detergent has been placed on the market after several years of scientific research conducted by major manufacturers of under-garments. This liquid cleaner, the foundation was compounded for cold water. With the danger of deterioration from constant immersion in hot water eliminated, the new soap can double the life of the garment. It is equally effective with girdles, bras, panties, elastic stockings—and virtually any garment containing elastic. At the same time, it has greatly simplified such arduous tasks as washing "all-in-one" or lengthy soaking or scrubbing.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Following the presentations and awards a short business meeting was held with the following officers being elected: president, Elmer Adams; vice-president, Ray Scott; secretary, Mrs. Louise Summers; treasurer, Ken Robinson and captain, Howard Hark.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BERCKMAN

TODAY'S COURTESY TIP: TO WIFE AND TO HUSBAND

To the wife: please let your husband tell his story in his own way. It's his story, he introduced it, and he'll be able to finish it if you don't keep interrupting. don't insist on "taking over." Both he and his listeners will resent your interference, resent any coaching on your part.

To the husband: the same wise advice applies when your wife is telling, or trying to tell, a story.

APPROPRIATE GIFTS FOR GIRL GRADUATING FROM COLLEGE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My sister's daughter, who is my godchild, is to graduate from college soon. I would be so grateful if you will please give me some suggestions for a graduation gift for her. — CF

Here are appropriate gifts for a girl graduate: dainty purse, or envelope purse for afternoon wear or informal evening wear; evening bag (consider a white beaded bag or brilliant-colored lame or brocade bag); a piece of jewelry, real or costume; a compact or vanity-case; a bracelet for charms, or several charms for a charm bracelet she has; books; jewelry boxes; dining-case or overnight bag, fitted or unfitted; folding clock, for dressing-table and travelling; writing portfolio; a desk-set, or an interesting and useful article for her desk; dressing-set; comb, in case, for evening bag; photograph frame, perhaps crystal, and monogrammed; leather address-book, loose-leaf; billfold; gold or silver bill-clip; pen and pencil set; wrist watch.

Or perhaps an item in the line of letter-paper; letter-paper and note-paper engraved (send the die also) in a book of paper of various sizes, including Air-Mail paper and envelopes; informative engraved with her name ("Miss" before her name) and perhaps her address in the lower right corner; or a generous supply of general-utility letter-paper printed with her name, address and telephone number.

Or, for her to make her own choice, a gift of money, a check, or a gift certificate. (However, I do think that for this so-important occasion, the gift should be, if possible, something lasting.

SHOULD GROOM'S SISTER TAKE GUEST-GIFT TO HER HOSTESS?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am invited to my brother's wedding, which is to be out-of-town. What is proper about giving a gift to the hostess? If the hostess is someone other than the bride's mother, should both the bride and the other hostess be given gifts? — M.R.

It is not at all necessary to give a gift to whoever is your hostess, whether your hostess is the bride's mother or a relative or friend of the bride's family. And I am sure a guest-gift would not be expected. However, it is, of course, extremely important that as soon as possible after your return home, you should write a fine and warm-hearted note of appreciation of the friendliness and hospitality given you. With this thank-you note it would be thoughtful and generous of you to send a carefully-selected gift. If you would like to give a gift (and I can well understand that you might like to make this gracious gesture to your hostess), I advise you send it after your return rather than taking the gift with you.

Sunday School Class 33rd Reunion

By Mary Moore

If I tell you how long ago I went to the J. O. Y. girls Sunday School class, when you see me you might make some such penetrating remark as, "well — preserved for her age" — so I won't.

Dinner Menus

by Mary Moore

FRIDAY

Broiled Sole Fillets with Shrimp Sauce, Oven French Fries, Green Peas, Spring Vegetable Salad (see Wednesday), Prune-pudding Layer Cake (see Thursday), Coffee.

But last night 33 grandmothers and maiden ladies met at a Sunday School class re-union. Thirty-three! Surely it must be a record. Of course, I know why. It is the magnetic love of our Sunday School teacher, Irene Pugh Maxwell, whose guidance in our youth has influenced our lives for all these decades.

We were teen-agers and the story is told that one Sunday our regular Sunday School teacher had not arrived and the superintendent asked Irene, who was a member of a Senior Bible class, to take over temporarily and "keep them quiet".

Subsequently the group was divided into two and Mr. Pugh asked her to be their teacher. She was barely 21 and didn't look any older than some of the teen-agers.

Over the years I have mentioned her often to you. Her ability to cope with an unexpected caller (and always impressed me so much. I remember her one Saturday noon, before the groceries for the week were bought, her serving 1/2 of a huge baked potato to each of us and an outsize Spanish omelette and unpeeled apple wedges with cream cheese! delicious cocoa, made from evaporated milk. She still can improvise — and make a lovely meal out of her head — ("her lovely head" her fond husband adds).

I asked her if she remembered the meals she conjured up when we dropped in, she remembered the visitors but not the meals for she was not impressed as we were.

Last night we heard a spellbinding talk by Mary Lugsden of — Toronto's Big Sister Association, after dinner. It was so fitting for the group to have the talk on for they are Church-centred folk, eager to know what social agencies are doing and eager to know where they might fit into the picture as volunteers.

After the talk we clustered around Mary and Irene reluctant to leave such inspiring conversation. My last word to Irene was "Does Dean still make his famous Cole Slaw with Pineapple?" "Yes — he made one just this week."

DEAN'S PINEAPPLE COLE SLAW

Wash cabbage under cold running water; drain well. Shortly before serving, shred it as fine as possible, cover with ice cubes for 15 minutes, drain and chill. Add desired amount of shredded ray carrots, thinly sliced onion, a few strips of pimento, and finely chopped green onion tops or green pepper and 1 cup crushed drained pineapple. Keep in refrigerator until ready to serve. Just before serving pour cooked salad dressing over it, mixing thoroughly.

COOKED SALAD DRESSING

Two tablespoons cornstarch or 1/4 cup sifted bread flour, 1 1/2 teaspoons dry mustard, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 1/8 teaspoon paprika (optional), 1/4 cup granulated sugar, 1 egg yolk beaten with 1/3 cup milk, 1 1/3 cups warm milk, 1/2 cup vinegar. Combine cornstarch, seasonings, and sugar and blend well. Add egg yolk mixture. Add warm milk slowly and then vinegar. Mix well. Cook over moderate heat stirring constantly for about 5 minutes after it comes to simmering point. Remove from heat, beat for few seconds. Store in refrigerator in covered jar. (If you use white wine vinegar use 1 tablespoon less sugar than if using cider vinegar) Note: Mixture will appear curdled before completely cooked.

Multi-paned windows give the Everett, a modern split-level home, traditional charm. The home front is finished in brick. The rest of the house is shingled. An attached garage, at right, has a triple window that makes it seem part of the house proper.

A LOT FOR YOUR MONEY

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

The split level home gives you a lot for your money. That's why it's so popular.

Take a house like the Everett, for instance. There's plenty of living space spread over four floors, each separated from the other by six short steps.

The living room's a beauty.

IMPRESSIVE FIREPLACE

A high vaulted ceiling makes the modern corner fireplace extremely impressive. The room's arranged so that it can even take a baby grand piano without crowding. On the floor plan the architect's placed one beneath the bedroom balcony.

With the balcony, plus the picture window at front, the living room has an open, airy, spacious feeling.

Close by, the dining room ends in a multi-panel bay window—a nice decorative touch—which makes the medium-sized room seem larger than it actually is.

The kitchen, back of the dining room, completes the first floor. It has a side entry and—surprise!—a picture window too!

SLEEPING QUARTERS

From the living room, a stairway leads up to sleeping quarters— three bedrooms and two baths.

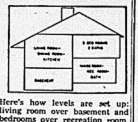
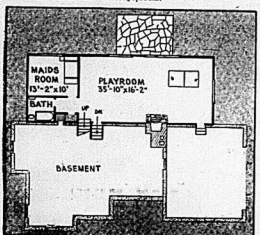
First of all, there are three windows, plus a fourth one in the bath. Then, inspect those walk-in closets! There are two, almost large enough to be called rooms in themselves.

MANY CLOSETS



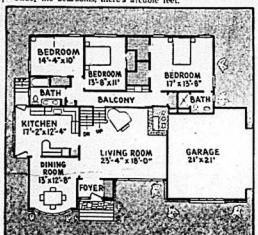
But closet space is good in this home. Each of the other bedrooms has a wardrobe closet and there are two additional closets opening off the balcony hall.

The two lower levels of the house are reached from the living rooms, too.



Under the bedrooms, there's a playroom more than 35 feet long. It opens on a terrace at back and also has access to the spacious two-car garage. Adjacent to it is a maid's room with adjoining bath.

Down a few steps from the playroom is the basement.



The Everett comprises 25,340 cubic feet.

The maid's room and bath might be used either for guests or family quarters. The playroom is enormous—over 35 feet in length

Three bedrooms and two baths occupy the top level. On the main level are living room, dining room and a spacious kitchen.

LEAKY BRICK VENEER

When brick veneer develops leaks, water can seep into the small space between the house sheathing and the brick wall causing damage to plastered inside walls. To prevent this, drill small slanting holes through the brick mortar joints at the base of the wall so the water can drain outside.

New Plaster Over Old Can Rejuvenate a Room

Reinforced window corners resist settlement cracks.

Preparing perfect corners

Your walls move even though you can't see the movement. According to tests made by engineers of the Department of Commerce, this movement is what causes many plaster cracks.

The movement is caused by lumber shrinkage, vibration, temporary loads and temperature changes.

Most of the plaster cracks occur around corners of door and window frames and in corners of rooms.

There are easy ways to prevent much of this trouble when you are building. Big patches of metal lath at each window and door corner and special strips of metal called cornerite and striplite, made by various manufacturers, will reinforce plaster at critical points.

It's better to use a machine-formed corner bead, which is true in alignment, than to try hand-fashioned strips. Intersections of partitions and of ceilings and partitions always are danger spots for plaster cracks. For absolute confidence, cover all lath joints with strips of reinforcing metal lath.

Curved Fir Plywood Panels Form Simple Cove Ceiling

A professional-looking cove ceiling of fir plywood paneling can be achieved in a basement or attic room by a weekend carpenter. Shown above is one method of obtaining the coved effect. Notice that where edges of curved panels meet, the backing should be sawn from lumber 2 inches thick. This will provide a nailing surface for edges of both panels to meet on.

Curved gussets to furnish backing where there are no joists between panels can be cut as shown from ¾ inch fir plywood. The ¼-inch fir plywood used for paneling can easily be bent and secured to the gussets. Fir plywood bends to a smaller radius across the grain as illustrated.

At the ends of the gussets, blocking of 2x3 or 2x4 is needed to provide nailing surfaces for ends of the flat wall and ceiling panels.

PAINTING SOIL PIPE

The preservation coating on most soil pipes inside the house will destroy an oil paint. To prevent this, first paint the pipes with aluminum paint. After it is dry, the pipes can then be successfully painted.

Sabot Provides First Big Thrill When She's Taken off the Frame

This is the third in a series on how to build an eight-foot sailing dinghy."

By HARRY FURNISS

Planking of Sabot — indeed any boat — provides the greatest thrill because a relatively small amount of work will make the dinghy assume a definite shape.

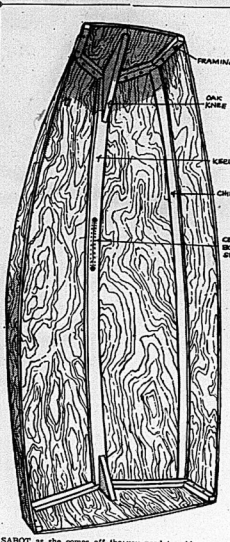
If your work has been careful up to this point, the shape will be a sweet one—a never-failing thrill to the boatbuilder.

TEMPLATES FULL SIZE

Books on fir plywood planking stress the need for making fullsize templates of the bottom and side pieces, but they can be dispersed with in Sabot if sufficient care is taken when measuring and cutting the pieces.

The procedure is simplicity itself. Take a piece of quarter-inch fir plywood, best side out, and lay it on one side of the bottom. Clamp the after end and juggle the bow end around until its edge follows as closely as possible the centre line marked on the keel.

Here you will find the forward third of the plywood will need trimming to make it fit the centre line piece pressed down against both keel and chine.



LINEUP TRICK

A handy way to get this line (which is curved when the plywood is lying flat) is to lay a row of tacks or small nails along the centre line under the plywood. Then, by smartly thumping the plywood, a row of dents is made along the centreline indicating the proper line to saw along.

On no account touch the chine edge of the plywood until the bo oteimtepe the bottom piece fits perfectly along the centre line of the keel. Looking at it in place, you will notice that the edge needs a slight bevel to make it perpendicular to the original line of the keel. This is added easily with a plane.

To measure the chine, just reach under the dinghy and draw a pencil along the outside of the chine, leaving quite a bit of fullness — especially towards the bow—for final fitting.

In cutting both these curves, a keble saw is most helpful. Set this blade about half an inch above the table. With one man standing near the blade and the other at the end of the plywood sheet the curved lines can be easily followed.

SABOT as she comes off the frame. At this stage if you decide to add now are seats, outlooks, rubbing strips and you not to make a sailing pram all have a dandy car-top dinghy.

DRILL KEEL HOLES

After the bottom piece fits along all lines when bent into place, drill holes every six inches along the keel and screw it in to place. Don't drive any screws fully home until all, including those into tranom frame pieces and chines, have been partially positioned.

When screwing, remember that the edge of plywood along the outside of the chine will have to be beveled before the side planking can be added, which means an appreciable amount of wood must be removed as the bottom planking nears the bow.

Often the tendency here is to allow a margin by sight alone, then drill the holes and screw down the planking. Unless you measure this bevel, you'll find yourself withdrawing some screws to make room for the bevel with the attendant job of filling up the first holes.

While all this foregoing procedure may sound complicated, the actual planking is one of the easy jobs, providing you do a modicum of thinking before making the final cuts.

FIT BOTTOM FIRST

Theories vary as to the order of attaching the two bottom and two side pieces. I prefer to fit the bottom pieces first; drill all the holes; act all the screws; and then, after removing both pieces, to glue all the touching surfaces with a very liberal hand, and re-fasten the pieces. When they are firmly in place I cut the sides which, as you old up the plywood for measing, you will find simplicity self. Both sides, incidentally, ca be cut from a single 4x8 sheet

Be sure and ie a waterproof glue. The tyr that comes in powder form is jod as it can be mixed as requirt.

DRIVE HOME SREWS

Screw holes inotywood should not be counterak, but rather the screw driven ome until flush with the surface of the plywood.

Just one more thing before you knock off br the night. Mark the sheer ne on the inside of the hull at the points where it touches se sheer of the frame. Also mari the inside of the keel on the frward side of the number two frame as this point will later eablish the position of the centboard slot.

In Part IV we will discuss finishing the outside of the hull and detail of the inside.

Diefenbaker Draws Largest Audience of Campaign in Attack on Liberal Govt.

By ALAN DONNELLY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP)—The second giant attack within three nights has turned out for a John Diefenbaker election meeting and the Progressive Conservative leader says "something is happening" in his campaign.

Some 6,000 persons converged on downtown Vancouver's Georgia Auditorium Thursday night and an estimated 3,000 of them jammed inside to hear the tall Saskatchewan lawyer promise "unity and freedom" under a Conservative government.

"Across this country Canadians as a whole will agree that something is happening," he said as he started his 75-minute speech.

"The Liberals are realizing that Canada is aroused as it has not been for many years, and people everywhere are asking what shall the future of this nation be?"

MANY OUTSIDE

Shortly before his speech ended, about 2,000 persons still were standing outside the hall, filling side street and listening to loudspeakers. A police sergeant said at least 1,000 had come and gone left when they found no seats.

The 2,350 seats in the hall and 150 in the basement were filled and at least 500 stood crowding along the walls and in the aisles. Fire department officials did not clear the exits until near the end of the meeting.

It was the largest meeting of the election campaign to date, topping the 3,800 who had heard Mr. Diefenbaker two nights earlier at Victoria and doubling the 2,000 Inter-B.C. Lumber spoke in the Georgia Auditorium three weeks ago.

Today Mr. Diefenbaker, opening the fifth week of his campaign with 19 days to go to election day starts moving eastward.

He was obviously elated by his reception here.

NEEDED BIGGER HALL

When he arrived at the hall in a convertible automobile and found the crowd standing outside, he stood and spoke to them through a hand microphone, apologizing that the size of the crowd had not been anticipated and a larger hall obtained.

"This is a great inspiration," he said. "Thanks from the bottom of my heart!"

Inside he was greeted with standing applause.

"Even the Sasquatch love John" shouted an enthusiastic supporter, referring to the mythical monster supposed to inhabit B.C's mountains.

Mr. Diefenbaker promised maintenance of all social security measures at "a high standard" to help pace with national productivity and said a Conservative government would be ready, within limits, to help Finance powerdevelopment in British Columbia and other provinces.

DAKES ACCUSATION

In effect he accused Prime Minister St. Laurent of hitting below the belt in a recent speech. He said the prime minister had tried to sow fear among Canadians by hinting a Conservative government would remove family allowances.

"When in the prize ring one of the participants begins to use tactics that are not in keeping with the Queensberry rules he can be sure the end of the fight is not too far distant.

"I say to the prime minister that such a suggestion is not in keeping with the responsibilities of his great and dignified office."

Mr. Diefenbaker also pursued his attack on a statement made by the prime minister in the Commons last November.

He said the prime minister had "lumped Britain and France with the USSR" and described them as "those governments whose days are about over: That's one speech he's not repeating in this campaign. It certainly cannot be forgotten by Canadians on June 10."

Premier Bennett Worried About Voters' List

OTTAWA (CP) — Premier W. A. C. Bennett of British Columbia Thursday wired chief electoral officer Nelson Castonguay requesting an immediate inquiry into the preparation of the voters' list for the federal constituency of Vancouver Centre.

Mr. Castonguay replied to the Social Credit premier that he is confident officials in charge of the work will carry out their duties as outlined by the Canadian Elections Act.

Vancouver Centre was represented in the last Parliament by Defence Minister Campney, who is seeking re-election June 10 in a three-cornered contest with Social Credit, Progressive Conservative, CCF and Labor-Progressive party candidates.

NO COMPLAINTS

In releasing the texts of the two telegrams, Mr. Castonguay said he has received no official complaints about the way enumerators in Vancouver Centre worked.

Mr. Bennett's wire said:

"There seems to be a great unrest regarding voters list and relative matters in the Vancouver Centre constituency. I would suggest that you send immediately a judge, representative to inquire at once into the alleged situation."

In Vancouver, Chief Justice Judge Bruce Boyd, who acts as explained his revised officer under the Canada Elections Act, said that, although he did not have the list for Vancouver Centre in hand, "as far as I know, everything is in order."

Colonial Record Too Little Known Says Churchill

LONDON (Reuters) — Sir Winston Churchill says that Britain's colonial record is too little known and has failed to receive due recognition.

Churchill said that not since the days of the Roman Empire has a single nation carried as great responsibility for the lives of men and women outside its own shores as Great Britain does today.

"Look where you will, you will find that the British have ended their days of duty to nations, to tens, opened churches, schools and hospitals, built railways and made good harbors, and developed the natural resources of the countries so as to mitigate the worst universal desperate poverty," he wrote.

"They have given freely in money and materials and in the services of men, devoted to official servants; yet no tax is imposed upon any of the other peoples that is not spent by their own governments on projects or their own benefit and their general development into nations freely associated within the Commonwealth."

The book entitled British Guiana by Michael Swan, is the fourth in a series of illustrated volumes about the United Kingdom's dependent territories, written by different authors and sponsored by the colonial office.

Cripple Beaten

TORONTO (CP)—A 73-year-old cripple was beaten into unconsciousness Saturday for the $18 he had in his east-central Toronto bookstore.

A neighbor gave police the description of two youths, aged about 20, wearing sweaters and boots, who were believed to have taken the money.

CANBERRA HALTED

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — Fuel pump trouble over Alaska Thursday blasted a British jet bomber crew's hopes of a round-trip London-Tokyo flight in less than 40 hours. The RAF twin-jet Canberra had to turn back to Ladd air force base after having covered about 300 miles on the final leg of its 7,940-mile flight to Japan over the polar route.

Church Opposes Commercialized Sunday Sport

VANCOUVER (CP) — Rt. Rev. James Thomson of Montreal, Moderator of the United Church of Canada, says the church does not oppose Sunday sport as long as it is not commercialized.

"I stand by my statement that Sunday should be a day of enjoyment," he said Thursday night in an interview, "But the church does not wish to see Sunday sport become a commercialized institution.

"No Intelligent Christian person can object to baseball or any other means of people enjoying themselves on Sunday."

He said, however that it is important "we preserve all that is good and worthwhile in the traditional Sabbath—the day a week different from the others."

"... Anyway ... there are more people who want to go to church than want to see a baseball game."

SAYS WAS MISQUOTED

Dr. Thomson said he was misquoted Wednesday in a Canadian Press story which quoted him as saying the church had no objection to commercialized Sunday sport.

The United Church does not want to see Sunday swept away in a wave of commercialization," he said.

Baseball games are being played Sunday in Montreal and Toronto of the Pacific Coast League. The Maunties have been selling tickets for the midnight Saturday for Sunday doubleheaders. City council approved the two games but the city prosecutor may take action under the Lord's Day Act.

"At the present stage of events in Vancouver, the question is not one of the right or wrong of playing baseball on Sunday, it is rather a matter of whether the Mounties Baseball Club is prepared to abide by Canadian law.

"As far as British Columbia is concerned our objection has been directed against commercial sport on Sunday. It is true, however, that we don't approve of large or noisy gatherings on the day of rest —for any kind of sport.

"However, we have no criticism of private recreation providing the individual does not allow it to interfere with the non-religious observance on Sunday. The Lord's Day Alliance is concerned to keep Sunday free from the inroads of business in whatever guise it may take."

Doctor Testifies On Own Behalf

MONTREAL (CP) — Dr. Louis Rotman testified at his manslaughter trial Thursday that the death of Mrs. Lucy Delgnault, a woman who later died was some painful boils and a dose of a strong antibiotic.

Dr. Rotman, 42, of suburban Lachine, is accused of performing an illegal operation that resulted in the death on Dec. 31 of Mrs. Jacques Delgnault, 25-year-old housewife.

The Crown contends the gangrene was caused by instruments not surgically clean. The defence admits Mrs. Dalgnault died of gangrene but contends the infection could have been caused by germs naturally present even in healthy tissue.

CAME TO HIS OFFICE

Dr. Rotman said Mrs. Dalgnault came to his office Feb. 6. He had never seen her before.

He said she seemed to be pregnant and appeared to be in good health.

He said he made an internal examination but did not use instruments of any kind. He found evidence of a pelvic infection and gave the woman an antibiotic injection to check it. Dr. Rotman testified.

He said he gave her pills to deaden the pain and told her to call back within 48 hours.

Mrs. Dalgnault died in hospital two days later.

Youth Found Dead in Cells

MATTAWA (CP)—An unidentified youth was found dead in the police cells here Thursday hanging by his belt in the cell door. Police said the youth had been arrested two hours before on an impaired driving charge. He was about 19.

Mattawa is 40 miles east of North Bay.

PREPARE FATHERS FOR "NEW ARRIVALS"

As a result of suggestions by mothers attending pre-natal clinics in Toronto, prospective fathers are now being groomed to care for the new arrival. Jim Geddes, seen here with "teacher" Mrs. D. F. Connell, is one of 23 fathers-to-be currently learning how to bathe, dress and diaper baby with the aid of life-size dolls.

Three courses for expectant fathers, each consisting of four lectures, are held three times a year in Toronto. Arranged by the social planning council and the department of public health, the course is similar to 10-weeks one given to prospective mothers. A physician, a public health nurse and a nutritionist are the lecturers, while Jack Balmer, seen above, is one of the "students."

Ontario 'Not Holding Line' Against Traffic Accidents

"Figures from the United States for the first four months of 1957 show they are holding the line in traffic accidents," he said Thursday. "We in Ontario are not. We must consider whether we can stop the continual increase in Ontario or accept the proposal of a growing accident record each year."

Ontario showed an 8.5-per cent increase in injuries in traffic for the first four months this year over the same period in 1956.

Mrs. Roberts spoke at a dinner set which 100 Ontario police chiefs were guests of the Hamilton Rotary Club during the annual convention of the Chief Constables' Association of Ontario.

He said his department has increased road vehicle checks 22 per cent this year. Some 258,000 vehicles were checked for safety and a total of 73,000 warnings were issued on highways controlled by the provincial police. Municipal figures would equal or exceed this figure, he said.

He urged special measures be taken to protect children under 14 during the summer months. Figures on pedestrians killed during the months of July and August last year showed that 60 per cent were under 14.

He said the provincial police force is expanding and will soon have new headquarters buildings at Niagara Falls, Barrie and Kilsloe and housing developments for detachments at Oakville and Waterdown.

Recruiting has resulted in a 15-per cent-increase in the 900-member force this year. He predicted a 30-per cent-increase by the end of the year.

He said he hopes municipalities will adopt the uniform traffic ticket the OPP will be using in a few months.

Woman Suing Agency After 75 Cats Killed

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Miss Katherine Chazin, a cat fancier who sometimes has kept as many as 75 felines in her West Philadelphia apartment, is suing two animal care agencies and nine individuals for $3,000,000.

Miss Chazin contended Thursday that 52 of her pets were destroyed and she was forcibly ejected from the headquarters of the Pennsylvania SPCA headquarters she was told 52 of her cats had been destroyed. When she declined to see her bodies she was ejected by two employees.

She later went to the office of the Women's SPCA, she said, and was told 23 of her cats were there but never received permission to see the animals.

William Savage, a director of Women's SPCA, said his agency spent $900 in the 1956 fiscal year for Miss Chazin's cat herd and that at present his organization is caring for 17 of her pets, each consuming 25 cents worth of feed daily.

Denies Luring Woman to Death On Firing Range

OMIYA, Japan (AP)—The Japanese fiance of William S. Girard Thursday prayed to Buddha to save him and others in the case of the U.S. Army camp where he is held. She said he told her "it's a matter of life or death" for a Japanese woman to death on a military firing range.

Girard is the Illinois soldier involved in a ticklish dispute between U.S. and Japanese authorities. He is accused of killing a Japanese woman scavenging for scrap metal. Army authorities had decided to let Japan try him but this order now is being held up pending a review of the case.

It was an exciting day and I regret very much Bill's responsibility for it," said his fiance, Miss Haru Suryama. "He could not kill anyone."

They planned to marry in March, she said.

Japanese police quoted him as saying he fired only as a warning to get scrap collectors off the range. The case attracted little attention at first, but became a issue in the Japanese press after villagers told police Girard sprinkled shells around to lure scavengers onto the range.

Toronto Comedy Wins High Praise At Festival

EDMONTON (CP) — Two comedies and their male leads appear to be favorites for prizes and mentions to be top contenders so far for awards this year in the Dominion Drama Festival.

Most recent to receive his sweeping praise was Toronto Little Time as presented Thursday night by the Playcrattsmen of Toronto, Ontario. The male lead was given no outstanding in the lead.

Two nights earlier, Mr. Speaight had lauded with approximately equal enthusiasm the Medicine Show Theatre's version of Noel Stalag 17, wherein John Komanchuk especially was commended.

These were among the first five plays to be staged in competition at the national finals and seem to have left adjudicator Dorothy Davies hard pressed to find anything to have outdistanced-the other three in most respects. Three plays remain to be judged, starting tonight with The Crucible by the Hamilton Players' Guild.

GIVES OPINION

After an audience of about 2,000 persons had watched the Paul Osborn comedy by the Toronto group Thursday night, Mr. Speaight actor and director gave this terse judgment:

"We have to applaud one of the best performances that I have ever seen at a Canadian festival."

And as for Mr. Devlin in the lead as Grampa, who in the play chases death in the person of Mr. Brink up a backyard apple tree, Mr. Speaight said it was a "magnificent performance" and "a most mature and accomplished piece of work."

P.M. Pledges Govt. Will See That Atlantic Provinces Share In Canada's 'Shining Future'

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

FREDERICTON (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent says he cannot negotiate with Premier Duplessis of Quebec to obtain power storage for the St. John River in Quebec.

And so he believes it would be best for New Brunswick and Nova Scotia to go ahead with the federal offer to build coal burning power plants for the two provinces and link their power distribution systems.

Mr. Duplessis and I are none too cordial," Mr. St. Laurent said Thursday night as he wound up his three-day Maritime tour. "We don't find it any too easy to cooperate along the same lines."

The Liberal leader made the statement in reference to New Brunswick suggestions that federal aid be provided in developing the St. John River for electrical power.

New Brunswick itself had insufficient water storage facilities for power development, said Mr. St. Laurent. The only storage available for the St. John River would be in the headwaters in Quebec or the State of Maine.

GIVES PLEDGE

Mr. St. Laurent highlighted his three-day tour of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island with a pledge that his government will see that Atlantic provinces are in Canada's "shining future."

In each community he visited, he asked voters to consider the impact of the many federal projects undertaken in the region and others that may follow.

For one thing, the day may come, he suggested, when construction of a causeway between Prince Edward Island and the mainland may become feasible. His government would be willing to go ahead with it if it was found that the project would eventually return to the economy more than the costs involved.

And he cautioned maritimers to beware of the election "partnership" between John Diefenbaker, Progressive Conservative leader, and Premier Frost of Ontario. The future of the federal tax-sharing plan may be at stake, he suggested. And to each province he pointed out that the plan provided increased federal payments to the Atlantic and other provinces.

JOKES ABOUT AIR

The 75-year-old Mr. St. Laurent joked about his record as prime minister, telling his Charlottetown audience that he had to visit three capitals to look for work before he finally found a bit of it in the P.E.I. capital.

Arriving earlier than scheduled, he put in time by visiting the Charlottetown Patriotic newspaper office and the provincial building where the Fathers of Confederation gathered in 1864 to found the Dominion of Canada.

St. Laurent signed the visitor's book, describing himself as "successor to a cabinet maker" apparently a reference to Sir John A. Macdonald who had called himself a cabinet maker.

Immigration Minister Pickersgill, who was with Mr. St. Laurent, also signed the book, describing himself as an "expert in [illegible]." Mr. Pickersgill is the Newfoundland member of the cabinet.

NEW YORK (AP)—Mixed motives are bringing thousands of persons to hear the gospel preached—many of whom haven't been inside a church in years.

Here in the hotbed of pulpit evangelist Billy Graham, but he himself says his only message is the Bible, and every minister has one. So what is it that brings those who would ignore a preacher to the subject?

You get all kinds of answers from the assorted people flocking to Madison Square Garden—18,000 every Thursday night—but the most frequently heard reasons are these:

1. The possibility of resolving some inner problem; 2. Curiosity; 3. Invited by a friend; 4. Desire to demonstrate support for the crusade.

Listen in on a few replies to the question:

Diana Cyre, a Manhattan striptease dancer: "I'm in show business, and I just wanted to find out why so many people come to hear about a story that's 2,000 years old. Is it showmanship or what he says?"

Key Article in Quebec Act Is Challenged

QUEBEC (CP) — In the background of the long strike at the Murdochville Copper Mine, now in effect since March 11, is a challenge by Gaspe Copper Mines Limited of a key article in the Quebec Labor Relations Act.

The article in question says: "The decisions of the board cannot be appealed and cannot be reversed by the courts."

The company's action, called a writ of prohibition, is holding up a decision by labor board on application by the United Steelworkers of America (CLC) for certification as bargaining agent for Gaspe Peninsula copper workers.

The union, claiming it represents 95 per cent of the 1,000 miners employed at the time of the walkout, has said its members will not go back to work unless the company signs an agreement containing wages comparable to those paid at the International Nickel Company mines at Sudbury.

Basic hourly wages here are $1.07 for laborers, $1.40 for miners and $1.56 for shovel operators. The union says wages at Sudbury are roughly 50 cents an hour more.

DOUBLE WRIT EFFECT

The company has said it will not negotiate an agreement with an uncertified union.

The writ of prohibition, granted Aug. 2 by a Superior Court judge, had a two-fold effect:

1. It froze all proceedings in the certification case.

2. It opened the way for a full argument on points of law and fact involved.

The company's action specifically challenges the jurisdiction of the labor board in the certification case that started last June.

Arvida Strike Parley Planned

ARVIDA, Que. (CP)—President Gerard Pelletier of the Canadian and Catholic Federation of Labor has consented to open talks today with union officials representing some 6,500 striking workers at the Arvida aluminum plant in Canada smelter here.

It was not known whether he had some plan for settlement of the dispute.

The union—the National Metal Trades Federation (CCCL)—wants a 20-cent-an-hour increase, Alcan's nine Quebec operations and an immediate 30-cents-an-hour wage increase.

There was no comment from Jean Griffin on Thursday's announcement Thursday that it will pay strikers' shares on group life insurance premiums, their contribution for the employees' benefit, in the form of a loan, and that it expects to be paid back after the return to work.

Some Wells Must Be Redug

By ROY L. SMITH

There are some liberties each generation must make newly secure, some rights must be forever defended, some holy traditions must be renewed, and some wells must be redug.

Abraham, the father of Isaac, moved across the Land of Promise digging wells and establishing his own type of civilization. Then, when his back was turned, the enemies of Israel filled up the wells. When Isaac returned to the land he found it necessary to redig the wells. Otherwise his claim to the land would have been forfeited, and life would have become impossible.

ENEMY HATH DONE THIS

It is one of the anomalies of progress that all advancement has to be made over the protest, and against the opposition of other people, and it sometimes happens that some of them are rather splendid folk. Their ignorance, or their preoccupation, has blinded them to even their own best interests.

It is possible that we shall do very great damage to democracy at the very moment that we are attempting to protect it; and it is also possible that we shall betray the spirit of Protestantism at the very moment that we are proclaiming its principles. All the things done in the name of religion are not religious.

The enemies of free governments are not to be found behind curtains of various sorts; some of them are on our side of the line but not on our side of the cause. He is an enemy of liberty who is not a friend of impartial freedom.

CANADIANIZING CANADIANS

We have made much of our traditional heritage of free speech, freedom of assembly, freedom of thought, and freedom of the press. And then, because someone in exercising those freedoms has disagreed with us, we have derided them the rights we demand for ourselves.

It calls for a rare quality of emotional and spiritual maturity to be a Canadian. A totalitarianism asks but one virtue from its subjects — the virtue of obedience. But true Canadianism requires that we shall maintain our standards and at the same time maintain a certain charity of mind.

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for May 26: "A MAN OF PEACE IN A WORLD OF STRIFE," Genesis 26:1-5, 12-33.

The process of Canadianizing our citizens is a continuing one which offers no respite. Each new generation of young Canadians must be ushered through the experiences of our forefathers until they arrive at their fathers' convictions.

Isaac, in the Old Testament here, had arrived at a high state of moral and ethical maturity when he was able to live at peace in a world of strife. It called for a rare degree of self-discipline. He was the kind of man who could dig a well and move on to dig another pitting peace above pride.

But he left something in the way of permanent civilization behind him, which was more than his enemies did.

AN ALTAR, A HOME, A WELL

There is something rarely significant in the fact that Isaac "built an altar," "pitched a tent, and "dug a well." In those three acts he fulfilled the demands of great citizenship.

He established worship, he provided for his family, and he made his economy secure.

There is something so very futile about erecting a house in which there is no family religion, and in trying to make our economy secure without making our souls also secure.

History has a way of reminding us that no economic life is long secure in those lands or among those people who have no alter and who worship no God.

Four Tugs Will Enter Race

WINDSOR (CP) — Ceremonies marking the official opening of work on the Amherstburg Channels deepening project will not be without a tugboat race.

The race will be between two tugs of McQueen Marine, Ltd., of Amherstburg, the Aburg and the Patricia McQueen and two tugs of the Becker Towing Co. of Detroit, the B. H. Becker and the G. F. Becker.

About 150 Canadian and United States civic and government leaders are expected to attend the official ceremonies May 28.

The Aburg was the winner in the Propeller Club race at Detroit last Saturday. The Becker tugs were second and third.

Announcement of the race follows more than a week of uncertainty caused by a United States union grievance against the employment of Canadian labor by a United States firm working on the Amherstburg project.

The $23,000,000 project is being financed entirely by United States capital but is being carried out in Canadian waters.

Columbus Nips Marlins 1-0

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Columbus Jets have served notice that they have no intention of being the International League door mat.

After flirting with the cellar during the early part of the season, the Jets today have a four-game winning streak going following a victory over Miami Marlins in Thursday night's only game. Buffalo and Montreal were rained out for the second straight night.

While handing the Marlins their fifth setback on Don Kildoo's four-hit pitching, Jets moved into a tie with Havana for fifth place. They are 5½ games back of the pace setting Buffalo Bisons.

The only run Thursday night came in the fifth when Ken Toothman led off with a single, moved to third on Harding Peterson's double and scored as Kildoo grounded out.

Minoso Holds Strange Record

NEW YORK (AP)—Minnie Minoso holds one record he would be glad to give up. It is the American League all-time high for most times hit by a pitched ball in one season, 23.

The 33-year-old Cuban has been hit 100 times in a big league career that stretches over parts of seven seasons. Frankly, it is getting annoying.

Opposing pitchers and their managers sometimes say Minnie doesn't try to get out of the way. They claim Minoso will let a stray pitch nick him or graze his elbow if the Chicago White Sox are desperate for a base runner.

SLOW JUDGEMENT

Minoso doesn't like sort of talk. He claims he just is slow in judging the direction in which a ball will move

"They pitch me tight," said Minnie.

Minoso is having a good year with the speedy White Sox. He is hitting .318, ha sdriven in 20 runs and has stolen three bases among Chicago's total of 24, tops in the majors.

Jimmy Carter Nods McDonald

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Former lightweight champion Jimmy Carter, making his first start in nine months, had to work hard Thursday night to grind out a unanimous decision over Buddy McDonald of Edmonton, in a 10-round bout at the Fairgrounds.

Carter weighed 141 and McDonald 138.

Carter piled up much of his winning margin in the first two rounds. Once the Canadian youngster had overcome an apparent awe of the three-time champion, the fight was close.

There were no knockdowns.

Will Play In Brantford

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Big Four football league have announced they have completed arrangements for transfer of their intermediate team, Canadian champions, from Hamilton to Brantford.

Club president Jake Gaudaur said Thursday the team, to be known as Brantford Tiger-Cats, will play home games in Brantford but practise in Hamilton.

The intermediate team is the only one sponsored by the pro club which last year dropped its junior franchise. The Junior Wildcats were sponsored by Montreal Alouettes.

Gaudaur said he believes the decision to back only an intermediate team has been vindicated by the fact that at least five of last year's squad are serious contenders for pro football this year.

Redlegs Whip Cardinals 6-2 To Extend National Loop Lead To Pair

Sport Slices

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE.

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

This piece may cost this department it's top spot on the Peever payroll.

It's bad news for Peeve because it concerns the fate of his beloved "Bums." Could it be that the honorable Art will have to change from a "Bum" to an "Angel." Futhermore he'll have to pick up a Californian dialect.

The time may not be too far distant when the Gowanus faithful may have to cross the river and watch "da bums they've oldered moidered" on countless occasions if they want to see major league baseball.

Or could it be possible that the Ebbet's Field proletariat doesn't give give a hoot? Attendance at the venerable "steel-guitered" pile off Bedford Avenue has fallen off with the rapidity of a summer thermometer in a deep freeze.

There was a day when the Flatbush faithful, given red cockades, scythes, clubs and torches could have been mistaken for a mob east of the French revolution. In the days when the Brooks were struggling to get out of the second division, the bistros, taverns and any place where a schuper of suds was available rang to the rallying cry "Ya Bum, Ya."

It had a particularly venomous ring when applied to the hated foemen from Soogan's Bluff, or the "Moidrer's Row" from Yankee Stadium on exhibition days. It had a somewhat tender tone when expertly aimed at a "Bum" who erred afield or failed to hit in the clutches, or anytime a clout was needed.

Maybe the failure of the bums to have a stadium built in their beloved Flatbush has frayed the nerves and patience of the fans. In any event attendance has dropped to the "perril" where it approaches the disgraceful. Fifteen home games have drawn only 182,000 customers while out-of-town fans find the Bums so attractive that 189,000 watched the Dodgers in their last eight road games.

Across the river the Yankee Stengleers pulled 81,-006 fans through the turnstiles for only three games over a cold drizzly weekend.

Two strange things, human nature and baseball.

During our all too brief sojourn in Gotham last October when the baseball world was in the series throes, we discovered that the average Brooklyn fan is nothing short of a fanatic. It could have been series fever and the fact the Bums were playing their second most hated foe, the Yankees.

Riding with a Brooklyn taxi driver in world series time is an experience that comes once in a lifetime to one from the Canadian sports hinterlands.

Our Flatbush jehu, driving from the press hotel to Ebbet's field on the morning of the day of the first game, was as loyal as a bun to a hot dog.

"So yez is a press guy, eh," he said. "And whom does I 'Link is goin' to win da serious? Listen, mister, youse is treadin' on dangerous ground. By da way, where ya from? Ya don't talk English like we holds. Are yez from upstate? Oh, Canada, eh. I had a buddy that came from up there. I tink the place was called Kibbick, or sumpin' like dat."

That, in case you're interested, is Brooklynese a la taxi driver for Quebec.

So we simulated the local dialect with the noble if tritish query.

"Listen, bud," said the jehu neatly dodging a couple of trucks wit' one hand, "dey's only one team can win. And dat's da Bums. No, we aint goin' to moider 'em dis time. We're goin' to let 'em dis a slow painful death. De Ole Barb will take dis one today, den mebbe we'll allow 'em to take one after Newk clips 'em in da second."

"Me goin to da games? Would I miss me mudder-in-law's funeral? I'll have 'me stanzins' room seat up there in the gutters, drink me beer and root dem Bums hoyle."

"Here yez is, sir, Ebbet's Field. Da home of the Bums and da 1956 wild champs. And dent say we didden tell yez."

TONIGHT'S THE NIGHT

Pat O'Connor, a mild mannered gentleman and a clean, scientific matman, will come to grips with Hard-Boiled Haggerty, a boisterous, egotistical man who resorts to underhanded tactics in the ring. These two opposites will tangle in the feature match on tonight's wrestling program at the Memorial Arena.

Two outstanding brother alliances will clash in the semi-final event. Chris and John Tolos, contenders for the tag team championship, will attempt to keep their number one position when they collide with Don and Mark Lewin.

Cincy Southpaw Don Gross Wins Handily With Support From Messrs Hoak and Post

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Staff Writer

One thing about Don Gross. The young Cincinnati lefthander may not win 'em all, but he hasn't lost one for the Redlegs since 1955.

The 25-year-old southpaw has been the pitcher of record only eight times in his last 29 appearances in the majors—and each decision was a victory. He last lost one Sept. 8, 1955, to Philadelphia.

Gross was in 11 games last season and wound up with a 3-0 record.

Thursday night, he made it 4-0 for '57 in his eighth appearance of the year, defeating St. Louis Cardinals 6-2. It was the only game scheduled in the majors and pushed the Redlegs back into a two-game lead over Milwaukee in the National League.

THREE RBIs

Wally Post, with three runs batted in on three hits—one a two-run homer—and Don Hoak, with a two-run single, got the job done for Gross, who gained his fourth victory against no loss in his 60 streak.

A 10-run third inning, with only one run earned, carried the Redlegs to their 19th victory in the last 22 games and dumped the Cardinals into sixth place. Manager Fred Hutchinson shook up his lineup — shifting third baseman Ken Boyer to centerfield, replacing rookie Bobby Gene Smith, and putting rookie Eddie Kasko at third—in a vain effort to avoid St. Louis' fifth defeat in a row.

MUSIAL HOMERS

Gross gave up only Stan Musial's home run and two singles until the ninth, when three singles brought Curds their other run and Tom Acker came on in relief to get the final out.

The majors get back into the swing of things today with Chicago White Sox carrying their three-game American League lead and 10-game unbeaten streak into Cleveland against the second-place Indians under the lights. New York Yankees, who beat Brooklyn 10-7 in an exhibition game Thursday night, were in third place, four games behind after losing two in a row, as they met Washington in Yankee Stadium this afternoon.

Elsewhere in the American, it's Boston at Baltimore and Detroit at Kansas City, both night games.

In the National, St. Louis stays at Cincinnati, Milwaukee goes to Chicago for an afternoon game, New York is at Brooklyn at night and Pittsburgh is at Philadelphia, also under the lights.

Rosburg Tops Field in Kansas Open

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Unorthodox Bob Rosburg is a golfer whose game gets better as the weather grows hotter and he now looks ready to start his usual summer surge toward the top of the professional ranks.

The 30-year-old San Francisco pro shot a five-under-par 67 over Hillcrest Country Club's hill-and-dale course Thursday to take a shaky lead in the first round of the annual $22,000 Kansas City Open.

Rosburg didn't gain an ounce of security with his brilliant round of five birdies and 13 pars despite ailments on his play brought this muttered explanation.

"I've got to play good because the old bank roll is beginning to hurt; I've barely been making expenses."

Just as he did last year, Rosburg made a poor start this season, winning only $3,926 in 13 tournaments.

BIRDIES 18TH

Rosburg sank a 15-foot putt for a birdie three on the 18th hole to wrest the lead from Lloyd Mangrum. The 42-year-old Los Angeles veteran finished just a few minutes ahead of Rosburg with a 35-33—68 for the par 70-72 course.

Mangrum was alone in second place, but 29 other golfers played the 6,668-yard layout in par or better and were close on the heels of the leaders.

Tied for third place with 70s were Al Besselink, Pat Schwab, Billy Maxwell, Tom Nieporte, Ed Furgol, South African Gary Player and defending champion Bo Winniger.

Eight others including Jack Burke, Jr., Don Finsterwald and Australian Peter Thomson, were deadlocked at 71. The 14 players who played par 72 golf included 1957 Masters' champion Doug Ford, Billy Casper Jr., Dick Mayer and Jack Fleck.

Tommy Al Balding shot a one-over-par 73 while Jerry Kesselring of Kitchener had a 76.

IN POOR CONDITION

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The Indianapolis Motor Speedway was 425 acres of mud and mud Thursday after prolonged rains. Water oozed through the paved track in spots.

The management hoped for an improvement in the weather—not supported by forecasts—so time trials can be completed Saturday and Sunday for the 41st 500-mile race next Thursday.

Speedway owner Tony Hulman has promised owners of the 43 unqualified cars that everybody will get a chance at the 34 open spots remaining in the 33-car starting lineup. He said qualifications will continue up to Tuesday night, if necessary.

Wallace May Fight for Empire Crown

MONTREAL (CP)—Harry Sheppard, co-manager of Gordon Wallace of Brantford, British Empire light-heavyweight champion, said Thursday that Wallace likely will meet Mike Holt for the Empire crown in Johannesburg Aug. 3.

Holt is South Africa's light-heavy champion.

Sheppard said he received contracts from While City Stadium Promotions of Johannesburg stipulating the fight will be for the welterweight title. Wallace is to get $4,000 plus all expenses, including airplane transportation and hotels.

Sheppard said he has been awaiting word from Chairman Gordon Fane of the Commonwealth Empire Titles Committee in London okaying the fight as being for the Empire title. He said that in view of the contracts received from Johannesburg he presumes official recognition already has been received there.

Wallace is to meet the Canadian light-heavy champion, Yvon Durelle of Baie St. Anne, N.B., in Moncton May 30 for the Canadian title.

NEW YORK (AP)—Independent boxing promoters today saw a crack of light in what for many years had been a very black world.

The crack was opened by federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan during Thursday's hearings in the government's case against the International Boxing Club and Madison Square Garden.

He indicated during testimony by IBC secretary Truman Gibson that he may direct New York's famous Eighth Avenue sports arena to "open its doors" to independent fight promoters at a fixed, reasonable fee.

The government, in a civil action, is seeking to dissolve the boxing empire of James D. Norris and his associates. Norris, who heads both the Garden and the IBC, his partner Arthur Wirtz, the Garden and the International Boxing Clubs of New York and Chicago are the defendants.

The last time an independent promoter took his show into the Garden was 28 years ago when the late Mike Jacobs staged a Joe Louis - Bob Pastor fight. Subsequently Jacobs and the Garden became partners.

REASONABLE RENTAL

"I am heading in the direction of a decree that will compel Madison Square Garden to lease the Garden to any promoter for a championship fight at a fair, reasonable rental," Judge Ryan said.

"I have the power to direct that there be a compulsory rental on a reasonable basis and I am inclined to think I should exercise that power," he added.

Judge Ryan hinted he is close to a decision before he adjourned proceedings until Wednesday.

Gibson and the government counsel bickered constantly on the position of Norris and Arthur M. Wirtz, and Ryan finally stepped in with the admonishment: "I'm getting to the point where I'm going to decide this case. When we reconvene Wednesday leave your boxing gloves home."

Numbers Daze Soccer Player

WINDSOR (CP)—When you're playing one of the top teams in the English soccer league and the manager tells you to go out there and keep a close watch on the opposition player wearing sweater No. 8, you say you'll do your best.

But what happens when you find there are two opponents wearing No. 8?

Manager Chuck Abud gave the order to watch No. 8, ace playmaker Tommy Harmer. To his chagrin the Spurs by error sent in another No. 8, Alfie Stokes.

"There were two Number Eights on the field and I couldn't watch one of them all the time too," Miller moaned after the game, won 8-1 by the Spurs. Harmer scored two penalty kicks in the second half.

Yankees Trim Dodgers in Exhibition Tilt

BROOKLYN (AP) — Mickey Mantle blasted a two-run homer and added three singles as New York Yankees outslugged Brooklyn Dodgers 10-7 in the 11th annual Mayor's Trophy game Thursday night at Ebbets Field.

Net proceeds of the charity game, attended by 30,000 fans, will benefit sandlot organizations in the New York area.

Mantle's wallop off Dodger lefthander Ken Lehman ignited a seven-run sixth inning that broke a 3-3 tie. Yankees had 17 hits off four Brooklyn pitchers.

West Indies Leads Britain

LONDON (AP)—Johnny Wardle supplied a tailend boost to Yorkshire's batting Thursday just when the West Indies seemed headed for an overwhelming lead.

He went out to join captain Billy Sutcliffe when seven wickets had fallen for 78—the last three going for no runs at all.

Wardle opened up by swiping the redoubtable Sonny Ramadhin for a four. Next he banged Collie Smith for 12 in one over.

In 70 minutes he raced to a 50 by number 10 batsman had 66, 12 runs short of his highest score in first class cricket.

He was caught off a ball from Ramadhin without scoring again. Yorkshire was then 162, just 28 short of the West Indies first innings total.

Queen's Plate Hopefuls Meet At Woodbine

TORONTO (CP)—Three of the leading candidates for next month's running of the Queen's Plate will meet in the feature event of the season at old Woodbine today. Heading the field with 134 pounds is Lad Ator, which is rated a close second choice to Ali's Pride in the future book on Canada's turf classic.

In his only start this year, Lad Ator finished third.

Lad Ator's plate rivals, which will be among the seven starters in today's feature race, are Flying Atom and Lyford Cay, each of which will be making his first start of the season.

Lyford Cay never started in the money in his six starts in 1956. He won three races, finished second twice and finished third in his other start.

Unknown Whips Lew Hoad in French Tennis

PARIS (AP)—An unranked Australian, with powerful if unrefined backhand, upset defending champion Lew Hoad Thursday in the third round of the French tennis championships and added to the growing miseries of the player rated as the world's best amateur.

Neil Gibson, banging on tenaciously after dropping the first two sets, defeated his country's top Davis Cup ace 2-6, 3-6, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4.

It was the fourth straight defeat of the European campaign for the 22-year-old Australian star who failed to duplicate his Forest Hill championships a year ago, when he defeated Bob Howe and then suffered a back ailment in his own Australian national championships.

Herbie Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., the United States second ranked player, won over Gordon Forbes of South Africa, 6-1, 6-4, 6-3 and gained the fourth round.

Mervyn Rose defeated Ramanathan Krishnan, the young Indian star 6-4, 6-3, 6-4.

In another match, Kurt Nielsen of Denmark defeated Bob Howe of Australia 6-4, 6-4, 6-4.

SPONSOR WITHDRAWS

STRATFORD (CP) — Stratford board of parks management, who sponsored the Stratford Indians of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A division last season decided at a meeting Wednesday night to withdraw sponsorship with any group or individual.

High operating costs and lack of patronage were expressed as chief reasons for the stand taken by the parks board. A Senior B or Junior B OHA entry from Stratford is expected to result.

The board will continue to operate the Classic City Arena.

Canadian Quarterback May Make History in Pro Ranks

By JIM PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP)—Barring injury or some other unforeseen occurence, a Canadian professional football team is going to go through a season with a Canadian quarterback.

That's the word from Frank Ivy, the silent Oklahoman who piloted Edmonton Eskimos to three straight Grey Cup football championships.

If the plan goes through, it will be the first time a Canadian-born and trained player has held the key role since football was revived on a large scale in 1945.

GETTY'S QUICK RISE

Not one to ignore his Canadian playing talent, Ivy intends to use Don Getty, 23-year-old Montreal-born back who came to Eskimos two seasons ago from the Canadian City of Western Ontario, as his first-string quarterback.

Getty, understudy to the great Jackie Parker for nearly two years, made sport headlines last fall when Ivy sent him in at quarter and Getty responded to half during the western conference playoffs. Getty took the team right through to the Grey Cup title, the first Canadian quarterback to do so in 10 years.

"We plan," says Ivy, who seldom speaks in the singular, "to go with Getty at quarterback and Parker at halfback.

"Not that we don't think Jackie Parker is a good quarterback. We think he's the best quarterback in Canada. We also think he's the best football player in Canada.

"But we think we can make better use of both Parker and Getty by letting Don work at quarter and Jackie at half."

This could mean, Ivy admits, some changes may be made in the club's pattern of play. Getty is not the running quarterback that Parker is, so there will be a cut off big gains on occasions.

Imagine, however, some of the intriguing patterns that could develop with Getty handing off to Parker, a ballhandling magician who can run, pass or punt at almost any time.

Ivy also intends to have some other quarters in reserve material handy, but he hasn't indicated yet who this might involve.

"We've got to have some protection in case of injury," says the soft-spoken Parker and Getty both on the field at the same time, they could both get hurt on the same play and we wouldn't have a quarterback. It's happened!"

IVY HELPS HOCKEY

Bill Ezinicki, Toronto York Ranger defenceman, at home in Edmonton for the summer, reports the televising of 10 NHL Saturday afternoon games in the United States last season stirred new interest in the game across the country and helped boost attendance at nearly all minor league centres.

Gadsby said the network started with 36 stations taking the hockey broadcasts and had more than 100 on the hook-up before it finished.

Twenty-one games will be televised nationally in the U.S. during the 1957-58 season. The broadcasts are scheduled to start Saturday, Nov. 2, and continue until the final game of the season, March 22.

Will Televise Soccer Games

TORONTO (CP) — Twelve successive Sunday National League soccer games are to be televised over WGR-TV, Buffalo, commencing June 9, it was announced Thursday.

Frank Thirkettle, secretary of the National League, said a brewery (Labatt's) will sponsor the broadcasts which are to run from three until five p.m.

Ed Fitkin, former star soccer player and a radio commentator, has been contracted to handle the shows, Mr. Thirkettle said.

Although he refused to name the amount involved, he said his league would benefit to the extent of "several thousand dollars."

Trainer, Groom Are Suspended At Woodbine

TORONTO (CP) — Stewards at Old Woodbine race track announced Thursday they have suspended a trainer and a groom as a result of an analyst's report that a drug was found in a urine test of a horse that finished in a dead-heat for first on Wednesday's card.

The case of trainer D. O Brown and groom A McIver has been referred to the Ontario Racing Commission.

Whirling Home, which had shared first place with Kentucky in the first race, was placed out of the money and the purse redistributed with Flying Trinity awarded second, Retaliation third and Elexter fourth.

The stewards also announced the suspension of Avelino Gomez, leading rider of the meeting, for five days, effective Saturday, for permitting his mount to bear out leaving the starting gate and interfering with other horses in Wednesday's second race. Gomez rode His Glory which finished second.

ENTRIES HEAVY

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Athletes from almost every province and New York state will compete in the Canadian amateur wrestling championships which open today in St. Catharines.

Preliminary matches will be held this afternoon and Saturday afternoon; the finals Saturday night.

A heavy entry list in all eight weight division is expected. Tournament officials say many New Canadians have entered. Amateur wrestling is popular sport today in many central and eastern European countries.

Little Benny's Notebook

Pop was starting to look comfortable in his private chair, and ma said, William, I expect you to send birthday congradulations to your brother Lew. He never fales to send you a greeting card for your berthday, she said, and pop said. Unfortunately I have no speeling card.

Oh yes you have, because I took special panes to buy one for you, so all you have to do is sit down here at my desk and address it and add a few words of signature, ma said, and pop said, That's a good idea. Lew's berthday is not till the first of the month, so I still have a day or 2 to attend to it, he said.

Now William, you'll be disterbed by an unconscious feeling of gilt every minute you put it off, ma said, and pop said, I bet I wont.

Well I know you will, and I can prove it to you by a sycological test, ma said. I'll name a list of words, and every word will remind you of something connected with your brother Lew. The first word is greeting card. What does that make you think of? she said, and pop said, Christmas.

The 2nd word is anniversery, what's your reaction to that? pa said, and pop said, The discovery of the North Pole.

That's all I wanted to know, those 2 words tell the whole story, ma said. Greeting card reminded you of Christmas because Lew's berthday is the other end of the year from Christmas and anniverserry made you think of the North Pole because Lew is a confermed fisherman and naturelly uses a fishing pole, she said, and pop said, You win my gear.

And he sat down at her desk and did it.

Sinatra Makes Headlines With Astonishing Regularity

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) —Much ado about Frank Sinatra's press relations.

The crooner is the subject of a series of Look magazine articles which have evoked much comment, as well as a $2,500,000 suit from Frankie. It gave me pause to ponder exactly what are his press relations.

Sinatra is one of those rare stars who does not actively seek publicity, except the routine promotion of record albums and movies. The headline hunting has just happen to him, and with astonishing regularity.

The reason he has so many enemies in the press is simple. Sinatra was raised on the Hoboken homily of punishing your enemies and rewarding your friends.

BEEN A HANDY TARGET

Long in the limelight, he has made a handy target for writers. When he rose to fame on bobby-sockers' shrieks, when he had his romantic misadventures with Ava Gardner, when he hit the skids before From Here to Eternity — there times gave ample opportunity for knocks.

Some stars would let bygones be bygones when they climbed on top again. Not Frank. He remembers every knock. Once he gets his mind set against a person, whether he's Samuel Goldwyn or an officious waiter, that's it, brother . . . . .

Sight of the wreck: Clifton Webb being chastised by a policeman for jaywalking with his mother across Vine Street to the opening of Noel Coward's Fallen Angels. The Webb aplomb made no impression on the Joe Friday.

Fallen Angels is an example of the triumph of actors over vehicle. There is not enough plot for a vaudeville sketch, but Hermione Gingold, the best comedienne since Bea Lillie and Mary McCarthy make it a riot.

Errol Flynn feels like a piker, he told me, for suing Confidential for only $1,000,000. After all, Liberace went for $20,000,000.

"But at least I've got a hearing," Flynn added, "and that's something the others don't have."

He is as amazed as anyone that his marriage to Patrice Wymore has lasted almost eight years. "As Tommy Manville remarked, this is it," said Flynn.

He now is penning his memoirs, which should make torrid reading. Flynn asserted he will tell all about the sex-on-the-yacht trial, including the backstage studio manoeuvrings.

Ex-Gambler Blew Stack While Being Interviewed

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—It was inevitable that Mike Wallace would create controversy with his Sunday evening interview program on ABC-TV 10 p.m. EDT.

But even Wallace did not expect the kind of controversy that has arisen since his last Sunday program when Mickey Cohen, ex-gambler, sounded off against two Los Angeles police officials.

Wallace says that this was his purpose in putting Cohen on his program:

"Here is a man who admits having led a life of crime. He says Billy Graham has had a great effect in making him determined to go straight. That's a dramatic, important human situation, isn't it? It leads to some basic questions. What, for example, are the problems such a man faces in reforming?"

COHEN BLEW HIS STACK

In the case of Cohen, Wallace had a sure lead for an interesting human situation, a good "story." It's a pity that Cohen blew his stack and the interview now is remembered only for its name-calling.

Wallis writing the incident appears to be dying. Yet it has dramatized a problem that exists in the field of television interviewing.

In his interview program on a local New York station and now on the network Wallace has developed a technique of probing questioning that is a refreshing change from much of the stereotyped interviewing rampant in the medium. On occasions, but only occasionally, he has sounded too personal. As a result, he has created the impression in some quarters that he is sensationalist.

GUILT BY ASSOCIATION

By indulging in name-calling, Cohen, whose answers Wallace could not control, has not enhanced Wallace's journalistic reputation with some people. There is real danger that Wallace, through the curious process of guilt by association, will be thought guilty of name - calling too.

This is a basic problem faced by a TV interviewer who would be more than superficial. The solution if some is to forbid TV interviews with such persons as volatile ex-gamblers.

Wallace candidly admits that he has difficulty in obtaining the interview subjects he seeks. None is paid. "If we pay one, we are dead." He does not want a large number of show business people. Some in television who are eager to be interviewed — Arthur Godfrey, Jackie Gleason, Milton Berle — cannot appear on his program because of commitments with other networks.

Tornadoes Cut Path In States Killing Four

Hundreds of Homes Destroyed or Damaged

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Dozens of tornadoes hop-skipped a wide path through the middle of the continent Friday in what the U.S. weather bureau called the worst outbreak of twisters in recent years.

At least four persons were killed when a tornado hit a rural area six miles south of Lawton. A fifth death occurred when a man was stricken by heart attack while running for a storm shelter.

Texas—More than 20 tornadoes whirled scattered areas of the Panhandle and rolling plains. At least 10 persons were injured and hundreds of homes were destroyed or damaged. The injuries occurred at Olton, where a twister ripped through the Latin-American and Negro sections, demolishing 30 homes and damaging 25.

Colorado-Wyoming—A U.S. government forecaster credited light rain showers with tempering the destructiveness of eight tornadoes that swirled through southeastern Wyoming and eastern Colorado. There were no injuries.

Nebraska—Hail which lashed by deadly tornadoes earlier in the week, also hailed storms. No injuries were reported, but rain, hail and high winds wrecked several greenhouses, uprooted trees and caused shallow flooding in the business district of Fonda.

High water also was a problem in Texas and Oklahoma as a result of torrential rains that accompanied the storms.

Election Poll Shows Liberals Still in Lead

TORONTO (CP) — The latest report of the Canadian Institute of Public Opinion shows a gain of seven percentage points in popular support for the Progressive Conservative party in Ontario since February.

The Institute's pre-election poll for May reports little change in other regions with the Liberals leading on a national basis as well as in the Maritimes, Quebec and the West.

The Conservatives recorded a national gain of one percentage point to 33 per cent from February to May; the Liberals lost two points to 47. The CCF remained unchanged at 11, and Social Credit had eight, most of it in the West where 24 per cent of voters polled expressed preference for the party. One per cent favored other candidates.

In the last election, Aug. 10, 1953, when the Liberals were returned with 170 seats to 51 for the Conservatives, 23 CCF, 15 Social Credit and six others, the voting percentage went this way:

VOTERS QUIZZED

In the institute's poll Canadians were asked which party's candidate they would vote for if the federal election scheduled for June 10 were held now.

Forty-eight per cent of those asked in Ontario said they would vote Conservative, compared with 41 per cent in February.

Forty per cent preferred the Liberals as against 47 per cent in February.

Eleven per cent favored the CCF, compared with 10 in February.

Seven per cent preferred parties other candidates as against 4 per cent in February.

During the last month in Ontario the Conservatives gained one point, the Liberals lost two and the CCF was up one.

Between February and May there were no changes of more than two percentage points in the maritimes, Quebec, and the West. Following are the latest figures, with figures for April and February in brackets:

Ontario—Liberals 40 (42, 47); Conservatives 48 (47, 41); CCF 10 (10, 10); others 1 (1, 2).

West—Liberals 32 (32, 36); Conservatives 33 (32, 33); CCF 11 (10); others 9 (10, 9).

DAY OF DECISION FOR EISENHOWER ON DISARMAMENT

White House Parley Considers Proposals

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and his advisers reached the point of final decision today on new American disarmament proposals.

These proposals will be made to Russia when five-power disarmament talks resume in London Monday.

Harold E. Stassen, chief U.S. negotiator, plans to take off for London Saturday night. He came here a week ago for a review of U.S. policy in the light of new Soviet proposals.

Barring some last-minute hitch, it appeared today's White House meeting will be the climactic session of an intensive round which began with Stassen's arrival.

CALLED TO TALKS

Summoned to confer with Eisenhower were Stassen, State Secretary Dulles, Lewis L. Strauss, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, Donald Quarles, deputy defence secretary, Admiral Arthur Radford, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, and Robert Cutler, presidential aide on security affairs.

The new American disarmament proposals Stassen is expected to take back to London are reported to include reductions as the location of one or more zones for mutual aerial inspection. Also reported are military manpower and military budgets by 10 to 15 per cent.

Another proposed provision which has stirred considerable interest would limit the possession of nuclear weapons to the countries which already have them—the United States, Russia and Britain.

Trainmen Apply For Affiliation With Congress

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's largest independent rail union has applied for affiliation with the Canadian Labor Congress and will be admitted to the CLC Monday.

The powerful Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, with 22,000 members in Canada, Friday sent to the CLC an application for Congress membership. Only 100 lines of vote of its local lodges in this country.

Congress president Claude Jodoin immediately welcomed the application. The executive council will be approved at a congress executive committee meeting here on Monday.

The Canadian action of the trainmen's traditionally independent of association with central labor bodies in Canada and the United States—is believed to be the forerunner of a similar affiliation by the 300,000-member BRT and the AFL-CIO.

The trainmen's union takes in as categories of key rail workers including conductors, brakemen, flagmen, yardmen, switch operators, yardmasters and dining car employees. It is capable, alone, of tying up the major Canadian railways as it demonstrated four years ago with a strike threat.

In entering Congress, it is abandoning more than a half century of traditional independence. But it is staying the same course as such other big running trades union as the Brotherhood of Locomotive Fireman and Engineemen, which joined the congress last year.

Police Force Of Peterborough To Be Probed

TORONTO (CP)—A simmering controversy over the Peterborough police force has boiled over into a full-scale investigation of the force and its deputy chief, William Clarke.

Attorney-General Kelso Roberts said Friday he would order the investigation on the basis of a letter he received from the Peterborough city council and the police commission.

Mr. Roberts said he has no concrete evidence of misconduct by any member of the force, but he would hold the investigation because the city council and police commission demanded it.

The controversy which has split the 50-man police department has simmered for several months, he said. The investigation will open the air.

TORONTO LAWYER

The city council appointed a lawyer two weeks ago to inquire into several allegations against local citizens who expressed lack of confidence in the force.

Police resignations, unsolved breakins and bootlegging were mentioned as being among the reasons citizens were disturbed.

It is expected the terms of reference of the investigating commission will be named next week.

When city council asked for the investigation two weeks ago, it said that it include investigation into the activities of Deputy Chief Clarke.

DROWNS IN RIVER

Pickpocket Can Attend Ball Games Providing He Wears Boxing Gloves

CHICAGO (AP)—Chicago White Sox, beaten only once in their last 11 games, are the hottest team in the American League.

So, it's natural that an avid fan named Edward Murphy, 70, would like to see them play.

But the police department has issued an edict that he can watch next Monday night's White Sox-Kansas City game IF he wears 16-ounce boxing gloves, tightly laced.

The reason for the gloves is the respect the police department holds for Murphy. Detective John Hill called Murphy one of the best "cannons" around Chicago, despite his age. A cannon is a pickpocket.

Murphy said his lawyer suggested he wear the gloves to the game. Murphy has gone to six White Sox ball games already this season, but has never worn one of them.

Detectives have spotted Murphy each time and, according to Murphy, "I no sooner get of a street car at the park than those two guys are calling the wagon for me."

Murphy whose police record fills almost two pages and shows arrests in almost every major city in the U.S. said: "I've retired."

MEASLES GIVE SICK GIRL NEW LEASE ON LIFE

A deliberate infection with malaria and an accidental case of measles have renewed four-year-old Carol Joyce's lease on life. Two months ago, the youngster, above, a resident of St. Thomas, Ont., had less than a 50-50 chance of living when she lay ill with peritonitis, a little known disease in which the kidneys fail to perform their function. In March, doctors decided to infect her deliberately with malaria. It had little effect, but about two weeks later Carol caught measles—also known to be helpful in curing nephritis. Six weeks ago, Carol's health suddenly improved to the point that she was able to go home and resume her normal life.

St. Laurent and Diefenbaker Continue Debate Over Taxes

By Canadian Press Staff Writer

Prime Minister St. Laurent and John Diefenbaker Friday continued their cross-country debate of the question:

Can the government increase old age pensions and other federal services and reduce taxes at the same time?

In Sherbrooke, Que., Mr. St. Laurent said the Progressive Conservative leader is making extravagant election promises that would increase federal taxation of $1,500,000,000 a year.

But Mr. Diefenbaker, scoffing at Liberal claims, said in a radio broadcast from Vancouver that social benefits can be increased out of last year's fiscal surplus and taxes reduced.

In fact, if the Progressive Conservatives were elected to power they would call Parliament into session next September to do just this.

Meanwhile, CCF Leader M. J. Coldwell was in Edmonton where he accused the Social Credit party of anti-democratic tendencies and of being a danger to Parliament and individual rights of Canadians.

Social Credit Leader Solon Low continued his campaigning in his northern Alberta constituency of Peace River.

Mr. St. Laurent referred once more to the "partnership" of Mr. Diefenbaker and Premier Frost of Ontario, charging that Mr. Diefenbaker would give Ontario a better tax deal at the expense of the other provinces.

"We have not received an answer and I don't believe we will have one ever," he said.

But even as he spoke, David Fleming, a front-line Progressive Conservative and candidate for re-election in Toronto Eglinton, said in Moncton, N.B., the prime minister is trying to stir up a feud between Ontario and the Maritimes.

"The Liberals are sowing seeds of national disunity," he said.

Church Times Says Britain Will Give Canada H-Bombs

LONDON (Reuters) — The Church Times says that once Britain has a production of hydrogen bombs is advanced, it is regarded as certain that Canada and Australia will be provided with them.

The unofficial Church of England weekly says in an editorial that the main theme of the defence talks at the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference in London next month will be the use of Britain's H-bombs to the best advantage for defence of the Commonwealth.

These defence talks—in which Ceylon and India will not take part—are likely to take at least a third of the time of the whole conference.

The Church Times says:

"One of the things which is said to be on the agenda is the best place to store hydrogen bombs so that they can be effectively used in an emergency without delay.

"Until production reaches an advanced stage, it is probable that Britain will keep most of the new weapons at home.

"Australia, however, has argued strongly, in preliminary talks on this subject, that hydrogen bombs should be dispersed throughout the Commonwealth. If one or two of the bases where they are stored were knocked out in war, others would then be available.

"It is regarded as certain that both Australia and Canada will be provided with British hydrogen bombs, when there are enough of them in existence.

The weekly adds:

"It is devoutly to be hoped that the prime ministers, in their deliberations on such problems of practical strategy, will not forget an infinitely more important prior question. This is simply how to attain, with the utmost urgency, an international accord which will finally prohibit both the manufacture and the use of these weapons of mass destruction altogether."

Syrian Troops Leaving Jordan

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Jordan's King Hussein has scored another victory in his fight to rid his kingdom of leftist elements.

Ever since the young king ousted the pro-communist Arab Egyptian, pro-Syrian ruling clique last month, those Syrian troops have been a thorn.

DISTRUSTS SYRIA

Hussein's request to Syria to withdraw her troops forcibly pointed up his distrust of his Arab neighbor.

The fact that he took that step so soon after the Jordan crisis indicates the serious gravity among the quarreling Arab countries.

Some 5,000 Syrian troops have completely controlled almost all northern Jordan since last November.

3 ARMEN DIE

838 CANDIDATES ALREADY IN FIELD FOR ELECTION

Number Fewer Than Registered in 1953

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

With nominations deadline two days away, 838 candidates are in the field for the June 10 Dominion election, according to a Canadian Press compilation today. Barring a last-minute rush, the final total is likely to be about 850, compared with 898 in 1953.

The Progressive Conservative and Social Credit parties are contesting more seats than in 1953 but there is a sharp drop in the number of Communist Labor-Progressives who fielded 100 losing candidates four years ago and have named only 11 for this year's vote.

The governing Liberal party, as in the last election, has a complete slate of candidates for the 265 seats, although one of its supporters, William-M. Bendickson, a candidate in Kenora - Rainy River, is described only as a Liberal-Labor.

ONE ACCLAMATION

The Progressive Conservatives have 256 candidates listed so far compared with 248 in 1953. One seat they are not contesting is Burin - Burgeo in Newfoundland, where C. W. Carter, a Liberal member, was re-elected by acclamation May 16.

Burin-Burgeo is one of 21 scattered constituencies where nominations will not be held until deadline for delivery of ballots and other election material.

In the other 242 constituencies, two of which return two members apiece, candidates have until 5 p.m. local Standard Time Monday to file their nomination papers and pay their $200 deposits. They lose the deposit if they get less than half the vote polled by the winning candidate in their constituency.

Unless there are last - minute withdrawals, only two seats, one in Ontario, are possible. Liberals Joseph Fontaine, in St. Hyacinthe-Bagot, and Marcel Boulais, in Stanford, both seeking re-election, are the only unopposed candidates other than Mr. Carter.

ONE OF TWO

Mr. Fontaine was one of two candidates elected to the last House by acclamation. The other was Gerald Fauteux, Liberal member for Bonne.

The CCF has 157 candidates listed, compared with 171 in 1953, while Social Credit, with an increased number of seats, would not result in cutting off U.S. aid. Social Credit candidates are seeking 63 seats as against 56 in 1953.

Late entries may boost the overall nominations total past the 1949 election figure of 844 but at the time record is 954, set in 1945, is far out of reach.

PROTEST SHIPS LEAVE

TOKYO (Reuters)—Two Japanese fishing boats left Tokyo for the South Seas carrying huge flags protesting British nuclear tests at Christmas Island. Another is expected on the flags said: "Stop the tests at once. We are afraid of living test benches." A fishery cooperative spokesman said the boats may sail near the Christmas Island danger zone if fishing is poor elsewhere.

Cuban Troops Hunt Invading Army, 27-Man Rebel Force From Miami

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Government troops searched rugged mountain terrain today for remnants of a 27-man rebel force that landed from a yacht in eastern Cuba.

With five of the insurgents reported captured, the government concentrated its hunt in the Sierra Cristal area where the remainder were believed trapped. The force has served as a refuge in the past for rebels fighting against President Fulgencio Batista's regime.

The Cuban Army said the rebels had come ashore Friday from the yacht Corintiita out of Miami under orders of exiled ex-president Carlos Prio Socarras.

Socarras said in Miami he had nothing to do with the landing and had never heard of the Corintiita. He called the report "one of the other of those package deals" that Batista "puts out from time to time."

The army quoted captured rebels as saying they were led by followers of Fidel Castro, rebel leader who landed from Mexico in 1956 and began a guerrilla warfare in the eastern Cuba's mountains around Santa Maestra with a guerrilla force.

The captives were reported to have said they refused to have anything to do with Castro "because he is allied with the Communists."

Castro was linked to an invasion of the presidential palace in Havana March 13 in an effort to overthrow Batista. Some of those men were killed in Havana during the violence.

Military authorities said the first two men captured Friday wore orange arm bands bearing the letters O. A. Initials of the Organization Autentico (Authentic Organization), Prio's party.

The navy confiscated the yacht, which was discovered aground.

Chiang's Troops Check Rioting In Formosan City

Nationalists' Army Imposes Military Rule on Taipei

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek held this Chinese Nationalist capital under strict military rule today in the wake of violent anti-American rioting which wrecked the U.S. Embassy and injured 13 Americans.

Taipei's 500,000 people were kept in tight check by 20,000 Nationalist troops. Authorities sought the mob leaders who turned a protest against an unpopular U.S. court-martial decision into an anti-U.S. rampage by 20,000 to 30,000 Chinese and Formosans. Some arrests already have been made.

Tension eased gradually today. The morning and most of the afternoon passed without disturbances.

On the Chinese mainland, the Communists launched a propaganda campaign calling the disorders proof that the people of Formosa oppose Chiang's alliance with the United States.

REDS COMMENT

The Peiping People's Daily, official organ of the Chinese Communist government, said the attack on the U.S Embassy "shows how U.S. imperialism (the Communists' name for America) is in a tormented position because of the pressure of the United States and Chiang Kai-shek."

Some quarters here expressed belief that pro-Communist elements, operating in the guise of patriots, had agitated the crowds Friday.

The Chiang government has formally apologized to the United States and indicated it will pay compensation for the damage to American property. It also has run, however, the United States apparently will not be asked at least indirectly for the damage. The fact is that Formosa has a $1,000,000,000 debt to Washington and makes us the deficit.

The 8,000 American and on the island include advisers to the Nationalist Army.

FIRST AGAINST U.S.

The riots—the first here against the United States—ended relations with the United States. But although congressmen and executive U.S leaders took a serious view of the occurrence, the general feeling in Washington was that it would not result in cutting off U.S. aid.

Chiang's martial law decree and orders affairs sub-committee called to hearing for Monday to try to find out "whether our troops stationed abroad are under proper supervision and whether proper steps are taken to prevent incidents."

A U.S. military court's acquittal Thursday of Sergeant Girard in a jury manslaughter charges touching the killing of Master Sgt. Rudolph Reynolds of Colora, Md, had admitted shooting to death a 33-year-old Chinese he accused of peeping through the bathroom window of his home at his wife, but contended he shot the man in self-defence.

Timmins Region Village Escapes Forest Fire

TIMMINS (CP) — For several hours 200 residents of Dalnite, a mining community, four miles southeast of here, prepared to evacuate the area when a forest fire blazed within half a mile of their homes.

Late Friday night however, the department of lands and forests declared the settlement out of danger and the evacuation was called off.

The fire raged in an area parched by a 28-day drought. The flames, fanned by winds reaching 30 miles an hour, were fought by volunteers from the mine and local fire brigades. Fire fighters from Timmins and Dalnite are holding the blaze in check.

STRANGLES GRANDMOTHER

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—A husky teen-ager Friday night signed a statement admitting he strangled his 90-year-old great-grandmother and critically wounded a deputy sheriff who sought to arrest him. T. E. Egan, sheriff's office chief deputy, said Dennis Wisby, 17, a lean and powerful guy, confessed that he killed Mrs. Ane Pedersen by strangling her with a belt and beating her with the flats.

Hospital Rates to Be Raised On June 15 Governors Decide At Monthly Board Meeting

Beginning on June 15, daily rates for private and semi-private rooms in the Belleville General Hospital will be increased to $1.00 and 50 cents, respectively, to meet rising costs of operation and maintenance. There will be no increase in rates for beds in standard wards.

The Board of Governors approved the hikes yesterday morning at their monthly meeting in the temporary board room in the basement of the Ritchie Memorial Nurses' residence. Present were Chairman Frank Donnelson; the director of the School of Nursing, Miss Margaret Peart; the Warden of Hastings County, Mrs. Ross McLaren; the Reeve of Tweed, Clarence Graham; Alderman Effie McCabe; Dr. James Loynes, Mrs. J. E. Marsh, John E. Bush, Mrs. Harry Yanover, Kenneth Box, hospital administrator; Harold Lambert, Arthur Whitehead and Bruce Lattimer. This was Mr. Donenico's first meeting as chairman since taking over from Mr. Yanover, who resigned his chairmanship from the chair last month.

Mr. Box explained that the rates for hospitals have been raised for the first time since 1951.

"Many other hospitals have raised their rates two or three times since then," he said. "We are now where we were again at the first of the year."

He added that an additional $35,000 per year revenues may be realized from the increase.

Dr. Loynes reported a trip which he, Mrs. Box and Rod Cameron made recently to Peterborough seeking information to improve conditions at the blood clinic in Belleville General Hospital.

They found in Peterborough that the Red Cross supplies blood to the hospital's blood clinic and the hospital bleeds it for them, processes the bulk and stores it.

A similar arrangement will be established in Belleville with the co-operation of the local Red Cross branch.

Last year the Board of Governors thought it necessary to charge extra, for, transfusions owing to the expense involved and the lack of donors. Mr. Domenico was "happy" to announce that, as far as he can see, no charge has been billed for a transfusion since the motion was passed last year.

CALLED FORWARD STEP

"I think this is one of the most forward steps we have ever made with our doctors and Mr. Cameron are to be commended highly for their interest," said Mr. Domenico.

Dr. Loynes remarked that if the hospital's supply ran short of any blood type, the nearest Red Cross depot will supply it with any needed equipment.

The new system of collecting blood will not affect hospital revenues, yet, it is hoped, it will result in more blood donors set in their hospital. No payment will be made by the hospital to donors.

Mr. Box reported on the hearing held before a trade commissioner of the Ontario Labor Relations Board concerning allegations made by an unidentified union that "at least three" employees of the Belleville General Hospital had been intimidated by three named staff members.

He said that the hearing, which ended on Wednesday, did not appear to go in favor of the hospital and added that when the Board first met present, in two weeks, it is likely the union will enter Belleville General Hospital.

"Apparently you can't even mention the word 'union' to any of the employees or you will be accused of intimidating them," he said.

The Labor Relations Board has decided that the union did not have 55 per cent of the employees signed up and, therefore, it would not get automatic certification. It then becomes necessary to hear the charges which had been brought about by the union against the hospital.

Briefly under discussion was city council's apparent "disinterest" in discussing, at the present time, taking over the hospital's debenture debt which the latter has been paying off for the past ten years at the rate of $32,000 per annum. Unless the hospital receives the present scale of payment for indigents from the city, the Board of Governors believe that the hospital will be unable to keep up its debenture obligations, which, Mr. Steer feel, should rightly be paid by the city.

Some members of council are of the opinion that the city should pay only the statutory daily rate ($5.25) for indigent patients. At present it pays the full ward rate plus special services and drugs.

FILED BY COUNCIL

Mr. Donenico said that council "filed" this matter for future discussion.

In the discussion concerning the proposed new nurses' residence, which the Board mentioned at City Council last week, Mr. Yanover asked: "What did they do with that request, file it, too?"

Mr. Domenico replied: "There was practically no discussion of it, but council assured us that the matter would be brought up at a later date."

The Board of Governors last week presented to council a proposed for the expenditure of $350,000 towards the construction of the new residence-training centre. Total cost of the building would be in the vicinity of $400,000 of which $50,000 will come from council.

"It was suggested that the west side of the Ritchie Memorial building be used," returned Mr. Box.

If council passes the $350,000 loan, Mr. Box mentioned that it would raise the city's mill rate about one and three-quarters mills, considering one mill the equivalent of $19,000.

Discussion was also heard about furnishing the new board room in the new wing, although no motion was made.

WILL BUY FURNITURE

Mr. Lattimer was of the opinion that since buying new furniture for the board room and other rooms was due for a lifetime, we should get good furniture."

Dr. Loynes "didn't want to be the one to come forward and ask for a little extra money for new furnishings," but said he would be "very happy" if the Board would consider it.

"We're going to be criticized no matter what we do," said Mr. Box.

"It wouldn't be any fun if we weren't" laughed Mrs. Marsh.

The Board authorized the purchase of a new dishwasher and washer for the pediatrics ward. The latter is now months the ward has tried unsuccessfully to get along without one.

Cost of the washer will be $327.

Asked how closely the hospital was adhering to the $50,000 laid aside for renovations, Mr. Box said, "We've spent about $42,000 and with furnishings added, it is within control of about $6,500, we shouldn't be much over the $50,000 by the time we're finished."

Rev. Kenneth McMillan B.A. B.D., General Secretary for the whole Dominion of the British and Foreign Bible Society will give an address at the Annual Meeting of the Bible Society which will be held this Sunday at the local Wesleyan Methodist Church, Everett St., at the hour of 8.45 p.m. The film, "How we got our Bible," will also be shown.

Three Ministers Will Outline Bible Society

The work of the British and Foreign Bible Society will be outlined to congregations in several Belleville churches this Sunday as three ministers from the Society will speak at services in local churches.

Established since 1804 with the purpose of providing the Holy Scriptures in all tongues, the British and Foreign Bible Society has had the translation and distribution of the Bible as its great aim. Its work should not be considered as being outside the Church.

In Canada the work is maintained by the auxiliaries of which the Upper Canada Auxiliary is the largest in area. Belleville is a branch in the Upper Canada area.

The parent Society in London does the printing and production of the Bibles in 840 different languages. Sixty million Bibles are required yearly but production is less than half of this. Each local branch is responsible for the promotion of the work and the raising of funds necessary for subsidizing of missionary needs and the expanded publication of Bibles.

Following are the churches which will be receiving guest preachers from the Bible Society this coming Sunday:

Rev. Kenneth McMillan, B.A., B.D., general secretary for the whole Dominion of the British and Foreign Bible Society is to preach in the morning in Tabernacle United Church and in the evening at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. He will also address the annual meeting at 8.45 p.m. which will be held in the Wesleyan Methodist Church, on Everett Street.

Rev. W. H. Moore, one of the district secretaries for the Upper Canada Auxiliary will preach in the morning in Bethel Gospel Church and in the evening in the Wesleyan Methodist Church.

Rev. C. R. Rudd, B.A., B.D., district secretary will preach in Christ Church Anglican in the morning service and in the evening in the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church.

Rev. Mr. McMillan is the recently appointed General Secretary for Canada and was formerly of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church in Guelph and a Moderator of the Presbyterian Synod for Toronto-Kingston.

C.A.S. Board of Directors Discusses Need of Workers

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of the Children's Aid Society was held at Belleville on Thursday, the 23rd of May, with the president, Mr. C. B. Morgan, presiding.

Following the reading of the minutes and the acceptance of the report of the treasurer, Mr. Morgan announced that a 90-day option had been taken on a property in the city which would seem to be ideally suited for use as a receiving home and observation centre. The property, if approved by the Ontario Department of Public Welfare will be available to the Society about the 1st of July.

GRANT INCREASE NEEDED

Commenting on his recent appearance before Hastings county council to suggest an increase in the grant made by the county to the Society for preventative work, the president said that it was unfortunate that the Society should always be in the position of having to salvage children from broken homes rather than preventing the break down of the home. The grant now made by county council is large enough to enable the Society to work effectively only in the county.

With the vast area to be covered it is impossible for us to do anything like an adequate job. We are grateful to council that, with a second worker, we would soon have a worker in Bancroft and thus, with a worker working out of Belleville and a worker in Bancroft, we could give a reasonably adequate service to the entire county. It was gratifying to note the favorable comment by Reeve Graham of Tweed from the north, yet disappointing to hear comments from municipalities in the south who now receive a maximum of service."

INCREASED NUMBER ADMITTED

In his report Mr. Kerr, the local director of the Society, stated that "50 children have been admitted to the care of the Society during the first four months of the year. This is an unprecedented number, and of course the cost of the maintenance of these children by the municipalities has increased considerably. We now have 260 children in our care, an increase of 22 over the beginning of the year.

"We are now placing more children in adoption than ever before." Mr. Kerr continued. "To the end of April we have placed 26 children. Our adoption department is functioning with ever increasing efficiency and wherever in the past the focus seems to have been on the placement of infants and young children, we are now succeeding in interesting and securing older children. Several placements of children in the 5 to 9 year old class have already been made this year. Recently it became necessary to engage a second worker on a part time basis to relieve some of the pressure on the department. A concerted effort is being made to arrange the placement in adoption of every child permanently in the care of the Society for whom adoption is considered the best plan."

SHORTAGE OF TRAINED WORKERS

Commenting on the shortage of professionally trained social workers Mr. Kerr advised the board that the position of case-work supervisor was still unfilled although several personnel had been interviewed during recent weeks.

Mr. J. C. Miles is, for the third consecutive year, attending a month long course at the University of Toronto School of Social Work. Mrs. Clarence Holmes, who, along with the president, is a local director and several members of the agency attended the Brockville Varty, deputy reeve of Hungerford township, and a county council appointee to the Board, attended the annual conference of the Ontario Association of Children's Aid Societies at Toronto on May 15th and 16th.

Mrs. Holmes gave a most complete and interesting report on the proceedings. Mrs. Holmes, "the program was planned for the examination of two questions of outstanding importance to child welfare in Ontario today and in the future.

FAMILY SERVICES EXTENSION

"The first of these was the further development of family services offered by not yet offered by the societies and the second concerned the needs of those children who for one reason or another cannot live where then in their own natural homes. These matters were examined through prepared addresses, panel discussions and question and observation from the floor. There were between 400 and 450 in attendance from all parts of Ontario making it one of the largest conference of its kind to be held in Canada."

Golden Wedding Anniversary Marked by Mr., Mrs. A. McEwen

Wedding bells rang again this month for Mr. and Mrs. Abraham McEwen, of Westport, but this time they were golden in commemoration of their wedding day, when an anniversary dinner was held in their honor at the Tweedsmuir Hotel, Tweed.

The spacious dining room was tastefully arranged for the occasion with a beautiful three-tiered anniversary cake, centred in white and gold, flanked by yellow and white candles, centring the tea table. Golden chrysanthemums also added to the festive atmosphere.

Mr. and Mrs. McEwen were married on May 9 1907 at Perth, Ontario, by the late Reverend Mr. Benson. At the time of their marriage, Mr. McEwen was a miner in the Red Rock gold mine at Haileybury. In 1908 they began pioneer farming at Bellrock where they resided until retirement in 1951.

The couple have three sons and five daughters living: Manley of Tweed; Ed. of Wesley, Calif.; Silas, of Joyceville; Mrs. Albert Moffatt, (Lula), of Harrowsmith; Mrs. Jack James, (Doris), of Belleville; Mrs. Earle Ball (Vina), of Colebrooke; Mrs. James Brown, (Alma), of Scarboro; Mrs. Vernon Rose, (Geraldine), of Belleville.

There are 18 grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. McEwen were the recipients of congratulations in the form of gifts, flowers, and cards.

The Reverend and Mrs. R. F. Perry, their minister, were among those present on this happy occasion.

Stories of Famous Hymns

By HORACE B. POWELL

SOFTLY AND TENDERLY JESUS IS CALLING

Softly and tenderly Jesus is calling,
Calling for you and for me;
At the heart's portal He's waiting and watching,
Watching for you and for me.

Why should we tarry when Jesus is pleading,
Pleading for you and for me?
Why should we linger and heed not His mercies,
Mercies for you and for me?

Think of the wonderful love He has promised,
Promised for you and for me;
Though we have sinned, He has mercy and pardon,
Pardon for you and for me.

Come home! Come home!
Ye who are weary, come home!
Earnestly, tenderly, Jesus is calling,
Calling, O sinner, come home!

Here is a hymn which has helped to win thousands of men and women to Christian lives. It is a favorite "invitation hymn" of ministers and evangelists the world around because of its message and its appealing chorus. Nearly always, when it is sung at the close of a gospel service or prayer-meeting, it brings new converts to the altar to answer the call of Jesus.

Perhaps Will L. Thompson, author of the hymn, was inspired as he wrote his verses—of the call that came to him several years earlier, persuading him to become a Christian. He was converted in a Methodist revival service—a meeting similar to those in which his soul-winning hymn was used so widely in later years.

Born in East Liverpool, Ohio in 1849, Mr. Thompson lived there until his death, in 1911. He wrote a number of hymns and, in most cases, he composed his own hymn tunes.

Another of his gospel songs which enjoyed considerable popularity a few decades ago was entitled "Judgment Day". Many twentieth century church-goers will remember its graphic opening stanza:

"There's a great day coming, a great day coming.
There's a great day coming by and bye;
When the saints and sinners shall be parted right and left,
Are you ready for that day to come?"

A Lift for Living

Life Is Like a Relay Race

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

At the Olympic Games in London one summer a dramatic incident occurred right in front of my section of the stadium. A relay race was on. The French team had started well. But as the baton was being passed to the third runner, he dropped it. The accident, of course, put the team out of the running. The runner dropped the ground. flung his hands to his head in a gesture of despair, and openly wept. His emotional outburst continued as he was led from the arena.

To take defeat so tearfully might seem a bit unsportsmanlike, but one should remember how many persons were involved in that runner's failure. There were his watching compatriots whose hopes were dashed. There were the two teammates who had run before him and whose work was ruined by his blunder. And then there was the runner who was to come after, but who never got the chance to run because of the accident.

The whole spectacle made me realize how much life is like a relay race. In the race of life, the one starts from scratch, each for himself. Others have run the course before us and we start from the point where their lives ended.

Our parents come down the track for awhile we run along beside them until they are able to pass the baton of their work and character on to us. Then we carry on while our parents slow down and eventually step out of the race. Ultimately we come around to the day when we transfer our interests and unfulfilled hopes to our children. Thus generation is linked to generation.

This idea of life as a relay race, for one thing, humbles us with a sense of indebtedness. A person of fine nature is ever humbly grateful. He recognizes his indebtedness to his parents for their nurture during his infancy. When he sits down to eat, he bows his head in gratitude for the bounties of earth and the services which have brought his food to him.

When he stands up to speak in public, when he enters a church for worship, when he goes into the booth to vote, he is mindful of the cost by which these freedoms were purchased. He is conscious that the word "blessing" and the word "bless" come from the same root word, and that the red blood of sacrifice is on all the blessings he enjoys.

The world does not owe us a living just because we were born into it. The grace of God has been woven into our inheritance and we are recipients of favors not earned by physical birth.

During the presidency of Mark Hopkins at Williams College, some village buildings were defaced. When the culprit was caught, he turned out to be the son of a wealthy supporter of the school.

Called before the president, he pulled out his pocketbook and said jauntily, "Well, Doctor, what's the damage?" President Hopkins replied, "Young man, put up your purse. Tomorrow at prayers you will make public acknowledgment of your offense, or you will be expelled."

CHARITY STUDENTS

Speaking later of the incident, Mark Hopkins said: "Rich young men come here and talk in that tone as if they could pay for what they get here. No student can pay for what he gets at Williams College. Can any student pay for the sacrifice of Colonel Williams and our other benefactors? For the heroic sacrifices of half-paid professors who have given their lives that young men might have, for the smallest cost, a liberal education? Every man here is a charity student."

Colleges have raised their tuition and parents who have to pay the increasing costs of education may question how far their children are recipients of charity. But in every college worthy of the name students are still not paying the full cost of their schooling.

Our generation not only feels indebted to its forerunners, but we in our time have known those who run beside us before they gave their lives for our country. A young naval lieutenant in the air war saw his comrade killed by a Japanese bomber. He said to me that he felt it his duty to help fulfill what his pal wanted to do for our country.

In many section of America May 30 is observed as Memorial Day. Whether or not we live in communities which, this week, will decorate the graves of the departed, we should take some time to honor the dead. Edmund Burke said that society is a compact between the living, the dead and the great unborn. Only as we keep faith with those who went before us and with those who come after us, are we worthy citizens of our time.

TORNADO WARNING JUSTIFIED

Fred Turnbull, chief Federal meteorologist for Ontario has replied to criticism of the tornado warnings issued by the weather office Wednesday.

A great deal of concern resulted from these warnings. Not only were there no tornadoes, but there were not even any thunderstorms. The weather office had predicted severe thunderstorms and had warned that there was "a marked possibility" that tornadoes could develop from these storms.

The weather office was wrong in its forecast of thunderstorms. But it has been wrong before. Most people realize that storms cannot be predicted with the same accuracy as the comings and goings of a comet, that they are not as regular as the tides.

As for the tornado warning, this was not so much a prediction that tornadoes would occur as a warning that they might occur.

If there was any panic as the result of this warning, it appears to us that the persons to be blamed are those who panicked, not Mr. Turnbull and his aides. Even in a couple of tornadoes had developed, the chances of a person being caught in their path would have been relatively small. Tornadoes do not devastate wide areas, as do hurricanes. They are localized storms. The areas where they hit are hit hard, but the devastation they cause is concentrated. There would be greater reason for Sunday motorists to panic at weekend approaches than for Ontario residents to panic as the result of Wednesday's tornado warning.

Why, then, give the warning at all? Surely the reason is obvious. If no warning had been given, and if a tornado had occurred and people had died, the weather office would have been roundly denounced, justly so. The weather office has a duty to warn citizens of the possibility of danger. If it does not do so, it is not properly discharging its responsibilities. If it does do so, and the warning causes panic, the fault is not that of the weather office.

CHANCE TO CHOOSE

"If individuals become convinced that they are part of a machine so vast as to be unaffected by their individual actions they may well tend to make a kind of inner abdication; they will become individualists in the worst sense, egotists unwilling to contribute to the commonweal. To that extent the machine will certainly become inefficient, and no number of courses on citizenship will correct the trend. If, on the other hand, men who belong to a corporate body feel that they influence the life of that community, or that what they do has an effect for good or ill on their neighbors, a sense of responsibility is engendered which may make for good efficient citizenship."

Those sentences are quoted from an address by P. E. Charvet, Fellow of Corpus Christi College, Cambridge University, over the BBC. Mr. Charvet was talking about the advantages which students derive from living in colleges. But his words are equally applicable to a much wider field, to the advantages which people derive, or should derive, from living in a democracy.

Elections provide, or should provide, the means by which the vast machinery of government is affected by the individual actions of citizens. Insofar as this is true, the machine, according to Mr. Charvet's opinion, will remain efficient. Insofar as practice fails to coincide with theory, the machinery of government will become inefficient. On several issues, notably the pipeline and the best methods of combatting inflation, there appear to be sufficient differences between the policies of the various parties to provide citizens with adequate means to affect the machinery of government in this coming election.

WRONG COLOR

Raphael may be a good painter but the East Suffolk planning committee does not like his choice of colors.

Did somebody gasp in amazement? Oh, no, not that Raphael. This Raphael is Edward and he has been applying paint to a house, not a canvas. The trouble is he has painted the house green, while the plans approved by the East Suffolk planning committee called for cream as the color choice.

However, the committee chairman is broadminded about the whole affair. Once the house is repainted cream, Raphael can repaint it again in any color he chooses.

Our suggestion is that Raphael refrain from repainting the whole house and content himself with just trimming the cream job — with red tape.

Bright Future for Gas

Financial Post

Most Canadians have been slow and doubting in their reappraisals of what a tremendous new industry we are developing in natural gas.

It is, for instance, astonishing that there hasn't been a greater and more widespread indignation by Canadians in diversified oil and gas securities, which as a group are certain to show a great deal of growth over the next decade at least.

Here we have some of the points made in a Toronto address this week by A. P. Craig, vice-president of Trans-Canada Pipe Lines.

"Within the last five years the proven gas reserves of Alberta alone have increased from 4.7 to 18.3 trillion cubic feet and in 1956 alone the increase was 2.7 trillion."

In addition, very important gas is being opened up in British Columbia and Saskatchewan.

"Remember," says Craig, "these increases in reserves have been taken up only incidental to the search for oil." In other words, the oil people have been looking for oil and the gas we have is incidental to that search. But now with the two pipelines Trans-Canada and Westcoast financed, is there incentive to hunt for gas.

"The most competent geologists on this continent believe there is more than enough gas in Canada to supply her needs for a great many years to come and with a large surplus to export to the U.S.

"The Petroleum Commission report states that for gas the potential output is estimated at 15 times the 1956 output and will be about 50 per cent of the total energy requirements in 1980. By 1980 between two-thirds and three-quarters of a growing increase in total energy requirements will be supplied by petroleum and natural gas. In both of these commodities Canada will, on balances, be more than self-sufficient."

In 1955 only a little over 5 per cent of the total energy used in Canada came from natural gas. The Gordon Report estimates that by 1980 natural gas will supply 23 per cent of a greatly increased total of energy used.

Trans - Canada pipeline alone will deliver four times the amount of equivalent energy as will be generated by the St. Lawrence electric power development.

"The construction of the Trans-Canada line is absolutely certain to trigger some enormously significant developments which will vitally affect the economic strength and independence of Canada."

Here are items Mr. Craig cited.

The Trans - Canada project will cost $375 million, most of which will be spent on Canadian materials, services and wages.

To deliver gas to the pipeline, gas producers will spend $150-200 million on drilling and property development.

They will spend another $100 million, in processing the gas dehydrating, removing sulphur and certain hydrocarbons.

They will spend $60 million on a pipeline system to collect gas from the wells and deliver it to Trans-Canada.

Some $200 million will be sent gas distribution companies in the towns and cities along the line to enlarge their systems.

In addition, says Mr. Craig, "there will be very large expenditures by new and expanded industry using gas as a raw material. Trans-Canada has direct knowledge now of very close to $200 million plus cost of plants which will be built within the next few years as a direct consequence of large supplies of natural gas being available as a raw material.

"We can now definitely identify the expenditure of over $1 billion between now and 1960 and over 1961, just for the development of the natural gas industry.

"We can think of this as fantastic sum in terms of at least 40,000 men working continuously for four years at an average of $5,000 a year.

"Among the long-term favorable effects for Canada is of course a reduction of about $1 billion American dollars per year in our pay-out for fuel imports.

"While a coalliflower ear isn't serious, I suggest that you get off that 4-party line."

Plaid Stumps Chameleons

Christian Science Monitor

What would Rabbie Burns have thought had he heard that the chameleon, changing many color so dutifully to suit its background, remains a dull monochrome when a Scottish plaid? But this, we are told, is the case.

The shifty-hued lizard may be excused if his torpid reaction to the "tartan test" of Mac-Gregor is an admission that he simply can't keep cool. But if he is being insulting to the clans he had better start searching for a hiding place pretty quickly. And not under the Stone of Scone, either.

Actually we are quite sure that the chameleon is an innocent party to the current preferences needn't worry the Scots. The prohibition against this pigmentation apparatus to produce anything resembling an Irish tweed, a Welsh flannel or, even a bright Madras cotton either.

Chameleons will just have to get the poor little lizard a kilt.

What's Under Earth's Crust?

By William J. Perkinson in the Montreal Gazette

It is generally agreed that four distinct zones exist in the some - 3,900 miles that stretch between the earth's surface on which we stand and the centre of the planet. They are most commonly referred to as the crust,, the mantle, the outer core and the inner core.

The crust is the shallowest of the four zones. It is believed to extend some 25 to 30 miles below the base of the continents. It is the part of the earth in which most of our mineral deposits are believed to lie.

Below the crust and extending some 1,800 miles downward is the zone called the mantle. It is believed to be an area containing tremendous pressures and heat.

At the base of the mantle—almost halfway between the centre of the earth and its surface—lies the boundary of the outer core. The core is thought to have a radius of some 1,820 miles and to consist of two parts, the outer core with a radius of roughly 1,000 miles and the inner core with a radius of roughly 800 miles.

Scientists differ over whether the inner core is solid, liquid or even gaseous. There is even a difference of opinion among those who believe it to be molten — over whether the core to may be liquid nickel, liquid iron or some material still unknown.

Nasser Finds New Admirer

Windsor Daily Star

Quoted some weeks back as wanting a better deal from the United States in the Canal Zone, Panama's president later said he had been misunderstood. The misunderstood must have been slight, because the other day Panama's restiveness was expressed again, at the official level.

The country's ambassador to Britain, in a letter to The Times of London, drew "fundamental analogies" between the Panama and Suez canals. The conclusion was that Egypt is doing better than Panama by her canal.

This seems to be another case of success being its own best salesman without regard to the methods involved. At the moment there is nothing to indicate that Panama proposes to nationalize that seacut between Atlantic and Pacific, any of those numerous vessels of Panamanian registry. But its attempts to embarrass Washington, for greater financial gain, are in plain sight. The charge unfairness.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

On a recent flying trip into the north country, I had the rather terrifying experience of seeing a forest fire, just at nightfall, from the air. In the past I have seen many a bushfire from afar, from a hilltop, or even from its edge, when I was a young man fit for fire fighting. But this spectacle, viewed from a height of four thousand feet, showing miles upon mile of forest in the clutch of fire, was awe-inspiring and fear-inspiring. Indeed, you cannot see a forest fire merely as a spectator, in order to appreciate its full and terrible meaning.

In the Ontario lands and forests report of the fire, these phrases do more to describe it than I can:

"A forest fire of a single hundreds, even thousands, of small fires which combine to join up."

My pilot had to land our small float plane before black dark at a distance of twenty miles from the fire. But he risked it and we did fly one far enough around it to watch the birth of that enlargement. Where the fire had started were largely embers and glaring red patches. But a few miles away, of course, fresh sections of the forest were flaring up in huge and roiling furnaces that were creating their own gales of wind to add to the wind that was blowing across the heated terrain. And from each of these orange cauldrons high flew out—not sparks—but fiery fragments, branches, whole logs of burning wood, to be carried and sailing in the fiery gale, to start fresh fires at great distances. And where they fell, a new small fire instantly ignited. I could look down on all this conflagration and see not dozens but hundreds of these fires already glittering, preparing the path for what was coming. Many of them were already major fires a mile, two, five miles ahead of the core of the disaster.

A forest fire does not merely march, consuming what it comes to. It flings its flaming arms far ahead. And it is not only tree-life and plant life, not only the animals and birds that are trapped and outwitted by these racing fingers of fire, that are victims of disaster; it is also the streams, and the lakes, the watersheds, and even the very soil itself that are consumed, destroyed or changed in irreparable character for years to come.

Never let us begrudge the money governments want to spend on fighting forest fires. And never let us be guilty of starting them.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

The Change Is A Lot of Hooey

Many feminine readers have assured me that at 30, 35, or 40 the only indication of "change of life" they have noticed is cessation of menstruation. Otherwise, I gather from their comments, it might as well be spring.

A cogent reason why some doctors go along with the "change of life" when the patient seems susceptible is that, like "just a cold that hangs on," it serves as well in lieu of a diagnosis.

Instead of morbid unhappiness, said Dr. Clella Duel Mosher in a little classic published by Stanford University Press, 1927, Personal Hygiene for Women" the change of life should produce in the mind of a normal healthy woman no more than a mild regret that the period of youth and potential motherhood is over. It should be naturally welcomed as release from the inconvenience attendant upon menstruation."

In mother's and grandmother's day, instead of anatomy, physiology, and hygiene, girls were taught that menstruation is a period of illness involving weakness and incapacity. Such instruction infected them with a morbid dread of menstruation, a state of mind that favors development of all sorts of troubles. Dr. Mosher observed. "It is possible to make a healthy man ill simply by having a number of people tell him how ill he looks." The same psychology is fun for everybody at any time. If you can't use it, for goodness sake, keep your trap closed. Your best friend doesn't like to be told how bad he or she looks.

Much of the trouble unformed and misinformed middle aged women attribute to "change" is actually due to causes that are unrelated to sexual life. For example, I have had reports from many readers who have obtained great relief from hot flashes by following a high calcium diet and supplementing the diet with a good daily ration of calcium and vitamin D.

Here's another cause of trouble which too many women attribute to "change of life": fittings.

Dr. Mosher, in her gentle way, called it "muscular inactivity." Learn more about this modern sin later.

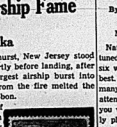
A NATIONAL MENACE

A documentary motion picture was made recently on the problem of alcoholism. Three Bowery alcoholics were central figures in the movie. Shortly after the picture was completed, two of them died. A preview of the movie led prominent Hollywood producer to offer the surviving alcoholic a $40,000 acting contract.

But he declined, saying that he wanted nothing more in life than to be let alone so he could drink himself to death. "I kick myself in with my half gallons of wine and I go on a two-week bender. Now and then I eat a can of beef soup. Now and then I burn a day's work to get money for the booze. . . There came a day in my life when I knew what I was doing, but I was past the problem of alcohol



The Face on the Stamp

Count Zeppelin of Airship Fame

By Nicholas Mika

On May 6, 1937, the people of Lakehurst, New Jersey stood horrified to watch a terrible disaster. Shortly before landing, after flight across the ocean, the world's largest airship burst into inferno of flames. The intense heat from the fire melted the girt joins three lace tiers with moire ribbon.

Well, perhaps in our modern age of jets and supersonic speeds, it would seem grotesque to cross the ocean in a slow moving cigar-shaped balloon filled with dangerous explosive hydrogen. But if you cover saw the majestic silvery ship gliding gracefully through the atmosphere like and ocean liner ploughing her way through the wayes of the sea, you would never be able to forget this splendid sight. Almost five hundred feet long and over sixty feet broad, it seemed like a colossal monster from another world.

The man who invented this amazing ship was not less astonishing himself. In fact, he knew nothing whatsoever about aerial navigation. All he had was a dream. He was a Count and a soldier, and when he announced that he was going to build an airship filled with gas, his friends thought seriously he had gone mad.

He was over fifty years old by then. As strange as his idea might have seemed, it was a practical man and above all he possessed imagination and an iron will.

Naturally nobody dared to invest money in this wild scheme of his. So he sold his personal possessions and his entire family estate to realize his ambition. On Lake Constanze in Germany he built a dock. Obsessed with his vision, he studied day and night about aerial navigation.

His first ship stayed in the air for twenty minutes and crashed on landing. But here was a determined man. He built another ship, improving and correcting what he thought he had done wrong. And he was successful. People all of a sudden became interested in the mad Count. His fame spread across the borders of his country. Funds poured in to continue his work. Soon his silvery balloons were flying from city to city. When the glittering ship appeared over a city, thousands ran into the streets gazing into the sky.

Then disaster struck again. Ship number four crashed in a violent storm. For a while it seemed as if the Count would give up. But those who thought so, were wrong. Through misfortune he learned the weakness of his giant.

As he built more ships, he increased their stability and made them so secure that for the first time they could take passengers on their flights. His will power had once again conquered the air.

But as much as he loved the triumph of his dream, he saw the limits of his airships. He knew that it was practical enough to fly the ocean, but he realized that it would never be a rival to the aeroplanes of the future.

Thus the tragedy of Lakehurst brought an end to the majestic reign of airships. Yet as long as men continue to fly, they will remember these proud silver ships of the air. You know them as Zeppelins, called after their master, Count Ferdinand Zeppelin.

Your Car Shock Absorbers Affect Safety

By EUGENE MILMOE

For the safest ride, your car's shock absorbers must be in top working order. Their job is to team with the springs and cushion the car against jarring movements. Actually, they serve as controls, checking the compression and expansion of the springs.

Shock absorbers in poor condition are responsible for more than rough riding; they are also hurt good steering and alignment. For instance, they can bring on such things as front wheel shimmy, road tramp and pulling to one side. They also stretch front end "nose" (when the car is braked) and steering wheel shock on rough roadways.

Faulty shocks are expensive, too. They cause excessive tire wear, more gas consumption and encourage spring breakage. To guard car comfort, safety and economy then, don't neglect shock absorbers. Have them checked at least two or three times a year.

D.C. writes: "Our second car, a 1947 station wagon, developed constant battery trouble and a new generator was prescribed. Because of the car's age, we settled for repairs on the old generator. It charges all right, but it has a strange squealing noise that's particularly noticeable when the engine is idling."

(A) The generator commutator is probably too rough. Smoothing it should cure the noise, if this be cause.

P.Y. asks: "My car is a 1953 model with conventional shift transmission. Last week, while it was in gear, the transmission locked on me. The garage checked over the entire shifting mechanism thoroughly and found everything O.K. Two days ago, and then yesterday, it happened again. What do you suggest, now?"

(A) You should have the transmission gears inspected. If teeth are broken or have rough, uneven edges, they can cause constant trouble.

From S.R. "My son owns a small foreign-made convertible. It's just two years old now and the leather upholstery appears to be very dull and dried out. Saddle soap has been tried and it helps, but not too much. Can anything else be done?"

(A) There are waterproof coatings, applied like paints, which impregnate and renew leather upholstery. Auto supply stores generally have at least one brand. They are available in a clear finish and in several colors.

S.T. writes: "I am a city salesman and drive my 1956 sedan every day, averaging about a mile between stops. It is a V-8 model and I know it runs best on premium gas, which I have always used. But why do they say it can be especially troublesome in the summertime if regular gas is continually used in a car like mine?"

(A) Burning low octane gas in high compression engine encourages overheating. Couple this with high summer temperatures and you invite much grief.

SAFETY IS NO ACCIDENT

NATURE'S ORCHESTRA

Nature's concert orchestra has tuned up again, and for the next six weeks or so will be at its best. Each section has a great many members, and if you listen attentively to several individuals you will find that they are actually playing different tunes, yet all the notes blend together, making perfect harmony. This is what human musicians might call counterpoint.

Dawn, the conductor, gives the signal for the violins to begin — softly, but with clear cut notes — and the white-throated sparrows are heard. In the distance veerys twang their Jew's harps, and all the flautists, hermit thrushes, wood thrushes, and meadowlarks join in. Full, rich tones of violincellos are added by purple finches and rose-breasted grosbeaks, giving stability to the music. This is necessary, because there are also a host of tiny warblers playing piccolos. From a marsh comes the boom of the bittern season, and when a flock of Canada Geese pass overhead we are thrilled to hear their trumpets.

The percussion section is by no means omitted. Kingfishers work hard rattling the bones, winter wrens and pigeon woodpeckers tom-tourines, cuckoos keep the time with long sessions of beating on their kettle-drums, while ruffed grouse and several kinds of woodpeckers thump their side-drums, and juncos ring their tiny bells. All the time red-eyed vireos are playing a piano obbligato.

Once the sun is well up the music dies down, until by noon little can be heard except song sparrows picking out tunes on their clarionets, as though practising for the evening concert.

Then, after most of the instrumentalists have taken time off to rest and dine, a new conductor, dusk, takes over. The silvery, sustained tone of flutes is heard as our great artists, the hermit thrushes, begin again. The sound swells as various musicians join in — Baltimore Orioles giving staccato notes on their French horns, red-breasted nuthatches sounding their tiny tin horns. Possibly a great horned owl may show off his double-bass, the deepest tones of the entire orchestra.

When complete darkness has fallen, the music once more fades away, and for a short while all is silent, except for the occasional soft but clear notes of a song sparrow, still practising the clarinet, or perhaps a white-throat trying how high he can go on his perfectly tuned violin.

Of course, to hear these concerts you must arrange for suitable seats — far from crowded cities, on the edge of woods, not too far from water. And you must forgo a full night's sleep.

Husband's Retirement Not Always A Blessing for the Little Woman

By THOMAS COLLINS

Here, from a lady, is a loving message for men of retirement age. It's from a lady who married a man for better or worse, and found after 65 that he was worse than even the minister could have expected.

"It has been suggested by you," she says, "that an unretired wife might straighten out her retired husband by going away some where for a three-week visit. Then he'd appreciate her.

"If I went away for three weeks, my husband would simply eat whatever was in the house, and when it was gone he would go over to our daughter's house and eat there. When she couldn't stand him any longer, he would go to a restaurant.

"Meanwhile, at home, the bills would pile up with the dust. He would spend all the money he had for food and would leave all the work for me to do when I got back.

"I know, because I left once for three weeks. He slept in all the beds until they were in such a heap he could no longer sleep without making them. So he just started sleeping on the couch, leaving the beds along with the dishes for me to take care of when I got back. . . .

According to the Washington lady, her husband had been retired for a year and a half at that point. And his pride wasn't hurt by it all, she says, because "he doesn't have any pride."

"I am tired of 'nursing' this man of mine. I am tired, period. Tired of working while he just sits. Tired of working ten times harder than I did when he went off to a job.

"As for reaching an agreement on how the two of us will retire together—he won't even discuss it. He says he isn't supposed to do anything any more, and that a woman can't retire.

"I have thought of getting a job myself. We need the money, but mostly it would be an escape from this work-prison that used to be a happy home for me. But suppose I got a job. Would I come home to a clean house, to well-cooked meals, to a pleasant atmosphere where I could sit down and read the papers and watch television? I would! If you think so, you don't know men! I'd come home to do everything I always did, only the house would be ten times dirtier.

"I wish you would tell retired men that their wives deserve a break, too. Tell them that most wives have worked harder than they ever did—and had to bear the children, too. Have husbands ever had to bear children, 13 hours a day, day after day after day? And when these children grow up and move away, don't mothers deserve a little rest?

"Tell retired husbands who insist on staying home to go out once in a while and let their wives relax. Tell them that wives get terribly tired of television all the time, especially when the man always is tuning in sports. Tell them wives like to have women drop in occasionally just for a visit, that wives like to go out of the house now and then without a man trailing along.

"Whatever happened to the fishing and bird-watching retired men were supposed to have an affair with when they retired?

"For all men who have read this far — thanks for the shoulder. Now I'll take the handkerchief some other time. I'm too busy drying my tears with it now. . . ."

Well, it be possible, Mister Retired Man, that your wife feels just like this? And is too nice, too timid, too much in love with you to say it?

Former Trenton Officer, Family Missing on Lake

A combined aerial and ground search was commenced early today for a 14-foot cabin cruiser in Lake Huron, which has been missing since 7 p.m. Friday night, with a former Trenton RCAF officer, his wife and two small sons aboard.

An RCAF aerial search with aircraft from Trenton and from Centralia and the U. S. Coast Guard, are searching the area, while Ontario Provincial Police from Goderich are conducting a ground search in the area.

Squadron Leader Roy Woods, public relations officer for Trenton Air Station, said today that Flying Officer Ronnie McBride, 34, his wife, Jo, 32, and two sons Rickey, 6, and Andrew 3, had set out last night from Bayfield, eight miles west of Clinton in Lake Huron and had not been seen since.

This morning a rescue unit consisting of five aircraft, two of them from Trenton, commenced a search. The U. S. Coast Guard assisting in the search is equipped with search radar.

Garden Notes

Extending the Gladiolus Season

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

Gladioli are tender summer-blooming bulbs but they are among the easiest to grow. They need full sun in a place where they do not have to compete with trees or shrubs for a good supply of plant food and water. Good drainage is imperative too. They will not tolerate "wet feet." Start planting them as soon as the soil is dry is spring. In sandy soil set the largest corms to a depth of six inches, in clay soils they should be four to five inches down. Smaller corms should be set less deeply. Unless the soil is quite poor there is no need to use plant food at the time of planting. Keep the soil loose and friable at all times around the plant, especially in dry seasons. If there is a choice between using the hose and the hoe use the hoe. You will get better results.

When the plants are six inches high use a balanced plant food such as vigoro in a trench six inches deep and six inches away from the plants. Use about four cups for 50 feet of row. After the spikes have cut repeat the side dressing to develop strong stems for next year's blooms.

KEEP LEAVES ON PLANT

Before cutting the blooms remember that next year's flowers will be determined by the growth made in the new corm after the flower stock has been taken off; therefore keep on the plant as many leaves as possible. They are the manufacturing organs for next year's corms.

The right time to cut the spikes is when the first (lowest) floret shows color. Cut in the early morning, or late afternoon. Plunge the stocks in a deep receptacle of water and allow them to open further in a cool place, before using them for arrangements.

About four to six weeks is needed for new corms to form after the bloom is gone. Dig the plants before they turn brown. Cut off the old top with a sharp knife. Dry in a fairly warm airy place for three weeks. This should be out of the sun. Break the old corms off and discard. Dust the new corms with end-o-pest and store in a cool dry place over winter.

MINIATURE GLADS

For something different, or if space is at a premium try the new miniature gladiolus. They stem from the grandaddy of the miniatures "orchidlike." They have heavy textured florets that do not fall even on hot days. They are quite ruffled, strong stemmed, and good for arrangements.

Another new strain is gladiolus Harlemensis. These are from Holland and promise to be popular, having many fine points. They are the earliest to bloom and have thin wiry stems. The stems remain rigid and do not curve when used in arrangements. They open and develop well. The color range is wide and the edges are waved attractively. Most of the blooms have a dark blotch, or lines in the throat.

Holland also sends many new varieties of the larger "glads". These are known for their outstanding size, color and perform-

Tipping Seems Here to Stay Despite Protests From Some

By SHIRLEY AND BOB SLOANE

Why, someone is always asking us, doesn't somebody do something about this tipping racket?

Frequently we are nominated to be that somebody, as in this letter addressed to a presidential lady in Chester Basin, Nova Scotia:

"I have read your column for a long time and often wonder why you do not write something against this highway robbery known as tipping.

"I pay extra for a first-class railroad ticket. I then pay for my drawing room, compartment, or berth. After paying for this, why am I supposed to pay a porter for making my bed and brushing imaginary dust from my clothes?

"What did I pay for in the first place but service?

"I arrive at a hotel and pay $7 to $12 a night for a room. Why should I be the ongoing customer for carrying my bags to the room? The porter carries my luggage at the station, yes—I ask him to do it.

"But if I must tip the others, why not the salesclerks who serve me, the office boy who runs errands, the bank, school-teachers, deliverymen etc.? They are just as deserving of tips as waiters, waitresses, maids, and waitresses.

"I stayed at a resort last summer on Prince Edward Island where they had signs in the rooms saying, 'There will be no need to leave a tip for the chambermaid.' I was paying for my own accommodations, so do I have to pay the chambermaid's wages?

"I really travel on trains because of the cleanliness. I go by air, pay for my ticket, and think that covers expenses. No handing out money every hour or so to someone. I want to be a free standing around.

"It's time something was done to put a stop to double-charging travellers for everything."

SAY "NO"

"Why" or "what for" asks the lady six times. As the first of these — why don't we write something against it? — the answer is that it would be unfair. And to the rest of the whys — Why do we pay taxes? Why do we pay anything paid for? — the answer is, simply, that's the way things are.

SET THE FACT

We don't mean to dodge the issue, but there is just no escaping the fact that there are many thousands of persons employed in trades which make them dependent on the generosity of the public, particularly those in the hospitality.

For everyone to gang up and deprive these people of their livelihoods, even if it were possible to do this effectively, would be unkind than we, and most other people, would care to be.

It's been tried before. Occasionally bills come up in legislatures to outlaw tipping—and are never passed. In Europe, it's been the custom for years to add a service charge to hotel bills in lieu of a tip. So what does everybody do? They tip on top of that anyway.

It is only partially true that tipping represents service already paid for. Your room or berth would cost more if the porter's wages were paid by the company. And nobody requires you to have the bellboy or porter lug those heavy bags around the hotel or off the Pullman for you. The waiter again need not recommend what's best on the menu for you. That's entirely up to your meticulous specifications.

But if these people do these things for you, they depend on your appreciation for their income. Do you really feel it is due you to take without giving?

SOME ABUSES

There are, of course, abuses in tipping, such as the powerful figure at the velvet rope in night clubs, who makes sure customers you can't even get close enough to a table to order, much less let alone see the floor show. But if you can't afford to tip him, you probably don't go to that night club and anyway, some sport will be along who will be glad to take your place in line.

Many waiters and waitresses and others who live on tips take advantage of the public by giving poor or no service because they don't last long enough in the trade to upset many people by the way they do it. Poor service is a racket, and there aren't many of those around.

There are many aspects of our civilization, such as the Easter inconvenience, the Easter into commercialized pagan festivals, that don't have universal approval. Many people feel as strongly about tipping. But it's no more likely that anything can or will be done about one than about the other.

We get more mail each year on tips than any of our readers, in all likelihood. But this week is the first shot in this proposed war.

This and That

By HARRIET STEVENS

Looking for our T and T weekend thought — but not entirely on that search. We look from here to there for this and that, and find some things for remedies, or preconceived ideas stand us in good stead. From a national woman's journal, we found the following timely quotation which originated in "Breeze" a monthly news letter of the Trail B and P Club in B.C.

"Spring means gardening time, we feel this design might produce a garden for your home.

Just plant five rows of peas—

Prayer, Presence, Promptness, Preparation, Practice.

Next plant two rows of squash

Squash gossip, Squash unjust criticism.

Plant three rows of lettuce—

Let us be kind in our daily devotion. Let us obey the commandments. Let us love one another.

No garden is complete without turnips—Turn up for meetings. Turn up with a smile. Turn up with determination to make everything count for something, good and worthwhile.

In the above referred to national bi-monthly journal is an interesting list of women in public life in Canada. The list runs over two large pages in fine print. Local pride and curiosity prompted us to count the women in our district whose names are included. From Peterborough in the west to Kingston in the east including Belleville, Trenton and Cobourg there are at least thirty-five prominent women recorded. Their occupations range from the only grave digger, a woman in Ontario to mayors, aldermen, school trustees, hospital boards and commissions, members of municipal planning commissions, medical health officers, magistrates, justices of the peace, coroners, barristers, solicitors, university senates, boards of regents etc., and other honors and achievements.

The Belleville list is impressive, headed by its gracious and accomplished Mayor, Mrs. Jane Forrester. Following in the order listed we find Mrs. Effie A. McCabe, alderman; Mrs. Dorothy Lazenby, school trustee; Mrs. J. E. Buchan, president Women's Hospital Auxiliaries of Ontario; Mrs. Marjorie McCaw, deputy local registrar, Supreme Court of Ontario; Miss Sister Mary Lenore, president Ontario teachers' federation (1956).

Man's concern about the world's growing pains won't make infant at every tick of the clock — is forcing him to turn his efforts in many directions. One of the great unknown sources of help is the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization. UNESCO is leading the way. The projects already in force are quite within man's technical capabilities to fulfill and the sea as he does his farmland, seeding a crop and achieving its full abundance, rather than hunting fish at random.

It is generally appreciated and known that in many, many parts of the world the sea is looked to as a real problem for individual states. Mr. Nehru recently speaking on the implementation of India's second five - year plan said that the country's resources to make giving top priority to food production because food is the most dangerous shortages of food throughout Asia.

Maybe regular readers of this column will recall our comments one year ago about the disastrous frost, and how our Bay of Quinte could hope to worry about cherry and apple orchards seriously affected by temperatures mentioning one specific farm where, around 1,700 cherry and apple trees were destroyed by frost. We now had a chat with Mrs. Young and she is happy to tell us that there was nothing to Niagara peninsula to surpass the beauty of the cherry and apple blossoms in their district. Time and seasons are unpredictable and so far this year that last year's loss is more than recompensed by last year's generous harvest.

Toronto Guest Feted by Birthday Party

A pleasant evening was spent by friends of Mrs. Arthur Thornton, West Road, when a birthday party was held at the home of Mrs. Thornton's only sister, Mrs. Gertrude McCullough, of Toronto.

Present for the occasion were Mrs. Thornton's nieces, their families and grandchildren, also cousin, Mrs. F. Frederick, of West Road.

The evening was spent in viewing television, and in reminiscing of olden days which was greatly enjoyed, as this was the first time entire family connections had been present together.

Later in the evening, Mrs. Thornton's granddaughter, made the presentation to Mrs. McCullough. Both of these gifts were overflowing with lovely gifts, for which the guest of honor most graciously expressed her appreciation and thanks for the kindness shown to her. She was also the recipient of a number of pretty birthday cards conveying congratulations and best wishes.

Y's Men Hold Induction Night, Hear 'Color' Talk

Thursday evening was induction night for three new Y's Men when Bill Bell, Ken Conway and Stan Terejko were formally welcomed into the Belleville Club in a candlelight ceremony. Present were 12 young Y's men from Oshawa, Peterborough, Lindsay and Belleville.

Ken Conway, a Belleville salesman, will charter as a Y's Men Club in Oshawa, Ont., on June 6th. Bill Bell, a Belleville insurance man, will be the new Y's Men Club president in Peterborough, Ont., on June 13th. Stan Terejko, a Belleville chartered accountant, will be the president of the new Y's Men Club in Lindsay, Ont., on June 20th.

Induction ceremony outlines the purpose of the Y's Men Club, namely service to the Y.M.C.A. with the accent on idealism, encouragement of the good-citizen ideal, and emphasizing duties instead of rights.

Speaker of the evening was Mrs. Florence Hudson, colorist consultant for Canadian Pittsburgh Industries. Mrs. Hudson annually answers over 5,000 requests from homeowners for decoration schemes, besides designing color schemes for business and industry.

COLOR DYNAMICS

Mrs. Hudson briefly touched on the advantages that color dynamics can bring to business in increased efficiency, to industry in safety, and to health in hospitals. She went on to speak of private homes, be they apartments or single-detached, and the club how color can be used in the home to bring out the best in furnishings and fabrics. Make the home a more attractive and livable place.

Mrs. Hudson gave the club a few basic pointers on colors. For instance, red is the most exciting effects. Color can change the distance and size of objects, a darker one feel warmer or cooler. Red for instance is warm, expansive, exciting. Blue is cool, cheerful and is associated with sunlight. Green is refreshing, is the great outdoors, and is the most tranquil of colors. And yellow is the sunniest, belongs to sky and water, although too much blue can make you feel cold.

WARM AND COOL COLORS

Warm colors, wide south and west rooms should be treated with cool colors. Low ceilings should be left white to increase their appearance of height. Long narrow walls of a long room 2 or 3 shades darker than side walls. Use a reverse procedure in which the insides of cupboards and ceilings are ole colors and upper cupboards another, while lower cupboards are two or three shades darker.

A movie entitled "Your Home As You Like It", illustrated Mrs. Hudson's most interesting talk.

Men's Fashion Show Given Play in London

LONDON (CP) — How figure conscious are British men? That is, conscious of their figure faults.

In an attempt to show what skilled tailoring...can do for the male figure, the International Wool Secretariat staged a men's fashion show in London giving tips on defining or disguising the various.

MORNING SUIT

This double-breasted morning suit has the traditional grey topper and tails but the absolutely hard plaid trousers give the suit a jaunty air. The coat has two buttons, one fastening. The front has a square-cut lower edge which reveals the points of the worsted vest. The coat sleeves have four buttons each, decorated. The styling is designed to define or disguise any defects in the male figure. (CP Photo).

With several unorthodox male models drawn from various walks of life, the show got off to a gay start with the right outfit for the horse-racing enthusiast.

TROUSERS EXPOSED

First came a three-piece suit in lovat and red tweed. The jacket lined with vivid yellow and red patterned with horses heads and bridles, has at least six pockets for tickets, slips of paper and racing items. The tweed vest has natty lapels and the trousers have a side-zip for expansion after a good meal.

Dress and lounge suits tend to the classical lines but with subtle gimmicks to help disguise defects. There are back and side darts to give the middle-built man a waistline, and turn-ups on trousers for the short man are taboo since they detract from height.

Single breasted suits are popular and contrast linings for jackets are in. A steel grey suit with white satin lining and blue vest got a round of applause from the elderly-dressed audience.

Formal outfits look regal. A claret-colored cashmere dinner jacket worn over a pleated silk cummerbund is suggested for cocktail time.

A variation on morning dress for weddings, races and garden parties has a regency touch. Still keeping the traditional grey topper and tails, striped trousers of black and white trousers give the male lanky air.

Finally, the show was a demonstration by "guinea-pigs" with obvious figure-faults.

An electrician, just five feet two inches, modelled an outfit to give him height. He wore a black and white chalk striped suit, trousers without turn-ups and a black bowler hat.

British singer Laurence Hepworth, who has a portly bearing, showed a loose-fitting tweed suit to disguise the middle - aged spread.

Hardy, 25, describes himself as a squatter on the Australian sheep station" and owns 35,000 acres of sheep country.

Why did he volunteer for the modelling job? "I had sheared and scared for fifteen years my life and wanted to see what happened to the end product."

The International Wool Secretariat is a privately-owned organization to promote the use and research of wool.

ADVICE To The LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

MOST PEOPLE CAN BE TRUSTED

How many women who are reading this, I wonder, have ever had an experience similar to the one described in the letter I am about to quote? A good number of them, I'd guess.

It's a young woman of 21 who writes me the letter, and here is what she says:

"Am I just a simple-minded idiot because I have always been accustomed to trust people? I guess I might just as well come right out and say that instead of 'people,' I really mean 'men.'

"Maybe I'd be better off if I was the suspicious type, but somehow I've always taken everybody — men, again — for what they seemed to be. Maybe I've been just lucky in never having been fooled until now. Or maybe, as I say, I'm just stupid.

"What happened to me was that a fellow who was new in the office where I work gave me a big rush. Right after he came, he asked me out to dinner and that was just the beginning of three months.

"Then the blow fell. All of a sudden, one evening, he told me that he loved me and that he hoped he wasn't jumping to conclusions to believe that I loved him, too. And so—well, what he wanted was for me to go to a hotel with him for the night.

I was so shocked I could hardly say anything at all, but when I got my wits back I said that if it was true that he loved me and I admitted that I had believed I had fallen in love with him—we should wait for such things until we were married.

He then he gave me the second shock. He told me he was already married and had been for eight years; that he had two children and that, although he didn't love his wife any more, he would never break up his home now because of the children. He said if I would just wait a few years that in the meantime, give him what he wanted, he would then get a divorce and we would be married.

"Needless to say, I said goodbye to him and told him never to even speak to me again. In fact, I think I'm going to change jobs so I'd never have to see him again.

"The only reason I'm writing you this letter is to warn you why men do such things and to ask, too, if there is anything you can say that will help me regain the trust I formerly had in men, or if it would be better, and safer for me, not to try and regain it!"

Why do men do these things?

This young woman might just as well have asked why some men and some women cheat, steal, cheat, lie or do other wrong things.

The answer is, of course, that, for some reason that lies deep and scary to determine, there are people who develop such distorted ideas that it makes little or no difference to them whether they do right or wrong, so long as they get what they themselves happen to be looking for at the moment, whether it's power, money or a woman.

Realizing this, no mature person will wonder, as this young woman is wondering, if it's worthwhile to regain trust in people, but will try to remember this one thing: That actually, there are far more good and honest and sincere people in the world than the other kind that it may not even really matter if we're taken in occasionally by the others as long as we have the common sense not to let them lead us astray.

This young woman showed, by her good sense in refusing to have anything more to do with this man, that she has real character. So I advise her to stop brooding about the incident, chalk the whole thing up to experience that will broaden her knowledge of the world and the people in it and hence increase her ability to handle her future services, for after faith in the fundamental integrity of the average human being. That's the way she'll grow, and become increasingly more mature—as life means us to do.

BF IN NO HURRY TO COMMIT YOURSELF

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

A fellow I have been going with for about a year has asked me to go steady with him, and later, if we continue to like each other as much as we do now, to become engaged to him. We are both 19 years old.

I don't quite know what to say, though, because, while he is a very nice fellow and I do like him very much and enjoy being with him, he has some bad habits that worry me, such as going with the wrong kind of fellows and drinking too much. He told me that he never would have begun to run with such a crowd, or got into the habit of drinking but he started doing it after his father died. He said he had to do something to make him stop thinking about his father all the time, because they had always been such pals and he missed him so terribly. He says that if I will go steady with him, he will cut out this crowd and the drinking.

What would you advise?

Top Flight Fashion

By TRACY ADRIAN

Something new in the air was a recent fashion show staged by Northeast Airlines in a flight to Miami. The Boston and New York passengers were treated to a viewing of outfits for spring summer and summer vacations ideal for wear in sunny climates.

Among the smartest of the play suits was this three-piece outfit consisting of jacket, shorts and shirt. The coat was of imported yellow cotton printed in an interesting cattle design. Underneath it was worn a cotton pull-over with a bateau neckline. The short shorts were in the fabric of the jacket.

Days and Customs of All Faiths

Ascension of Jesus Christ

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Sunday, May 26 — Since the fifth century the Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday before Ascension Day have been "Rogation days," which has given the name Rogation Sunday to the preceding Sunday. All four of these days are devoted to prayers (we gare means "to ask") having to do with the agricultural season of the year.

The "asking" in this case is for God's good earth and needs the help of God in this responsibility. It is not just a matter of asking God to make good crops. Man has a share in the process, too.

The observance of Rogation Sunday is increasing among U.S. Protestants, who call it Rural Life Sunday. Today in hundreds of American churches the emphasis will be on all aspects of rural life, not only on crops. Country schools and churches, homes and community organizations will be talked about in relation to their significance in the life of their areas. Country and city clergymen will exchange pulpits to give each a chance to interpret his environment to the other's congregation.

Many rural churches will mingle the world and the people in it and hence increase her ability to handle her future services, for after faith in the fundamental integrity of the average human being. That's the way she'll grow, and become increasingly more mature—as life means us to do.

Dear Mary L.:

Any young man who promises to be steady in his dating, but who is content to stay single rather than to be married to the girl he loves, is not able to give her in marriage, and so I think I will have my brother do this. I have read in your column that the bride's mother should be escorted by an usher to her seat in the first pew. But how about my father? — D.H.

If you mean that your father is able to attend your wedding but is not able to escort you up the aisle, he may follow your mother and the usher who is escorting her. However, if possibly he is crippled or otherwise disabled (you didn't tell me), he might prefer, if this is possible . . . and I think it would be far more comfortable for him . . . to have the head usher escort him to his place in the front pew a few minutes before the arrival of even the earliest guests.

Another suggestion: if you wish your father to have the honor of giving you in marriage, you may be escorted up the aisle by your brother, and, in the proper place in the ceremony, your father (from his place at the end of the first pew on the left of the aisle) may say "I do" to the minister's question, "Who giveth this woman to be married to this man?" Or (if this is more suitable for your father, your mother may give you to marriage, your father may answer to respond, or responding where she is standing in the first pew. These are suggestions . . . and, of course, if you prefer, and if this is the simplest way as far as concerned, your brother may give you to marriage.

NEVER NECESSARY TO HAVE ANY KIND OF WEDDING RECEPTION

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Neither my prospective groom nor I have relatives in the immediate or simple church wedding in the chapel of the church we both have been attending for years, to which we are both deeply devoted. Only members of our families, a few close relatives and a few close friends are to be present at the ceremony. That is the way we want it, and we have no interest whatever in a big reception.

But we have been told that having a reception of some kind, even a small, informal one, is the only "proper" thing to do. Is a reception really necessary, Mrs. Beeckman?

You have not been correctly informed. It is not ever "necessary" to have a reception of any kind after the ceremony, no matter what type the wedding is. The decision rests entirely on your preference. Some brides and grooms prefer to have only the religious procedure of the marriage ceremony, not wishing to have any social gathering whatever following the ceremony.

Women's Institutes

CARMEL W.I.

An interesting and educational course was held in Carmel hall recently. Miss Spencer of Toronto conducted the classes in Needlecraft. Ten members enrolled and many lovely things were made.

In conclusion, a potluck dinner was held. Following this a short business session was held.

The May meeting was held at the home of Mrs. E. Urch. The vice-president, Mrs. Lloyd Whitmore, called the meeting to order. Minutes were read and roll. It was decided to bring in the pennies for Penny Round-up to the next meeting.

PRESENTATION

At this time, Mrs. A. Gowthorpe, retiring president, was presented with a small token for her untiring efforts. The well wishes of the group were extended to Mrs. Gowthorpe as she is leaving her homeland, England, his summer.

Mrs. J. Homan, convener of Canadian Industries, took over the meeting. A short sing-song was held and Mrs. Lloyd Homan introduced the speaker, Mr. Reginald Phillips, manager of Foxboro Co-operative. This company was started in England by 24 men.

Mr. Phillips explained a number of things concerning co-operatives and concluded his talk saying in part: "Co-ops are going ahead. They are here to stay. Co-operatives are 'brotherhood in business.'"

A vote of thanks to Mr. Phillips was given. Refreshments were served by the hostess and her group. A social time concluded the afternoon.

BEAUTY

By MME. QUI VIVE

LOOK FORWARD TO A "WHITE SUMMER"

Chalk up another score for that fashionable white dress. For a number of seasons, now, white has been a high favorite with everybody. And right now it promises to keep its fashion lead right through the summer. Cool, comfortable washable fabrics we have nowadays account for this craze for white, of course.

If you can't wash white, you might as well not wear it. That takes frequent sudsings to preserve its beauty. But it just suits the white fashions that are so easily washable—to name a few, white linen suits, white cotton playsuits, white bathing suits, white sharkskin dresses, white duck pedal pushers and shorts, white hooded beach jackets, white Arnel fortrel separate outfits, white collars, lapels, and hats, white shoes. You could go on for hours, and still not run out of white.

Once upon a time, white was considered much too fragile for travel or linen wardrobes. But not any more—not when you can put practically every one of your clothes into the washing machine. Some, of course, need little if any pressing. So white is almost always the most practical kind of flattery you could find. While accessories are especially attractive with such dark tones as 'navy blue, white hats, gloves, and bags make these dark dresses look cool as a breeze. The very fact that the most fashionable whites take to easy washing actually makes them more comfortable for hot weather wear.

You'll wash them frequently—at least each week. If possible and therefore you'll feel as fresh as you look, no matter what the temperature.

You'll remember, too, that when you wash white, it's best to turn down make-up. White floods your face with light and shows up any make-up errors you may make, so the trick is to de-emphasize when it comes to cosmetics. Colors which complement frocks of vivid shades just won't do. You should use a lighter foundation, lighter rouge and lipstick are especially appropriate. Powder should blend with the tone of your skin — neither darker or fair—but you can make up your eyes as dramatically as you please..

LIMA BEANS WITH SOUR CREAM

Soak 1 1-2 cups dried limas in cold water. Next morning cook gently until nearly tender. Water should be nearly all cooked away. Mix 1 1/2 teaspoons dry mustard and 1 cup sour cream. (I sometimes sour 1 cup sweet cream milk with lemon juice, if I haven't the cream.) 2 tablespoons brown sugar, salt and pepper to taste. Mix with the cooked limas. Bake in greased casserole in moderate oven. P. S. our family love them.

Question: Thanks for your column of recipes and information, it is very much appreciated . . .

I have a problem which is perhaps not exactly in your line (but I notice nothing seems to stump you) and I am taking the liberty of asking your advice. I have rheumatoid arthritis particularly in knees and feet. Floors are my problem. I have congoleum covered floors and I find that wax makes them too slippery. On the other hand they wear out very fast without some protection. Have tried white shellac with only fair results . . . What is the answer? . . . Wonder if anyone would be interested in an economical pie crust? I.B.L.

They do not give as hard a finish especially if applied thinly. They feel however that you would They feel however that you would be wise not to wax, especially if you are nervous of falling. This is what they advise. Give the floor two very thin coatings of clear shellac. The one thing to remember is that if the floors have had wax on them, every last smidge of this wax must be removed. Their advise cleaning with a solvent for removing wax and then washing floor with an ammonia, or washing soda solution. If there is any wax on the floor the shellac will not do an adequate job.

Of course we are interested in your

ECONOMICAL PIE CRUST

Two cups flour, 3 tablespoons lard shortening, 1 1/2 teaspoons sugar, 1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 egg, and water or milk to make a smooth dough. Sift the dry ingredients and then add the shortening. Add the liquid to make a smooth dough. The secret of this, is rolling very thin. This as paper for the top crust. (It is very nice for fruit pies.)

Your column is just to its way.

Wilson Requests No Defence Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defence Secretary Charles E. Wilson told senators Thursday that proposed defence funds cuts would snatch away President Eisenhower's cards and chips in the "international poker game" of disarmament.

He cautioned against "gambling unwisely" on the national security risking reductions in military outlays on uncertain hopes the Soviets would do the same.

Backed by the military high command, Wilson told a Senate appropriations sub-committee:

"I think this is an awful poor time to take the cards and chips away from the president, Foster Dulles and Harold Stassen when they are engaged in this international poker game."

He was an allusion to East-West disarmament talks in London in which Stassen is the chief U.S. negotiator.

Admiral Arthur Radford, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, supporting Wilson, testified that large cuts in the military budget "would risk the security of the nation and the free world."

The defence department stepped into what President Eisenhower has called a fight to the finish against heavy budget reductions on which Congress already is well embarked.

You'll Wonder Why You Waited To Make The Improvements You've Been Wanting!

Sills' Budget Plan

. . . LETS YOU MAKE HOME IMPROVEMENTS EASILY-WITHOUT STRAINING YOUR POCKETBOOK.

Many home owners have never heard of a lumber yard home improvement loan. Of those who have, many are so hasy as to what sort of projects can be financed with this plan, that needed repairs and renovations and changes are simply put off and never get done. Many other people don't know how to go about making the necessary arrangements for a loan and give up in frustration. We hope that this folder will clear up these misunderstandings and show you that it is easy and inexpensive to get a Sills Home Improvement Loan.

Here's Everything You Need To Know!

WHO IS ELIGIBLE?
Any home owner who has a good credit standing and a reasonable equity in his home. No endorsers are required and no security has to be posted.

HOW DO I ARRANGE FOR CREDIT?
All you have to do is fill out a simple application form. All transactions are confidential and no cosigners are required.

WHAT ABOUT DOWN PAYMENT?
No down payment is required, but you are reminded that it isn't good business to take on payments larger than you can afford to pay out of your income.

WHAT ARE THE CARRYING CHARGES?
Carrying charges vary depending on the number of months you choose to pay. Whichever plan you select, though, you'll see that our interest rates are lower than those charged for any other commodity you might buy on time.

WHO HANDLES THE CONTRACTING?
This is entirely up to you. However, Sills personnel are experienced in working with the contracting trades and suggest that you take advantage of this experience by following up to make the necessary arrangements. In this way you are guaranteed of a quality job, at reasonable prices, with a minimum of inconvenience to you.

IS EVERYTHING HANDLED WITH ONE LOAN APPLICATION?
Yes. This plan not only includes materials supplied by Sills, but also those of other suppliers and trades such as plumbers, electricians, painters, masons, carpenters, etc.

WHERE DO I APPLY FOR ADVICE?
Arthur A. Sills & Son Ltd., 285 Coleman St. Our qualified personnel will organize the entire project and arrange a suitable budget plan. If you like to "do-it-yourself", Sills have plans for you too.

ARE THERE LIMITS AS TO AMOUNT AND TIME ALLOWED FOR PAYMENT?
Yes. The minimum credit is $100 and the maximum $3,000. The repayment plan provides for equal monthly payments over various periods, ranging from 6 to 36 months. After the cost of your job has been determined, a payment plan to suit your budget is worked out.

CAN I DO THE JOB MYSELF?
By all means! The same loan arrangements are available to "do-it-yourselfers" and to give you a hand, we will rent you specialized tools to help you do a professional job. Here are just a few of the tools available . . . tile cutters, linoleum rollers, glue spreaders, hand staplers and spot sanders, power saws, power sanders, etc.

NATIONAL GOLF MATCH

The May 31st weekend may well turn out to be the most important date in Canada's golf future. It's National Golf Weekend . . . the time when golfers all over Canada play their annual match against the champions, with the proceeds going to Junior Golf Development in the provinces.

On Saturday, June 1st, Al Balding, Canadian P.G.A. champion and first Canadian to win a major tournament purse in the United States, and Marlene Stewart Streit, Canadian women's title-holder and current holder of the U.S. Ladies' Championship, will play an 18-hole medal round over the tough St. George's layout in suburban Toronto.

They will report gross scores and match them against the net score of sharp-shooters and hackers the nation over.

How do the club player and the guys and gals who shoot only an occasional round get into the act? Simply by checking-in at the club of their choice and making a minimum contribution of $1 per 18-hole round of National Golf Weekend play.

This event has its past years produced the wherewithal to finance an intensive and highly constructive program of junior golf development from one end of Canada to the other. Clinics and other forms of planned and organized instruction have formed the backbone of the plan with the prize being given steady employment teaching teenagers and some even younger.

There are several instances of youngsters of 15 years and less turning in 18-hole scores in the low seventies on Saturday golf officials are hopeful that this plan will produce the country's champions of the future and even some international winners.

C. Ross "Sandy" Somerville of London, Ontario, president of the R.C.G.A., and only Canadian ever to win the individual States Amateur title — he captured it on the Rivers Farm Country Club, Baltimore, Md. in 1933— believes that the junior development program of the national body and the provincial associations is the most worth-while activity of official golf today. "Golf," he says, "teaches youngsters principles of sportsmanship and honesty that are invaluable to them in their business or professional careers. It is by handing on the game to our progeny on their golf activities that we foster and sponsor a nation-wide junior development program."

"National Golf Weekend is our only means of financing this vital work and it gives the average golfer everywhere in Canada an annual opportunity to make a small contribution to this constructive plan." Somerville predicts that the 1957 National Golf Weekend will produce the greatest concerted effort to "beat the champs" of any year since the plan was inaugurated.

We understand the Bay of Quinte Country Club will get into the swim and for the information of those interested, it says here that if for any reason a player cannot play between May 30 and June 2 he or she will be permitted to play on any day of the week preceding or the week following June 2.

Each person whose net score is lower than the champion's gross score will receive a "champion's" certificate card that will fit neatly into the pocket book.

HOCKEY

Wren Blair, dynamic manager of the Allan Cup champions from Sudbury, by now is cooling his heels and warming his tonsils in Edmonton where he will present a brief to the CAHA requesting his Dunlops represent Canada at the next world hockey tournament. He speaks for himself in his signed sports column. Here it is:

"From what we gather, the CAHA would likely expect that the Dunlops would drop many current players in favor of new players recommended by the CAHA, and if we were to agree to this, we stand a very good chance of being chosen. Now the Dunlops plan a few changes in their playing personnel next season, even if they don't go overseas. But if it means discarding present players in a wholesale hasty just to accept the CAHA's answer is a large sized phoee! After all the CAHA have made it quite clear that they will not have any part in financing the trip. This, the local club doesn't need. The Whitby Dunlops have the financial backing for their trip if they are selected. But if the CAHA expects a club to get its own financing, supply their name as Allan Cup champions, and position for training and playing, and the club to have no jurisdiction over who the personnel should be on that club, that would be rather hard to swallow. The present players got the club where they are today, (namely Allan Cup Champions), and we can't see ourselves becoming a part of a deal that would see those players sold down the river, when the thing they've worked for, would ultimately be enjoyed by players who weren't even on this past season's club. Certainly some changes have to be made. But how many? Therein lies a debatable point as far as we are concerned, and it's ultimate answer will likely be given out in Edmonton this week."

Claim Snubbed For Track and Field Meet

LAKE COUCHICHING (CP)—Hamilton high schools will not be represented in the Ontario Federation of Secondary School Athletic Association's track and field meet here today.

"OFSAA has not invited us," said Dr. Gordon Price, supervisor of the Hamilton Interscholastic Athletic Council. "We're apparently out of track now too."

Hamilton high schools have not been permitted to participate in inter-city baseball since the HIAC refused to follow an Ontario federation ruling that all high school basketball players with cards of the Ontario Basketball Association, a non-scholastic body.

A Hamilton board of education ruling does not allow high school athletes to sign cards drawn up for out-of-school athletics.

The Hamilton board of education has protested to the minister of education. A ruling is expected next month.

Injuns Pussyfoot to Win 11 As Yankees Trim Nats 8-1; Campy Regains Hit Stride

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Roy Campanella, benched for five games after an 0-for-14 batting slump, came to life with two resounding home runs against New York Giants Friday night but the Brooklyn catcher didn't want to talk about them.

What pleased him a great deal more than the pair of four-baggers which helped beat the Giants 9-0 was his off-balance throw that nipped Willie Mays trying to steal second in the fourth inning.

"Man, what a lucky throw that was," the happy Dodger catcher exclaimed. "I don't know how the heck I did it.

"I had an idea Willie was going to steal, even though they were behind 3-0." Roy went on to explain, "I signalled to Newk (Don Newcombe) for a pitchout. I step out of the catcher's box and what does that big son-of-a-gun do but throw a perfect strike.

MESSED HIM UP

"I had to jump back and while off balance, get the ball away. Man, that ball could have gone any place. But it went right to Junior Gilliam and we had Willie out. That Newk sure messed me up, didn't he?"

In other National League games Cincinnati defeated two games ahead of the Dodgers and Milwaukee despite a 9-6 loss to St. Louis Cardinals, the Milwaukee Reds 5-1 to Chicago.

Campanella blasted both his home runs—good for four RBIs—off Johnny Antonelli who had won three in a row since May 10th. Del Ennis also homered for the Phillies, driving in two runs for the league RBI lead with 31. Newcombe won his fourth with his second shutout and sixth complete game, walking none and striking out six in a nine-hitter.

RALLY TOO LATE

Cardinals had to put down a four-run rally in the ninth to beat the Redlegs after smacking loser Brooklyn, a run-short team with 13 hits. Larry Jackson, was the winner—downed in the third when starter Sam Jones wrenched a knee. Cardinals, who had lost five in a row, regained fifth place from the Giants.

Frank Ernaga homered and tripled for two Chicago runs in his major league debut. He became the 27th player to hit a home run in the major leagues on his first trip to bat. Moe Drabowski won it, striking out five, with Warren Spahn losing his second.

Despite the backup power, rookie Jack Sanford needed relief help to win his fifth decisions for the Phillies. Repulski's homer was good for three runs, while Hamner added an RBI double to his inside-the-park home run. Umpire Stan Landes tossed 12 Pirates out of the game for heckling on his calls behind the plate.

Taylor Horse Strong Contender For Plate

TORONTO (CP)—Lyford Cay, owned by E. P Taylor of Toronto, established himself Friday as a strong contender for next month's 36th annual running of the Queen's Plate when he defeated two other leading Plate candidates in the featured Silver Strike Purse at Old Woodbine.

Lyford Cay, making his first start of the season, defeated Flying Atom by three quarters of a length. Lad Ator, which during the winter was the favorite in the Queen's Plate Future Book finished third, four lengths behind Flying Atom.

Lyford Cay ran the six and one-half furlongs in 1.23 4-5. In the running of the Queen's Plate, June 8, he will be coupled as an entry with Dandelle, owned by Mrs. E P Taylor.

Senior Baseball Starts Season

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Intercounty and Great Lakes-Niagara baseball leagues finally began their campaigns Friday night after a total of five games had been postponed.

Hamilton Senators knotted until the 10th inning of their contest Brantford before succumbing to seven-run rally that broke a 4-4 deadlock and sent them on to a victory over the Red Sox in the Great Lakes-Niagara League.

The Intercounty League opened at Kitchener where Oakville Oaks defeated Kitchener and Waterloo Dutchmen 6-5 in 11 innings, scoring the winning run when a mixup in the infield let Ray Ken Pollock fell in for a double.

Cleveland Indians may be the most overlooked second place team baseball has had in a long time.

But while Chicago White Sox made off with the American League lead with a 10-game unbeaten streak and New York Yankees played night games in a plush tavern, the Injuns were pussy-footin' to 11 victories in 14 games, virtually unnoticed.

The Tribe finally caught the eye Friday night, knocking off the White Sox 4-3 to creep within two games of the lead in the opener of a four-game set at Cleveland.

Cleveland began the current ride by tripping the Yankees twice after the champs had won six in a row to gain first place. But the two-game sweep was almost overlooked with the injury to Herb Score in the first game of the set.

Since then, the Tribe has stepped right along with a quartet of .300 hitters in Vic Wertz (.357), Gene Woodling (.324), Roger Maris (.315) and Rocky Colavito (.311) helping to make up for the shaky pitching that has accomplished only one complete game in the surge.

The victory kept the Indians a game ahead of the Yankees, who ended a two-game slump with an 11-seven pounding of Washington. New York also rallied to beat Baltimore 4-3 and gain a fourth place tie with Detroit, 5½ games back, in the only other game played. The Tigers were rained out at Kansas City.

Cleveland made the most of breaks for an early 2-1 lead, scoring in the first on a bases-loaded walk and a Chet Chicago starter Jack Harshman, and again in the fifth when Nellie Fox, the Sox' second baseman, was charged with his first error of the season. The Tribe got its winning blow as pitcher Bill Fischer with a single by Al Smith and Wertz in the seventh. Wertz then singled off reliever Paul Lapalme and Colavito singled off reliever Gerry Staley.

SAVES 11TH GAME

Dick Tomanek won it, taking over when Bob Lemon pulled a thigh muscle in the seventh. Ray Narleski, appearing in his 13th game, gained his 11th save—and dropped his earned run average to 0.61—with a hitless relief job.

Andry Carey got the Yankees rolling against starter Pete Stobbs, now 0-0, with a two-run homer in the second—a clout that reached the left field bleachers 420 feet from the plate. Only four batters—Jimmy Fox, Elston Howard, Joe Dimaggio and Gus Zernial—ever parked one there before. Tom Sturdivant was the third, walking seven but striking out six.

Ted Williams continued his latest hitting spree, upping his league-leading average to .417 with three hits in four at bats for the Red Sox. His second double set off the two-run eighth that beat the Orioles, with Frank Malzone and Gene Stephens with RBI singles. Jim Bridewser, who's been around for seven years, hit his first major league home run in the fifth for all of the Orioles' runs.

Akins Blasts Jimmy Beecham

WASHINGTON (AP) — Virgil Akins of St. Louis blasted young Jimmy Beecham with a looping right to the jaw and stopped the Miami boxer on a technical knockout at 2:23 of the third round of a scheduled 10-round welterweight bout at Capitol Arena Friday night.

Beecham outweighed Akins, 151½ to 147.

The right was the finishing blow in a combination that caught Beecham by surprise and dropped him to the canvas.

Beecham lay still for several counts but grabbed a ring strand and pulled himself to his feet when referee Marty Gallagher counted nine. Beecham poised for action but Gallagher wouldn't let him continue. Over Beecham's protest, Gallagher stopped the fight.

Sets New World 880 Record Over Australian Captures Mile

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — John Landy's world record in the mile run still is intact today following the 17th annual Memorial Coliseum Relays — which produced these results Friday night:

Merv Lincoln of Australia proved to be the best of a select cast of four below-four-minute milers and captured the feature in a time of 4:01.0.

Half - miler Tom Courtney smashed the world 880-yard record, and in the process flattened his arch rival Artie Sowell, with a time of 1:46.8.

The University of Texas sprint relay team broke the existing world records and approached world-record speeds in the 440 and 880-yard relays.

Occidental College's four-man team set a new world record in the two-mile relay, an event not too prominent in track and field meets.

A whopping crowd of 3,955 turned out in 65-degree weather to cheer the lads on.

The miracle-mile held the spotlight—until Courtney out loose. And while Landy's record of 3:58 was not threatened, the four runners from abroad gave the fans a great competitive race.

Lincoln won handily with a closing four run from 200 yards out that put England's Brian Hewson in second place, with a time of 4:01.4.

Laszlo Tabori, Hungary's great distance man, took third in 4:01.6, Derek Ibbotson of England the pre-race favorite, faded to third after using up his strength setting the pace the first three and a half laps. His time was 4:02.1.

Courtney broke the world mark of 1:47.5 set in 1955 by Lon Spurrier, ex-Californian runner.

The 440-yard dash was won by Mike Larrabee of Los Angles Striders in 46.6 with Terry Tobacco, the Cumberland, B.C. sprinter who once runs for University of Washington, second in 47.1. Tobacco represented Canada at the Olympic Games in Melbourne last year.

Pat O'Connor, HBH Draw In Hair-Pull, Ear-Bite Bout

By Geo. H. Carver
Sports Editor

The Earp not the "Eyes" had it in Memorial Arena last night.

The ears were attached to one Hard-Boiled Haggerty and another Pat O'Connor.

The Eyes, part of Referee Sammy Goiter's cranial equipment, should be traded in for a new set of headlights. Sammy used his dimmers all night when he was using them.

The Ears had a tough time. So did the Hair of O'Connor. Hard-boiled didn't have to worry about his. The pasture field is now a vacant lot.

However, the Ears emerged corrugated like grandma's brital waxeaters after a date to more or less severe molar treatment.

Perhaps they should flavor them with lemon, lime, strawberry or vanilla, or make ketchup standard equipment for ringposts. Both wrestlers grimaced and spat after each "aerial" nibble.

It was all part of the main bout which ended in a time limit draw after each had won a fall, and which at times had a distinct Alphonse Gaston complexion.

Hard-Boiled used everything that the book says is illegal and tossed in a few home-made rules of his own. Strangely Sammy was agreeing with him.

A trusting soul this Goiter.

La Haggerty was lowering O'Connor's dark hair with monotonous regularity right under the Goiter optics. And the few times Sammy called the play was after his eyes were filled with dandruff.

Later when Hard-Boiled figured he had the O'Connor ears thoroughly cleaned, he switched his bite barrage to the New Zealand Express. When Pat was manicured properly Haggerty pumped a hamlike fist into the both O'Connor midriff, claiming with wes deed.

graceful motion he used the flat of his hand.

The crowd roared a minute later when Haggerty upped the ante up to the wrist in the Haggerty mouth region and upset the format with his graceful gesture.

Haggerty definitely had the upper hand in the first fall which went 39 minutes before the Celtic Express got used to the idea of O'Connor in a bad spot several times resorting to the hair-pull which Sammy failed to see most of the time.

O'Connor made short work of the second chapter. He "flung" La Haggerty on and off the ropes sending the fall after six minutes with what appeared to be the Boston Crab hold. Haggerty blandished looked like a well-squeezed accordion with O'Connor in the seat of honor and the keyboard of squeezes above molar treatment.

The third fray which ended with the gong was more or less a big pulling affair. Hardboiled tried to remove the O'Connor trunks on which a few customers bet Sammy was oblivious. At one time he had O'Connor's trunks rush and Pat picked him up neatly by the south side of his lap, held him momentarily in a moment, then deposited him in a neutral corner. It was a fitting finish to the Goiter dignity suffering.

And the surprise of the evening was the Earp, not which one but both. Haggerty and the boys wound up in a mitt shaking huddle in the centre of the ring. The Eyes boys were about then offered it to the Lewins.

It was a fast pleasing bout and the Tolos duo made a distinct hit with the fans.

It was a fast pleasing bout and the Tolos duo made a distinct hit with the fans.

Pat Flanagan and John Pekel are due to get back into the ring in time in the preliminary and this week-end.

Point Anne Nudges Bobcats 2-1 For Second Win of Young Season

By GARRY ALEXANDER

While the 1957 Belleville and District Softball League stands-ule is only in the infant stage, the Point Anne Cementmen appear to be carrying on where they left off last season, in winning form.

The hometowners to date hold the loop's only tow victories of the young season after shading Belleville Bobcats 2-1 at the CNHAA Park before a small crowd last evening. The winners pushed across the deciding marker to the top of the ninth frame after both clubs had tallied once in the fifth.

City softball officials were on hand to officially open the league. Acting vice-president Don Lee hurled the first ball which nevey did reach the catcher and league president Cy Barriage because OASA honorary president Harry Hollins had banged it foe a base hit.

Both teams were hitting the ball well but directly at the opposing fielders to account for the low scores. Doug Hull, who started the winning tally in the Point's second victory came through with the same effort last night.

Hull singled to open the top of the ninth. Pat Gilmour bunged one down the third base line to force Hull at second for the first out but Jack Elliott Sr. cracked a double to centre with Gilmour pulling up at third. Paul Green was then sent in to bat for Jack Elliott Jr. and the husky catcher's ground ball to short drove home the winning tally.

Pat Marsack picked up the victory in a 3 1/3 inning relief stint. He came on in the ninth with runners at second and third the score tied 1-1, allowed a base hit to over the remainder while walking one and facing just 15 batters. Ray Brannigan was a surprise starter for the Ox Pointers, allowing six safeties, fanning one and walking four over the first 5 2/3 innings.

Vic Allen toiled for the Bobcats, touched for seven hits over the route. He did not strike out a batter but walked only one and hit one other in a good control performance.

Three double plays highlighted the good defensive work, two of these by the victors. Jack Wardhaugh started the first on a grounder to third, while Ted Bainsbury pulled in a long fly ball and threw out a runner attempting to advance to quell another bobcat threat.

Ken Dussbury worked the "cat" in relieving sitting after Anne had scored their first run. Brannigan walked in the fifth and Jackie Wardhaugh, who had driven in four of the Cementmen's seven runs to date, slashed a double to centre for a 1-0 score. Dave Jones followed by lining to Dussbury who doubled Wardhaugh off with a quick toss to third.

Temple's crew had a good 5th inning offensively. Vic Allen poked a base hit to centre and Harry Wardhaugh blooped one down the first base foul line for a double. Ken Temple drove home a string catch by Pat Gilmour in centre field which forced Gord Bonney out at a base but the Bobcats of a run or two but Brannigan came through with a pair to knot the tying marker.

Vic Allen helped his own cause with a single and then stole second the lone run for the city nine. Earlie Cousins doubled with one out in the Bobcat ninth but Fullerton, Harry Wardhaugh and Gord Bainsbury also hitting safely.

Russians Won't Recognize New World Records

MOSCOW (AP)—Russian strong men bettered two of their own world weightlifting records Friday, but Tass, the official Soviet news agency which reported the feats—said the records would not be recognized.

Tass explained that "three representatives of member governments of the International Amateur Athletic Federation were not present."

In New York, Dan Ferris, secretary treasurer of the National AAU, said he was puzzled by Tass' statement.

"All we need is three judges and a referee to sign record blanks," he said. "We have submitted many weightlifting records to the international federation on those grounds.

"If there is any rule like that, it's a new one on me."

Tass said Vasily Stepanov lifted 127.5 kilograms (280½ pounds), exceeding his own world record by 2.5 kilograms or 5½ pounds.

Smart Anglers Use Solunar Tables

As a recuperative measure, recovering from a spot of surgery, we stopped at Ormond Beach, Florida, to rest a few days before going on to the Keys. Two of the fraternity were also there that could be tolerated. Then the obvious course was to inquire about the fishing. The manager at Ellinor Village spoke with enthusiasm of the many Bonefish tackle dealers in Daytona Beach. Bob Ransaw is the local star of that matter, regional authority on light-tackle fishing hereabouts and, incidentally, an ardent surf fisherman. Bob, happily, wanted to talk, not about the fishing directly, but about the solunar tables.

In his work shop, directly behind the motel, a mammoth, friendly man busily engaged in repairing a bonefish rod. Introductions by him—Redwood Wharton, skipper of a party-boat cruiser sailing out of Daytona Beach, Florida.

The subsequent talk was, of course, of the fishing and the weather.

"Had a good day yesterday," said Capt. Wharton, "although I'll that high wind—forty-knot gale, that is—kept the sailfish and bonefish nice snapper. Had more'n we could use by eleven o'clock. Back to the dock and home."

Appropriate remarks of appreciation were made, and we nodded largely over his shoulder, pointing the while at the solunar tables. The Captain, we noted, said that day had come at 8:45 A.M.

"Can't be sure, of course, about solunar tables," he said. "Every day, any time of day, is a good time to go fishing. Ever checked with solunar periods?"

"That's right," interrupted Capt. Wharton. "Me, I go fishing every day, all day. We hit a good feeder period about 11:30 and that's when I'm fine. If they don't, why we just turn around and head back for the hittin'. Don't need solunar tables for that." He went back to his job of work.

Bob shook his head. "That's the way it is with some people. They just go out during the slack times and then beat their brains out. No fish. Then they come in and bitch and kick about the fishing. Chances are, most times, they get skunked after an hour too soon."

"Once in a while they get lucky and fish through a solunar period. Then they catch plenty of fish. That seems to confuse them. Won't listen to me, only a few of 'em."

"Last year a young fellow, regular visitor visitor, came in here. He was a bonefish fanatic. Always Wanted to leave at four o'clock the morning of a full moon, before I go then, right now. He didn't want to go. Bass bite early mornings and late evenings. But not in the middle of the day. I told him to relax—we'd get good fishin'."

"We showed. Before the dock at about 11:30. Never saw the bass behave better. We were back use 'em."

at the dock by one thirty with two limits of bass, nice ones, all on bass tackle."

"That's the way home he wanted to know how I could tell that the fishing would come like they did. I wouldn't tell him. When he got out of the car, I told him to stop in the store the next day and I'd tell him the big secret.

"He was in all right, bright and early. He'd been thinkin' about it all night, wondered how I knew a copy of the solunar tables. Now you never see him that he hasn't got a copy in his hip pocket. Yes, there's a few smart ones that will listen. Those are the boys that get the good fishin'."

Bob went on to tell me of other fellows who had learned the hard way. Many years ago, Tom Haines, who had tried all winter to catch a snook—one evening, under Bob's instructions during a major period, he caught three nice ones. Another fellow, who couldn't connect with the trout in the Indian River — now he goes by the book and gets fine days.

The following day, at Bob's suggestion, we motored to the St. Johns River to a camp called Ormond's Jungle Den. So help me, that's what he called it. And there's a big shop around Daytona can tell you. Ormond's is one.

Our guide was waiting at the dock—A.P. Oliver. As a preliminary gesture, the latter showed me one of the solunar tables.

"Can't be sure," he said, not taking it, "I got one."

From his hip pocket he produced a duplicate.

"Wouldn't be without it. Gosh, I live by it. Only way to fish. It'll be continued, "Your name's Knight. You the fellow who writes for the sports page? Yes, I'll expect to take you out. Got some questions I want answered. Be back."

Unfortunately, so far as the fishing was concerned the weather was unfavorable. The wind shifted to the northeast, the sky became overcast and there was a bank of black clouds rolled up over the horizon. We did manage to pick up a few bonefish but we had to work for them.

A four o'clock the minor period arrived, but there was little activity. At last an evil looked back in the woods beyond the bank. A. P. nodded his head in confirmation.

"Thought it was about time," he said. "Not many," he said. "Mostly they just come over here to pick up feed and shoals on spoil islands. Mostly -I don't even need the tables. Come a soldier period and those birds get hungry and start bootin'. That's the way it is with fish, too. Just a little rats an' such into runnin' for cover."

Many fishermen use the solunar tables?" I asked him.

A. P. rubbed his head. "Not many," he said. "Mostly they just come over here to pick up feed and shoals on spoil islands. Mostly -I don't even need the tables. Come a soldier period and those birds get hungry and start bootin'. That's the way it is with fish, too. Just a little rats an' such into runnin' for cover."

A. P. rubbed his head. "Not many," he said.

Little Benny's Notebook

I was finishing my milk slow and wishing I didn't have to go to school, and I said, G, ma, gosh, pop, I must be getting old. I've noticed times of it, I said.

Falling hair is a sign of age, pop said. Did you notice your hair falling in the barber shop? he said, and I said, No sir, I noticed signs of stiffness. People get stiff in diffrent parts when they get old dont they? I said.

By golliss I believe they do, pop said. Let's see now, how old were you your last birthday? he said, and I said, Ten.

Bring up the subject not again in about 30 years, pop said, and ma said, But William, really, I meen seriously, children do get roomatism, and sometimes it's a serious simpton.

Anyways, ma, I dont think I've got a fever, I said. My breth dont feel hot, I said, and she said, Goodness, of course you haven't got a fever, I meen I sincerely hope not.

And she put her hand on my forehead to test my temperture, and pop said, Where did you notice this stiffness, for Pete sake?

In my eyes, I said, and ma said, Where? Your what? That's impossible.

Well, not exactly my eyes, I said. It was more like my eyelids. Sometimes I cant hardly get them open in the morning, I said, and pop said, Ye gods, boy's got the sleepyoolis or roomatism of the eyelids.

I know what he'll get if he's late for school again, ma said.

Being a hint for me to get started.

ESK ORIGINAL RETIRES

EDMONTON (CP)—Steve Mencryk, one of the two Edmonton Eskimo "originals" who started with the club when it returned to the Western Interprovincial Football Union in 1949, has announced his retirement.

Mendryk, along with halfback Don Sinnett, had been the only members of the 1949 "old guard" still with the Grey Cup champions. Mendryk's retirement leaves Simon as the only "original" with the Eskis.

At The Park

"SHAKE RATTLE AND ROCK"

Fats Domino is one of the country's outstanding entertainers. This is starting Monday at The Park Theatre. The millions who are buying his records, "I'm In Love Again", "Ain't It a Shame" and his new release, "Honey Chile", timed to coincide with the release date of "Shake, Rattle and Roll", will want to see him sing big these songs in person on the screen!

In the case of Antoine "Fats" Domino, nothing could be closer to the truth. "Fats as he is affectionately called, is a good man with a song, so good in fact that he's won virtually every honor in the rhythm and blues field for the last few years. Trade publications, disc jockeys, fan clubs and ballroom operators throughout the nation have heaped honor upon honor on Fats Domino, and justly so since he is recognized as the nation's top purveyor of rhythm and blues.

Fats comes by his trade naturally, at the tender early age of five as a result of fact, that his father started playing the piano. Like so many true geniuses in the world of music, lessons were required for Fats to amuse his large family, consisting of seven brothers and three sisters. It wasn't long before Fats Domino found himself playing and singing professionally, working at first with local groups and later taking to the road.

Appearing before a crowd of more than 20,000 persons at the Annual Jazz Festival at Wrigley Field, Los Angeles in 1956, Fats Domino was introduced by Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong as a man deserving of membership in the Hall of Fame." His appearance that day was hailed as a highlight in his career and a memorable event for both the huge throng and Fats' family.

On stage, Fats is a vivid picture of his likeness. His round face, smile and affectionate nature, coupled with a personality unmistakably genuine to the audience has won him a horde of admirers. In 1955, Fats Domino travelled more than 30,000 miles around the country, working a total of 252 days. His one week off was his first vacation in eight years, a respite that he used to advantage.

"I'm in Love Again" and "Ain't It a Shame", two songs that have topped everybody's list and are still on top of the hit parades as well, as his new hit, "Honey Chile", are prominently featured in "Shake, Rattle and Rock".

SECOND FEATURE

"RUNAWAY DAUGHTERS" SHOWS THE VIOLENT YEARS OF MODERN YOUTH

"Runaway Daughters", American-International's exciting drama of today's thrill-hungry youth, brings to the screen in 1956 adventure and daring of these violent years. The rock and roll crowd, setting parties, the wild exuberance of current dancing crazes, hot rods and racing motors, boys and girls on the loose — all this is combined to make "Runaway Daughters" an exploitation film with special appeal not only to teen-agers but adults too.

Today's Award Winner Can Be Tomorrow's Cancellation

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Is there a case to support an Emmy jinx? The superstitious might think so, judging from recent events. What brings it to mind is the cancellation of Sid Caesar's Saturday night show. Tonight is his last appearance.

This one is a puzzler. The Caesar's hour took top honors in this year's TV academy awards, drawing down five emmies. The show has been hailed by most critics as the most consistently funny on TV.

Is the Caesar satire too smart for average viewers? It's possible, though audiences are becoming more sophisticated each year. Perhaps the reason is that after seven or eight years in weekly TV, Sid's face and manner have become too familiar to viewers. Whatever the cause, I hope he won't be gone long from the home screen. He's too good to be lost. Take a look at some of the other Emmy winners over the years. The jinx theory might be given some credence.

When the awards were given in 1946, the most outstanding personality was named Shirley Dinsdale, creator of the Judy Splinters dummy. Where's Shirley today?

Best actor and actress of 1950 were Alan Young and Gertrude Berg, who have long been bereft of their shows.

Top winners of 1952: Eve Arden and Fredric O'Connor. Neither is on TV today.

The big winner in 1954 was Danny Thomas, whose show has never been able to garner a solid rating despite its good quality.

Last year, Phil Silvers and Nanette Fabray were multiple winners. Miss Fabray left the Caesar show and has been doing guest shots. The Silvers show still is successful, but has been losing in the rating battle.

And now you, too, Caesar.

Of course, there is no Emmy jinx, any more than there is an Oscar jinx. There are simply performers engaged in a highly competitive, unstable business. Today's award winner can be tomorrow's cancellation.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Monday, May 27, 1957

March 21 to April 19 (Aries) — If others prove boring or even irritating, don't let it affect your performance. Stays are strongly inducive to business matters, research, clerical, manual tasks; family interests, home.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Review past week's efforts to improve effectiveness. Produce new, worthwhile innovations to enhance the value of your endeavors. Pace yourself so as to accomplish essentials quickly. Devote some time to family.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Good efforts where they are most needed. Be alert to productive methods. Discernment, intelligent analysis — your strong points — will be needed today.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — This day will be responsive to concentrated action, diplomatic persuasion. Mix with associates who have allied interests. Avoid a tendency to overstrain.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Faced with troublesome situations? Tact, calm investigation and action can solve them. Do your best, you'll not be disappointed. Your sense of humor is important; use it!

August 24 to September 23 — (Virgo) — Have you fixed the day's goal? Then proceed speedily, capably toward your objective. You enjoy storing up a wealth of information on present and past topics of importance; continue to do so.

September 24 to October 23 — (Libra) — There will be many avenues open to you but only one is right and best. Let your conscience and careful judgment govern proper moves. Review facts first; don't rely on hearsay.

October 24 to November 23 — (Scorpio) — Take cognizance of opportunities. Don't develop doubtful friendships. Your inventive mind should work along constructive and novel lines now.

November 23 to December 21 — (Sagittarius) — Fine influences sponsor business, family interests. Avoid impulsive speech, erratic action. Hasty decisions may be wrong ones. Be patient in planning stages.

December 22 to January 20 — (Capricorn) — Persistent effort will prove rewarding. You are capable of reaching high goals now if you display the fine ability which is innately yours. You may face possible delays but do not let them upset you. Check mistakes.

January 21 to February 19 — (Aquarius) — Vibrations fairly mild today. A vigorous course of action, accomplished in a quiet manner will be your most effective means of accomplishment. An unexpected situation may call for a positive plan of action on short notice. Do it justice.

February 20 to March 20 — (Pisces) — Advice to Scorpio applicable to you also. Be on time where you should and you will have free time for recreation later. No fussing or fretting — a tendency today.

You born today are a brilliant combination of vitality, courage, wholesomeness and eagerness to gain the good things in life. Cultivate these wonderful traits and never permit brassiness, impatience or haste to stand in the way of your happiness and achievement. Associate with high-principled, strong - minded persons. Be gentle with those less gifted than yourself. Get regular but not too strenuous exercise; outdoor sports should interest you.

Long-Distance Dispute Raging Between Leaders

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP) — A vigorous, long - distance dispute with Prime Minister St. Laurent is being waged by John Diefenbaker on the question of who is promising what to the voters.

In a speech here Friday night the Progressive Conservative leader forecast the Liberal leader will make a pre-election promise of even bigger old age pensions.

The $40-monthly pension is to be boosted by $6 July 1. Mr. Diefenbaker said he is basing his forecast of a further increase on "the fact that Mr. St. Laurent has been making promises to everyone else.

"At the rate the prime minister is promising in every part of the country, some time before election day he's going to find that $40 a month is not enough. I'm absolutely sure of that."

ON SAME TOPIC

Mr. Diefenbaker, who himself has promised an unspecified increase in the pension if the Conservatives come to power, spoke on the same topic earlier in Vancouver.

"He counts that day lost in which a major promise has not been made."

Today the Conservative leader headed into Alberta after a five-day campaign in B.C. His immediate target was the Liberal constituency of Social Credit Leader Solon Low in Northern Alberta.

FLIES TO NORTH

Friday a chartered plane flew him 450 miles from Vancouver north to Dawson Creek, then on to Kamloops. He drew audiences of 400 and 725 in the two cities, both centres of about 14,000 population.

At both places he was accompanied by Davie Fulton, MP for Kamloops since last 12 years, who with Donald Fleming of Toronto contested the Conservative leadership against Mr. Diefenbaker last December. He gave a firm indication that Mr. Fulton would be a cabinet minister in the event of a Conservative victory.

He said the prime minister's promise of "no promises and no nonsense" has been dropped in the face of the political facts of popular support behind the Conservatives.

He listed items which he said have been promises made or suggested by Mr. St. Laurent: Increased salary increases, a seven-mile causeway to Prince Edward Island, "grants to universities and colleges," and a canal across the Chaleur Bay between New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, the cost of which would be "fabulous."

WORTH A GOOD ONE

The prime minister, after refusing federal aid to the South Saskatchewan River irrigation project, now said he was thinking about it, Mr. St. Laurent in effect was saying that "it would be worth a dam it's worth a good one."

Mr. Diefenbaker said the Liberals are prepaging a list, to be published if dissolution comes, which that party claims the Conservatives have opposed.

He said the list contains many proposals, made inside and outside the House of Commons by Tories, which have not been mentioned at any time in the present campaign. But the Liberals would present them to people as indications of what would be the Conservatives were proposing.

FATALLY INJURED

BRAMPTON (CP)—James Whitworth, 25, of Caledvew, was killed Friday on Highway 25 north of Milton, 16 miles south of here, when his car left the road and rolled over four times. Mrs. Lucie Galvin, 23 and Douglas Hiles, 24, both of Long Branch, escaped with minor injuries.

Prime Minister Says Govt. Wants To Reduce Taxes

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SHERBROOKE, Que. (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent says his government wishes to reduce taxes and increase social security payments in proportion to the growth of national production.

But the Liberal administration wants the benefits to be spread across the entire country and not concentrated in any one particular region, Mr. St. Laurent added at a political rally Friday night in the auditorium of the University of Sherbrooke.

About 700 persons turned out for the half-filled hall where the Liberal leader continued to concentrate his fire on Progressive Conservative election promises and the tie-up between Conservative Leader John Diefenbaker and premier Frost of Ontario.

Transport Minister Marler, who appeared with Mr. St. Laurent on the platform, maintained that the Conservative election promises would amount to expenditures of many hundreds of millions of dollars.

SAYS MISLEADING

And Mr. St. Laurent, continuing along similar lines, asked voters not to be "misled by the misleading" election promises that cannot be possibly carried out.

It was not the party that made the most promises that would be able to form the next government, he said, speaking in French. The Liberals made no "rash promise—to do their best—and no one could ask more."

The opposition had argued the Liberals were led by "three old men" — Mr. St. Laurent, Prime Minister Howe and Agriculture Minister Gardiner. Ages of cabinet ministers actually range from 33 to 75 years. The Liberals had acquired many years of experience in office.

"We take the risk of letting you be the judge of whether we are capable of continuing to do our best. We will accept your verdict."

TAX PLAN

Mr. St. Laurent argued that the growth of the federal-provincial tax - sharing plan were spread across the country. This year, the plan would increase federal payments to Quebec by $50,000,000.

But under the Diefenbaker-Frost partnership, federal taxes may be increased or federal payments reduced to all provinces except Ontario, Mr. St. Laurent said he has asked Mr. Diefenbaker to say which course he would choose to the end Ontario might lose its share of payments to other provinces.

"We have not received an answer and I don't believe we will ever have one."

'SHOOTS BEAR

BEAVERTON (CP)—The first black bear sighted in Thorah Township in 30 years was shot Friday by Emerson Hamilton, 17, weighed 235 pounds. Beaverton is 50 miles northeast of Toronto.

ST. LAURENT

Meanwhile, Premier Stanfield of Nova Scotia said in Halifax there used to be much talk about "an imaginary conspiracy" of the Eastern. George Drew, former Conservative leader, and Premier Duplessis of Quebec.

"This false election campaign we are being told that some are — only to so-called conspirators are different," he added.

Mr. Stanfield also said at a political meeting in Oyster Pond:

"The premier of Ontario has said on repeated occasions that the Maritime provinces did not get their fair share under the tax rental agreements. He said this at a time when there was a Liberal government in Nova Scotia.

"Premier Frost believes Ontario is entitled to retain a greater share of tax revenues. And he has also urged that the Maritime provinces be given special consideration.

A PARTY TO IT

"The prime minister considers this a conspiracy. Well, if it is, then Nova Scotia is a party to the conspiracy. There is not a responsible person in this province who would argue that we do not require special consideration."

In Toronto, Ontario Attorney-General Roberts likened the federal government's financial trafficing to budge from provincial tax fields, and demanded 15 per cent of personal income taxes for the provinces, instead of 10 per cent under the new tax agreements.

Mr. Diefenbaker, campaigning in the northern Ontario Manitoba lumbering city of Prince George, British Columbia, continued his making promises: A causeway to Prince Edward Island, salary increases to civil servants. The promises would cost $750,000,000 at least.

ALSO ACTIVE

Cabinet ministers were active, mainly in the West.

Health Minister Martin said in Edmonton that Alberta, Manitoba and New Brunswick to enter the national hospital insurance plan soon, bringing the number of provinces who have decided to participate to five.

Justice Minister Garson, at a farm rally in Birtle, Man., said the Manitoba farmer has never had it so good. Practically every farm market, except wheat, found a market at high prices.

At Duncan, B.C., Defence Minister Campney said there is no federal alternative to the Liberal party. He told a political rally that the Progressive Conservatives have reduced to an "Ontario party," with only a few members in the other provinces, while the CCF is rapidly losing ground according to opinion polls; and that Social Credit has no federal aspect in British Columbia and Alberta.

Finance Minister Harris said at Brandon, Man., that anyone who votes for the Progressive Conservatives on June 10 "is not aware of what he is doing."

Mr. Harris said 27 years ago a campaign much like the present one was waged and the Progressive Conservatives then said, "We'll do things that are not being done."

"You know the answer, the Progressive Conservatives have never enjoyed confidence since."

The Week's News

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Latin America found a rarity—a reluctant dictator.

Brig.-Gen. Leon Cantave, army chief of staff, was catapulted to supreme power in Haiti, but he served notice he would take the job only until free elections are held.

This was considered unusual in Latin America, where some countries have traditionally experienced power-grabbing tactics.

His enemies sought to overthrow Cantave by means of a strike in Port au Prince, the capital.

Cantave ordered severe measures to quell disturbances that followed six months of turmoil touched off when President Paul Magloire was ousted last December for trying to prolong his rule.

Ten presidential candidates vied to succeed Magloire, some of them claiming that the forthcoming elections—scheduled for June 16, but likely to be delayed — were rigged.

Cantave ordered police to open fire without warning against lawbreakers. He imposed censorship on news stories from the Caribbean Negro republic of 4,000,000.

ROYAL VISIT

Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip received a warm and genteel welcome in their visit to Denmark.

The visit didn't follow the spectacular pattern of some earlier tours, but held an informal air that centered the royal couple, Denmark's King Frederick and Queen Ingrid accompanied Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip on a picnic, shared by thousands of ordinary folk.

Prince Philip joked with workers at a brewery, and seemed happy to hear that some sometimes snitched "one or two" when they are thirsty.

FATAL TWISTERS

Tornadoes caused havoc in Missouri and a fringe of Kansas, killing more than 80 persons and injuring 300.

Several other states also were damaged by tornadoes, electric storms and drenching rain.

In Kansas City, a plan was launched to replace 740 suburban homes destroyed by tornadoes in 60 days. Martial law was imposed to end looting.

Southern parts of Ontario had a tornado warning, but the danger passed.

MOLLET FALLS

Premier Guy Mollet, who held power in France through the Suez armed intervention and the subsequent series of crises, was finally beaten by a domestic issue.

Mollet's government was defeated in the National Assembly on its bell-ticklering program designed to finance the campaign against the Algerian rebels.

The Socialist premier, whose 16 months in office set a post-war record for France, remained at his post temporarily on a caretaker basis.

France's President Rene Coty was forced to cancel an official visit to Washington because of the crisis.

FORMOSA RIOT

Thousands of Chinese went on an anti-American rampage in Formosa, attacking the U.S. Embassy and information office and besieging a military headquarters.

The mob went berserk after hearing that a U.S. court martial acquitted an American Army sergeant who killed a Chinese cripple ing tom.

It was the worst anti-American disorder since Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek escaped to Formosa

Stassen Briefs Western Allies on Arms Proposal

LONDON (CP)—Harold Stassen today explained President Eisenhower's new plan for international agreement on disarmament to Western delegations before going into conference with the Russians.

Stassen held the pre-conference meeting almost immediately after his return from a detailed briefing in Washington. He met British, French and Canadian representatives at the foreign office.

British sources said the meeting of Western delegates was called to decide whether the disarmament of the UN disarmament sub-committee sessions should be sought.

Informed sources said the British and French delegations are ready have suggested adjournment for a week or two to give time to study the new U.S. move.

The attitude of the Soviet delegate, Valerian Zorin, who returned to London from Moscow during the weekend, was not known.

He said his general aim is to reverse the "competitive arms buildup" in the world. The U.S. plan, he added, was aimed at "small, measured steps" of arms reduction, each part of an overall agreement covering all weapons.

He cautioned against expecting fast results, saying the problems involved are "too important and too complex" for quick decisions.

The American proposal is reported to include the following points:

1. A multi-nation treaty which would bind countries who don't have nuclear weapons to abstain from manufacturing or acquiring them. This would leave only the United States, Britain and Russia with nuclear arms.

2. East-West agreement to cut military spending by 10 or 15 per cent.

3. Reductions in defence manpower which would cut Soviet and U.S. armed forces to 2,500,000 men each.

4. A small cut in the number of weapons, with each side agreeing to turn over specified totals of heavy artillery, guns, planes and guided missiles to an international controlled pool.

5. An East-West agreement to try out Eisenhower's open skies plan for mutual aerial inspection over limited areas.

Denounces Cynicism

The paper condemns egotism, selfishness and "the nihilistic and amoral attitude" of some young people in the Soviet Union. Even more alarming, it says, is their growing lack of patriotism.

"Some youths consider our dearest and most sacred ideas, ideals to which we are dedicating our lives, a subject for talk." Others, it adds, mock the very idea of patriotism, spurn study and have a "what's-in-it-for-me" attitude.

Thousands Move Out As Floods Batter Texas

Entire Population of One Village Evacuated

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Torrential downpours lashed parts of Texas Sunday as thousands in Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas fled high water swirling out of rivers and creeks swollen by earlier rains.

The entire population of Mofett, Okla., some 400 persons — was evacuated into adjacent Fort Smith, Ark., when a foot of water spilled into Arkansas River washed into the town. Mofett was unprotected by levees.

In Texas, the rampaging Trinity River surged three feet above the 30-foot major flood stage at Dallas, but began falling Sunday night. Police estimated some 2,500 persons were evacuated from low-lying areas. Another 4,000 persons evacuated flooded areas of Fort Worth during the weekend.

Downstream, the level of Lake Texoma neared the spillway stage at Denison dam. Residents and industry in Denison were ready for cutting in anticipation of an overflow by the spillway tonight. It would be the first time since the dam was built 13 years ago that the lake has run over the spillway.

Up to Arkansas River forced evacuation of nearly 200 families in north Little Rock, where hundreds still have been homeless for days. Thousands of acres of farm lands were flooded.

Nearly four inches of rain fell in two hours Sunday night at Wichita Falls, northwest Texas, on area still designated as a drought disaster region.

Men Vying for Nation's Favor Keep Bidding Going Strong

By CP STAFF WRITER

Who is it going to be on June 10? Canadians have two weeks from today to make up their minds.

And during the weekend the men vying for the nation's favor in the federal election kept their bidding going strong.

John Diefenbaker, moving swiftly through Northern Alberta, Saturday said the Liberals are politically bankrupt and "stinkwood" of what the June 10 voting will disclose.

He also referred to statements by Prime Minister St. Laurent that Premier Frost of Ontario is siding with federal Conservatives in hope of getting government out of doing his province in federal-provincial tax-sharing arrangements.

"The only deal I will ever make is for the betterment of the average Canadian," said Mr. Diefenbaker.

Meantime, External Affairs Minister Pearson told a Ridgetown audience Saturday night the Conservatives propose to borrow billions how they would reduce taxes and government costs.

Later Leamington, he defended Canada's role in the Middle East as performed by the Liberal federal government.

He and other cabinet ministers told the Liberal faithful critical of the hustings while the prime minister's mood is more genial at the meeting tonight. Social Credit Leader Solon Low continued his campaign in Peace River, his Northern Alberta constituency.

While CCF Leader M. J. Coldwell left Edmonton for a Winnipeg appearance today, Ontario CCF Leader Donald McDonald told an Oakville audience that although there is a strong case for President Frost's recommendation of a more equitable tax division, the "real issue" is the ability to move money from corporation and unearned income.

The Liberal government at Ottawa had allowed Canadian companies to accumulate "a need" of what the June 10 voting will disclose.

Expect UN Report of Fighting Over Russia's Role in Hungary

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —A special UN committee on Hungary is completing a report expected to be highly critical of the role of the Soviet Union in putting down the Hungarian revolution last fall.

The report is scheduled to be handed to delegates early in June. Some delegations are considering whether it will be necessary for the 81-power General Assembly to meet after the report has been distributed. The consensus seems to be that the assembly can wait until its next regular session convenes Sept. 17.

Informed sources say the report will contain nearly 500 pages and will deal with testimony taken at hearings here and in Geneva. It was said the role of the Russians will be made unmistakably clear and that a section of the report will deal with cruelties employed by Hungarian and Russian organizations in ending the revolt.

The committee, organized by the General Assembly during the winter, has on file about 2,000 pages of testimony. Most of this has been boiled down, it still is expected to be one of the longest reports ever made by a UN group.

No effort is being made to have the report translated into Russian by the time it is released but apparently the Russians are not outvoted in the committee.

The permanent Soviet delegate, Arkady A. Sobolev, probably will leave New York early in June for a vacation in the Soviet Union. He will be succeeded as chargé in charge of Ambassador George P. Arkadev, who is fairly new at this job.

Search of Swamp Fails to Reveal Shotgun Bandits

IROQUOIS (CP)—Police said a weekend search of a six-square-mile swamp bush produced no trace of two shotgun wielding masked men who held up a store and post office at Hainsville, about 10 miles north of here.

They said they believe the men may have escaped in a second car parked on a nearby side road six miles near Hainsville where the stolen car used in the robbery was found by police 30 minutes later.

Police said the arrest and questioning of an unidentified man early Saturday had nothing to do with the store robbery. The man was questioned about another "trigger-happy."

The robbers fired two shots from a sawed-off shotgun during the Friday holiday. One blast ripped through the store's ceiling narrowly missing two-year-old Betty Ann Armstrong, whose parents own and operate the store. The second was fired from a stolen getaway car into an automobile driven by Ralph Merkley, 39, a neighbor who tried to block the men's car.

Highway Crash Kills Eleven Of Two Families

BENSON, Ill. (AP) —A high-way crash killed 11 members of two families Saturday night.

It mashed five persons in one shattered car and six others in another vehicle into a fiery tomb of six. Seven of the victims were children.

The collision wiped out both families—Clarence Bloch and his wife and four children, and Dr. George C. Von Steenberg and his wife and three children.

The other car was found 100 feet away, smashed against a tree. A witness said the car looked as though it had been pummelled by giant sledge hammers.

Titled Vancouver Columnist Dies After Life of Bold Adventures

VANCOUVER (CP) — Sir Michael Bruce, 62, newspaper columnist and the 11th Baronet of Stenhouse, died Sunday in hospital from a kidney ailment.

A brother of the late movie actor, Nigel Bruce, Sir Michael had been a columnist for the London Daily Mail, the Vancouver Herald and since last January for the Vancouver Province.

He had lived in Vancouver for the last three years, writing his column Mainly About People.

Sir Michael was once a soldier and adventurer. He served with the RCAF's score of British military units, was wounded six times in the First World War and twice in the Second and wrote a number of books about his adventures.

Among his many adventures was a gold-hunting expedition in the upper reaches of the Amazon that was the sole white man to survive the trip—a voyage around the Horn as a crew member aboard a windjammer and a walking tour across the Andes.

At the age of 17, in the service of the British Africa police, he shot his first man and a year later changed his nationality to Rhodesia.

At 24 he had fought at Gallipoli and through the First World War.

While staying with friends-in-law Paulo, Brazil, Sir Michael, 200 ranchers and peasants into a fighting army to avenge insults which had been taking stock from the farms.

He later became a film actor in England, helped to form the first film company in Canada, was a "stunt man" for the movies for some time.

Sir Michael Bitter came into power Sir Michael joined the underground movement which recruited hundreds of Jews.

He told of being captured by the Gestapo and tortured by them as they tried to make him implicate his colleagues.

He helped rescue British troops at Dunkerque and once rode a cavalry horse into a fashionable London hotel on a dare.

NOMINATION DAY FOR CANDIDATES IN JUNE ELECTION

Fewer Candidates Than Last Campaign

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Nominations close today for candidates in the June 10 federal election.

By 2 p.m. local Standard Time papers had filed with the chief electoral nomination papers and pay their $200 deposits to get their names on the ballots in 242 of Canada's 265 constituencies.

In 21 other constituencies nominations closed two weeks ago.

As the deadline approached, a Publics Press co-opilation showed 838 candidates had indicated their intention of standing election.

FINALS FULL STATE

The governing Liberal party, as in the last election, has a full slate for the 265 seats although one of its candidates, William M. Robertson of Kenora - Rainy River, is designated as Liberal-Labor.

The Progressive Conservatives have 257 candidates compared with 174 in the 1953 election. Among the seats they are not contesting is Burin-Burgeo in Newfoundland where C. W. Carter, Liberal, was re-elected by acclamation May 17.

The CCF has 158 candidates, compared with 171 in 1953. One CCF candidate, Alf Skoreyko, withdrew Sunday when in Newminster.

There are 29 other candidates under various labels. This figure has dropped during the weekend when Roy Brawley withdrew as Independent Liberal in Toronto Greenwood, leaving Liberal, Conservative and CCF candidates.

In 1953 there were two acclamations, resulting from withdrawals of candidates after nomination day in St. Hyacinthe-Bagot and Terrebonne, both Quebec constituencies.

4 Masked Men Rob Aged Woman Of Pension Money

TORONTO (CP)—A 75-year-old widow told police that four men, one of them armed and masked, rushed into her house today and stole $40 and a diamond ring, money and a small sum she had saved.

Mrs. Amie Abrams said she answered a knock on the door, the man rushed in and struck her across the face with a revolver, knocking her down. Three others followed her in and demanded her son-in-law's money.

Mrs. Abrams was alone. Her son-in-law and daughter had left for work.

When she told them she knew nothing of the money, she was bound hand and foot and a blue sheet was thrown over her while one of the men sat on her.

The men searched the house, she said, and took the only money they could find — her pension cheque and allowance.

Mrs. Abrams was found by a neighbor about two weeks ago she attracted by tapping her head on a window.

Algerian Friend Of France Killed On Paris Street

Emir Chekkal Assassinated Leaving Soccer Stadium

Coupled with a new increase in rebel attacks across Algeria during the weekend, the assassination of the already important Algerian question added weight in French politics as former premier Rene Pleven continued his spade-work toward nomination of a new premier.

TEMPORARY PANIC

A jobless Algerian plumber slipped through Chekkal's bodyguard as he left a Paris soccer stadium and fired a pistol slug into his back. Coty's limousine had passed the spot only seconds before and a police cordon was being set up when the assassin struck.

Last February, after Chekkal helped plead France's case in the Algerian question before the UN General Assembly, the Algerian Liberation Front (FLN) had circulated tracts saying Chekkal had been condemned to death. But the assassin, 29-year-old Mohamed Sadok, told police:

"I have no political connections and I take the responsibility for my act. For some time I had decided to take direct action and shoot down a Moslem personality who was a France-pooch. I chose Chekkal because he was the last Moslem friend of France."

RIOTS IN ALGIERS

Police, however, made a wide sweep through Algerian quarters of Paris and rounded up some 5,000 North Africans in a hunt for FLN terrorist accomplices.

Sadok was nearly scalped by furious bystanders who pulled him to the pavement by the hair. Police grabbed him and rescued him under armed escorting crowd.

Chekkal was a passionate advocate of French-Moslem friendship and an officer of France's Legion of Honor. In 1946 he was elected to the Algerian Assembly, a largely advisory body of Moslem and French delegates. He was a "French-Moslem union." The assembly ceased to function because Moslem members cotted it.

Algerian rebels are demanding independence while the French government still insists Algeria is a part of European France.

Coty commissioned Pleven last week to sound out political leaders on the formation of a cabinet to replace Socialist Premier Guy Mollet, who lost a vote of confidence vote against his proposed new taxes to finance the fight against the rebels.

Five-Year-Old Gives Police Fair Warning

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP) Policeman Ralph Jones said he approached a group of boys to find out whether any of them had turned in a false alarm Sunday.

Jones said that when he asked a five-year-old whether he had turned in the alarm the boy replied:

"No sir, I'm too small to reach the lever. Maybe next year."

Jones never did find the culprit.

Ottawa's Girl Gang Front Broken Before Any Damage Was Done

Police broke up eight picked up 14 teen-age girls, wearing leather jackets, as they waited for a rival group to show up for a gang war.

The girls were later turned over to their parents for treatment and an Ottawa morality officer said Sunday night "everything's closed" as far as the police are concerned.

Parents were tipped of the prospective battle by a telephone call they believe came from a member of the rival gang, which didn't show.

The girls, between 14 and 16 years old, wore one piece dresses and jeans. When police arrived the girls were not carrying any weapons, but there were a number of short pieces of lead pipe on the ground and police believe the feminine fighters intended to use them in the fray.

Chief Constable Duncan MacDonell said none of the girls could be termed "tough." He thought they'd been reading too many comic books.

Aesop Knew His Hares And Turtles

ONEONTA, N.Y. (AP) Those hares never change.

Linda Gill, an eight-year-old racing enthusiast, Sunday pitted Blackie, a turtle, against Hoppy Hop, a big grey rabbit owned by Miss Gill's cousin, Joan Roberts, 10.

Hoppy Hop hopped most of the way along a 10-foot course, then sat down and watched as Blackie inched across the finish line.

Reds Arrive To Sign Pact With Hungary

BUDAPEST (AP) — Soviet Defence Minister Georgi Zhukov and Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, arrived today to sign a pact on the future of Soviet forces "temporarily" stationed in Hungary.

Hungarian foreign ministry officials said the signing will take place later today and will be celebrated by a big reception tonight in Budapest's parliament building.

The basis for the troop agreement was worked out at a conference of Soviet and Hungarian Communist leaders in Moscow in March. The declaration signed then provided for the withdrawal pressence of the Russian army in Hungary "for preserving the freedom and independence of the Hungarian state and abolishing the threat of future wars created in the heart of Europe."

Since then, Hungary's monthe has signed similar troop agreements with Poland, East Germany and Rumania.

The terms of the treaties vary from country to country. The Poles won some control over the movements of Soviet troops on their soil. To Rumanians now have the right to try Soviet soldiers who commit penal offences. A special clause in the treaty with East Germany gives the Russians the right to intervene if they consider their security threatened by internal events.

Receiving First Letter

Minister Public Works Cuts Ribbon to Officially Open Federal Post Office at Batawa

TRENTON (Special) — The Batawa development at Batawa, five miles north of here is a fine demonstration what new citizens of Canada can accomplish, according to the Hon. Robert Winters, Minister of Public Works, who officiated at the opening of Batawa's new $60,000 Federal post office on Sunday.

The Minister visiting Batawa for the first time asked the people to remember the occasion as a milestone in the progress of their community and the development of Canada. He expressed pleasure in seeing so many children present. He said he was glad to take part in the fascinating story of a community whose postal revenue had increased from $5,000 in the first nine months of 1943 to $20,000 for the half fiscal year.

After the official speechmaking the party moved to the modern entrance to the new post office building. There the Minister cut an orange ribbon signifying the premises were open to the public. Batawa Postmaster Arnold Stickle, National President of the Canadian Postmasters, held one side of the ribbon: Frank Follwell, M.P., the other.

Earlier Postmaster Stickle had delivered the first letter from the post office to the Public Works Minister.

A story by Elmer Wood, Warden of Hastings County; Mrs. Frank Follwell and Bata vice-president C. K. Hers legotti turned the sod to start construction of the new post office.

The message in observance of citizenship day was delivered by Judge J. C. Anderson, Q.C., of Belleville.

Conservative candidate for Hastings South Lee Grills of Belleville, and Frank Follwell, M.P., were called on for remarks. Senator W. A. Fraser voiced words of appreciation.

In a special presentation, Dr. Anthony Daicar, M.D., C.M., son of Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Daicar of Batawa, was honoured. He recently graduated from medical school at Queen's University, and is the first son of Batawa to become a doctor.

The distinguished visitors and general public were welcomed by C. Herr. Bata official W. W. Parry, Q.C., of Toronto, introduced the Works Minister. At the sports field the Belleville Drum Majorettes and the Quinte Pipe Band presented a pleasing display.

Massassaga Point Is Regaining Old Popularity as Picnic Spot

Massassaga Point, in its heyday before the advent of the motor car a popular spot for picnickers, is once again coming into its own as a spot to while away a lazy Sunday afternoon.

This was indicated yesterday by the flock of picnic parties seen in progress on the once famous spot down the bay.

One picnicker reported that close to 60 boats, mostly from the way from the small powered outboard to handsome big cabin cruisers, were tied up at the point during the afternoon. All came loaded with family parties, including flocks of kiddies who had a whale of a time fishing and swimming, playing softball and horseshoes.

For the old timers the activity on Massassaga Point brought a wave of nostalgia as they recalled moonlight excursions down the bay and Sunday afternoon parties at Massassaga when it was in its former glory.

Roy Crocker, 17, Awarded Private Pilot's Licence

His eyes set on a ten-year stint in the Royal Canadian Air Force and eventually a career in commercial aviation, a young 17-year-old Belleville boy last week received his private pilot's licence with the flying club at Picton.

Roy Crocker, son of city bail janitor George Crocker, and Mrs. Crocker, received his pilot's licence just a few days after his 17th birthday. He has about 41 hours flying time, 20 hours of which he soloed.

All of which may not be so remarkable except for the fact that the potential air liner pilot of the future earned the money for his 41 hours flying time by doing odd jobs after school hours at Bedford Collegiate where he is a Grade X student.

After school hours and on Saturdays he has helped with the cleaning chores at city hall, and also acted as janitor at Front St. places of business to earn the money.

Roy started to fly at 15 and soloed at 16 but in accordance with regulations could not get his pilot's licence until he was 17 years of age.

Due to the lack of flying facilities at Belleville, Roy showed his determination to become a pilot, going all the way to Picton for lessons. Sundays would see him hitch hike to Picton and the flying club field at the Picton Army Camp to get in an hour or so flying time.

ONE OF SEVEN CHILDREN

One of seven children, Roy is the son of a former Newfoundland sailor who has seen many coastal trips in windjammer fishing schooners to the Barbados and other points in the West Indies. Aged 17, he is the only member of the Crocker family to have a desire for flying.

By precedence, however, his only brother Jerry, was formerly much plane enthusiast but has now lost all interest in flying.

Roy's pilot's licence gives him the right to fly single engined planes of up to 4,000 pounds.

He is eagerly looking forward to next weekend when the Picton Flying Club is staging an area flyin when up to 75 privately-owned planes from other parts of Ontario and Northern New York State are expected to visit the town.

Weather during the weekend he expects to have the privilege of inspecting many different makes of private-owned aircraft and possibly get the opportunity of flying some of them.

Deadline for nominations is this afternoon when riding returning officer Felix Rashotte will be at city hall to accept last minute nominations if any. At three o'clock nominations will be officially declared closed.

1,000 Scouts, Cubs and Guides Attend Parade

Approximately 1,000 uniformed boys and girls, members of the various Scout and Girl Guide organizations in the city, took part in the annual church parade Sunday afternoon. The march past took place on Victoria Ave. with Guide Commissioners Mrs. R. Settle and Mrs. H. Boyd taking the salute for the girls, and Regional Commissioner A. S. Lewis taking the salute for the Scouts.

Sunday morning Roman Catholic Scout members attended morning Mass and then joined the others for the church parade in the afternoon.

The annual church service was held in Bridge Street United Church where Rev. A. L. Page, St. Margaret-on-the-Hill Anglican Church, was in charge of the service. Mr. Page spoke on Citizenship.

Leaders in the various Scout and Girl Guide organizations took part in the service. Rev. Harry M. Davis welcomed the Scouts and Guides and pronounced the benediction.

The auditorium of the church was filled to capacity with uniformed Scouts and Guides, while parents and other guests witnessed the service from the balcony.

For the first time Sea Scouts from Holloway St. Church took part in the church parade and attended the church service.

The Salvation Army Band provided the music for the parade and march past, which was under the direction of Harry Smith, D.S.M. Stuart Robb, president of the Belleville Boy Scout Association, directed plans for the church parade and service.

Admits Driving Wrong Way

BRANTFORD (CP)—Despite a witness box admission by Harold Pitt, 27, that he was the driver of an automobile travelling the wrong way on a one-way street, he was acquitted Saturday of a charge of impaired driving.

The reason? He didn't enter the box until after the case had been closed, and the charge dismissed because two policemen and another witness were unable to identify him positively as the driver.

Pitt had pleaded not guilty. Since an accused person need not testify he did not enter the box until the case was dismissed.

Then Pitt's counsel put him in the box where he admitted he was the driver in question. He went free because, under the law, a person cannot be tried twice on the same charge.

Continue Search For Man's Body

CHARLES NILES

The search is continuing today in the Trent River above Glen Miller or the body of 40-year-old Charles Niles, Belleville, who slipped off No. 2 day to his death in the swirling water on Thursday evening.

All day Saturday and Sunday Constable Williamson and Corporal Stout of the Belleville O.P.P. detachment and volunteers dragged the boiling river with a grapnel. The search powerful lights were played into the water in an effort to spot the man's body.

Bowling Opens On Local Greens

In delightful weather the Belleville Lawn Bowling Club was officially opened on Saturday afternoon with a mixed jitney. There were 48 members on hand and two games were played on the splendid greens. Incidentally, the greens are in better shape than they have been for many years and the members are looking forward to a fine season of their favorite pastime.

This evening a mixed jitney will again be held, while the rest of the week will be open bowling at which time all bowlers who gave up the game some years ago and new bowlers will be especially welcomed by the club.

The club purchased a new machine last season to destroy mosquitoes and the bowlers will not be pestered by these insects. Many renovations have been made, a new mower has been purchased and the greens will be kept in perfect condition for the enjoyment of the bowlers.

Four Rescued Near Orillia

ORILLIA (CP)—Two men and two girls were rescued from two overturned boats on Saturday night after spending an hour atop a buoy in Lake Couchiching.

Nella McNeill, Rosalyn Garry, Dr. Jack Edwards and Jim Hamilton, all in their 20s, swam to the buoy after their 17 - foot runabout boat crashed into it and overturned.

Their calls were heard and Jack Lawson and Wesley Rowell, both of Toronto, took their boats out to the buoy, a mile from shore, and picked up the four.

"Another 15 minutes and I don't think there would have been anyone to rescue," said Lawson. "They were blue with cold and almost too exhausted to hang onto the slippery float."

So-Ed Committee Holds Meeting At Peterborough

A meeting of the National So-Ed committee was held at the T.W.C.A. in Peterborough on Sunday under the chairmanship of Don Endicott of Peterborough. Representatives were present from Niagara Falls, St. Catherines, Welland, Brantford, Toronto, Peterborough and Belleville. In addition to Belleville's National So-Ed representative Jean Vickers the following people from the Belleville So- Ed attended as observers: Bert Hiles, Eral Lind, Audrey Stewart, Madeline Pearce, Doreen Holloroby and Jos. Gaudet. Due to the fact that the majority of So-Eds are located in Ontario, the National So-Ed committee is located in Ontario to facilitate meetings. Outlying regions such as the Maritimes, Quebec, Prairie, and Western (B.C.) are represented by vice-presidents.

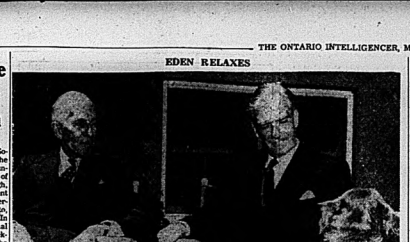
During discussions the appointment of a Maritime vice-president was brought up but to date no name has been suggested. Other items discussed were So-Ed pins with safety catches which are to be re-ordered, and So-Ed car stickers are to be ordered and stockpiled by the National committee for sale to So-Eds Clubs across Canada. The matter of So-Ed jacket crests was again brought up and it was turned over to Belleville So-Ed to investigate and report ahead with having them manufactured if they wished as the National committee did not. It stated it could invest in further stock items at this time.

Sudbury has tendered an invitation for the Ontario Regional Conference to be held in Sudbury at Sudbury. The meeting discussed this and agreed to accept the invitation that the Conference be held in the Sudbury area on the weekend of September 6th, and 7th.

Invitations were tendered to the Peterborough So-Ed through their representative , Austin Tingley, chairman of Peterborough So-Ed to attend the Diamond Ball to be held June 14 at Tobe's County Gardens by the Belleville So-Eds. It is expected that a number will attend from Peterborough and invitations will also be sent to the Kingston So-Ed group.

The group assembled for dinner in the Empress Dining Room and resumed discussions at the Y.W.C.A. in the afternoon. The meeting adjourned at 5 p.m. with delegates wending their various ways home.

Police Blotter



The wave of stolen cars in Belleville and district which has plagued city and provincial police for the past week or more continued right on through the week end with two such thefts reported in Prince Edward county and another in Belleville.

In the city John Mitts, West Moira Street, reported his 1957 model sedan stolen from where it was parked in the yard. And in Prince Edward two autos were reported taken.

One of the cars taken at Bloomfield was found recovered two miles away, the vehicle having rolled over and crashed. Although the occupants of the car left the scene, police believe that at least part of them were the corner of Victoria and Front streets.

Sunday noon an accident at Church's Corners on the property damage of approximately $300 to two vehicles. Gerald Joyce, Belleville, was westbound on Victoria when his car was in collision with a northbound auto on Church Street, driven by Ferdinand Boucher, Ottawa.

Taipei Tense Despite Calm After Riots

Normal life was shattered in the wake of Friday's anti-American riots. Many Americans feared that only the continued presence of Nationalist troops prevented a fresh outbreak.

In addition to Taipei, four other Formosan cities where Americans live have been put under martial law: Taichung, Tainan, Chiai and the port city of Keelung.

ASK CHANGE IN LAWS

The English - language China News condemned the riots as "uncivilized and disgraceful to the Chinese people. But other Formosan papers continued to urge the Nationalist government to press for an agreement giving it jurisdiction over criminal offences committed in off - duty hours by U.S. military personnel.

Americans hesitated to drive their cars, fearing an angry mob might materialize if they were involved in an accident with a Chinese.

President Chiang Kai-shek directed police to intensify a hunt for agitators whom authorities blamed for stirring up Friday's violent demonstrations.

DETAIN OVER 200

More than 200 rioters were reported already under police detention, but presumably Chiang was not satisfied the ringleaders had been apprehended.

The mob outburst was set off by Chinese resentment at a U.S. court-martial's acquittal of Master Sgt Robert Reynolds, 42, accused of voluntary manslaughter in the shooting of a Chinese laborer. Reynolds said he caught the Chinese peeping at his wife in her bath. The sergeant pleaded self-defence. He, his wife and seven-year-old daughter arrived in California Sunday night by plane.

The U.S. embassy said in a statement that the mobs which wrecked its building and that of the U.S. information service and injured 13 Americans were dispersed until late Friday evening, after martial law had been imposed.

The statement said police were present when the crowd gathered outside the embassy, before it became violent, but that they did not draw their weapons.

Arvida Strike In Second Week

ARVIDA, Que. (CP)—The strike of 6,500 aluminum workers moved into its second week amid reports of financial backing from another union and possible government intervention, but with little prospect of immediate settlement.

The United Steelworkers of America (CLC), representing aluminum workers at Kitimat, B.C., has pledged support of the striking National Metal Trades' Federation (CCCL) in its bid to get pay increases and a master contract from the Aluminum Company of Canada.

In pledging support to the Arvida strike, USWA Director Larry Sefton said his union will be directly affected by any settlement at Arvida in negotiations now under way at the Aluminum Company's B.C. operations.

Mr. Sefton in a letter called on all USWA locals to demonstrate "real solidarity" with the Arvida strikers by providing financial support. This already is being done by Kitimat workers, where collections are being taken at the gates to assist their Quebec counterparts.

British H-Bomb Proves 'Clean'

TOKYO (Reuters) — Japanese scientists who have been measuring radioactivity over Japan since the British bomb test two weeks ago at Christmas Island are preparing to announce that Britain has developed a nuclear weapon that creates a minimum of fall-out.

Meteorologists at the 13 special recording stations established in Japan said today their highly sensitive instruments had so far recorded only slight radioactivity in the rainfall and in the atmospheric dust over Japan.

They have been unable to discover what sort of weapon was tested, although after previous bomb bursts their analyses have produced a great deal of information.

One said today there was still "an outside chance" that radioactivity would increase later this week but at present scientists here are conceding Britain had "a clean bomb."

Congressional Body Will Study Fall-Out Story

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional committee today began an effort to put together the story of atomic fall-out dangers in language the ordinary citizen can understand.

This was the announced objective of a joint Senate-House of Representatives atomic energy sub-committee which called Dr. Charles Dunham, head of the Atomic Energy Commission division of biology and medicine, as the first witness in a projected month-long series of hearings.

Fears that fall-out from H-bomb tests may endanger present and future generations have stirred world - ranging controversy and put alarm behind the international disarmament drive.

AEC chairman Lewis Strauss, questioned Sunday on radio and television, said the United States is taking adequate precautions against radioactive fall-out harming the population. He said he has no fear of any such danger.

HUGE NARCOTIC SEIZURE

DURBAN, South Africa (AP) — Provincial police have reported seizure and destruction this year of 275 tons of dagga, a South African narcotic. Refined dagga, similar to marijuana, sells for about $20,600 a ton on the illicit market.

Adenauer Starts Washington Talks On Disarmament

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany began formal talks with State Secretary Dulles today to follow up his conference Sunday with President Eisenhower.

The 81-year-old German leader scheduled sessions with Dulles with every major world disarmament will figure as the main problem to be reviewed during his three-day stay.

Eisenhower and Dulles are known to be eager to assure Adenauer that his government's views be fully taken into careful account in any East-West disarmament plan.

It seems highly likely that Eisenhower gave Adenauer an advance look Sunday at the new Russian reduction proposal which will be made to Russia in five-power talks reopening in London today.

COVER AGENDA

It is reported the Eisenhower-Adenauer talks will cover a seven-point agenda which includes disarmament, German reunification, an assessment of Soviet policy, the pace of German rearmament, moves toward European political and economic unity, the Mideast, and western European trade with Communist China.

Partly because of the approaching German elections, U.S. officials are eager to demonstrate the confidence and trust they place in the visiting German leader.

A ringing U.S. reaffirmation of the policy of seeking German unity can be expected in the final statements are expected to help Adenauer and his Christian Democratic party beat back the challenge of the Russian Socialists in the scheduled September elections.

DIFFICULT DECISION COMING UP!

Last Thursday's news contained two stories on disarmament. One, from Washington, reported that U.S. officials are beginning to believe that Russia leaders really may be prepared to negotiate a limited disarmament pact. The other, from Bonn, announced that Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany was flying to Washington to seek hard and fast assurances that U.S. policy towards West Germany is unchanged.

The Washington story said that Harold E. Stassen, U.S. negotiator at the London disarmament talks, may return to that conference with "a new set of American proposals designed to encourage Soviet agreement." The Bonn report said Adenauer wants, among other things, "top-level reaffirmation that the United States will reject any disarmament plan that envisages neutralization of Germany."

It will be interesting to see whether these two developments are closely linked. They might well be.

Neutralization of Germany might easily prove the key to a disarmament accord with Russia — and not necessarily for the reason feared by West Germany, because it would strip that nation of western troops while still confronting her with massed Communist armies in Eastern Europe.

History is not easily forgotten by nations which have been overrun by hostile armies. The French appear to have largely lost their dread of a revival of German military power, but the same attitude almost certainly is not shared by many Poles, Czechs and Yugoslavs. That there exists amongst these people, and in other European lands, a real fear of a revival of German militarism seems undeniable. To argue that such a fear is unjustified by military facts does not diminish or eliminate it.

Neutralization of Germany, therefore, would be popular in many European countries, and not only in those behind the Iron Curtain.

Adenauer and the West Germans dread any such development, particularly as long as Germany is divided. They believe, and almost certainly with good reason, that an agreement to neutralize Germany would greatly reduce whatever slim hopes now exist for the reunification of Germany in the forseeable future.

The U.S. policy-makers may find themselves in a tough quandary. On the one hand, to agree to such neutralization as the price of a workable disarmament treaty with Russia would be viewed by the West Germans as a betrayal. On the other hand, those nations in Europe which fear Germany will argue that the desires of a country which so recently ravaged a whole continent should not be permitted to once again jeopardize the peace of the world.

HUES OR BLUES?

Not long ago we heard a rumor — or maybe it was just a figment of someone's imagination — that members of the Ontario Provincial Police are to be outfitted with smart new summer uniforms to take the place of the present trousers and shirts.

A few years ago the Montana State Police were outfitted with purple trousers and tunics, white "ten-gallon" stetsons, "cowboy" boots and open, low-slung holsters from which protruded a Colt "Peacemaker" 45.

Those uniforms were a sure-fire eye-catchers, so perhaps Ontario is thinking toward the same end.

It may be that this province is going to try a radical change in its tourist industry promotion.

If the O.P.P. were outfitted in magnificently colored creations, would the style-conscious public from the U.S. and other parts of Canada converge on Ontario like a green-winged "dollarbill" invasion?

Think what that would do for Ontario!

However, we must consider the O.P.P. and, we are certain, they do not want any additional traffic headaches added to those they now have.

Perhaps they would accept some suggestion of rainbow-colored uniforms and settle for their present "blues."

IMPOUND THE CAR

Fines, certainly, have not solved the problem of traffic violations. While we wouldn't advocate jail sentences for all traffic violations, the time appears to have arrived when authorities should consider the results that may be obtained from impounding the car for a few days instead.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

NAMES

If young men, having faith in me,
Should ask me how to get along
And down the years successful be,
Of course, I'd say: "Know right from wrong."
Some helpful hints perhaps I'd miss,
Forgetfulness my conduct shames,
But surely I would tell them this:
"Remember to remember names.

"When friends to friends present their friend,
Although the introducers frown,
Since much on knowing names depends,
Ask them to spell them, Smith and Brown.

It's most embarrassing to meet
Someone you know you surely know
And have to pass him on the street
With just a nod or curt: "Hello."

There was a man with snow white beard
Wearing a brilliant suit of red,
His well known name had disappeared
Entirely from my foolish head.
I had to question: "Who is he?"
There came a momentary pause,
And some nice lady said to me:
"Can't you remember Santa Claus?"

Odor of Dead Fish

By Judith Robinson in the Toronto Telegram

Any election is the brighter for a touch of custard pie. Consider therefore the campaign fortunes of the Independent Liberal candidate for Springfield, Manitoba, as they were told in Port Arthur by a new arrival from Winnipeg.

The name is Sinnott, Sylvester John Aloysius Sinnott. Its owner is not always so now he is, an Independent Liberal. Time was when he was a Liberal Member who was twice elected to Parliament. He was elected in 1949 and again in 1953 and in eight years at Ottawa showed himself a dependable, conventional representative far away in Ottawa, S. J. A. Sinnott felt the farm near Winnipeg had been unfairly used against him. In fact he felt that the constituency had been snitched. Independence welled up within him and he resolved to run anyway as an Independent Liberal.

In all seven candidates ran in Springfield in 1953. Anton Wesolak came first of the seven, S. J. A. Sinnott fifth. Independence unburdened Mr. Sinnott is running again this year and to again Anton Wesolak, a non-Independent Liberal. If ever there was one, has the inside track and the party nomination.

Here we were with one custard pie zone as the traveler from Winnipeg defined it. But first he explained that Springfield, unlike Ontario, has no provincial police force. Towns and townships supplies the constabulary.

Which is right; the Mounties. The ones that relay unverified rumors about Canada's attempts for free to the FBI in Washington; them.

The Mounties became entangled with ex-M.P. Sinnott's affairs when Mr. Sinnott decided to run again against the official Liberal candidate in Springfield, Manitoba.

The entanglemen began when Mr. Sinnott, acting as vote-getter waste disposal unit, removed about 40 pounds of Mr. Wesolak's campaign literature from a local store to the nearest sewer system. Mr. Sinnott performed the cleansing at the request not of the owner of the store but of the owner's wife, who was tired of seeing the stuff around. So the owner was summoned not once but twice and charged with willful destruction to Mr. Wesolak's speeches. Mr. Sinnott thereupon made public his intention to fight the summonses right through the Supreme Court on the ground that though it might have been willful of him to throw Wesolak's speeches on the dump it certainly wasn't damage.

The Independent Liberal candidate having spoken thus went home for an evening's rest from politicking. But his rest was disturbed by a visit from the R.C.M.P., the Royal Mounted Police; a pair of them. They said Mr. Sinnott, Mr. Sinnott's wife's car for homebrew, they said, and Mr. Sinnott gave them the key and told them to go ahead, search all they liked. They did so, and in the glove compartment found what they were looking for; a bottle.

But all that was in this pickled beet relish; the champlonship relish from the Springfield spring fair.

That was on a Saturday. The next Monday two more Mounties came to visit the Sinnott home and accompanied in the federal constituency of Springfield. This time they brought a game warden with them. The game warden charged Independent Liberal Sinnott with netting game fish illegally. But it wasn't Sylvester J. Sinnott but, let bellyaching to three other fellows; and all it had caught was a sturgeon. Which the three other fellows had given to the Independent Liberal candidate to feed to the dog.

Folled again. Though it's an old custom, you can't haul a man into court for feeding suckers to a dog; and I'll bet anything is, you know what Mounties get.

They did Mr. Sinnott that same Monday night. The Independent Liberal candidate was on his way home from a political rally in Winnipeg, when he stopped at two drinks. The Mounties got him and took him in jail and kept him there all night.

On Tuesday morning, being the morning of his 52nd birthday, Sylvester John Aloysius Sinnott was booked on an impaired driving charge and released on bail. If there was any idea in anyone's ming that enforcement embarrassed would cramp Mr. Sinnott's independent campaigning style it was a mistaken one. He stood a bottle of pickled beets and a rather tired custard pie in the corner as he goes the Independent Liberal candidate for Springfield, Manitoba, free campaigning, the traveler at Port Arthur said, with zest.

And the smell of stinking fish seemed likely to be strong enough to reach to Marquette, Manitoba, the constituency represented by Hon. Stuart Garson, the Liberal minister responsible for all the activities of the R.C.M.P. Canadian Mounted Police.

THAT UPPER ROOM

When the disciples of Jesus made ready to observe the last Passover, they secured at His direction a large upper room. There He indicated to them the meaning of His death and appointed the Sacrament whereby the memory and significance of it were always to be recalled. It is interesting that after His death on the cross, when it appeared that the whole Christian movement had collapsed, the disciples again sought the upper room, that they might resound and comfort one another. Furthermore, it was in that same upper room that Jesus twice appeared to His disciples, the second time instructing and strengthening the doubter, Thomas.

So we observe that the upper room was connected with crises in our Lord's life. Thither He met with His disciples, to instruct and commune them. Thither they went in their despair, hoping to comfort one another. Thither He returned to assure them of His presence through the ages, and especially to endow them with the eternal existence and significance.

The upper room has come to mean for us today the place of private devotions. We too will find in that place where Christ is made new to our lives, where His significance is explained, where His presence is again vouchsafed to us.

The upper room makes Christian living what Christ intended it to be.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

I had an interesting conversation with a young Hungarian who came over with the refugee. He had, of course, been saturated with communist doctrine all his knowing life, and had fled Hungary not because of communism, but because communists were evil men. He is having a wonderful time getting used to being regimented by his young, agile mind to the principles of free thought.

I asked him what he thought of Canada.

"You have too much good," he said, "but you do not earn it. I have had the others I want. But the men who made them are not proud of their work. Bad sewing."

"Oho," said I.

"Food," he said. "Wonderful, wonderful food. Everywhere. Piled in supermarkets. But you just stuff it in you. You are not proud of your food. You do not cook it. You are quick. You just eat it."

"Go on."

"You have free newspapers," he said. "Free. Anybody can say what he likes. Against the government. Against everybody. I wrote a letter. I say thank you to Canada. They print it. My words. Inexplained.

the newspaper. Mr. But nobody reads. You look at the newspaper. You are quick. You throw it away."

"We are free to do even that," I suggested.

"You have political meetings," he said. "Nobody goes. You are free to speak whenever you be free, you have to care. Here in Canada, nobody cares."

"That is an illusion," I explained to him.

And I told him how we, in Canada, Anglo-Saxons, French, Germans, Ukrainians, Italians, have jumped when the bugle called and we made curiously dangerous small armies whenever freedom was challenged even in far countries.

"We do not talk much about these things," I told him.

"You do not know," he said wistfully, "how much you should talk about them. In my country, we could only talk about them in secret, in whispers."

I told him to hold his horses.

"If ever another war," he asked, "will they let me come? Can I be a Canadian?"

"You are one already, son," I explained.

Broken China Makes Mosaic

Detroit News

If somebody drops and breaks a cup, Charles J. Frazer, 56, sweeps up the pieces quickly or finds Raymond Isidore underfoot scooping them in his mechanical crockeyed house. Isidore has been collecting broken china and all its furnishings with bits of crockery and glass for the past 25 years.

As a result, the place is covered with a fantastic mosaic of multi-colored glassware.

The 56-year-old gravedigger begins with the floor path and branches out to the walls and furniture. He proved the city for shattered fragments and gathered an estimated 3,000,000 in some 22,000 trips.

The house has become famous. As many as 100 persons, most of them tourists, visit it on weekends to marvel at the intricacy and color of Isidore's designs.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

Sitting Is Our National Sin

Much of the trouble which undermined and misinformed women have between 45 and 55 is due, as Dr. Clelia Duel Mosher, for many years adviser of women in Stanford University, said in her book Personal Hygiene for Women, published by Stanford University Press 30 years ago,

1. To a nervous letting-go of the woman's self-control and acceptance of the inevitable incapacity;

2. To her muscular inactivity.

3. To social and family changes as much as to physical causes."

Now please don't ask whether I'd be so very active if I had hot flashes. If I had hot flashes, I'd consult a physician.

Dr. Mosher sandwiched the main cause of trouble in between minor causes. It is the popular American pastime — muscular inactivity.

If muscular inactivity is one of the causes of trouble for the middleaged woman, as Dr. Mosher stated, then the best prophylactic against it and remedy for such trouble is a reasonable amount of daily exercise. For most women this would be the equivalent of from 3 to 6 miles of oxygen on the hoof — one to three brisk walks every day.

A woman should at least keep fit in sane and walk under her own power, without artificial support or aid.

Lucky the woman who has sufficient character and can afford to let her own housework. I have studied this subject for years and I am convinced that it is because the woman of 50 does all her own housework that she passes through the menopause.

Walking — not strolling or lolling — is the ideal general exercise. If you can't afford to walk all the way or part way to and from office, plant, shop, school every day. It takes about an hour to walk three miles — perhaps you can afford to go to the Y or a gymnasium or athletic club two or three times a week.

The woman who does not engage in one of these activities should at least do a regular stint of setting-up exercises every day to combat the tendency to go flabby.

Card Sharps Have Had It

Los Angeles Times

Apparently there is no ceiling on the accomplishments of mechanical brain devices being produced by science. The latest test was at Aitech where an electronic computer solved in 15 minutes a problem that a mathematician couldn't complete in a lifetime.

Then to demonstrate its versatility the onlookers were invited to play a game of cards known as blackjack. To their amazement the robot won, 21 straight games, in addition to playing a perfect hand.

The warning: card sharps it to make their pile fast or else try to qualify for social security.

Cat Is Dog's 'Seeing Eye'

Cleveland Plain Dealer

Well, sir, you've heard about the "seeing eye" dogs and the wonderful things they do for the blind. But did you ever hear of "seeing eye" cat — a tomcat at that?" The story comes from Mills Valley, Calif., where Mrs. J. R. Rowntrees live peacefully with two cats, a rocky coast, or in a river estuary, and apparently they keep it that the temperature drops below forty one degrees. It therefore follows much sooner that animals on land which are similarly inclined.

So although Canada hasn't yet produced a champion oyster-opener, there is plenty of material to practise on.

Dollar Being Chipped Away

Windsor Star

Canada's cost-of-living index soared to a new high in April, from 120.5 to 120.9 points. This may not seem much if one says it quickly but when we get a better understanding of what it means by comparing it with a year ago. In April, 1956, the index was 116.6, so it has gone up 4.3 points in the past 12 months.

This simply means our dollar is being chipped away. It is equivalent to a 3.7 per cent reduction in the value of pay and savings in one year. That is a fairly rapid deterioration of money values.

Sets Oyster Opening Mark

Hamilton Spectator

It was not really surprising that the man who claimed the world record for opening oysters (in three minutes) should live in Biarritz. Monsieur Jean Sens, who owns a restaurant in that fashionable resort of the wealthy, opened one hundred oysters with a stiletto and twenty-one seconds, and beat the previous record held by Monsieur William Viey of Paris by thirty-six seconds.

While some people do not like oysters, those who do are usually enthusiastic about them and think nothing of eating a couple of dozen. This must have been the case in very earliest times. Archaeologists digging on sites where prehistoric man lived have found quantities of oyster shells in the pits which served as garbage was dumped, proving that the appetite for oysters is old indeed.

The Roman aristocracy was also partial to oysters and when they travelled in distant parts of the empire far from the sea they had them delivered by speedy pack horses with the Canadian coasts produce good crops of oysters and Canada stands about sixth on the list of world producers. This is rather remarkable as the oyster likes warm water and a rocky coast, or in a river estuary, and generally speaking it is only in the temperature drops below forty one degrees. It therefore follows much sooner that animals on land which are similarly inclined.

So although Canada hasn't yet produced a champion oyster-opener, there is plenty of material to practise on.

Sudden squalls of rain failed to dampen the ardor or affect the smart appearance of nearly 1,000 personnel of 13 Militia Group at its third annual ceremonial inspection on Sunday.

The inspection was carried out on the parade square of the RCEME at Barriefield Military Camp, Kingston with ten member units of the group taking part. Eight bands of the units took part in the inspection with the guest band being that of the Royal Canadian Regiment of London, Ont.

Representing this city was the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment under the command of Lieut. Col. P. S. Fairman ED and 27 Tech Squadron under the commanding officer Captain K. D. Willcocks.

The inspecting officer was Brigadier T. E. Snow, CBE., CD., commander Eastern Ontario Area. Included in the inspection party was Major Galtens and Major Hill.

Brigadier Snow also, took the salute as the Group marched past the reviewing stand. Trophies were presented to unit and individual members.

For the third year in succession the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment provided the largest number of unit personnel on parade. Some 260 all ranks of regiment from its far-flung points in the district were present.

Member units of the 13 Group and their personnel were: exclusive of the group headquarters, 33rd Medium Regiment RCA, 56; 3rd Independent Medium Battery, 112; 22nd Independent Medium Battery, 21; 30th Medium Anti-Aircraft Regt. 35; 22nd Locating Battery, 118; Prince of Wales Own Regiment, 156; The Hasty Pees; 11th Medical Company RCAMC, 57; 23 Technical Squadron RCEME, 56, 27 Technical Squadron, 29 and 105 Manning Depot 56.

LINES INSPECTED

The RCR Band played during the inspection of the lines drawn up on the square. Then came the marching of the group units in the order mentioned before.

Just as the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment passed the reviewing stand a sudden deluge of rain fell, but the unit maintained its marching precision and swung neatly into position on the square. Rain fell intermittently during the morning, but was not sufficient to cause cancellation of the ceremonial as was the case last year.

The group then advanced in review order for the general salute.

Five of the ten bands on parade gave demonstrations in front of the reviewing stand. These included the bands of the 50 Medium A.A. Regiment; 33 Locating Battery, Prince of Wales Own Regiment, 11 Medical Company and the RCRs. All bands received a fine ovation from the 800 spectators present.

With the troops drawn up in hollow square Brigadier Snow paid verbal tribute to Brigadier Lyle Carr, commander 13 Group and the units on parade.

"I was very much impressed with your steadiness on parade," the brigadier said. "You turned your heads and your eyes well and carried yourselves with dignity and pride."

"Militia groups are very essential to Canada. Your group is well trained and reaching a high standard under Brigadier Carr. The people of Canada are most grateful for the efforts being put forward and the loyalty and devotion you are showing."

Brigadier Snow extended his appreciation to the brigadier and 13 group units and personnel. "I am very happy with the enthusiasm you have shown. My heartiest congratulations to all."

In the presentation of trophies made by the area commander the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment was presented with the General Proficiency Shield won jointly by the regiment with the Governor General's Foot Guards of Ottawa at the summer camp held at Niagara Falls in 1956. The Guards held the shield for six months.

HASTY PEES TO KEEP SHIELD

The shield was accepted by Regimental Sergeant Major C. S. Downs and will remain with the Hasty Pees for the remainder of the year.

The regiment also won the team prize for safe and skilled driving with Corporal R. S. Potter receiving the award. Second and third places for individual winners were taken by Hasty Pees, Private R. E. Laduocer and Sergeant W. J. McMeehan. First place was won by 33 Medium Regiment.

The 32 Locating Battery took awards in CWAC marksmen, team marksmen and drill proficiency. 11 Medical Company took the service pistol award with the annual drill competition trophy going to the 105 Manning Depot.

Members of the CWAC of the group acted as ushers with four from the Hasty Pees taking part. These included CWAC's Logan, Ellard, McKibbon and Thompson.

Proudly surveying the general scene from a special position at the corner of the square was the Hasty Pees regimental mascot, "Little Chief" who was guarded jealously by Staff Sergeant M. Rashotte. Fluttering equally as proud above the Indian was the famous battle-flag of the regiment.

A church parade was held on the parade square in the morning.

The Hasty Pees travelled by military vehicles and three special buses leaving Bridge Street armouries at 7.45 a.m. and returning early last evening.

Says Liberals Tie Canada to U.S. Coat Tails

DUNNVILLE (CP) — Hon. Earl Rowe, Progressive Conservative candidate for Dufferin-Simcoe, has urged Canada to seek greater independence from the United States.

Mr. Rowe, who was acting Opposition leader for a time in the last parliament, was speaking Saturday night in support of John Charlton, PC candidate for Brant-Haldimand riding.

"The Liberals have tied us to the coat tails of Uncle Sam," and the United States holds the mortgage on our future," he said. "At present time we are buying $100,000,000 a year more from the States than we are selling them."

Mr. Rowe criticized 'Liberal policies on agriculture, trade deficits and marketing. He suggested a tightening on agricultural imports, which last year amounted to $300,000,000.

He also rapped the government's "tight money" policy. He charged the banks maintained the tight money policy towards farmers and businessmen but a loose money policy towards big business for many years.

Mr. Rowe predicted no CCF or Social Credit candidates would be elected to office east of the Great Lakes and expressed the opinion that "when Canada is back to the two-party system we will get a better government."

Indian Princess To Be Honored

TIMMINS (CP) — An Indian princess about 90 years old, at one time known from Temagami to Hudson Bay for her outdoor skills, will be honored near here Wednesday.

She is Maggie (Buffalo) Leclair, hereditary princess of the dwindling tribe of Chippewa Indians who lived on the shores of Night Hawk Lake before the white man found gold in the Porcupine.

The honor is for the way in which she has used the arts and skills of her forefathers to make a living in the wilds. As a hunter she became almost legendary and she is still independent, looking after her own needs in her neat cabin on the lakeshore. Last winter she snared a 20-mile trapline.

Princess Maggie was born in the village of Night Hawk Lake and trekked into the wilds of Hudson Bay with a French-Canadian trapper she married after he visited the village.

Later her husband and four children died of an unknown malady and she brought their bodies by canoe to Kamiscotia, burying them on an island in the lake. Until recently she made regular pilgrimages to their graves.

W. J. Hiddleston of Bellevile.

The bride's table was prettily appointed with white damask, centred by a three-tier wedding cake, flanked by pink and white snapdragons.

For travelling to western points the bride donned a turquoise coat-style dress with beige accessories.

Fourteen New I.O.D.E. Chapters Formed During Past Year

VANCOUVER (CP) — Fourteen new chapters formed in 1956 bring the current total to 977, members of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire were told at the opening session today of their annual meeting.

Mrs. G. D. Leggett of Toronto, national organizing secretary, noted that this actually is a net increase of six chapters, because in the same period seven senior and one junior chapter disbanded. Total membership now is 31,403.

More than 500 introduction cards had been sent out about members moving from one province to another during the year, she said. She also disclosed that total membership of the IODE on the Island of Bermuda is 354, including 16 new members.

FACES DEFICIT

Despite all efforts to curtail expenses, Mrs. P. M. L. Robinson, national treasurer, also of Toronto, reported a deficit of $1,060 in the general fund.

"The finance committee has again budgeted for a deficit for 1957 as the continual increase in expense," she added.

Suggestion that the raising of fees be considered, Mrs. Robinson said "any organization as large as the IODE should not repeatedly show greater expenditures than revenues."

Eleven primary chapters have come under the national committee in Newfoundland, Prince Edward Island and the Yukon Territories aid national secretary Mrs. D. W. McGibbon, Toronto, he added that these chapters work not only for IODE projects but also local community projects.

Since the resolution was passed last year that the order would continue to support the Canadian Association of consumers," Mrs. McGibbon said, "the CAC now is represented in the Yukon."

ACTIVE HOSPITALITY

Mrs. Hugh L. Allward, national hospitality convener, of York Mills, Ont., reported that Hungarian refugees, new Canadians, senior citizens, exchange and Colombo Plan students, D.V.A. veterans and handicapped persons received hospitality and aid throughout the year from members across the dominion.

She stressed that service had been extended to new Canadians at the port of entry. Assistance also had been given by the IODE to the Students Club in London, England.

National publicity convener Mrs. John Mills, Toronto, reported that publicity for the IODE has increased considerably this year, indicating the importance and influence of chapter activities.

French Farce Best Play at Drama Festival

EDMONTON (CP) — Theatre groups from Ontario and Quebec again have dominated the Dominion Drama Festival.

Last year at the final competition in Sherbrooke seven of the 10 awards went to Central Canada. This year that area took every trophy offered, although groups from Newfoundland and Alberta were strong contenders.

Top presentation named at the festival conclusion Saturday night was La Tour Eiffel Qui Tue, a French-language farce staged as the last of eight plays. It also won the best visual production award for Le Theatre de Quat' Sous, Montreal.

The biggest collection of trophies, however, went to the Playcraftsmen of Toronto for their production of Paul Osborn's comedy On Borrowed Time.

WAS RUNNER-UP

The play itself was named runner-up in the festival, and lost out to Montreal chiefly on grounds of group originality. Rex Devlin in the comedy lead was named best actor, Mrs. Blanch Hogg best supporting actress and L. C. Tobias best director.

Three other awards went to L'Union Theatrale de Sherbrooke. Miss Lace Trigsmo as Mrs. Gibbs in Notre Petit Ville, a French translation of Thornton Wilder's Our Town, was named best actress and Jean Besre as her son was chosen as best supporting actor.

The award for the best Canadian play in the regional festivals went to To Ride a Tiger, written by Norman Williams and presented by the University Alumnae Dramatic Club of Toronto in the Central Ontario festival. Self defined playcraftsmen won top awards.

The Experts Say
40 Homemaker Services Now Operate in Canada

By CAROLYN WILLETT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—The motherly woman who prepares breakfast, gets father off to work and the children off to school may be just a short-time visitor in some Canadian homes.

She may be "auntie" to everyone in the family. Her services as a part-time homemaker are more and more in demand, say social welfare experts.

Social workers discussing the already - important role of homemaker services during the Canadian Welfare Council's annual meeting in Ottawa agreed that future possibilities for the services are almost unlimited.

Canada's 40 homemaker services now deal chiefly with the care of children in the home during the mother's illness, said Mrs. F. A. Cumyn of Montreal.

KEEPS FAMILY TOGETHER

The homemakers, usually women who have raised families of their own, were often the "blessing" of homes threatened by a mother's sudden illness.

Homemakers were not expected to do heavy housework. But their presence in a home keeps a family together and keeps the wage-earner on the job, said Mrs. Cumyn, who heads a homemaker services committee for the Montreal council of social agencies.

Some agencies have extended services to the aged, she said, but there is a pressing need for larger staffs to provide longer service.

These services, which are in future demand semi-professional status, more than trained domestic standards, already open new fields of full or part-time employment for older women whose basic qualifications are their homemaking abilities.

Homemaker services should become an integral part of social welfare programs, said Marjorie Bradford, director of Ottawa's chronic sickness and geriatrics study.

Miss Bradford said there is a continuous home-help service for middle-aged and senior citizens living alone or with one elderly relative or friend.

The immigrant mother also could benefit from homemakers' services — a helpful, friendly visitor could bring assurance and welcome from a new, strange community.

ADVICE To The LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

OW ABOUT GIVING ME THE KEYS THAT WILL UNLOCK THIS PROBLEM?

ear Beatrice Fairfax:

I will soon have been married ree years to a wonderful woman ith whom I'm very much in love. e is also very much in love ith me.

For the first two years, we were very happy together, and believed at nothing could ever happen hich would make things any dif-rent between us. But then every-ing seemed to go wrong.

My wife's girl friend stayed ith us for quite awhile, and dur-g that time I gave my wife rea-n to believe that I had some-ing to do with her. Although this asn't so, this idea has become so mly fixed in my wife's mind at I can't make her think other-ise.

This sorry situation was made ore severe because I had occasion-lly lied to her, although I didn't y consider them lies since they led to important things.

Still, knowing that I lied her, has left a mark on her and ade toward me and now she has ot all faith and trust in me.

If I tell her that I am late and y fifteen or twenty minutes late ecause I was held up on some-mes that I've met the "other oman," I've suggested that she et me at work to prove it to her. If that I come straight home. d I've tried to explain to her w I feel toward her and my one and that I have no desire at "little extra on the side," so matter what I do or say, ings don't change her.

If it were a case of our not lov-g each other any more, every-ing could be worked out very iply. But our mutual love still ists us together, even though we n't know much happiness any re. I've suggested marriage-r, doctors or clergymen, t it doesn't settle anything. ecause my wife believes that all ch people just want to keep a ly together, no matter what. d would therefore simply tell her forget her fears and believe in again.

If you have any suggestions on w I can win her faith and ust back, I would appreciate it ry much. — Mr P ear Mr. P:

There are two very important ings that you haven't even at-mpted to explain in your letter. d which would need to be made er before anyone could make y practical suggestions toward ving this problem of yours.

First, why and in what way did you give your wife "reason to be" that you were having a love-nce with her girl friend? Sec-d, what did you tell your wife? nd, if the things that made the lies seem so im-nt "just as you say, why did you t it necessary to lie about them? ow two problems that will need t clues to your whole trouble t you withhold any informa-n on them.

his being so, all I can do is to e a shot in the dark and sug-t that, since your wife is not ly to discuss the matter with ou, you might go yourself to marriage counsellor and talk it out down to the very last dem very sorry for your wife I can fully understand why she as she does. Also, if she is really on the level, and mak-a sincere effort to re-estab-marriage on its former ove and mutual trust.

Perhaps if you were to take problem up with a man, you uld be more inclined to be pletely frank about all the des of what has happened be-en you and your wife.

m sorry for you, too, and uld like to help you. But—to est—unless you're willing to ify the points I've mentioned, that I can get the clearest pos-picture of the whole situa-, I'm afraid there is not much n do.

MULTI-STRAND NECKLACES THE ULTIMATE IN FEMININITY

Aren't you glad to see the return of the multi-strand necklace? It can do so much for a simple outfit, feminize even the crispest of tailored suits. Strand after strand of crystal beads, for instance, is an exciting change from the demure string of pearls. Or you may like the combination of crystals, either clear or frosted, with rhinestones. Will a little black town dress do with your delicate, airy pastels, this sort of necklace? Well, with a little perfect-ly.

Rhinestones and pearls are another popular combination, as are pearls linked at intervals on roughly gold-finished chains. In fact, for those who don't care for beads, multi-strand gold chain necklaces are equally fashionable.

Some of the new necklaces are in the form of multi-strand bibs, many of them cascading from the base of the throat to the waist and below. You can find necklaces gathered together with a clasp or, if you like to be an individualist, you can get long ropes of whatever you happen to fancy, and wind them round and round your neck. For those with a touch of the gypsy in them, vivid colored beads such as bright red, turquoise and yellow make a wonderfully exotic mixture. And muted pastels, soft blues and the popular mauve tones are good for carrying out the all-one-color look in a costume.

However you wear it, there's nothing quite so feminine as the draped necklace. Wide soft neck-lines invite its wearing and, with the low-buttoned necklines of today's popular blouses and shirts, the "bibs" are the perfect accessory.

Remember, however, that your beads—crystal, pastel or what have-you—are going to collect a film of natural body oil and cosmetics just from being around your neck. They need cleaning at regular intervals, just as your gloves do, or your nylons, or your clothes. The easiest way to keep your necklaces sparkling is to wipe them off each time you wear them. Simply pull them gently through a folded soapy sponge, then wipe with a rinse cloth and dry. No need to risk rotting a thread by soaking a necklace in the basin. For pearls, there's a special cleaner on the market, but in using it, be sure to follow directions carefully.

GOOD MANNERS

NO FLOWERS WORN ON GRADUATE'S ACADEMIC GOWN

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

We are the first graduating class in our school to wear caps and gowns, and we are having a discussion as to whether or not it is correct to wear a corsage (or even a single flower) on the gown? — Helena M.

Your school authorities will, I am sure, make a regulation about this, and you will be informed. Customarily the regulation is that flowers, either corsages or single flowers, are not worn on this academic gown . . . just as it is not correct to wear a flower on a military uniform.

TIPS ON PLANNING SURPRISE PARTY

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My mother-in-law and father-in-law are to celebrate their wedding anniversary in late July. These good people have devoted their lives to doing for others, and they have been so wonderful to me. Now I would like to do something extra-special for them, all by myself, and I want this to be a complete surprise for the families. Will you please help me?

1. I would like to give this dinner at a charming inn I know about, which has a large private dining room I can engage for just our guests. Would the manager arrange the menu and have the anniversary cake made?

2. My plan is just to invite my wife and her mother and father to "come to dinner with me" on that evening. Should all the guests be gathered in the private dining room of the inn when we arrive?

3. How soon before the anniversary date should the invitations be given? Would telephone and verbal invitations be in order?

4. How would I tell the guests please not to bring gifts?

5. Would place cards be necessary? — DH.

You're a fine and generous son-in-law, dear sir, to plan such a wonderful occasion! I'm mighty happy and proud that you have given me the opportunity of cooperating with you for this great surprise!

1. Just as soon as you possibly can, go to consult with the management of the inn to engage that private dining room for the date you wish. Ask for menu suggestions and prices for dinner-per-person, and decide on your preference for foods and beverages; to order the anniversary cake; to decide about table decorations. Decide beforehand approximately how much you want to spend, and proceed accordingly.

2. An excellent plan you have for the "surprise!" But when you invite your wife and her parents you had better suggest (subtly and casually) something like "since this is an anniversary, let's all dress up, as is fitting to the occasion."! And yes, do have the guests gathered in the private dining room when you and your wife and her parents arrive.

3. At least two weeks before the date (perhaps somewhat earlier) go to see (or telephone) the guests you are inviting, and tell them all your plans and impress upon them how extremely important it is that they faithfully keep the secret. (Tell them several times!)

4. When you give your invitations explain as graciously as possible: "No presents, please." I agree with you that since you want this anniversary party to be entirely your hospitality-responsibility, you would not want it to give any impression whatever of being planned as a party-for-presents.

5. Place cards would not be "necessary" . . . but they would be very convenient, and you could choose some charmingly decorative and appropriate ones that would add a gala feature. (After you have made your seating plan either go to the inn yourself early to arrange the place cards, or ask headwaiter or maitre d'hotel to place the cards according to your plan.) Every good wish for the joy and success of your party!

Lace is lovely and alluring no matter the time of year. But it seems at its loveliest on soft spring and summer evenings when its gossamer charm somehow suggests the season. Ben Reig has done a delightful dinner dress in black Chantilly lace, and has kept the design simple to let the lovely fabric have the starring role. Straps form a square neckline and the sectionally-designed skirt joints three lace tiers with moire ribbon.

Church Breakfast: Cook Out Supper

By Mary Moore

Lessons are still being learned by one Sunday School teacher — name of Emem.

Dinner Menus

by Mary Moore

MONDAY

On Good Friday, our "Hi-C" group, grandly planned to cook their breakfast at 8.00 a.m. at the church, eat it, clear up, then attend the 11.00 a.m. service — all in their Easter finery.

Then, at 3.00 p.m. they met again at the church, in slacks and jeans and went out into the country for a cook-out supper.

By chance neither of the male co-teachers of this 1st-propelled group, ranging in ages from 14 to 19 years, was able to be present at either of these ambitious functions. So Mary was in sole charge.

One thing that warmed my heart was the admonition of the convenor, another Pete, that I was not to put in an appearance until 1 minute before 8.30, when breakfast was to be served.

However, using as an excuse the puny willows from my tree which were to go with the daffodils in bud vases — I arrived at 8.30 a.m. and was welcomed with open arms before I had even reached the kitchen.

Eighty-four eggs were creamed and beaten with milk and seasonings for the scrambled eggs for 50. But nobody could make the big church-kitchen stoves heat up! I snapped all the buttons in sight on and soon things were sizzling. But it was 20 minutes before all that bulk of milk and eggs were heated through enough to set and serve — as if you plan to serve scrambled eggs for 50 for a Good Friday or Easter morning breakfast or for a camp crowd then give yourself plenty of time.

SCRAMBLED EGGS FOR 50

Eighty-four eggs, 2 quarts milk, 1 oz. salt, 1 teaspoon pepper, ½ lb. butter. Whip eggs until yolks and whites are well mixed. Add milk and seasonings. Whip 2 to 3 minutes. Melt butter in two large pans and divide eggs between pans. Cook slowly over low heat. As eggs coat the bottom and sides, scrape away with large spatula, until the whole is a mass of creamy flakes. Remove immediately from stove when eggs are soft. (Cooking continues for several minutes after removal from heat). Serve immediately.

One feature of this kind of a "do" is the dishwashing session. We never lack volunteers — so we select 3 boys and 3 girls and let them slosh and kid around as much as they like as long as the kitchen is left spotless. The menu for the breakfast was — orange juice (frozen), scrambled eggs, hot cross buns, butter, marmalade, jam, milk, coffee.

The menu for the cook-out supper, later on that day, was: hamburgers with all the trimmings, canned pork and beans, heated in my outside frying pan, doughnuts and cokes.

The boys laid, lit tended the fires and did the cooking. It was gratifying to see that their summer camping experiences had made them so capable and dependable.

When our cavalcade of 8 cars drove home, we were wet, cold and weary — but it had been a memorable day and I bet we do it again next year.

General Graham Likely to Retire As Chief of Staff

Maj.-Gen. S. F. (Finn) Clark, chief of Central Command, to succeed Lt.-Gen. Howard D. Graham as chief of the general staff. Gen. Graham will be 59 in August.

Maj.-Gen. John Bickingham, commander of the 1st Infantry Division, to succeed Maj.-Gen. Chris Vokes as chief of Western Command. Gen. Vokes, 53, is expected to retire.

Brig. M. P. (Pat) Bogert, commandant of the army staff colleges, to be promoted major-general and given command of the 1st Division.

Johnstown

JOHNSTOWN — Sunday School and church was held at Johnstown on Sunday afternoon. The text was found in Hebrews 12th; the text was "For consider Him that endured such contradictions of sinners against Himself."

Rev. C. A. Whitenham reminded his hearers that Paul was using the old faith or testament to explain the new. The old agreement between God Israel and God and the new Israel.

Sinai is a volcanic mountain being responsible for the pillar of fire by night and the pillar of cloud by day, for the Israelites on their journey. At that time a great voice was heard in the mountains but not so any more.

In the old testament laws were severe. If one man did not keep the covenant the whole nation was in danger.

The story of Israel is a story of a broken covenant. God kept His share of the agreement but the people failed. The old covenant was written on stone, but the new was written upon the heart, with love.

Paul said God was no respecter of persons, but he was concerned for the individual. The new covenant was not a covenant of law, but of grace, Grace is the personal encouter of God with men. This law came by Moses, but grace and truth came by Jesus Christ who suffered to redeem His lost children. The cross is the offer of forgiveness, not by the offering of the blood of goats, but oneself. It is the only basis the Father will give Himself, in exchange for Jesus' death for mankind.

All should make a covenant with God, giving themselves completely to Him, for that is the only way He can work in them, for He gave Himself with no reserve.

Indians Admit Killing Boy, 13, Drinking Blood

GUATEMALA CITY (Reuters) Two Huehuetenango Indian sorcerers have confessed to beheading a 13-year-old boy and drinking his blood as part of an ancient rite to prolong life, police said today.

The headless body of a young boy was discovered by a group of children last Monday near a river in the coffee-rich county of Colombo, the boy's head was found Friday about a mile away.

Police said the two Indians, Francisco Francisco and Pascual Andres, confessed to killing the boy with a 30-inch knife carried by all Indians in the area.

Andres said he held the boy's legs while Francisco lighted ceremonial candles and then chopped the boy's head off.

Both Indians, police said, admitted they filled an empty bottle with the boy's blood and then drank it while still warm, in the hope of prolonging life.

Beck Prepared to Step Down As Head of Teamsters Union Due to Wife's Condition

FLIP OF A COIN SAVES HIS LIFE

A flip of a coin saved the life of 28-month-old Gerald Burge of Hamilton, Ont. His father, George, flipped a coin to decide if he would leave the house or stay. He stayed and half an hour later he rescued his son from the cold waters of Van Wagners Beach. The boy had been swept out 50 feet into the lake by a strong current. The barking of Blackie, his dog, attracted the father's attention.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dave Beck says his decision not to seek re-election as president of the Teamsters Union is due largely to "my wife's condition."

Mrs. Beck, 59, fell ill Saturday night, "has been very upset and her health has not been very good."

Chairman John McClellan (D-Ark) of the special Senate rackets committee offered another explanation for Beck's brief announcement, which a secretary, that he is prepared to step down as teamsters boss when his present term expires in September.

"I do not think it would be presumptuous," McClellan told a reporter, "to say that the exposures made by the select Senate committee have been an important factor in his decision to quit."

REFUSED TO REPL

Beck invoked the U.S. Constitution's Fifth Amendment against self-incrimination more than 200 times in refusing to answer committee questions about his handling of $320,000 in union funds. money which the committee accused him of misusing.

The announcement here Saturday night by Beck's secretary, Ann Watkins, made no mention of the committee's investigation of Beck, or of his indictment on federal income tax evasion charges and a growing movement within the Teamsters Union to oust him.

PHONED HER..

Miss Watkins said Beck telephoned her Saturday afternoon and authorized her to announce:

1. That he will seek re-election as teamsters president when the union holds its convention in Miami in September.

2. That he will call a meeting of the union's international executive board for about mid-June.

Told of this, McClellan said Beck should "have gone a step further . . . and resigned"

As it is, he added, Beck's decision is "certainly a very progressive one toward the cleanup of conditions in the Teamsters Union that have become intolerable to decent Americans."

Beck had said heretofore that he would seek a second term as union chief.

Eastern Ontario's entry is Hugh Callander of Gananoque, who scored 370 points in the Kingston try-outs.

He won $100 and a trophy for his area. Second was Robert Fish of Elginburg who received $75. Wayne Mercer of Brockville got $50 for third.

Twelve contestants from across Canada will enter the London finals. First prize will be a $2,000 scholarship, with $500 and $250 scholarships for second and third.

RESCUES THREE

OWEN SOUND (CP) — Three Durham men, Carmen Rosebrough, Ernest Watson and Bert Lawrence, were pulled from Owen Sound Bay Saturday by Orin Bellamy of Owen Sound. Bellmy looked up from his fishing and saw three men floundering in the water across the harbor after a boating accident. He went across and pulled them into his boat, one of them unconscious.

Dawson Has Dikes Ready For Second Flood Crest On Yukon, Klondike Rivers

DAWSON, Y.T. (CP)—The 900 residents of this historic gold-rush town waited today for the second flood crest in the Yukon and Klondike Rivers. But this time, there will be dikes.

Taking advantage of a slight drop in river levels, residents worked continually for 36 weeks hours to line the river banks with 15,000 sandbags. They also piled up old gold-dredge tailings.

It was not known exactly when the next flood crest would reach Dawson, where the Yukon and Klondike rivers meet, but it was sure to be a big one. Reports from settlements upstream said the Yukon was rising by roughly 18 inches again.

Families in the lower sections of Dawson were forced from their homes by the first crest last week. Essential equipment was moved from St. Mary's Hospital to an unused residence out of the flood-threat zone.

OFFERS AID

At Wilhelmine, the Yukon capital 300 miles southeast of here, facilities of the General Hospital were offered in case of an emergency at Dawson.

Army and air force officials there also were ready to fly 40,000 gallons of water to Dawson or Mayo Landing.

Army engineers reported the situation as serious at Mayo Landing, 100 miles southeast of Dawson where the Stewart River which flows into the flooding Yukon was backing up into the settlement. However, no details were available.

Meanwhile, at Dawson there was no shortage of sand bags. Approximately 23,500 were there. Friday the RCAF and Canadian Pacific Airlines, and army trucks brought 50,000 over the Alaska highway from Wainwright, Alta.

In the dike-building struggle, children as young as eight years old were credited with taking a major part. "These kids have been great," said Mayor Domadinat. "We couldn't have done it without them."

Roller-Coaster Air Responsible For Bad Weather

WASHINGTON (AP) — A giant roller-coaster-like air dip in the skies is responsible for the severe, tall weather that has affected a large part of the continent this spring, a U.S. weather bureau scientist says.

This is, Jerome Namias said Saturday, an abnormally deep trough in the planetary wave "train" of air that meanders horizontally high above the earth. It is blamed for having brought devastating floods to Texas and Oklahoma; contributed to a record-breaking number of tornadoes reported from 24 states so far; and given virtually the entire United States west of the Mississippi a wetter-than-average spring.

LIKE HUGE WAVES

Above the planet at all times is a high-circling, undulating air current that begins at 10,000 feet altitude and extends upwards at least 30,000 feet more. It is called the planetary wave train because it creests and troughs, like superonstrous ocean waves.

This wave train always plays a key role in "making" the weather, but this year its pattern has been particularly suited to spawning stormy conditions, especially in drought.

There are about a half-dozen troughs or dips in the train around the entire Northern Hemisphere—and the trough that has significantly affected the weather in much of the United States this spring is a very deep-digging one. It dominates about one-half of the United States.

Marie Dionne's Old Leg Ailment Being Treated

MONTREAL (CP)—An old leg ailment has forced Marie Dionne, smallest and frailest of the Dionne quintuplets at birth, to hospital for radium treatment but her condition was reported not serious.

She and her three surviving sisters—Cecile, Annette and Yvonne —will be 23 Tuesday but her stay in Hotel Dieu Hospital is one reason there won't be a birthday party.

A person close to the Dionne family who asked not to be identified said Sunday night that the treatments are for Hemangioma, a sort of blood vessel tumor on the fleshy part of the leg. It's commonly known as a birthmark. Marie underwent radium treatments for the same condition as an infant and has had similar treatments off and on throughout her life.

The Dionne family has been assured there is no reason for concern.

Marie is in the luxurious Pavilion Royer, a wing of the Hotel Dieu. Philippe Langlois, friend of the girls and Cecile's beau, said Marie would probably remain in hospital for another week or two.

Inquiries Saturday about what the four planned to do on their birthday—which they always have spent together—led to the disclosure of Marie's illness.

Her presence in the hospital led to a flurry of rumors that she had suffered a nervous breakdown because of the failure of her flower shop here last year. These rumors were emphatically denied.

Another reason why there won't be a birthday party Tuesday is that Cecile and Yvonne will be "on duty" as student nurses at Notre Dame de L'Esperance Hospital in suburban St. Laurent. They are due to finish their training in August.

Annette, the fourth, surviving quint is writing examinations at L'Assumption convent in Nicolet, Que., 80 miles from Montreal. She is due to graduate in household economics in June.

The fifth quintuplet, Emilie, died while suffering an epileptic seizure Aug. 6, 1954.

Looks for Private Who Saved Life In Hong Kong

TORONTO (CP)—A slim, dark-haired woman is in Canada looking for an ex-private who saved her life and those of her children during the Japanese siege of Hong Kong in December, 1941.

Ellen Field says she was a spy for the Canadian and British underground after a Canadian Army private called Flegg rescued her.

She knew only his surname.

She met three survivors of the campaign in Toronto — Lloyd Carter, Bill Mayne and Les Harvey—who recalled he served with the Winnipeg Grenadiers.

Mrs. Field met Private Flegg on the beach of Kowloon, Hong Kong's mainland settlement, during the four-day defence by British, Indian and Canadian troops. A porter had dumped their combined loot, four and eight-year-old Flegg knew what to do.

FOUND A PLACE

Within minutes the private found them a place on a boat about to leave the island, two miles away, occupied by the Canadians. On the island, the private arranged for them to a block of buildings being used as a women's sanctuary.

After the colony's fall, Mrs. Field went to Japan, then to Sydney Clark, chief medical officer and leader of an undercover ring which helped her. She was put into the prisoner of war camps and escapees out of them.

Striking Workers Come to Town To Collect Pay

MURDOCHVILLE, Que. (CP)—Striking copper mine workers crowded into this little community from outside villages today, adding to the tense understreents of a long labor dispute.

The men came from scattered settlements along the Gaspe coast, driving through hills still dotted with snow to collect their weekly strike pay.

Roger Bedard, spokesman for the striking United Steelworkers of America (CLC), said he expected about 400 strikers and members in addition to some 300 living here to pick up checks ranging from $15 to $45.

Provincial police cars, each with two officers in them, watched through the streets at intervals of less than five minutes, watching for any outbreak between strikers and men who have gone back to work at the Gaspe Copper Mines Ltd. Four non - strikers were roughed up by pickets late last week-end when out-of-town strikers met here.

The police moved in a month ago, a short time before an explosion ripped through the mine's oil reservoir opening the way for company at Mont Louis, 30 miles away. Now a force of 1,500 gallons of diesel oil has been maintaining 24-hour patrol through the town.

Constable Dies In Hospital

TIMMINS (CP)—Ontario provincial police Const. Jack Delarue, 23, died in hospital in nearby Matheson Saturday despite the efforts of 40 blood donors to save his life.

He was to have been married June 15 to a nurse employed in the hospital where he died.

Police said the constable was chasing a car on Highway 101 when he police cruiser side-swiped a half-ton truck and overturned into a ditch. Forty persons responded to a police appeal for donors with his rare R-01-type blood.

Const. Delarue was to have started his holidays in three days and planned to return to his hometown of Chatham to prepare for the wedding.

FIRST THOUGHT DEAD

When first found in his overturned cruiser Saturday, Const. Delarue was thought to be dead. His chest was crushed, his left arm and leg fractured, and he had lost considerable blood.

Aided by blood donors who had answered radio and Red Cross appeals, doctors attempted to stop the bleedings — watched by his fiancee, 23-year-old Korrine Hershelf — but were unsuccessful. He died 27 hours after the accident.

His body will lie in state in Matheson city hall until burial.

Diefenbaker Charges P.M. With Launching 'Program Of Irresponsibility'

SASKATOON (CP)—John Diefenbaker has charged Prime Minister St. Laurent with launching a "program of irresponsibility" in the federal election campaign.

His attack against Mr. St. Laurent, made in Northern Alberta Saturday, before he returned here to close a two-week western tour, was based on the prime minister's statements about family allowances and federal-provincial tax agreements.

The Progressive Conservative leader said Mr. St. Laurent in a recent speech warned voters that they had "better watch out" for their family allowances if a Conservative government came to power.

Speaking at Grande Prairie, Mr. Diefenbaker replied hotly:

"He knows better than that. . . That statement is either frivolous or false or both, and cannot but be that way. It's strange that he finds it necessary to engage in things like that."

MENTIONS FROST

In the same time, he referred to statements by Mr. St. Laurent suggesting Premier Frost of Ontario is backing federal-provincial tax agreements in hopes of a preferential deal for his province in federal-provincial tax-sharing arrangements.

"I say say—I made some deal with Mr. Frost to the detriment of the rest of Canada," Mr. Diefenbaker said. "The only deal I have ever make is for the betterment of the average Canadian.

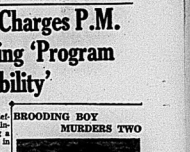
"The prime minister knows better than that. In the last few days he has shown the full extent of irresponsibility, of statements that have little relationship to the facts."

The Conservative leader said that after four weeks of campaigning, "the St. Laurent government finds itself frightened, and the government "desperate, a government that sees the handwriting on the wall."

Mr. Diefenbaker flew to Saskatoon Sunday to visit his mother and shortly after he arrived at the airport accidentally met Health Minister Paul Martin. Later, he told reporters:

"I told Paul, 'You might as well go home because our party is winning everywhere.'"

Mr. Martin had been making a campaign swing through Saskatchewan.



TO CLOSE TOUR

Today, Mr. Diefenbaker was to close out his two-week tour of Western Canada with a visit to his home constituency of Prince Albert.

His one-day trip to the Peace River region of Northern Alberta Saturday was by chartered plane, although the flight took only an hour late an audience of 300 turned out for him at Peace River and 1,000 at Grande Prairie in the population heard him speak later in the evening.

At Grande Prairie, he made still another reference to a St. Laurent statement—made in the Commons last November when Mr. Diefenbaker said British and French were termed "those supermen whose days are about over."

"When we go to the UN we won't be making statements like that," Mr. Diefenbaker said, "and we won't be joining with the U.S.S.R. in condemning Britain and France as aggressors."

Some persons have said the prime minister made the statement while overcome with annoyance. Mr. Diefenbaker said that "sometimes when people are annoyed they say what they think."

Medical Faculty Holds Graduation

KINGSTON (CP) — Fifty-six medical students graduated from Queen's University and 14 nurses received Bachelor of Nursing Science degrees Saturday at the convocation of the faculty of medicine and the school of nursing.

Honorary degrees of law were conferred on R. Fraser Armstrong retiring superintendent of Kingston Penitentiary, and Dr. Wilder Penfield, head of Montreal Neurological Institute.

Dr. Penfield told the graduates trends more than medical science to make a doctor. A doctor, he said, must have medical heroes of his own and the spirit of life of his own and an understanding of the strange relationship bond that exists between doctor and patient.

It is the patient's instinctive desire to clothe the doctor in a mantle of security. And the wise doctor does not protest."

Slumber-Inducing Gadgets Brain Child of Norman Dine

NEW YORK (AP)—I've been sleeping pretty steady for 30-odd years now, give or take a few nights when there were more important things to do. I always thought this made me something of an expert.

Now comes a fellow name of Norman Dine to tell me I've been doing the mysterious wrong; my methods are shockingly unscientific in certain details.

Dine should know. Not only has he been sleeping fairly steady for the past 50 years but he's also been spending a lot of sleepless nights dreaming up gadgets to help other folks sleep.

His "sleep shop" in sleepless Manhattan bristles with remember inducing gadgets. He's so enthusiastic about them, you'd think he sells them. He does.

Suppose you can't sleep because you're tossed, like a cork, just too wide awake. The surefire but old-fashioned way would be to get a jug and sip on it until you fall senseless to the coverlet. That's wrong — at least scientifically.

The ultra-modern method is a "sleep self-starter," a busy little machine that fills your bedchamber with such a monotonous drone that you're forced to sleep in self-defence, out of sheer boredom. It's less painful in the morning, too.

Suppose the sandman won't come because you're too tense, unable to relax. A box-like affair vibrates those tense muscles—andlish.

Perhaps that neon sign on the dance hall across the alley is your problem. A mask or eye covering transports you into a peaceful clime. And if you're a claustrophobe, there's a mask with peep holes.

Maybe you can't sleep because you're afraid. It's not necessary to keep grandad's dueling pistols under the pillow anymore.

For you, you coward, there are soft neon night lamps, tiny but raucous alarms to rout jittery second-stage men and an "instant vigil lamp" that springs into startling action when you sit up startled.

And if you're afraid that good-night cigaret might touch off the mattress, there's a cigaret stand with flexible extension tube to puff you to sleep.

Even after you're asleep, Dine has gadgets that still are standing by to give you aid and comfort. Suppose you make snores. You don't beat her with a shoe anymore. You don't stifle her with a pillow. You put a tiny speaker under your pillow, a buzzer sounds under the bed, the rolls over, presto, snoring stops.

Or maybe you feel that sleep is wasted time. No need to now. Not with a phonograph and underthe-pillow speaker that dins culture into your sleeping but impressionable ears all night long.

"You can go to bed speaking English and wake up speaking French," enthuses Dine, in Esg-

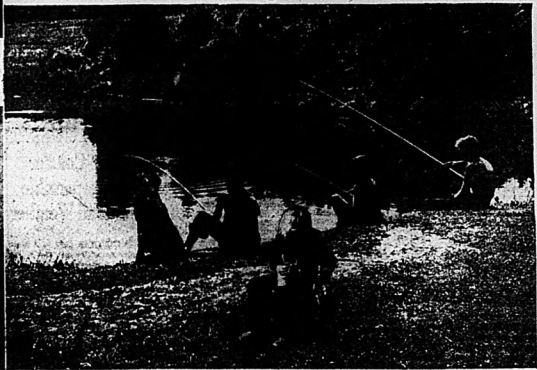
Canadian Sportsmen Always Prepared

Fish Baits to Suit All Tastes

Canada, say rod and reel enthusiasts 'round the globe, is the greatest sport fishing country in the world. Millions of crystal lakes, thousands of silver streams, await the annual exodus from the cities of eager fishermen, armed with gaily-painted lures, who go forth to pit their skill against the cunning of the fish. Above, an 18-lb. northern pike surrenders to Bill Macdonald and Stephen Greenlees after a lusty struggle in the Pikitigushi River, north of Lake Nipigon.

National Film Board of Canada Photos by Chris Lund.

Some of the more popular baits, which no well-heeled angler would be caught without, are shown above: the red-eyed wiggler, silver darters, and the whirling kidney spoon with feathered triple hook trailing.



A perennial favourite is the wobbling spoon bait. Its wounded minnow action has tricked many a champion muskie, pike, walleye, bass and trout onto the hook of some delighted sportsman.

Above, fish scale design is sprayed onto plug bait to simulate a perch finish. Plugs in background resemble shiners, chubs, smelts and suckers—forage fish sought after by the game species for food.

New designs for bait are constantly being thought out, tested, discarded or approved. Above, Frank Edgar and his son Bill discuss a new plug which their Peterborough, Ontario, firm will turn out for this year's fishing season.

Not all fishermen favour the heavily-stocked tackleboxes. There are those who still adhere to the "can of worms" technique. It's a matter of taste, they say . . . and sometimes, results. Many a father has blushed with mortification, returning empty-handed from the weekend expedition, to find that his 8-year old son, equipped only with willow pole, a hook, and a lowly worm has the evening meal swimming placidly in the bathtub.

Hydrogen Bomb Now Wields Balance in World Politics,

Editor's note: The hydrogen bomb has become a powerful world force in the last five years. But can it deter a full-scale war? Here is a report on the big bomb and its influence on the world.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

A lusty and menacing five-year-old is pushing around and reshaping the politics and economies of big and little powers alike.

Born an enormous flash of terror, the hydrogen bomb now wields the balance in world politics—a balance of fear.

Has it grown big enough or frightening enough yet to outlaw war? Apparently not. By its potential it may yet outlaw its own use. But indications are all too clear that the world will live for a long time with tension and fear of war.

Both the United States and the U.S.S.R. appear to base their military planning today on an assumption that general war eventually is inevitable. This does not mean general war is around the corner. It means military planners on both sides do not dare to think otherwise.

LONG-TERM PREPARATION

Recent Soviet developments indicate Communist rulers have reaffirmed their fatalistic view that war with the capitalist world is inevitable—not tomorrow or the next day, but perhaps a few years hence. This may be a basic reason for the vast and hasty economic shakeup now going on in Russia.

Western military planners must consider any possibility. One—some may even consider it a probability—is general war with atomic weapons, short of an exchange of big bombs which could mean mutual annihilation. This seems implicit in the newest string of U.S. atomic tests shots in Nevada, and in the announced determination of Washington not to fall behind Russia in intercontinental missile development.

H-bomb warfare is so fearful a prospect that both sides must regard it with horror. Yet Nikita Khrushchev, world communism's reigning master, says he is convinced the United States is preparing for war. And President Eisenhower says East and West are far from any agreement which can be considered safe.

WEAKEN AUTHORITY

What has this balance of fear wrought up to now?

In the U.S.S.R.—Soviet leaders are taking grave risks in shaking up the industrial administrative system. It implies a weakening of centralized party authority. But if this is preparation for the possibility of war, it makes sense. Insurgency must be dispersed if war is in prospect. If it is dispersed, it is equally necessary to delegate economic authority. Thinking in terms of a world building for war within a decade, Soviet planners may consider the domestic risk dictated by external danger.

In the United States—The question arises: How much H-bomb power is necessary to deter aggression? Has the time come to turn the defence program toward a balanced stockpile of smaller atomic weapons to guard against any contingency, including limited atomic war? Is the strain of the economy from maintenance of great conventional forces warranted in view of newly developing concepts of war?

In Britain — An economically harassed government has alerted its whole concept of defence, basing it on a five-year program which relies primarily on nuclear power as a deterrent. Only last week Britain exploded her first H-bomb and saw it as restoring her stature as a world power.

FEAR TESTS

In Japan—Uncomfortably close to H-bomb blasts, and with solemn recollection of Hiroshima and Nagasaki, Japan has appealed to both sides to end test explosions. But the government appears to be preparing the nation for a change of attitude, on the chance that Japan herself one day might be obliged to rely on nuclear weapons for self - defence. Recently, the government announced it had discovered substantial deposits of uranium-bearing ore.

In Germany—Politically divided Germans are targets of intense propaganda. A prospect of West German forces armed by NATO with tactical atomic weapons has agitated the Russians. Possibility of civil war between the Western and Communist-ruled East Germans can never be ruled out completely. If West Germans should use tactical atomic weapons in such a struggle, there would be a grave threat of world conflagration.

BALANCE OF FEAR

In the "neutral" nations—with India as a leading spokesman, the "neutrals" complain incessantly about continued pollution of the atmosphere from nuclear tests. Prime Minister Nehru says he considers this a mad contest in a world full of unreality and haunted by a ghost of total destruction.

Desperation could turn a limited atomic war into an all-out nuclear one. But if only H-bomb war was the prospect, NATO, the Warsaw Pact, the massive Communist land forces, and the deployment of Western tactical defences would make little sense.

In all-out nuclear war, such forces could offer little real defence.

But so long as the H-bomb holds the terrible balance of fear, the world's political arguments will have to be supported by lesser weapons.

The resolution said "malaria is one of the major obstacles to improving the standard of health throughout the world" and called for increased funds to carry out an intensified malaria-eradication program.

Hotspurs Blank Ontario 7-0; Smith Nets 5

TORONTO (CP) — Tottenham Hotspur, from the English League first division, blanked the Ontario All-Stars 7-0 in a lopsided soccer match before close to 9,000 fans under floodlights at Varsity Stadium Saturday night.

The game was not only a one-way affair for the youthful Spurs but it also provided a scoring feast for their centre-forward Bobby Smith who netted five of his team's seven goals. Tommy Harmer, inside right, and inside left Alf Stokes were the other scorers.

Smith scored the only goal in the first period three minutes after the game opened. After a scramble at the Ontario goal, he tipped the ball in behind goalie Jim Nicholl of Hamilton.

USED HIS HEAD

Harmer opened the second half scoring three minutes after he used his head to deflect a pass.

Smith scored again less than two minutes later. His third goal came under protest when an All-Star was knocked down in the goal area, but his fourth goal, the beauty of the evening, was set up from a three-man play between himself, Stokes and outside left Robert Wilkie.

The play started from mid-field with Smith passing to Wilkie, who crossed to Stokes. Stokes then relayed back to Smith who pounced on the ball and booted a scorcher in the right hand corner of the goal. His fifth goal was a header from a wing pass.

The victory was the second in as many games for the Spurs who will play eight matches across Canada. Last Wednesday they defeated the Essex County All-Stars in Windsor 8-1.

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Al Besselink, a friendly heavyweight pro from Grossinger, N.Y., scored his first major victory of the year in the Kansas City Open golf tournament despite a three-over par 75 in the final round.

The 250 - pound Besselink won the $2,800 first prize Sunday with a 72-hole total of 278, nine strokes under par at the Hillcrest Country Club.

George Bayer, Los Angeles, and eagy little Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla., tied for second on scores of 282. Each picked up $1,650. Finsterwald shot his second straight 70. Bayer made the last round in 71.

Bo Winiger of Odessa, Tex., 1956 winner started the final 18 holes in second place, six strokes behind Besselink, but also soared to a 75 and finished sixth at 283 strokes.

Al Balding of Toronto tied with three other golfers at 290, carried off prize money of $490. His last-round 76 was his worst of the tournament—he had shot 73-68-73 earlier.

Gerry Kesseling of Kitchener had a 293 total, to win $150.

Ottawa Wins School Meet

KINGSTON (CP) Ottawa's Fisher Park Collegiate with overpowering wins in the junior and intermediate sections, Saturday captured their fifth straight Eastern Ontario Secondary Schools track and field meet.

They raced to 100 1/2 points in three classes to more than double the score of Ottawa Tech, their nearest competitor in the 16 schools that took part.

Pete Barnabe paced Fisher Park capturing firsts in the high jump 120 hurdles and hop, step and jump to win intermediate individual honors.

Barnabe's jump of 43 feet, six inches in the hop, step and jump broke the existing record by three and one half feet.

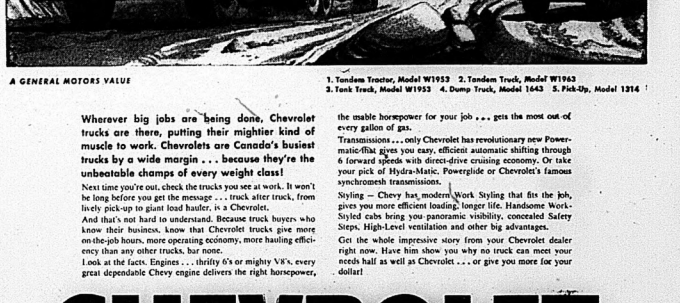
His performance was matched by Larry Klar of Ottawa Glebe and Ian Tennant of Ottawa Tech. Both were three-event winners, Klar winning the broad jump, high jump, and hop, step and jump in the junior event and Tennant doing the same in the senior.

Six records were broken.

District Baseball

A seven-run explosion in the first frame gave Read a 10-7 victory over Melrose in a South Hastings baseball league fixture on Saturday night. The game, played at Read, was called because of darkness in the seventh inning.

Wellington got off to a flying start in Eastern Ontario Little League baseball over the weekend with two victories in as many starts.



The peewees and bantams took victories from Cobourg in the league's opening games. Wellington peewees won 7-0 while the bantams downed Cobourg 17-7.

THE WEEK IN SPORT

Indications to the moment point to the Belleville and District Softball League having one of the closest fights for honors in many moons.

True, the Point Anne Cementmen have won their first two starts, but neither victory can be classed as a runaway affair, in fact the nod in both tussles could have gone either way — and that is not taking anything from the Ox Pointers' wins.

In the first tilt the newly-formed Belleville Merchants, with a nucleus of McFarland hockey players, tossed a gochalmighty scare into the champions from Point Anne. They led 3-1 going into the eighth and appeared to have the win in their grasp. But the Pointers rallied and, taking advantage of a couple of Merchant miscues, pounded four runs across the plate to get the opening victory.

In Friday's game between the Pointers and the Templesponsored Bobcats the score was 2-1, close enough to classify it as a good game and victory in the balance until the last man was out in the ninth.

The Goyer Marines, as yet to play a league game, have indicated in practice and exhibition tilts they will be a force to be reckoned with as have the new Frankford-Bata Combines. The former Frankford Merchants which won the all-Ontario intermediate "B" championship last year will be as good as the rest and assure fandom of a hard-fought four-way battle down the schedule stretch.

Trenton Juniors and Madoc are as yet unknown quantities but will be in there battling all the way and may pull a surprise or two before the curtain rises on the playoffs stage.

The Trenton youngsters get their baptism of fire tonight at the CNRAA Recreation Park where they tangle with the Merchants starting at seven o'clock. Meanwhile in Frankford the Combines take on the unbeaten Ox Pointers in what should be a dilly of a battle. This tussle gets under way at 8.15 under the lights.

Tomorrow night the "outsiders" get at it with the Trenton Juniors and Madoc clashing at Trenton in Madoc's initial game. Wednesday night the Bobcats meet Goyers Marines at the CNRAA Park starting at seven bells with the Frankford beauty contest at Frankford Memorial Park.

For baseball fans there is an exhibition tilt slated for tonight at the Alemite Field between the Belleville Kenmors and the Trenton Philcos. The Kenmors won the first game between these teams and show promise of being a good diamond squad.

The Belleville and District Baseball League pries the lid off the season's activities at Picton Wednesday night when the Trenton Philcos take on the Prince Edward McFarlands. The second part of a double opening bill takes place at Wellington where the Iron Dukes of the lakeside village crack rapiers with the Trenton Juniors, another squad from the town to the west.

Belleville set to a rollicking good start the Commercial softball League shown promise of being as good if not better than its inaugural season last year. Bakelite and Loblaws got a game off their chests over the weekend while tonight the A and F laddybroks take on the Ontario Engineer "Comets" who will be all dating up in their colorful new softball raiment. The "Dazzling Dozen" hope to tuck this one away for the newspaper. Also on today's agenda is a tussle between Bakelite and Mead-Johnson. Both games get under way at 6.45 with the first slated for King George field and the second the Fair Grounds.

While none of the teams in the Commercial League will win a world title, all clubs are playing back-up softball with a minimum of trouble with the result the boys are having the times of their lives and are putting up a fine brand of the popular summer pastime. More power to 'em. Don't forget to let us know those results as soon as possible after the games, fellas.

The soccer boys of the Bay of Quinte Football League are now well on their way to a good season, it appears. Trenton played Campbellford over the weekend, the result of which is not known at this time of writing. Wednesday night the Northern Electric eleven entertains the strong Batawa club in what should be a neat tilt for soccer fans. Kickoff at seven o'clock.

On the Bay of Quinte Country Club links the golfing lads and lasses are enjoying what is said to be the opening phases of one of the best seasons in the history of the club. We understand the membership list is filled and some outstanding golf is being played. George Balazs, the club pro, is a very busy man these days and is doing a fine job keeping a heavy schedule in motion.

The opening mixed 2-ball foursome was played yesterday followed by a club dinner. The qualifying round of the club championship got under way Sunday and will continue through to June 2. Thirty-six holes must be played by May 31. The qualifying round for the ladies also got away to a start on Saturday while this afternoon they held a dessert bridge. Thursday of this week the gals are holding what is called "mostly 5's, 6's and 7's."

Sweep Three of Four Games As Brooklyn Slips Into 2nd; Yankees, Tribe All Tied Up

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

What happened to Milwaukee's vaunted pitching staff?

Manager Fred Haney hasn't been a starter go nine innings since May 12. In the last five games, he has used 18 pitchers.

Even the lowly Chicago Cubs roughed up the Braves over the weekend, taking three out of four including a sweep of a Sunday doubleheader that dumped Milwaukee into third place.

With the exception of a six-inning tie game called on rain May 21, Milwaukee hasn't had a complete game since Lew Burdette beat St. Louis in the first game of a May 12 doubleheader.

And this from a staff that was generally accepted to be the class of the National League during spring training.

The Cubs show Braves have only 10 complete games all season as compared to 19 by Cincinnati which was supposed to have no pitching staff at all. Warren Spahn hasn't gone the route since May 1.

SETS CUB RECORD

Dick Drott, 20-year-old rookie who wasn't even on the Chicago Cubs' roster in spring training, set a club record Saturday by striking out 15 Braves for a 7-5 decision in the first game, while Gene Conley failed Haney.

Juan Pizarro held Cubs to four hits in eight innings of the second game but was knocked out in the ninth during a three-run rally that gave Chicago a 5-4 edge.

While Braves were stumbling twice, Cincinnati even got an eighth-inning home run from its pitcher, Hal Jeffcoat. Next St. Louis 7-6, despite a pair of homers by Stan Musial, including his eighth grand slam.

Brooklyn elbowed past Milwaukee into second place two games behind Redlegs. Dodgers trimmed the New York Giants 5-3 as Duke Snider joined the 1,500-hit club with his seventh homer of the year, off Ruben Gomez.

20-HIT ROMP

Pittsburgh spoiled plans to celebrate Curt Simmons' 100th major league victory yesterday they chased the Phils' lefthander and then went on to collect 20 hits for a 13-5 romp. Philadelphia and the Pirates split a twin bill with four hits and drove in five runs as Roy Face won his first of the year. Rookie Don Cardwell gave the Phils a split by taking the second game.

Drott's performance for the Cubs was outstanding. He struck out Bill Bruton and Hank Aaron three times each, making Bruton his 15th victim and the game. The previous Cub record of 13 strikeouts was held by Lon Warneke and Sam Jones. Del Crandell and Chuck Tanner hit home runs for Braves, Walt Moryn and Ernie Banks for Cubs.

Pittsburgh's first game romp wasn't all fun. Shortstop Dick Groat suffered a sprained ankle in the fourth inning and was carried off the field on a stretcher. Jim Hearn of Phils also left the game due to an injury when he was struck on the pitching hand by Simmons.

SATURDAY'S ACTION

On Saturday, Curt Barclay, sixth New York Giant pitcher, won his own ninth against Brooklyn 8-7 with a ninth inning single, Milwaukee beat Chicago 7-6 and Philadelphia defeated Pittsburgh 8-6. In a night game, three home runs and 11 hits helped St. Louis to whip Cincinnati 12-4.

American Trail To Cup Final Won't Be Easy

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Vic Seixas was satisfied today the United States would get through the Davis Cup challenge round to meet Australia, the champion, but added, "it won't be easy."

Seixas, 33, surveyed the future of the American Davis Cuppers after he won the third and deciding match Sunday against Venezuela. The victory put the United States into the North American Zone Cup finals.

"The team should win its next match and not have too much trouble getting to the interzone finals," the temporary American team captain said. "But it won't be easy."

The American team probably will next play in August. The Canadian Davis Cup team will play Brazil in Montreal after the Wimbledon championship in England ending July 6. The Canadians are favored.

HOW TO BUY A GOOD USED CAR

HOW IS THE BATTERY?

While inspecting the general condition of a car, it's wise to raise the hood for a look at the battery and its connections. Corrosion of the terminals and carrier usually means that the battery has been neglected and carelessly serviced. Not only does overflowing acid weaken the condition of the battery, but it also corrodes anything which it touches in contact.

This condition can be cleaned up easily and inexpensively and isn't too serious — providing it hasn't been neglected for a long period of time.

At Pinder's we welcome the close inspection of all our cars down to the smallest detail. We are so confident of the quality of our cars that we GUARANTEE your satisfaction with every deal!

Players Think Brooklyn Will Move to LA

BROOKLYN (AP)—A great majority of the Brooklyn players are convinced the Dodgers will move to Los Angeles, a player-by-player poll revealed today.

To avoid putting any of the players on the spot, the athletes were not asked to state whether they favored or opposed such a move but several privately voiced hope that the franchise would be shifted to the west coast.

Not one of the players polled—a little more than half the team was approached—said he thought the Dodgers would remain in Brooklyn. A few, like Pee Wee Reese, Roy Campanella and Jim Gilliam, said they just didn't know.

Sal Maglie declared he didn't particularly care whether the Dodgers went or stayed, as long as he remained with them.

Other top stars of the club, Carl Furillo, Duke Snider and Don Newcombe foresaw a shift to the west coast.

LIONS SIGN YAMAUCHI

Question of World Hockey Comes Before CAHA Today

By JIM PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP)—One of the most continuing issues in Canadian amateur hockey—the question of Canada's participation in the world hockey championships — today comes before the general sessions of the governing body of this country's amateur hockey.

The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, which decided after a lengthy series of hassles last year that Canada should send no team to the 1957 world championships in Moscow, today will consider its position for 1958.

Coupled with the question of whether to send a representative from Canada will be consideration of a bid by Whitby Dunlops, the 1956-57 Allan Cup champions, who have come to the meeting with financial backing to cover costs of a trip to the world meet at Oslo, Norway, next year.

EXPECT LENGTHY DEBATE

The Whitby bid and the CAHA's position in the issue are expected to bring lively debate to the annual meeting, which opened Saturday night and continues through Wednesday.

George Dudley of Midland, secretary-manager of the association, indicated things to come Sunday when he told a general meeting that "no more clear the air" over last year's world series mixup before tackling the 1958 subject.

The last annual meeting accepted a proposal by Mr. Dudley to attempt to link an all-star aggregation into a winning team at a cost of $75,000. The idea never developed and Canada finally did not take part, giving as the reason the tense international situation following the Hungarian revolt.

Canada competed last year in the 1956 Olympic hockey meet, which supplants the world series in Olympic years, and lost to Russia.

MINOR BUSINESS DONE

At the meeting's first open session Sunday, delegates sped through a batch of minor business and in three hours cleared the way for the more controversial subjects the world series, the report on the Memorial Cup situation and several motions concerning player strengthening for that playoff, and the CAHA's agreement with the National Hockey League.

These things, along with rule changes suggested by the province are expected to come up Tuesday.

Major piece of business enacted Sunday was the appointing of a three-man committee to start preliminary investigation into a proposed tour of Canada in 1958-59 by a Japanese hockey team.

Shinji Matsumota and Toml Ichiro Hara of the National Skating Union of Japan were given assurance that the CAHA approves of the idea in principle, but must be assured of financial backing before the tour can be laid on definitely.

CAHA president Jimmy Dunn of Winnipeg, Ed Benson of Trail, British Columbia AHA representative, and vice-president Gordon Juckes of Melville, Sask., will investigate what problems would be involved in financing such a tour.

It is estimated the tour would cost at least $36,000 for transportation and accommodations.

Many of the resolutions passed Sunday were expected to bring up to date the wording of various sections of CAHA regulations. The more significant business Sunday included:

AGAINST PACKED TEAMS

A motion by Manitoba, unanimously approved, that directs the resolutions committee to seek some plan to increase the participation in the Allan and Memorial Cup playoffs. This would permit all branch champions to participate on even terms and discourage packed teams.

The Ontario Hockey Association will be host to the 1958 CAHA annual meeting, probably at Toronto.

Rule changes approved include one that would allow a player receiving a minor penalty to return to the ice should the opposing team score a goal during his minor penalty. This was practised in professional leagues last season.

Another rule change gives the linesmen in amateur hockey power to impose misconduct penalties when a player uses profane language directed at the linesmen.

About 40 delegates from branches from the Maritimes to British Columbia are represented at the meeting.

SWIM COACH DIES

VANCOUVER (CP) — Percy Norman, 53, who trained a number of Canadian swimming entries in the Olympics, died here Sunday after a heart attack.

Considered one of Canada's best swim coaches, Norman included among his proteges, Helen Stewart and Gerry McNamee, both of Vancouver, who competed in the 1954 Olympics.

Norman also trained Canada's 1954 swimming contingent in the British Empire games at Vancouver.

Leafs Split With Royals; Bisons on Top

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The unusual see-saw International League race produced a new twist today with Buffalo Bisons back in first place while trailing second - place Richmond Virginians by a half game.

The Bisons, who have played five fewer games than the Virginians, moved back into first place Sunday by sweeping a doubleheader from Rochester Red Wings, 9-5 and 8-0, while Richmond edged Miami Sunday in the first game of a twin-bill. The second game was postponed by rain.

Buffalo, with a 20-12 won-lost record, holds a meager .001 percentage point lead over Richmond, whose record is 23-15. But in games behind, Buffalo trails Richmond by half a game.

To keep the race still more interesting, Toronto Maple Leafs made a doubleheader with Montreal Royals to remain in third place, .008 points behind Buffalo and a half game back of Richmond. Toronto, after defeating Montreal in the opener, 3-1, was set back in the nightcap, 1-0.

While the top three teams were trying to unscramble, Columbus Jets moved into fourth place by mashed tied for fifth place by splitting their doubleheader. Columbus' Jack Cassini was the star then dropped a two-hit 1-0 decision to Toronto.

Buffalo came from behind in the opener with a 15-hit attack netting 36 bases. Miller Hime gained credit for his first pitching triumph in a relief role. Hime, who entered in his third mound triumph of the season, helped his own cause with two home runs, one with the bases loaded in the abbreviated second contest.

Southpaw Jackie Collum of Montreal pitched a neat three-hitter in the seven inning nightcap for his first league victory. The Royals could manage only two hits off three Toronto pitchers but they both came in the first inning off starter and loser Niles Jordan. Bobby del Greco singled and came home on Jim Williams' double. Rocky Nelson's two-run homer in the sixth was enough for Toronto's first-game victory.

Race Pool Pays $52,795 for $2

AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico (AP) — A record payoff of $52,795.80 for $2 in the 5-10 horse racing pool Sunday went to two Los Angeles men, Manuel Guana, owner of a grocery and Porfirio Soto, a foundry worker, neighbors.

They picked five of six winners on the single ticket in the fifth through 10th races. One of the five, they said, was punched accidentally. They had selected another horse.

The previous record of $48,724.20 was collected March 31, this year, by Mrs. Manley Beach of Azusa, Calif.

Guana said he was going to use the money for a visit to his native Spain. He is a naturalized American. Soto is a native of Chihuahua Mexico

Nine ticket holders, who picked four winners, collected $1,953.40 each from the $78,216 pool, from which the track got 10 per cent.

INSIDE BASEBALL for Future Stars

By MICKEY McCONNELL
Major League Great and Sportscaster

Players advancing beyond the Little League level must learn how to lead off base.

Nowhere in baseball is balance more important than in taking a lead. If an alert pitcher catches you leaning toward second base or standing with your weight on your left foot when leading off first, his throw to the first-baseman should retire you to the dugout.

As you take a lead, be prepared to get back to the base or to break toward the next base in the shortest possible time. Don't waste motion or time by jumping up and down or making false moves. Such actions only help a good pitcher to catch you off base.

Between pitches stay on the base and don't take your lead until you are sure that the pitcher has the ball and is standing on the mound in the "set" position. Then move off the base to take your normal lead. Practice will show you how far you can lead off each base and get back to the base safely. By studying the opposing pitcher, you will discover that you can take longer leads off some pitchers than others—and that you should stay closer to first base with a left-hander pitching than when a right-hander is on the mound. Keeping your body bent forward, with knees bent and arms hanging loosely beside the knees, will give you a better chance to get a quick start.

When you take the pitcher's arm move backward as he faces the batter, you can make your break.

Kitchener Star Wins Wrestling Heavy Crown

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Bob Steckle of Kitchener, who earned the only points for Canada in wrestling competition at the Melbourne Olympics, is the 1957 Canadian heavyweight champion.

The well-built grappler, who graduated to the heavyweight division after winning the 191-pound Canadian crown a year ago, was the outstanding competitor in the two-day Canadian championships here, winning all four matches on his way to the title.

Teckie, who finished fourth in the Greco-Roman competition at the Olympics last December and earned three points for Canada, won by a decision over George Moberg of St. Catharines in the final Saturday.

New champions emerged in all eight classes as former titleholders were either defeated or moved up into heavier weight categories.

AMERICANS WIN

Two Americans won titles, Ed Erickson of Buffalo, N.Y., taking the 174-pound title on points and Bill Farrell of Brooklyn winning the 191-pound crown also on points.

Eddy Boivin of Winnipeg, who defeated Keiki Flykkanen of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., by a fall in the final, won the 114½-pound championship. Flykkanen was runner-up with Zero Holopainen of Sault Ste. Marie, third.

WINS BY A FALL

The 147½-pound title went to Matti Jutila of Sudbury who decisioned second-place Al Mitchell of Toronto in the final.

Ruby Leibovitch of Montreal won at 160½ pounds, taking a final round decision from third-place Kurt Boese of Kitchener. Bruno Ochman of Sault Ste. Marie, defending champion who represented Canada at the Olympics, was defeated by Leibovitch in the fifth round and wound up in second place.

Social Climber Wins Rich Stake Race

NEW ORK (CP) — Social Climber from the Llangollen Farm, with Willie Shoemaker turning in a masterful ride, swept into the lead in the stretch and went on to win the $116,800 California Jockey Club Derby at Inglewood, Calif., Saturday.

Shoemaker beat off the challenge of Round Table, lone three-year-old colt in the field of 12. Find was third.

Social Climber took the $70,000 winner's purse. The time for the 1 1-16 miles was 1:40 2-5 over a fast track.

At Camden, N. J., Calumet Farm's Iron Liege, hard ridden by Willie Hartack "in a stirring stretch duel with Clem, won the $62,400 Jersey Stakes in the same manner he took the Kentucky Derby, by a nose at the wire.

Iron Liege gave Calumet its second straight and third Jersey triumph. He earned $44,200 for Calumet's owner, Mrs. Gene Markey We Trust was third

Records Set at School Meet Vogelsang 2nd in 2 Events

LAKE COUCHICHING (CP)—Four records were broken and one tied Saturday in the Ontario Federation of School Athletic Association's 11th annual track and field meet.

The number might have been higher but for the poor condition of the track. Sprinters had trouble digging in because of the loose cinders.

Jim Irons of Brampton broke the mile record; Lynn McMurray of Toronto Malvern set a new high jump mark; Richard Rau of Walkerville broke the broad jump record; Denny Pierce of North Toronto set a new intermediate standard in the hop, step and jump and Stan Levenson of Toronto Forest Hill, Olympic team sprinter, tied the 100-yard dash record.

1949 RECORD GOES

Irons, 19, ran the mile in 4:34.2 to wipe out the mark of 4:25.7 set by Toronto's George Lynch in 1949.

McMurray, also 19, sailed over the bar at six feet, one-half inch to erase the record of 5-11 set in 1954 by Bill McNair of Toronto Forest Hill.

Rau leaped 22 feet, two inches in the broad jump, bettering the 1950 record performance of Kingsville's Al McCallum by a few inches.

Pierce's mark of 45 feet, 1¾ inches bettered the 1954 hop, step and jump distance of 42 feet, 7¼ inches set by Don Brown of Toronto Vaughn Road in 1954.

Levenson ran the 100 yards in 10 seconds flat, the same as his winning time last year. He shares the record with five other sprinters.

UPSET BY McKEE

Jeff Engel of Toronto Forest Hill edged Ron White of Toronto Parkdale in the relatively slow time of 10-4 in the intermediate 100-yard dash. In the 220 Engel and White were upset by Grant McKee of North Bay who turned on a strong finish to beat White to the line in 23.2 seconds

The team title went to the western district, paced by Rau who took two firsts and a second, winning the 120-yard high hurdles in 15.3 seconds and registering the second highest high jump.

The Western Ontario Secondary School Association collected 50½ points while the defending champions, Toronto district, scored 31. The Toronto Secondary Schools had 62¼ and the Central Ontario Association 27½.

In open events, Muir of Walkerton won the discus with McGibbon, Sudbury and Hendry, Peterborough, third.

Senior results included:

100 yards—2. Vogelsang, Belleville

440 yards—2. Vogelsang

Mile—3 McLeod, Orillia

Broad Jump—3. Meissner, Kitchener

Hop, step and jump—1. Meissner

Pole Vault—2. Anderson, Trenton

Intermediate results included:

100 yards—2. McCue, North Bay

880 yards—2 Gougeon, Sudbury

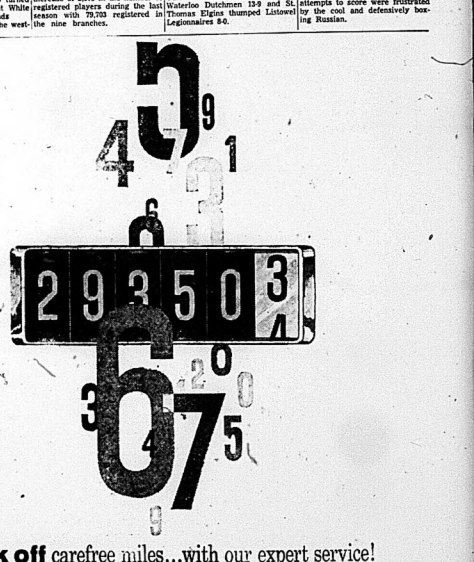
Oakville Oaks, newcomers to Intercounty baseball, picked up their second straight win as a full slate of games was played Saturday night in the six-team Senior Intercounty League.

In the Great Lakes - Niagara League the only game scheduled—Brantford at London—was postponed.



In three Intercounty games Oakville edged Guelph Plymouths 4-3, Galt Terriers beat Kitchener Waterloo Dutchmen 13-9 and St. Thomas Elgins thumped Listowel Legionnaires 8-0.

BOO OLYMPIC BOXER

PRAGUE (AP)—The European amateur boxing championships were turned into a bedlam Sunday night as 20,000 Czechoslovaks booed and hissed Russia's Olympic gold medal winner Ghennadij Shatkov.

The crowd refused to agree with the unanimous decision awarded to the Russian middleweight over Bulgaria's Georgiue Topouluv.

The audience cheered the Bulgarian underdog from the outset. Topouluv, spurred by the rousing support, kept attacking. But his attempts to score were frustrated by the cool and defensively boxing Russian.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

The science of bridge gets an awful jolt at the hands of the masters. Nothing in the rules is safe, or sacred to them. Throw a glance at world championship deal number 93 shown here:

NORTH
♠K 6 3
♥Q 9 8 3 2

WEST
♠J 10 8
♥K 7
♦K 9 4
♣A K J 10 7 5 2

EAST
♠A Q 9 7
♥6 5 4
♦J 7 2
♣Q 9 3

SOUTH
♠5 4 2
♥A J 10 7 5

It does not take more than one look to realize that clubs is the correct contract for west and east. But neither team of masters would lower themselves to play it in such a menial contract.

Room one bid it like this:

North	East	South	West
1 H	Pass	2 H	3-C
3 H	3 NT	All Pass

Opening lead from south was a spade that dummy jack held as a trick. Declarer then ran seven clubs and spade ace for the nine tricks needed to fulfill his contract.

Room two bid it like this:

North	East	South	West
1 H	Pass	1 S	2 C
Pass	2 NT	Pass	3 NT

What south meant by his one spade response is still a mystery. But it had no effect on the result. Opening lead was heart seven that east king took. Seven clubs and spade ace made the contract.

To those who decide what is right by one result this may look like good bridge. But it would look sick if south had led a diamond and north returned a heart.

This type of defence would take seven tricks so fast it would make declarer's head swim. Down would go the contract two tricks which is a fate such a gamble should expect.

Of course, exposure would have no effect on the players. All they would reply is: "Well, we made it, didn't we?"

Doctor Keeps Heart Going For 2½ Hours

LOS ANGELES (AP) — For approximately 2½ hours a surgeon massaged a woman's exposed, nonfunctioning heart with his two hands to keep partial circulation flowing to her body and brain.

Friday Mrs. Dorothy Hull, 37, sat up cheerfully in her hospital bed and said:

"I never knew I had died until they told me yesterday."

The surgeon, County Medical Association rules forbid identifying him — told reporters that he performed an operation 12 days ago to close two holes in the wall separating the upper heart chambers of Mrs. Hull.

After he had sutured both holes her heart beat wildly, without rhythm, a condition called fibrillation. The pumping function stopped.

Fatal is not corrected, the fibrillation could not be stopped in her case with electrical shocks, which sometimes bring the heart back to a normal beat. Every known drug also was given in vain.

Meanwhile, the surgeon had taken the heart in his hands and began the massage. The brain, he said, starts to "die" three minutes after the oxygen supply is cut off.

By squeezing the heart at a rate of 60 to 90 compressions a minute, he estimated, he kept about one-third the normal amount of blood going to the brain until the heart action became normal. There was no apparent damage.

AT THE McCARTHY — An artist's portrayal of an exciting battle scene from "Men in War". A United Artists release opening today at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre. Heading the infantry platoon at the machine gun are stars Robert Ryan and Aldo Ray. Robert Keith is also starred in the Sidney Harmon production.

AT THE PARK — "Fats" Domino who makes his first screen appearance in the Rock 'n Roll musical "Shake, Rattle and Rock". Also starring Touch Connors, Lisa Gaye and Sterling Holloway, an American-International Picture now at the Park Theatre. On the same program "Runaway Daughters", starring Maria English, Anna Sten, John Litel, Lance Fuller and Adele Jergens. Both features are first showings.

Cary Grant Names Women As Good Dinner Companions

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It's a cinch to declare that almost every woman in the world would love to have dinner with Cary Grant.

But who would Cary pick as dinner companions if he could make a choice of a dozen or so femmes?

A reporter posed that out-on-a-limb question to him and got some surprising answers. Cary even picked his ex-wives.

"Always on a list of this sort are my first wife, Virginia Cherrill; my second wife, Barbara Hutton, and my third and present dear wife, Betsy Drake.

"They are all fascinating women, very much so, or I wouldn't have married them."

INGRID TOPS

Among his leading ladies, Ingrid Bergman heads the list.

"I still love her, you know. And I had many a flight over her when people tried to pile all their own sins on her. It used to burn me up to hear her condemned when the same people who did the condemning had done something twice as bad the night before. She's a great actress and a great woman."

When Ingrid won an Oscar last March, she asked Cary to accept it for her. It was the closest Cary, one of the screen's all time great actors, ever got to an Academy Award.

Grace Kelly is another select dinner companion.

CO-STARS

Others on his list are two current co-stars, Deborah Kerr who just finished An Affair to Remember and a newcomer, model Suzy Parker who will co-star with him in Kiss Them for Me.

"Deborah is a very disarming girl. Very witty," says Cary. Of Suzy:

"This child is one of the world's highest-salaried fashion models. It makes something like $100,000 a year at it. She is very bright, very well-informed."

Others on the list are Broadway producer Irene Selznick, Dorothy Lillie, Janet Gaynor, Mrs. Bill Paley, wife of the CBS board chairman, and Fleur Cowles Leavers, the former wife of the publisher of Look magazine.

"One you should be included is my charming Viennese cook but we can't put her at the table if we want to have a good dinner."

CAN BE CANDID

Cary is eloquent on why he picked the women he did.

"My favorite dinner partners are not packaged by age, nor by distinction, though it is natural for each of these women to be both distinctive and successful.

"The reason I like most of these women is that all can be candid without being serious about it. In this age of hypocrisy, these women can inevitably afford to tell the truth."

At 53, Grant still is one of the fairest physical specimens both on and off the screen. Since many of his old movies have appeared on TV, he is besieged by health faddists for the secret of his Ponce de Leon formula.

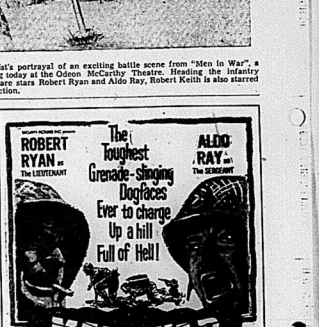
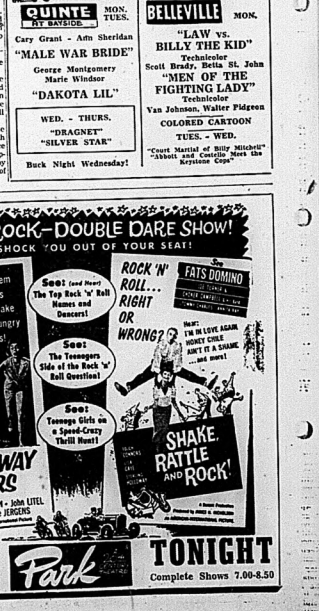
Little Benny's Notebook

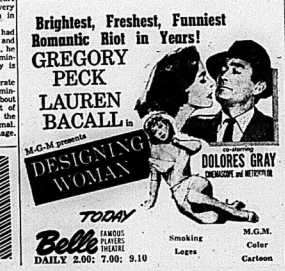


Pop and ma were waiting for Mr. and Mrs. Berdhouse to come and play bridge, and ma said, Dont look so forlorn, William, I simply had to invite them, so we will just have to suffer together in the spirrit of for better or for worse.

Especially worse, pop said. Yee gods, why do the world's 2 biggest bores have to be the world's 2 worst bridge players? It wouldn't be so bad if we didn't have to play bridge. If we simply had to talk to them I could go to sleep with my eyes open, especially if the television is termed on. Say, maybe I can do the same trick while we're playing bridge, he said, and ma said, Now William, I expect to be tortured enough without having a sleep sitter for my pardner.



There must be some way to get out of playing, pop said. Why cant we tell them we couldn't find the cards? he said, and ma said, That would be a likely story, I must say.



Then we'll say the cards were struck with some kind of a blight and all the decks are so gummy we cant possibly use them, so we'll have to settle for a nice evening of conversation, she said.

Being the happy unexpected end, and I waited to watch pop and ma get really locked asleep with his eyes open, but I had to go to bed before I could tell for sure.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

By FRANCES DRAKE

Tuesday, May 28, 1957

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Influences are more advantageous and inspiring than otherwise. However, be careful in hazardous undertakings and activities, spending. Personal affairs, new and odd inventions encouraged.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus)—A grand period in which to improve any plan or procedure; to institute progressive methods, advance your own ideas and work. Keep pace with day's needs, necessary changes. Good rays.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini)—Today, and for the balance of the month, your Mercury will be in excellent position. Ala is helpful to study, research, advertising, promoting any valuable item or commodity. Your day for new gains.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Get as much done as possible today (without rush, however), You may have to slow up some tomorrow to do more checking. Your specific work, business, personal affairs can advance now.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo)—Your influences warn against overconfidence and carelessness. However, you can accomplish a great deal through conscientious attention to your affairs.

August 24 to September 22 (Virgo)—Similar to Gemini now. Artistic matters, activities where skill, smart management and originality are essential are encouraged, favored. Be alert to needed improvements; take note of every worthwhile opportunity.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Cosy, comforting influences next today as one for advancement in sound interests. The day may not be particularly eventful but your affairs are in line for gains, benefits.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Mars, in a mildly friendly position, should heighten ambition and give you just enough aggressiveness to put things over. Calm judgment and patience will be great aids, however.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius)—A highly eventful and result-getting day, if too forcefully. Finances, sound investments, long-range plans sponsored. Hard work, artistic matters also favored.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn)—This day's influences suggest that you do not approach for favors, gains, advancement. But it is a time for mutual attainment in your daily endeavors and in activities for which you have skill, knowledge.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius)—If well-disposed to keep a soundly planned schedule, and to be exact and systematic all through the day, you can have fine returns, new privileges and benefits.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces)—Don't try to exceed the limits of your capacity or endurance but to extend yourself to get the most out of this fine day's fresh opportunities, fortuitous chances for attainment. Have faith in you!

You Born Today are keen, quick of thought and action; full of ambition, original ideas and the urge to be on the go and ready for change. You are very able; are endowed with the capacity for quick learning; have varied talents, and a generous nature. A tendency to anger from one project to another before completing the first should be strongly controlled. This restless inclination can defeat the great advancement that can be yours, but home life, too.

NOW—
complete in one policy...
added protection for you, your wife and your children!
As do most thoughtful family men, you undoubtedly have insurance on your own life. Probably, you would also like to strengthen your life insurance program with added protection on yourself, and also on your wife and children.
Metropolitan now has a new Family Plan which provides additional coverage for you and the eligible members of your immediate family with a single policy.
There are many advantages to a single policy for your whole family, including... low premium cost . . . convenience of paying one premium . . . and simplicity of keeping records.
Here are some of its features:
For you — Permanent Life insurance with the usual cash and loan values, and with the special attraction of a reduced premium guaranteed for the first five years.
For your wife — Term insurance on her life of about one-fourth the amount of your insurance under this policy . . . continuing to the time you would be 85.
For your children between the ages of 14 days and 18 years — term insurance on each child until age 25. The premium is the same regardless of the number of children, and those born after the policy comes into effect will be automatically covered.
Moreover, when each child reaches age 25, he can apply for insurance on a permanent plan up to five times the amount of his insurance without medical examination. The amount of the premium for this new insurance will depend on the type of policy then selected.
In addition, if you should die, the insurance under this policy on your wife and children would continue just as if you had lived — with no more premiums to pay.
Your Metropolitan Representative will welcome the opportunity to explain all the advantages of the new Metropolitan Family Policy and show you that Metropolitan service is as local as Main Street . . . as close as your phone

Speech Differs Sharply From Reception at Parley

Prisons Are Not Doing Jobs Congress Told

MONTREAL (CP)—An Ontario penitentiary psychiatrist says there is a "great deal of evidence" that prisons neither rehabilitate the criminal nor deter crime.

"There is general agreement that our prison systems do not do that which they are purported to do," Dr. Maurice O'Connor of Kingston told Canada's first gathering of "correctionalists"—some 350 experts on the care and rehabilitation of criminals, here for the Congress of Corrections.

Speaking as a psychiatrist, Dr. O'Connor made many of his points Monday by analyzing those outside prison, rather than the inmates themselves.

Prisons exist because of the demands of society, he said.

"We imprison him who does what we would not dare attempt to do, but we feel guilty when he does it. We insist upon his reform, but, in part to allay our own guilt.

PROTECT SELVES

"... Just as the gravedigger digs the grave, denying any anxiety towards death, so we protect ourselves from our own feelings by maintaining prisons.

"Imprisonment is said to be a deterrent to crime and a rehabilitative measure. There is no evidence that this is so. There is a great deal of evidence that this is not so."

Some people, Dr. O'Connor said, felt disquiet about prisons, others felt prisoners should be treated as sick.

"But most of us avoid the imprisoned and the prison. So, too, do we avoid the graveyard."

Other speakers during Monday's session included Mayor Sauvé of Montreal, who urged that young offenders "go straight" when released.

Mr. J. Shiner of Windsor, an official of the John Howard Society which helps ex-prisoners after they have served their sentences, spoke about the need of helping the married man to preserve his family.

"Family ties should be maintained throughout the correctional sequence," he said, "and a focal point at which any strain is placed on these family ties is in the nature of creating inefficient institutions."

Mr. Shiner said they need to be "socialistic, democratic and enriched."

Another speaker, Dr. Claude Mailhiot of the Clinique d'Aide a l'Enfance in Montreal, turned to the family in awaiting the release of a young offender. Both parents "are physically prepared," and Dr. Mailhiot suggested that institutions must help the family as well as the offender—toward that end.

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — Two students were killed and 20 others injured Sunday night when a bomb they were carrying in their car exploded in Santa Clara in Central Cuba. The dead were identified as Agustin Cisneros Urioste, 19, and Julio Pino Machado, 22, medical students at the University of Havana.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis: A high pressure area dominates the weather in most of Ontario. In Northern and Northwestern Ontario, cold air continues to pour down from the north and skies are still cloudy. Precipitation has ended, though, and slow clearing is expected in these areas today and tonight.

With clear skies and light winds, temperatures in Southern Ontario should fall to about 40 tonight, and there is a risk of scattered frost in low-lying places.

In the North, temperatures will be much the same as in the South, because cloud is expected to persist through the night, and a few widely-scattered showers are likely.

BETTER ACCIDENT CARE IS SOUGHT BY MEDICAL MEET

Improved Emergency Facilities Required

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Medical Association has urged improvement of emergency treatment for traffic accident victims and asked for further study of traffic accident prevention.

The OMA decided Monday night to encourage greater interest and concern among doctors for improvement of emergency treatment of traffic victims and also voted to encourage hospitals to improve emergency departments.

The group's annual meeting shelved a resolution which would have asked that Ontario drivers sign a form agreeing to a medical or psychiatric examination if ordered and a test for possible alcoholic consumption if arrested while possibly impaired.

It was felt that a report of the proposed research group should be heard before approval of the resolution.

Dr. Murray Douglas of Windsor, president for 1956-57, will become president Wednesday night. Dr. Lorne Whitaker of St. Thomas was chosen president-elect for 1957-58.

Awards presented life memberships for outstanding service to the profession were Dr. D. G. Irwin, St. Thomas; Dr. D. Dingwall, Dryden, and Dr. A. J. Tallon, Cornwall.

Find Canadians Worrying More About Health

TORONTO (CP) — A medical services researcher says Canadians are worrying more about health, though they are more prosperous and enjoying more leisure.

Dr. W. Harding LeRiche of Physicians' Services Inc. told the Canadian and Ontario Public Health Associations Monday it is significant that the trend has increased among PSI subscribers since 1947, but people are demanding more care.

"Whether the additional lectrocardiograms, ballpoint pens and electrocortin demonstrations are going to improve the well-being of the Canadian people is very much a matter of personal opinion," he said.

"But if people want these services and can pay for them, then they should be provided."

If this situation were found in other areas the plan it would be a different story, however, said Dr. LeRiche.

"REAL DANGER"

Then there would be "the very real danger that the medical profession would be crucified, in that excessive demands would be made upon it without an increase in their income.

"This has happened in the United Kingdom and it could certainly happen here."

Crash Kills Man, Infant Daughter Only Scratched

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) — Walter Rinks, 35, of St. David's was killed Monday night in a head-on way crash which didn't leave a scratch on his infant daughter travelling with him.

Garage operator Mike Brotz said he saw the car driven by the man crash into a house on Portage Road, about two miles north of here. He took the girl, about 18 months old, "from the wreckage" and left her in the care of Mr. and Mrs. James McGregor who live next door.

A doctor said the infant suffered only shock.

Hector the Frog Awaits Credentials Before Going to New Home in States

SUDBURY (CP) — "Friday it was a bullfrog—today it's flies," muttered Bill Lake, secretary-manager of the Sudbury Chamber of Commerce as he loaded through his morning requisition file.

The bullfrog is named Hector and if the United States government approves he likely will become unofficial Canadian ambassador to West Seneca, N.Y. He got the job by qualifying as large, lively and with a deep voice as specified by the order which issued an appeal Friday for a bullfrog.

The bullfrog was requested by a New York State woman who wanted one to be placed in a restaurant at her garden lily pond. The flies and insect menace en route if he qualifies for the job.

Hector was placed on Lake's desk Monday. He doesn't know yet whether or not it croaks bass feel he's hopeful. It has two muscles which might have been the envy of Enrico Caruso.

"It doesn't matter what these flies sound like," Lake says, "but like the frog they must be lively and juicy. This frog is likely to go abroad and we're going to make sure that it travels first class."

The bullfrog season doesn't open in Ontario until July 1, but the department of lands and forests has granted Lake special permission to ship the amphibian "out of season" in view of the fact that it is ultimately owned by frog from a privately-owned pool."

It all started when an unnamed West Seneca frog fancier wrote the chamber here asking for help in obtaining a bullfrog. He explained that the frog would be assigned to a comfortable lily pond where his only duties would be to remain large, living and lively and croak for his supper.

The letter said the woman had promised a friend to get the frog "almost a year ago, and it's no longer a joke." To prove the request was no joke, she offered to pay for a suitable frog.

Lake stressed this when he published his appeal Friday. "Remember, this lady is prepared to pay. It might be worthwhile," the notice said, that did it.

PINT-SIZED BOY SAVES PLAYMATE

David Norton, centre, has always been kidded by his friends for his small size. He's 4 years old and weighs only 60 pounds. But when Bruce Moore, left, age 10 and weighing 119, was drowning in one of the old locks of the Welland canal at Port Dalhousie, David swam 30 yards to drag him to shore, catching him after the younger boy had gone under several times. The boys were fishing with Bill Gill, right, when Bruce, a polio sufferer, decided to wade out to retrieve fishing tackle. Bill tried first to reach Bruce but failed.

St. Laurent, Diefenbaker Continue Long Range Barbs

BY CP STAFF WRITER

Prime Minister St. Laurent drew his biggest and liveliest crowd. John Diefenbaker had a happy homecoming. For Mr. J. Clouthier and Solon Low it was more election roadwork.

More than 4,500 persons packed Ottawa's Coliseum in Landsdowne Park Monday night to hear the prime minister concentrate his fire on Progressive Conservative Leader Diefenbaker. It was the Liberal leader's biggest gathering so far in his campaign for the June 10 election. It didn't lack for enthusiasm. But his entrance was greeted with songs and a tremendous cheer.

Mr. Diefenbaker, who also was welcomed to his home constituency of Prince Albert, Sask., with tre-mendous music and cheers. Earlier, in Saskatoon, he said the cost of implementing Conservative policy would not be more than a fifth of the price set on it by the Liberals.

In a radio speech from Winnipeg, CCF Leader Coldwell likened his party to the tail that has dragged the dog with its influence over the years in getting reluctant governments to establish progressive legislation. At a dinner meeting in the Manitoba city, he also advocated an immigration policy that would be an integral part of planned development of the country.

Mr. St. Laurent referred to Mr. Diefenbaker's charge that Mr. St. Laurent is holding out a "carrot" to federal employees by refusing to grant a civil service salary increase before the election. That was not so. We never party formed the next government would not grant the raise. Federal employees were paid salaries equivalent to those in private industry. And, he added, "imagine the outcry of our political opponents if these salary increases had been announced before the election."

At a Saskatoon press conference Mr. Diefenbaker said the salaries should be raised now. His party would not criticize such a move.

Mr. St. Laurent said the civil service pay increases in prospect after the election would absorb a large part of the expected $150,000,000 federal surplus for 1957-58. He concluded from this there wouldn't be enough money left over to cover Mr. Diefenbaker's promises to Conservative Premier Frost of Ontario, who apparently thought he could get another $100,000,000 or so annually—without general, universal tax-sharing arrangements, under a Diefenbaker government.

In Saskatoon, Mr. Diefenbaker said Liberal spokesmen are claiming it would cost $1,500,000,000 to carry out Conservative promises. But at most it would not cost more than $300,000,000. In addition the government would carry out its promises and budget for them "and still do it on a balanced budget."

AMBASSADOR DIES

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (Reuters) — Sir Reginald Keith Johnston, British ambassador to Uruguay, died of a heart attack in the British hospital Monday. The ambassador underwent an operation last Friday.

Small A-Bomb's Unearthly Glow Lights Desert

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP)—The United States exploded a brilliant atomic device into the desert darkness today, opening its summer series of Nevada tests as preparatory talks proceeded in London.

The 10-kiloton device flared an unearthly light over the test center. A tremendous mushroom cloud erupted into the pre-dawn sky. Shot time was 4:55 a.m. PDT (7:55 a.m. EDT).

The explosion was small compared with other tests carried out here during the five years the area has been tested atomic weapons on the Nevada desert.

The 10-kiloton power of today's device is equal to the energy of 10,000 tons of TNT. This is about half the explosive force of the bombs which destroyed the Japanese cities of Hiroshima and Nagasaki. Bombs of more than 20 kilotons have been tested here.

As the blast went off from afar, a 500-foot tower at Yucca Flat, 70 miles northwest of Las Vegas, an aircraft streaked into the radio-active field to photograph the mushroom cloud and to track the path as the light wind carried it away.

In observation posts ringing the test site were 200 military personnel. The test was witnessed by reporters from a site 11 miles away.

This explosion, delayed since May 15 by adverse weather conditions, was intended to provide the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission with information on radiation measurements, flash effects and fall-out.

The entire series, which will continue until June 1, will include more than 15 shots.

Carleton Holds Lively Debate

OTTAWA (CP) — Carleton constituency held its traditional federal election "controversy" Monday and the Liberal and Progressive Conservative candidates were on the platform and let them rip.

The meeting, held on nomination day every election since 1867 as far as anyone can remember, puts candidates from all parties before their constituents and lets them rip.

Monday's affair in the Conservative stronghold opened sedately with Liberal Frank Dunlop, Stewart Crawford, CCF, and Eric K. Fallis, Social Credit.

But as the competitive spirits flowed, the 125 spectators in the local high school gymnasium were soon also ripping, their mingled cheers and catcalls promising a continuation of the "controversy" tradition.

868 CANDIDATES NOMINATED TO FIGHT ELECTION

Many Independents Entered in Quebec

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

The formalities of nominations over, 868 candidates today entered the last two weeks of campaigning for the June 10 federal election.

Apart from a last-day flurry of entries by Independent candidates in Quebec, there were no surprises when nominations were completed Monday in 242 of Canada's 263 constituencies.

Candidates in 21 other scattered ridings had paid their $200 deposits but papers were not filed. Acclamations had pro duced the only apparent acclamation, for C. W. Carter, Progressive Liberal member for Burin-Burgeo in Newfoundland.

At least two candidates were named for every other constituency. In the 1953 general election, when 898 candidates were named, there were 31 nomination day acclamations but two Quebec seats were won by the Liberals without a vote when their opponents withdrew before election day.

The total number of seats at stake June 10 is 265, with the election of Prince Edward Queens, in Prince Edward Island, having votes for two candidates.

When Parliament was dissolved April 12 the Liberals held 168 seats, Conservatives 49, Independents 50, CCF 22, Social Credit 15 and Independents three. There were two vacancies.

Standing after the Aug. 10, 1953 election was Liberals 171, Progressive Conservatives 51, CCF 23, Social Credit 15, Independents 5.

The Liberals, with support from Liberal-Labor William M. Stenedickson in Kenora-Rainy River, have a full slate of 265 candidates, as they had in the last election.

The Progressive Conservatives have 257 compared with 247.

The CCF total has fallen off slightly to 162 from 166, while Social Credit has increased to 116 from 71. Social Credit entered 40 candidates in the province of Quebec of its candidates sought election unsuccessfully in 1953.

Major Floods Subside in U.S.

DALLAS (AP) — Cloudbursts dumped up to eight inches of rain on scattered parts of Texas Monday, but the flood threat appeared to be subsiding in many sections of the United States, forecasters said.

Thousands of persons remained homeless, however, in Arkansas as rivers and streams continued to overflow or receded slowly from earlier torrential rains.

Some of the 2,100 persons driven by the flooding Trinity River in Dallas hoped to return to their homes Tuesday. But Fort Worth, where 4,000 fled the surging river during the weekend, got better news breeding in all areas although the flood victims were told they would be free to return only to their homes before the end of the week.

Principal Defendants Acquitted In Italian 'Party Doll' Hearing

Presiding Judge Mario Thei and two lay judges delivered the not no jury—acquitted Piero Piccioni, son of the leader of a Christian Democratic party group in parliament, of causing 21-year-old Wilma Montesi's death by leaving her unconscious on a beach near Rome in April, 1953.

The court also acquitted Sicilian playboy Ugo Montagna, and the police chief, Saverio Polito, of being accessories after the fact.

All but one of the other persons accused of giving false evidence during the 19-month investigation were found not guilty. The trial lasted four months.

Adriana Bisaccia, a southern Italian girl who went to Rome in search of a movie career, was found guilty of falsely telling the examining magistrate she was kidnapped by drug peddlers connected with the Montesi affair. She was given a suspended sentence of 10 months in jail.

The court ruled that the crime of attempting to hush up the affair — alleged against Montagna and Polito—"did not exist."

The case started as a report of the "accidental drowning" of Wilma Montesi whose body was found on a lonely stretch of beach. It said she had been drowned and Polito, then Rome's police chief, said death was accidental.

Rumors started circulating that the Roman beauty had been slowed a drug-and-sex party run by Montagna and that persons involved in the affair were then given cover up a scandal. The scandal mushroomed into a major trial that opened Jan. 21.

Dozens of witnesses testified. Some told of wild drug-and-sex parties in the nude, licentious bathing and boating parties. Some witnesses seemed to have their own personal axes to grind.

Even public prosecutor Cesare Palmintieri admitted some of his witnesses "indulged in fantasies" and in his summing up he asked for acquittal for the main accused.

Canadian Slays Dance Instructor In California

London Athlete Admits Bludgeoning Sleeping Niece

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP)—An impassive Canadian who was quoted as saying he "felt no emotion at all" was held today as charges were prepared in the claw-hammer slaying of a pretty dancing instructor 19 years his junior.

Police said Clare Van Horne, 46, of London, Ont., walked into a San Francisco police station Monday with blood on his hands and coat and admitted he had bludgeoned Mrs. Nancy McLennan, 27, as she slept at the home of her mother in nearby Menlo Park.

The slightly-built Canadian, they said, contended "She was my girl friend up to four years ago in Canada but her mother objected and I got burned over it. We used to go together but then she came to visit . . . I sent letters and she didn't answer." He also said he "wouldn't have anything to do with me" because of "some spiritualist church she was going to."

MOTHER OF TWO

Mrs. McLennan, shapely mother of two small daughters, arrived in Menlo Park in November and lived with her mother and step-father, Mr. and Mrs. William Van Horne. The California Van Horne is the Canadian's brother.

Van Horne followed her to Menlo Park Friday and George Potter, the San Francisco suburb's police chief, said there had been sharp tension in the family and that Mrs. McLennan had been trying to avoid Van Horne.

She had gone to Lake Tahoe with friends Saturday and, upon returning at 11 p.m. Sunday, refused to talk to Van Horne—going straight to her bedroom.

Her sister remained in the living room and sat brooding in front of a television set, he was quoted as telling police later.

SAW OUTSIDE DOOR

Early Monday morning, after Mrs. and Mrs. William Van Horne had left for work, Mrs. McLennan's half - sister, Wendy Van Horne, 9, saw Clare standing in the hall outside Nancy's bedroom. She said Van Horne asked her:

"Why doesn't Nancy talk to me."

"Because she doesn't want to," the girl replied.

Wendy said she went then to the bathroom. She said she came out and Van Horne was leaving the bedroom, his hands and coat dripping blood.

'Troubled Souls' Of New York Ask Aid From Graham

NEW YORK (AP) — "Troubled souls" of New York City—eight-club dancers, stage actors and desk-chained career men — are trekking out evangelist Billy Graham these days to bare their tales of frustration.

"They're sick inside," Graham says.

They catch him at many times, at many places, and they grab his arm and start pouring out their stories. He has found them waiting outside his hotel room, or they snag him in a lobby or corridor.

Graham insists their names be kept confidential, but will describe their plights in a general way. Here are a few:

1. A bartender was held up, tied and blindfolded to death if he moved. While he lay there, frightened, a noon radio program told of "Morning Bible Hour" Graham is conducting in a Times Square auditorium. The bartender showed up there next morning and "accepted Christ as his saviour."

TALKED OUT OF MURDER

2. A calypso dancer, in the middle of the night, called the Graham office and "said she was going to murder her husband. She was persuaded to change her plans, and ended up promising to go to Graham's meeting the next night.

3. A blonde stage star, in a current production, stopped Graham in a Madison Square Garden hallway, pleading for guidance. She is a recording star, Graham said after his talk with her she "found Christ" that night, and "was good strength."

At the end of the service in Madison Square Garden Monday night, 529 persons came forward in response to Graham's plea to "commit and surrender self" to Christ. This raised the total of such decisions to 8,624 in 11 nights of his New York crusade.

Police Blotter

City police Inspector Clair Hayes and Acting-Detective Jack Kent yesterday brought 35-year-old Bruce Saunders to Belleville from the Kingston Penitentiary to stand trial for the armed robbery of Brown's Bread here last May.

Saunders is currently serving eight years in the penitentiary for robbery. Last year at Sarnia he was arrested by then an O.P.P. officer, commandeered the patrol car and forced the policeman to take him to the Canadian-U.S. border.

To stand trial with Saunders is George Coy, also serving time at Kingston for robbery, who was brought to Belleville a few weeks ago.

No date has been set for their appearance before Magistrate W. Y. Wills.

Last May the two are alleged to have entered the Brown's bread Co. in Belleville, tied and bound the manager, Louis Rump, Jr., made off with $4,000.

This morning 18-year-old Thomas Edward Deline, Belleville, was remanded for one week in custody by the magistrate for further investigation of four charges of car theft and one breaking, entering and theft.

Deline is alleged to have stolen three cars from Belleville (the latest, a 1957 model, last night from a garage) and one from Middleton Park near Trenton. He is also alleged to have broken into and stolen from a business in Stirling.

Outlines Program Of Laboratory To Rotarians

Guest speaker at the Rotary Club yesterday was Dr. Stanley A. Chant of the Entomological Laboratory, Belleville, who outlined the various programs currently underway at the large research laboratory.

He claimed that insects annually cause more monetary damage to Canadian forests than fires. Because Canadian forests are plagued with so many pernicious insects, there are laboratories set up across Canada to study them and to introduce other predacious insects that will kill the tree destroyers.

At the Belleville laboratory one of the full-time jobs that has been underway for some time is that of trying to discover a chemical solution that will appease the appetites of the insects under study and wipe out the necessity of having to breed millions of other insects and worms that must be bred as a present.

Dr. Chant pointed out that the laboratory is short a number of summer employees and told the Rotarians that if they knew of any high school student who would like an interesting summer job to drop in at the Entomological Laboratory on Dundas St., E.

He was introduced by Bob Tanner and thanked by Freeman Burrows.

Carlings's "Man of the Year" in Trenton last night. He received numerous gifts and messages of congratulations. Shown with him holding engraved silver tray and plaque presented to him are Bob Graham of Ottawa, district sales manager (left), and Ross Bellamy, president, Col. C. O. Dalton of Toronto.

VINCINNES, Ind. (AP)—Police today sought a "gunman" about 19 years old for a daylight holdup in downtown Vincennes. Eight-year-old Steven Sinnett of Bicknell, Ind., said a boy about 19 armed with a BB gun robbed him as he sat in his dad's car. The loot was a Mickey Mouse wrist watch.

Deseronto Bail Procedure Common, Legal

TORONTO (CP) — Assistant Commissioner Fred Clarke, chief of the Ontario Provincial Police criminal investigation branch, told common practice for OPP officers to collect cash equivalent to a fine before shopping a habitual motorist.

Mr. Clarke said the practice of collecting the money as bail money to insure appearance in court is legal. He was questioned by Commissioner Act.

Mr. Clarke commented on case of a man who recently complained that he was stopped by police in Deseronto, near Belleville and relieved of the money he might have had if he were convicted in court.

Officials of the attorney - general's department said the fine—no-legal—is really bail money. The complaining officer sets it in each case according to the standard fine for the offence, and a bail form signed by the motorists provides that the money may be sent to pay his fine if he fails to appear in court.

Refuses to Open Frankford Dam To Recover Body

TRENTON (CP) — Wentforth Miller, manager of a paper mill at Frankford, Ont., today refused the pleas of Frankford Police Chief Ed McCeachy to open a dam on the Trent River to recover the body of 40 - year - old Charles Niles of Belleville.

Niles drowned Thursday when he fell off a gangway and was sucked into a whirlpool while his wife watched helplessly.

Miller said Monday he won't open the dam for anything. "It would close down the mill all day," he added.

Police said it will be "almost impossible" to recover the body unless the water level above the dam is lowered by 6 feet or more.

Chief McCeachy said "the factory was closed down yesterday and we sent the police over to get labor necessary."

"It would have cost Mr. Miller a cent," he said, "but he demanded $200. The family didn't have $200 so there was nothing we could do."

Mr. Miller later confirmed that he refused to open the dam, but denied having demanded $200 to do so. He said he mentioned the figure of $200 as an estimate of what it would have cost if it were opened.

IN MEMORIAMS

DUDLEY. — In loving memory of my dear husband, James Dudley, who passed away May 28, 1956. In memory I gently keep, Where I pass I shed fresh tears.
Love's dear and loving memory.
The husband I couldn't save.
He bade no one a last farewell,
He said goodbye to none.
He quietly left us, I knew,
He'd gone when life was done.
At night the silent stars look down,
And see a grave and a heart,
Where sleeps the one I can't forget
The one I shall never part.
—Lovingly remembered by his wife Ethel.

DUDLEY. — In loving memory of our dear father and grandfather, James Dudley, who passed away May 28, 1956.
Memory is your grave we often stand,
Memory is the flowers we lay on hand,
But in the gloom the sweet word remains,
"Rest in peace."
"Rest in" not "gone before"
God knows how much we miss you,
He counts the tears we shed,
And whispers "He only sleeps,
Your loved one is not dead."
We'll be together by and by,
And pray to God each day,
To meet Him there, to meet Him in you,
Your smile will guide the way.
—Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by daughter Thelma, son-in-law Harry, grandchildren Ruth and Sandra.

Rank of Lieut. In Fire Dept. Is Discontinued

The Belleville Fire Department will no longer have the rank of lieutenant in its staff, of officers as has been decided by city council.

At last night's council meeting, members approved of a motion calling for the establishment of officers in the fire department to be one chief, a deputy chief and four captains in the four platoons.

Alderman Les Digby in speaking to the recommendation noted that the rank of lieutenant was being done away with and generally in fire departments across the country.

He said the move would not increase the fire department budget and would result in a saving over a period of years because there would be fewer officers.

Alderman Ralph Graham wanted assurance that the officers staff suggested in the recommendation would be all the officers in the department adding "I would gladly vote for it." he said.

He pointed out that under the previous recommendation the officers would be called to do the work they've done by other men.

"Either we are being led up the garden path or the fire department was in worse shape in the past," he said.

Alderman Doug Moxam noted the procedure was quite in order across the province, while Ald. Ben Ketcham said he would go along with the recommendation of the Treasurer.

On a recorded vote the motion passed 11-3 with only Ald. Graham, Stock and Whalen dissenting.

Council Allows Commission to Prepare Plans

City council last night authorized the Belleville Recreation Commission to spend up to $1,000 for plans and specifications to renovate the concrete building on the Pinnacle street municipal parking lot which is desired by the commission as a recreational headquarters.

The motion to allow spending up to $1,000 was passed unanimously by council after a recommendation from Ald. C. D. Tice was presented asking for a resolution on the part of council as to whether the building was to be made available to the commission. Ald. Tice's motion was tabled pending investigation and observation.

In speaking to the motion Ald. Tice said a member of the recreation commission said cost of renovations would amount to slightly over $20,000.

"What the commission wants to know is whether the building is to be turned over to the commission," he said.

Council passed a recommendation calling for the city to enter into a civil defence unit with the town of Trenton and the county of Hastings and that the solicitor to prepare the necessary by-law.

Ald. R. Temple in speaking to the motion noted that the Belleville area had been designated as a reception area in the event of an attack. "Traffic control, policing, feeding and other problems could be best considered on an area basis," he said.

AMENDMENT DEFEATED

Ald. Digby felt Prince Edward county should also be included in the area but an amendment to defer the recommendation until this could be arranged was defeated.

Aldermen Moxam and Moxam also asked deferment for a traffic recommendation calling for the establishment of a rush-hour route on Front street immediately to the south of the Upper Bridge. He said some of the store owners in the area were not aware that a by-law restricting parking in this area was about to be brought in.

Ald. Digby said he was hearing in accord with rush hour routes but said there must be a sawoff somewhere in no parking regulations. He suggested the matter be deferred until off street parking was made available.

On a recorded vote the motion to grant the by-law was carried by a 10-5 vote with Ald. Digby, Moxam, McCabe, Temple and Tice dissenting.

Council voted to pay the $400 membership fee in the Lake Ontario Development Association and to turn the balance over to industrial commission budget allocated for this year in the treasurer of the commission.

An amount of $2,000 allocated in the budget for salary of a commissioner of streets and sewers, will be used to construct badly deteriorated "Defosse sidewalks" in the city.

And no action will be taken on a recommendation to establish a parking zone on the north side of East Bridge street, between Front street and the lower bridge.

Time Runs Out While City Council Still Debates Motion to Terminate Contract of City Manager D. Herring

Although council hotly discussed the pros and cons of the question for over two hours, a motion calling for the termination of the contract of city manager Dennis Herring never did get around to the voting stage at Monday night's session of council.

With the matter still under discussion, time ran out and the meeting was automatically adjourned at 11 o'clock with Alderman C. L. Hyde having the floor and according to his own admission "prepared to talk" until time did run out.

The motion calling for the termination of the city manager's contract with the city, presented by Alderman Don Whalen and second by Ald. Robertson Collins, provoked one of the hottest debates seen in city council in recent years with councillors battling right down the line.

DOZEN VOTES TAKEN

At least a dozen recorded votes were taken on points of order and on an amendment to the original motion, which called for city treasurer Drury S. Denyes to be appointed acting city manager and to carry on with his present duties and at the same salary which he is now receiving.

Eventually the original motion was amended with respect to the appointing of Mr. Denyes as acting city manager and the way was cleared for debate on the amended motion.

It was then that time ran out.

The city hall council chamber had been filled to capacity with a big delegation of interested citizens awaiting action on Alderman Whalen's motion.

Two weeks ago Alderman Whalen had brought in a notice of motion to the effect that he would recommend to council that the contract of the city manager be terminated but in presenting his motion last night he said he "didn't like to say."

PETITION PRESENTED

Earlier in the meeting council members were startled by Arthur Cole as spokesman for over 360 persons who had signed a petition protesting favor with a city manager form of municipal government.

Mr. Cole had no brief for Mr. Herring and suggested the petition calling for termination of his contract with the city was the result of personal animosities on the part of certain council members. He called for British fair play, declaring that Mr. Herring "had not been given a fair chance."

Harry Burshaw, president of the local labor council, also addressed council stating that his organization had fought for years for the right of an individual for a chance to prove his ability. He asked that the motion calling for the termination of Mr. Herring "had not been given a fair chance."

MAYOR VACATES CHAIR

As Ald. Whalen introduced his motion Mayor Jane Forsyth was asked Alderman R. Graham to take the chair noting that she would be taking part in the debate.

Before taking the chair, however, Ald. Graham introduced his amendment to Ald. Whalen's motion calling for Drury Denyes to be named acting city manager.

In speaking to his motion Ald. Whalen said that the main issue was the salary being paid to Mr. Herring.

"In a few days Mr. Herring's salary will be $12,000 per year that is $50 per working day" he said.

He said that there was unrest and confusion at city hall. "Yes, and I know why," he added.

"We have been called discourteous because we do not agree with a certain individual."

He said it had not taken him five months as an alderman to find out that something was wrong at city hall and at the same time he asserted that five months was long enough for Mr. Herring to show what he could do.

MAYOR QUESTIONS AMENDMENT

Mayor Forsyth rose to a point of order claiming that the amendment to the motion calling for Mr. Denyes to be named acting city manager, was out of order.

From the Mayor's chair, Ald. Graham ruled the amendment in order whereupon Mayor Forsyter appealed to council. On a 9-6 recorded vote council agreed the amendment was in order.

Then speaking in opposition to the motion Mayor Forrester said the motion asked the city to repudiate its contract with Mr. Herring which, she said, had been made in good faith.

"The motion is a direct attack upon an individual," she said.

Mayor Forrester declared that the 1956 council had felt itself fortunate in securing a person with Mr. Herring's qualifications and integrity as city manager and she had received many compliments for council's action.

OUTLINES QUALIFICATIONS

She outlined Mr. Herring's qualifications as a professional engineer and experience in positions applicable to municipal work.

"Are we to hurriedly disregard all this?" she asked.

Continuing she later noted that the 1956 council voted 11-3 with one absent last May 6th in favor of hiring Mr. Herring. Council was still a party to that contract and was morally obligated, she said.

"Are we to be known as a city which is fair and which cannot make up its mind?" she asked.

Declaring that the motion suggested dereliction of duty Mayor Forrester asked if the mover of the motion had any such information.

SHOWED QUIET EFFICIENCY

She said Mr. Herring had shown quiet efficiency in the manner in which he had carried out his duties in relation to salary negotiations with local firemen and with the public works guild; in his hiring of a fire chief; in action at the city hall and to his work in preparation for annexation proceedings.

In many instances recommendations of the city manager had been accepted by council, she said.

The motion was designed to oust a city official at any cost," she said.

She went on to say that the motion implies a misunderstanding, and, if so, there must be an investigation followed by a report to council. This, she said, was the very quintessence of British justice.

"Let's not go off half cock-ed," she said, comparing the proposed action to a "kangaroo court."

PROPOSES COMMITTEE

Alderman Gerald Hyde proposed the appointment to refer the matter to a special investigating committee which would be required to hear allegations and justification from Mr. Herring and to make a written report to council.

"It is most unfair that an employee be dismissed without fair hearing," he said.

Mr. Herring had his opportunity to speak to council at a committee of the whole," noted Ald. Ben Safe. "Instead he spoke to a service club criticizing council."

"Reasons for dismissal should be given," interposed Ald. C. D. Hyde.

The amendment calling for an investigation committee was lost 5-6 on a recorded vote. Supporting the amendment were Mayor Forrester and Aldermen Digby, Grandame, C. L. Hyde, G. B. Hyde and Dr. J. Stock.

Alderman Frank Grandame said the original motion had apparently been presented with little thought which surprised him in view of the fact Alderman Whalen was a successful businessman.

DEFENDS SALLARY FIGURE

Calling for council to be "realistic and fair" Ald. Grandame said Mr. Herring's salary of $12,000 commencing with his second year in Belleville was apparently the bone of contention. He felt, however, that Mr. Herring was capable and would more than save his own salary.

"Council feels the man should be expert in every field — I have still to meet that man," he said.

"After witnessing what we have seen tonight there is little use to say anything," remarked Ald. Stock. "There is a group of city councillors opposed to this matter tonight."

He pointed out that council in its wisdom last year had decided to give the city manager system of government a fair trial.

"Now after only five months in council Ald. Whalen comes in and says that the 1956 council was all wet."

Referring to a previous statement of Ald. Whalen's of a secret society among the citizenry, Ald. Stock declared the secret society was right in council.

CHARGES POLITICS INVOLVED

"Politics has reared its ugly head in council since it has no right to be," he said.

"There have been no charges of any kind against Mr. Herring," he asserted.

Ald. Ben Safe termed it an "issue," not a "pleasure," to belong to council. With that honor he said he had accepted duties and duty to vote as was seen fit.

He said the issue was not city manager form of government.

Ald. Safe said he was not primarily concerned with the amount of salary being paid Mr. Herring although he compared his salary with that received by men in comparable positions in other centres.

At Peterborough the clerk-ce. ceived $8,100; at Woodstock the city manage received $9,000 and at Niagara Falls the city manager-engineer received $9,200.

"There is no repudiation of council's action in entering the contract," he said. "I feel that the 1956 council is in lack of duty to handle the wrong choice."

SAYS EXPERIENCE LACKING

There were no charges against Mr. Herring, Ald. Safe charged, nor not needed. There was only lack of municipal experience. Mr. Herring's directors stepped up "we were asked to get experienced men."

"I feel we are not getting value for our money — the city manager form of government with experience might be fine."

Neither was Ald. Safe impressed with degrees. "I would rather have an engineer with experience from a town such as Napanee or Picton," he said.

Ald. Les. Digby outlined four reasons which might have motivated the motion calling for dismissal of Mr. Herring's contract.

Reasons were: 1, opposition to the city manager form of government; 2, something against the city manager, 3, amount of his salary; and 4, personal reasons and vindictiveness.

He called for Mr. Herring to be given a fair chance and for council to get behind its city hall staff.

AGREES WITH MAYOR

Ald. C. L. Hyde agreed with all Mayor Forrester had said. "If Mr. Herring had the co-operation of council he would render efficient service to the city," he said.

Referring to the comparative silence of those favoring the motion, Ald. G. B. Hyde said the strategy apparently was to sit back and say nothing. He scouted certain other members of council of making the bombs before the Ald. Whalen.

Ald. Hyde referred to his own pre-election forecast last year that it would require considerable time and require the active support of council and the passive support of the people before results could be expected from the city manager form of government.

He said the majority of council was privately still in favor of the city manager form of government "but who would have thought here now in view of what has happened?" he asked.

SAYS COSTS DOUBLED

Alderman Robertson Collins referred to what he called a business men's meeting a few months ago in administrative costs at city hall in the city manager form of government.

Two years ago the cost of the clerk's office was between $10,000 and $11,000 per year but the cost of the city manager's office and that of the clerk's office was over $24,000.

"If we can afford to double council administrative costs and not showing a saving, then something is definitely wrong," he said.

When on question from the chair it appeared there would be no further discussion, Mayor Forrester rose and said that in view of the late hour and that the question all councillors should speak, especially last year's council.

"The chair cannot force any member to speak," commented Ald. Graham.

However, Ald. Wm. Argue responded to the mayor's request noting that he had approved of having a manager form of government "because I thought it would lead to efficiency and economy."

SAYS AMPLE TIME GIVEN

"I cringe when I hear comments about politics; lack of charges and repudiation of contract. I feel that there has been no charges and noted that Mr. Herring had now been in the city a year, which in fact was ample time to show results.

He didn't approve of the way Mr. Herring was receiving and expressed grave doubt that the way the city manager form of government was operating it would ever work in Belleville.

Ald. C. D. Tice said this was the hardest decision he had been called on to make in 12 years in council. He denied making bombs for another member to throw or that he was playing politics in his support of the motion.

OPPOSES SYSTEM

He said he had been opposed to the city manager form of government, feeling that a clerk-comptroller was sufficient. He felt $12,000 salary but when he saw the majority of council was in favor he felt "I'd go along".

"I am now sorry that I did," he said.

He said that"In his opinion Mr. Herring was the wrong attitude when he had declined the suggestion that the advice of committees might prove valuable to him as city manager. He felt the loyalty of the city manager had been that "I can not serve two masters."

He also thought Mr. Herring had been wrong in discussing the notice of motion in the press before the matter was officially before council.

QUESTIONS AMENDMENT

When the vote on the amendment to the original motion calling for Drury Denyes to be named acting city manager was called Ald. C. L. Hyde rose to a point of order claiming the amendment was improper.

Chairman Ald. Graham ruled otherwise an appeal was made to council. Council upheld the ruling of the chair on a 9-5 vote with Ald. Graham exercising his privilege of not voting. Voting nay on the point of order were Aldermen Argue, Collins, Moxam, McCabe, Safe, Stock, Temple, Tice and Whalen.

Still fighting right down the line to prevent the motion being voted on, Ald. G. B. Hyde claimed the amendment was new matter and as result called for a two thirds vote.

DENIED BY CHAIR

This also was denied by the chair and there was still another appeal to council. Again council voted 9-5 in favor of the ruling of the chair.

"This is a ganging up, ardly declared Mayor Forrester as she rose to her feet in defence to the appeal.

"I object to that," returned the chair.

Ald. Grandame raised the question of whether Mr. Herring should be allowed to address council. The chair ruled that Mr. Herring should not speak unless council so desired.

"The idea," objected Mayor Forrester, "The idea of a man not being allowed to speak."

Then with council agreeing for the city manager to speak Mr. Herring asked for a show of British justice and for reasons to be given for council's inferences in the motion calling for termination of his contract and the reasons being given he asked for the opportunity to study the reasons and make his reply to council.

With the clock nearing time Ald. Graham moved a motion to extend the time was lost when it failed to receive the necessary two-thirds majority.

AMENDMENT CARRIES

Then debate was carried out on the amendment calling for Drury Denyes to be named city manager and the amendment carried 10-5. Approving were Ald. Argue, Collins, Graham, Moxam, McCabe, Safe, Stock, Temple, Tice and Whalen. Opposing were Ald. Digby, Grandame, C. L. Hyde and G. B. Hyde.

The amended motion was then ruled open for debate with Ald. Graham appealing the decision Council upheld the ruling of the chair with only minutes before the time for adjournment. Ald. Hyde commenced his filibuster, frankly admitting that he was "stay on his feet" until the clock strikes midnight.

Then in turning the chair back to Mayor Forrester for adjournment Ald. Graham noted that he strongly resented the remarks of the mayor earlier in the day in respect of the chair in the various rulings made.

"I had no knowledge of being asked to take the chair and I did not want to be forced to take part in the debate," he said.

He said he had carried out the duties of the chair to the best of his ability and in accordance with what he had considered correct.

COLONIES LEARN WELL

Sir Winston Churchill, in a foreword to a book by Michael Swan on British Guiana, has vigorously defended Britain's colonial record.

The British, he says, "have ended wars, put a stop to savage customs, opened churches, schools and hospitals, built railways, roads and harbors and developed the natural resources of the countries so as to mitigate the almost universal desperate poverty."

The record will substantiate these claims. Even those who vigorously oppose British colonial rule will, if they are unprejudiced, admit the benefits their countries have derived from it.

If, however, Churchill finds it difficult to understand how, in the face of these facts, there can be such widespread agitation in colonies for independence, it is just proof that even the greatest of men have their blind spots.

For peace and churches, schools and hospitals, railways and roads and harbors, are not the only things which Britain has given these colonial lands.

She has also given them that which has distinguished Britain herself down through the centuries, a love of freedom, a desire to stand on their own feet.

Would Britons be contented with peace, churches, schools, hospitals, railways, roads and harbors if these were obtained at the price of control by a foreign power?

Why, then, should there be surprise that the countries into which Britain has instilled her philosophy should themselves seek independence, the right to rule themselves?

REBELS IN TROUBLE

This is a difficult age for rebels.

There was a time when it was simple for a man to define what he was rebelling against.

This is no longer true.

A clue to the reason may be discovered in observations by Bertrand Russell, himself a great rebel, in a broadcast over the BBC.

"Rebels, as I have come to realize, are never quite emancipated from the people against whom they rebel," said Russell. "Whatever these people have admired, they have to decry; whatever they have decried, they have to admire. Their opinions are thus dictated, in reverse, by their enemies."

It follows that a rebel can only escape confusion if his enemies possess steadfast ideals.

Life was easy for the rebels in the Victorian Age in England. Respectability and religion walked hand in hand. What a field day the rebels had, with their denunciations of marriage, of fundamentalism, of imperialism!

Life was easy, a few decades ago, for rebels whose interest was centred on economic systems. Laissez-faire capitalism provided an ideal target. But, in spite of the big-is-better given free enterprise, where today does the rebel find an entrenched enemy? His foe's shift position with every change in the winds of trade.

About the only thing that the majority of people in the western world decry steadfastly is Communism. This means that the natural reaction for the rebel is to support it and this is a trap into which many a rebel has fallen in recent years. That trap, though, has been unmasked and now claims few victims.

Rebels everywhere are learning that there are dangers in letting their enemies dictate their opinions in reverse.

As Russell concludes, somewhat sadly one suspects, "It only gradually becomes apparent that there is no such simple way of arriving at the truth."

TIMES CHANGE

Vancouver is preparing to hold a Sunday-sport vote.

Rt. Rev. James Thomson of Montreal, Moderator of the United Church of Canada, is visiting in Vancouver and was asked to comment.

While the church opposes over-commercialization on Sundays, he said, it does not object to people enjoying themselves.

"No intelligent Christian can object to baseball or any other means of people enjoying themselves on Sunday," Dr. Thomson is quoted as saying.

If this statement is accepted as correct, it follows that many Christians are unintelligent, although not quite as many as a few decades ago when even handling a ball on a Sunday was considered a sure indication of juvenile delinquency by the heads of many households.

Finest Brains Barred

Windsor Star

It is only theoretically true that almost any Canadian of 21 years can be a candidate in the forthcoming elections. In practice there are large numbers of our very best citizens who are barred, through no fault of their own, from any effective share in the Election Act.

The Election Act prohibits election officers, judges, persons in penal or mental institutions, those having been found guilty of corrupt or illegal practices in elections and Indians (with certain exceptions) on reserves from being candidates.

Though these are the few public restrictions, there are also private restrictions. What about the company which frowns on its executives thus participating in public life?

This is no hypothetical question. It is very pertinent. We recall a leading member of a major political party complaining of it during a recent campaign. His party, he said, couldn't attract eminent candidates. But in all too many executives, men were executives of corporations which wouldn't permit them to run.

These executives, he asserted heatedly, had been "politically de-natured," not by any law but by the dictates of their employers. They were deprived of the exercise of their natural political rights.

If one has any doubt about this, let him, through a list of members of the Commons. Very rarely will one find an executive of any big corporation among them. Where are the executives of the railroads, the companies or other financial houses? Where are the key men in big manufacturing industries, shipping companies, packing houses or public utility corporations?

They just aren't there. It wasn't that they ran and were defeated. They weren't even candidates. They knew they couldn't be and keep their jobs.

Many of Canada's finest brains are in the executive stratum of industry, commerce and finance. Some could make a real contribution of Canadian public life. Yet our public life is deprived of their services because their companies would take a dim view of politics ambitions.

It is ironic that the chamber of Commerce is engaged in a worthy cross-country effort to get out the vote. For people will have virtually no chance of voting for candidates from the executive level which many members of the Chamber represent.

Knowing the score, most just don't show political ambitions. What can happen is demonstrated in Algoma East where Mr. M. F. Mulligan is the Conservative opponent of Hon. L. B. Pearson. He was an accountant for a lumber firm. Rumors went he was fired when he accepted the candidacy.

It wasn't just that way, explains Mr. Mulligan. He asked for a three-month leave of absence to conduct his campaign. That was refused; he resigned. Otherwise he couldn't have waged an energetic campaign.

An exception to this general picture does crop up, however, in Churchill, Manitoba. There four employees of the Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Company at Flin Flon are candidates. The company has recommended for its attitude.

Mr. George Prudham, M.P. since 1949, is the Liberal. He is an engineer. Mr. Robert Simpson, the company's public relations officer, is the Conservative. Mr. Stewart Smith is the C.C.F., and Mr. Bruce Moore, the Social Credit. The latter two are union members.

There is this curious fact. Ordinary workmen, unions members, usually can seek public office. It is the executive officer of man who is barred. Those whose trained brains their employers rent are considered the ones robbed of the right to serve their country in Parliament—just as the ones with imbeciles.

Such an attitude is undemocratic. It weakens the functioning of democracy by depriving the Commons of this talent.

Arabs Still Keep Slaves

Christian Science Monitor

While eyes of a large part of the world are fixed on the political events in the Middle East, a report to the United Nations points up the fact that Saudi Arabia, Yemen, Qatar, and Muscat, is one of the few portions of the world where slavery still exists.

The report by the Anti-slavery Commission of the UN estimates that more than one million persons in Saudi Arabia are slaves or workingmen, are owned as chattels. Open slave markets are said to exist in Mecca and Medina.

These are shocking facts for the West, but they are comfortable lands than the hot, dry wastes of the Arabian peninsula. They are disappointing to people who have been pleased to see Saudi Arabia and the rest of the West as against communism. Yet there are countries in "absolute" monarch cannot bring about except as people respond to the challenge of opportunity — especially opportunity in country after country various forms of human bondage have been wiped out by improvement in the level of living. This has come usually not without a struggle but has come most solidly when based on economic foundation. Probably emergence from slavery will be the trend in Arabia as use of oil wealth and contact with the outside world leaven outdated customs.

Spinach Debunked

Windsor Star

Faith often can be built up on flimsy foundations. Sizing spinach is an example. A generation of children were reared in the belief ample doses of spinach would make them healthy and sturdy. Nutritionists now have exploded this a myth. As a diet it is less valuable than hay, they say.

Perhaps none did more to promote spinach's romantic character by the name of Popeye the Sailor Man. This raucous-voiced little giant could do superhuman feats of strength, provided he ate his spinach regularly. His example was kept before innocent children by equally innocent mothers who had believed everything they were told about spinach.

To those raised on spinach it is no surprise that it is compared to hay. That's just what it tasted like, and hay, they will agree. Now hay, or spinach, may be good for horses but children are different.

How Jordan Was Created

Stratford Beacon-Herald

More than a little interest attaches to the story of how Jordan was created from a desert land of sandy desert. It is told in the memoirs of the late King Abdullah.

In 1921, Britain and France, nominal victors in the First World War, were carving spheres of influence in the Middle East.

Prince Abdullah and other members of the Hashimite family had been driven out of Hejaz ibn Saud out of the kingdom of Hedjaz and the French had forced Abdullah's younger brother, Feisal, from the Syrian throne.

Winston Churchill,, then British's Colonial Minister, met Abdullah in Jerusalem at a conference when the creation of Lawrence of Arabia was "among those present."

According to Abdullah, the negotiations were neither long nor complicated. Churchill proposed that Feisal, driven from Syria, receive the throne of Iraq; and that his brother, Abdullah, take over the new country of Transjordonia, which Churchill outlined on a large map.

Abdullah took 24 hours to reflect on the proposal. Then he accepted.

So, in May, 1923, after the Arab Legion had been organized with a strengthening of British officers and the backing of Jewish cash, the United Kingdom formally recognized "the existence of an independent government in Transjordan under the rule of His Highness, the Emir Abdullah."

Such were Jordan's beginnings. With no resources, natural boundaries and no nationalistic loyalties among its people, it was a shaky structure upheld largely by British backing and the British subsidy that subsidy was recently withdrawn.

Four neighboring powers — Syria, Iraq, Saudi Arabia and Israel—would be happy to divide the Jordonian territory; the chief obstacle to them is the ideal certainty that they would go to war among themselves over the division.

The last and biggest attraction of the season will be at the Griffin Opera House here on the evening of June 7th., when the Boston English Opera Company will present Dinnodi's beautiful opera 'Faust.' Prices: $1.50, $1, 75 cents, 50 cents and 25 cents; box seats $2. (Advt.)

From our file copy at this time in 1897: It is estimated that there are 1,000 bicycles owned in this city and that the majority of riders are women and girls.

Mrs. C. W. Huyck of Tweed was a visitor in the city yesterday.

50 YEARS AGO

May 28th., 1907

This has been the coldest spring on record according to the Meteorological Observatory. For continuation of cold weather and the delay in the arrival of summer there is nothing on the records to equal it since the observatory was established in 1840, 67 years ago. The mean temperature for the month of May up-to-date has been 44 degrees. The backward weather is having a deterious effect on crops, flowers and all other natural products of spring.

The contractor for the building of the drill hall, Mr. Stuart of Ottawa, is pushing forward rapidly the preliminary work. A large amount of building material is at the site.

Fear was expressed that the frost last night would do great damage to growing plants, but gardeners in this vicinity state that no damage was done to garden stuff, but farmers say that considerable damage was done to fruit trees.

Strength for The Day

IN OUR BLOOD

"Who am I?" Everyone might well ask himself this question, and if he did, he might be amazed at the answer.

In the first place, he is one-half his father and one-half his mother. In his veins flow the blood of countless generations of forebears. Some of these have been good, some not so good, some, probably bad. And who would be true in the case of every soul, but that all have among our forebears generations of saints and sinners of a lurid type. The old gag about our finding some there a little way back is more true than we sometimes like to think.

So remember that you are not just an individual but a family, and the famous motto applies to the pals. You and I have within us tendencies which could make us but little lower than the angels, and other qualities that could damn us in hell, or at least put upon us the eternal displeasure of God.

And if you're thinking of getting married and someone objects to your marrying "into a family," or not marrying the family," You could cite a hundred generations of them, for examples, of them.

Life is a struggle. Don't let anybody tell you it isn't. And it is intended so to be for our eternal benefit.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE LISTENER

I have learned much valuable information by merely listening. People reveal themselves in their talk. The listener is often far better off, however, than the talker for he drinks in information without the talker ever suspecting his knowledge. Often the talker gives out information of value but which can use to good advantage.

To be a listener is an art. Much of our knowledge is gained by being a better listener than an expressionist. Many a time we know what the listener is thinking. It's the thinkers who are the wise listeners.

I recall reading about a big party given to Napoleon and his marshals when Napoleon was invading Russia. Napoleon's russian lady was telling Marshal Ney all about her great line of ancestors apparently greatly impressed. Finally she said: "By the way, Marshal Ney, may I ask who your ancestors were?" "Madame," said the famous marshal, "I am an ancestor!"

I am extremely glad that I listened to my father and mother in my formative years, and to my teachers in the school. I learned lessons I have never forgotten. I listened to the advice of a great advertising man for whom I once worked, and he taught me things that helped me to make more money for nearly half a century! He did many years ago but his kindly guidance remains.

The listener keeps thinking all the time that the talker is engaged in telling how smart he is. The silent, thinking people are the ones who are doing the big jobs in the world. I recall one thing that was told in the newspapers when Marshall Field, who founded the great Field fortune, died. They said: "He was a man of few words."

Internal Lubrication Is The Bunk

The correspondent R.A. asks about flaxseeds as a substitute for mineral oil as "internal lubricant." I recommend from a teaspoonful to a tablespoonful of unground flaxseeds daily instead of liquid. This approximates the natural "internal lubricant."

H.E.W.Y. reminds that I do not explain in the numerical booklet that cold liver oil lubricates the intestines. When I was writing Chronic Joint Disability, the notion that joints need oiling had scarcely ever occurred in queries from readers. But now there seems to be some concern about it, stimulated, perhaps, by some fancy set forth in a charlatan's book about "arthritis." I recommend cod liver oil for rheumatism (not for arthritis) because it is an excellent source of two nutritional elements which are essential to prevent, retard, or reverse physical degeneration. Cod liver tissues, namely, iodin and vitamin A.

Any kind of oil — animal, vegetable, or mineral — in a joint would be equivalent to a foreign body in the joint.

The only lubricant a joint requires is a drop or two of serum, a clear, watery fluid secreted by the joint lining.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

A taxi driver astonished me yesterday. He said that in seventeen years of professional driving, he had never got into trouble because of women drivers. All his collisions, sideswipes, bumps and other contretemps of traffic were on account of men drivers.

"Are you a bachelor?" I asked.

"No, I have a wife and two kids. Why do you ask?"

"Oh, I just like checking for prejudice," I explained. "Bachelors of any age are often sentimental."

There's no sentiment about it," he assured me. "What I said is driver. They'll tell you that women drivers are more careful, more considerate, and generally more intelligent than men drivers."

"Well, how about all the accidents?" I protested. "Women backing out of the garage without looking and then driving in sideways, with dopey explanations. Nearly all the motoring cartoons are about women."

"Yeah," said the taxi driver, "that's nearly all cartoonists are men. A cartoonist backs out of his garage without opening the door. His wife hears the crash and runs out and sees it. Naturally, she bawls her husband out. So what does he do? He goes straight down to the office and draws a cartoon about a woman driver out of the garage without opening the doors."

"What's sound psychology," I admitted.

"What's more," said the hackie, "it's a common mistake."

"Don't you think," I enquired cautiously, "that maybe because there are so many more men drivers than women drivers, that would account for their experience?"

"There are not that many more men drivers than women," asserted the taxi man. "Just take a look at the next ten cars."

I looked; and was surprised to note the number of women drivers. They sat at their wheels in different postures from the men, but every one appeared to be more alert. Certainly, none slumped at the wheel, perhaps because of the instinctive tidiness of women, who don't want to muss up their clothes unnecessarily.

"See?" said my driver. "There are no cowboy drivers among the ladies."

Peanut Grew In His Lung

Kitchener-Waterloo Record

Anyone who has ever had to contend with a hoof particle that got into the windpipe will be able to understand more fully the predicament in which Mr. William Trembath, a 22-year-old New Zealander. He was finishing his dinner with some peanuts when one of them somehow got down the wrong way. It become stuck in his windpipe. At first coughing fits would not remove it.

By the following day the peanut had slipped down into his right lung and his coughing became severe.

He had to leave work and take to bed. A doctor was called and Trembath was found to have virus pneumonia and bronchitis. He had an X-ray, the result of which caused the doctor much concern; and he hurried to see Trembath again.

But by the time he arrived, Mr. Trembath was feeling fine. The peanut had popped out from his lung causing a coughing bout. The peanut was swollen from twice its normal size—and a small piece had broken off from it.

Sounds a bit unusual to find that the nut had sprouted. The conditions conducive to growth were in the lung—oxygen, moisture and warmth.

Niece Gives Aunt an Idea

New York Herald Tribune

We met in Obermumpus a beautiful elderly American woman who was spending a year touring Europe. A friend, she told us, had asked her what could possibly afford such a trip. "Why, I don't afford it," she replied. "You certainly don't think I am spending my own money, do you?"

The friend had suspected as much.

"Nothing of the sort!" replied the elderly American. "I'm spending my heir's money."

"One day," she continued, "I began to suspect my niece would spend my estate. It dawned on me that the first thing she would do would be to go to Europe. So,' said I to myself, 'the best way to spend money is going to be spent, spend it yourself!' And here I am."

Miss de Scaffa Was Informant For Magazine

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actress Francesca de Scaffa used a hidden wrist watch recording device to help her collect information and tips on film folk for Confidential magazine, a county grand jury was told.

A 142-page transcript of testimony was sprinkled with such names as Ava Gardner, Kirk Douglas, Kim Novak, Desi Arnaz, Sonny Tufts, Lizabeth Scott, Mickey Rooney, Anita Ekberg and Marilyn Monroe.

Filed in superior court, the transcript of secret hearings which resulted indictment of 11 persons included testimony:

That Confidential publisher Robert Harrison bought a recording device disguised as a wrist watch so Miss de Scaffa could record conversations.

That the Venezuela - born actress, former wife of actor Bruce Cabot, earned $30,000 to $40,000 for her tips over a two-year period.

That other tips and stories came from a Hollywood prostitute.

That the sex lives of stars were the primary interest of the magazines.

The transcript of secret hearings was filed in court Monday and thus became a public document. The hearings resulted in the indictment of 11 persons, including Miss de Scaffa and Robert Harrison, publisher of Confidential.

All are charged with criminal libel, along with various corporations.

The grand jury investigation climaxed an eight-month investigation aimed at removing the magazine and others like it from California newsstands.

ST. LAURENT

Mr. Diefenbaker, who later flew to Toronto, said that Mr. St. Laurent has committed "one of the biggest prevarications in Canadian political history" by suggesting Ontario would get preferred tax-sharing treatment under a Conservative administration.

"The prime minister is afraid that his chances for re-election have been frost-bitten."

CCF INFLUENCE

Mr. Coldwell, in his radio speech said:

"Independent observers have said the CCF has had an influence far beyond our numbers and that the whole advance in progressive legislation in Canada can be traced to the pressure which has been brought to bear by the CCF and the farmer and labor representatives who preceded the CCF.

"Although the CCF has not yet held federal office, we are proud of what our movement has already been able to achieve for Canada. The CCF may justly claim to have improved the whole pattern of Canadian life."

On immigration, Mr. Coldwell said there can't be a proper immigration program without planning for full employment, a public housing program to make provision housing is available for all and appropriate legislation to protect the immigrant from exploitation. The CCF advocated an advisory committee with representatives of New Canadians, government, labor and churches to help plan immigration.

WOULD TAKE "MIRACLE"

Citizenship Minister Pickersgill, in a speech broadcast from Ottawa, said it would take a "political miracle" for the Conservatives to win the election.

He also forecast that the CCF party will have fewer members than the 23 elected in 1953 and that the Social Credit party will elect no members except in Alberta and British Columbia.

The Conservatives in 1953 elected 53 members out of 265. To win a majority in the new Parliament they would have to take at least 133 seats, or 80 more than they had in the last Parliament.

But the Conservatives had no support in Quebec and "practically no support in the four western provinces."

Elsewhere, George Hees, former national PC Association president seeking re-election in Toronto Broadview, told a meeting at Athol ville, N.B., a federal national development policy is needed to help make possible decentralization of industry and development of every part of the country to the fullest extent.

External Affairs Minister Pearson said in Niagara Falls, Ont., that while Canadians worry about some aspects of United States foreign policy, they would worry far more if the U.S. "left the rest of us to take our chances alone in the world."

STORM HELPS PRISONERS

RANGOON, Burma (AP) — A mind and rain storm ripped the roof off the jail at Mandalay and collapsed a wall — and 36 prisoners escaped. The storm's violence drove 24 into the jail's adjoining Buddhist prayer hall and police captured them there, soaking wet and shivering. A hunt is on for the other 12.

Four Fine Speckles Hauled From Lake 'North of Madoc'

Speckled trout are no respecters of the weather man. They'll bite if hungry if it is raining cats and dogs—or the sun is blistering down from the heavens.

Norman Bowers, 183 James Street, and Durland Sawyer, 17 West Bridge Street, had a bunch last Sunday that the speckles were hungry despite the fact it was teeming rain.

So out on an "unnamed lake north of Madoc" they sallied armed with June bugs, worms, six-pound test lines—and plenty of optimism. It paid off.

Some time later they landed with as neat a haul of speckles as has been landed this year.

In the bag were four beauties with the big one tipping the scales at six pounds. Another went 5½ pounds, the third and the fourth about three pounds.

HECTOR

Ted Powell of Sudbury, who named Hector, saw a good way to get the green basso a cushy job and at the same time promote a good cause. Before Hector's big chance came he lived in a pond on an island Powell owns in Georgian Bay near Parry Sound.

Powell insisted only that the frog be given a good home and be left alive. "He's not an eating frog," he said.

When Hector's safety was ensured, negotiations reached the government level. All that is needed now is U.S. government's permission for the West Seneca woman to import Hector, and the flies. She's trying to get the licence and Luke is canvassing for flies.

If Hector emigrates, and money changes hands as a result, it is to go to the building fund of the Sudbury and district YWCA.

"We'll just leave the matter of money to the woman's discretion" decided Luke. "You can't very well put a price on a goodwill ambassador."

Tug and Dredge Crews Strike

MONTREAL (CP)—Unlicensed crew members struck Montreal vessels owned by Marine Industries Limited following a labor dispute.

A spokesman for the firm, which operates equipment between Quebec and Cornwall, said three dredges and "a few tugs" were affected and that 150 men were made idle.

Other reports said about 500 men walked out and nearly all the company's 34 dredges, tugs, floating cranes and derricks had been affected. Much of the equipment is in use on the St. Lawrence Seaway project.

PLAN RAFT-CROSSING

BORDEAUX, France (Reuters) French adventurers Guy Goutelle, 28, and Rene Lescombe, 35, announced Monday they soon will try to cross the Atlantic on a 16 foot pine-log raft. They expect to drift to the American coast in four or five months, living off what they find in the sea.

CANADIAN SLAYS

Police said he told them he went "to the garage and got the hammer" and that when he entered Mrs. McLennan's room "she was sleeping on her side, her back to me."

FELT NO EMOTION

"I hit her hard, on the left temple," he was quoted as saying. "I was not angry. I felt no emotion at all."

Then he fled in the woman's 1957 convertible to surrender to San Francisco police.

Mrs. McLennan separated from her husband in London, Ont., and came here with her two daughters, Susan, 6, and Toni, 4.

Van Horne is estranged from his wife.

Clare Van Horne was a prominent figure in baseball circles in London for 20 years. He organized London Majors of the semi-pro Senior Intercounty League in 1946 and served as the club's manager for six years. He resigned as manager in 1950 after having won four league championships.

He was a junior league pitcher in his playing days. He served in the Canadian Army in London, Ont., during the Second World War and played on army ball teams.

Van Horne had been employed as a machine maintenance man at London, Ont., shoe factory for some years. He left work last Thursday, which was payday. His friends said he had been waiting for a permanent visa to move to the United States.

HAD SEPARATED

He had been separated from his wife, Hazily for the past few years. They have two children, a boy, 13, and a girl, 10.

A fine athlete of lean build, in his last few years with the Majors, he was also as relief pitcher and hold his own with ball-player half his age.

Van Horne was born in the Hen-rail, Ont., district.

The slaying victim, Mrs. McLennan, and a step-niece of Van Horne, was a dancing teacher in a chain-school studio in London until a few years ago. She also had worked as a waitress in a downtown London tavern.

Art Director Instructs Arts, Crafts Club

The art section of the Belleville Arts and Crafts Club added considerably to their painting knowledge and experience this past weekend when Mr. James D. Williamson, Director of Teaching at the Art Gallery of Toronto, spent a weekend in Belleville instructing them.

The group painted for two full days at the "Scuttle Hole" on the Moira River. Saturday evening Mr. Williamson demonstrated how he would go about painting an abstract picture, after which a social hour was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Whitfield.

Mr. Williamson had a great deal to offer a class such as this, having been engaged in professional teaching and painting since 1940. He received his training at the Winnipeg School of Art and the Ontario College of Art in Toronto. For several years he made his living painting commissioned portraits and in recent years has been painting murals,-as well as teaching adult classes at the Art Gallery of Toronto, Central Technical School and various community groups around Toronto.

The group benefited a great deal from the weekend and hopes to do it again, perhaps in the fall.

WEDDINGS

RICH - JOUDWA

Pink and white snapdragons and carnations adorned the altar of the church of St. Michael the Archangel, Belleville, for a very pretty wedding which took place on Saturday, May, 18, at 10.00 a.m., when the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Peter Joudwa, of Belleville, Ethel, (Pat), became the bride of Ronald Doran Rich, of Toronto, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Rich. The Reverend Peter Murphy, P. P., officiated.

The Reverend Sister Mary Wilhelmina, church organist, rendered the traditional wedding music, and accompanied the soloist, Miss Lorraine Wardhaugh, who sang before the ceremony, "On This Day O Beautiful Mother," and "Ave Maria" during the signing of the register.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. Gordon McCormick, wore a charming bridal gown of white nylon net and chantilly lace over satin, featuring a fitted, strapless, torso bodice with satin bolero having a tiny stand-up collar, long, sheath-like lace sleeves pointed over the hands, and fitted, toned down the front. The bouffant, floor-length skirt of tiered tulle was in complete effect. She wore a finger-tip veil and seed pearl halo-type headdress and carried a white prayer book crested with red roses and rosebud-knotted streamers.

Miss Jacqueline Henderson, of Kingston, was maid of honor, and Miss Barbara Flynn, of Toronto, was bridesmaid. Both were attired alike in street-length gowns of hyacinth-blue with white floral design, and matching hyacinth - blue headdresses. They carried bouquets of white 'mums, pink carnations with pink streamers.

Mr. Allan Burgess, of Toronto, was groomsman; Mr. Robert Carey, of Rochester, N.Y. and Mr. Reginald LaRoche, of Ottawa, were ushers.

At the wedding breakfast held in the Kiwanis Centre, the bride's table was appropriately appointed with white damask, and centred by a white, three-storied wedding cake topped by a tiny bride and bridegroom, and clouded with white tulle about the base. The head bouquets added a lovely nuptial note.

Father Murphy proposed the toast to the bride and her bridegroom, to which the bridegroom responded.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Gordon McCormick, received the guests, wearing navy sheer over checked taffeta, white accessories, and white lily-of-the-valley and pink carnation corsage. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who was attired in pink linen with white accessories, and wearing a similar corsage of lilies-of-the-valley mingled with pink carnations.

Later, the guests assembled at the bride's home where the gifts were viewed.

For travelling to Rochester and Syracuse, New York, the bride chose a blue ensemble with navy accessories, and corsage of red roses. Mr. and Mrs. Rich will reside in Toronto.

A miscellaneous shower honoring the bride was held in Toronto, by Mrs. K. Flynn.

Guests attended from Toronto, Rochester, North Bay, Falconbridge, Ottawa, Petawawa, Oshawa, Eganville, and Carleton Place.

THOMPSON — DOWN

Baskets of white 'mums, pink carnations and ferns decorated Wellington United Church, Saturday, May 18th, at 2.30 p.m. for the marriage of Carolyn Wanda, daughter of Mrs. J. B. Down, Wellington, and the late Mr. Down, and Douglas John Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Thompson, Bloomfield. The Rev. A. Poulter officiated at the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. William Harvey, the bride was radiant in a full-length gown of white chiffon over net and taffeta ending in a train, and featuring a shirred bodice. Her fingertip veil was caught to a matching tiny pillbox hat. She wore fingertip gloves and carried a beautiful bouquet of American Beauty roses and baby 'mums tied with white ribbon streamers. Her jewellery was a double strand of pearls and pearl earrings encircled with rhinestones.

Miss Carol Marvin, of Wellington, was bridesmaid in a gown of peacock blue chiffon over net and taffeta in a bell-terina-length with a shirred bodice. She carried white 'mums with yellow centres backed by pink net and ribbon.

Little Elaine Bishop, niece of the bride, was a sweet flower girl in white crystalline. She carried baby 'mums and wore a halo of the same flowers nestled in her hair.

Mr. Larry Abbott, Picton, was groomsman. The ushers were Mr. Lewis Garrison, Jr., and Mr. Roy Roxborough, both of Picton.

Mrs. Jack McNeill played traditional wedding music, and the soloist, Mr. Reg Bishop, sang "O Perfect Love" before the ceremony and "I'll Walk Beside You," during the signing of the register.

The reception was held at Maple Inn, Bloomfield, where the bride's mother received in a blue net dress with matching bolero jacket, white accessories and a corsage of American Beauty roses. The bridegroom's mother assisted in a silk-sheath with a mauve duster and matching accessories. She wore a corsage of red roses.

Service Work During Year Cost I.O.D.E. $500,000

VANCOUVER (CP)—More than $500,000 was spent by chapters of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire on service work in Canada and overseas, Mrs. R. C. Latimer of Toronto reported to the annual meeting of the IODE here today.

A total of 23½ tons of clothing valued at $82,375 was shipped overseas last year, the national service secretary declared.

"This year all aspects of service work show a steady increase and the IODE is so well-geared for action that when an emergency situation arises, chapters are able to respond without delay and with efficiency," Mrs. Latimer said.

WIDE SERVICES

When Hungarian refugees began arriving in Canada personal comfort bags were distributed by IODE members. Also 10,000 of these bags were shipped to Austria during the emergency.

IODE members spent a total of 113,027 hours at all types of clinics, libraries, hospitals and services for blind and elderly people.

Chapters in Alberta and Saskatchewan operated craft shops where veterans' work is displayed and sold. Manitoba and Ontario furnished children's playrooms in hospitals. She reported that a total of $82,769 was spent under institutional service.

New and used clothing was supplied to Canadians in need. Food has been distributed for the relief of hunger and poverty, she said.

A total of $21,250 was spent on recreational purposes. Chapters held classes for underprivileged children, camps for underprivileged girls, annual picnics and parties for orphanage youngsters.

Close to $10,000 was voted to other organizations from IODE funds, Mrs. Latimer said. She added that IODE members raised another $93,450 for welfare agencies.

FOSTER KNOWLEDGE

In her report on empire and world affairs, convener Mrs. Harry J. Brooker, of Toronto appealed to members "to learn to know and understand the world outside the Commonwealth, to gain an understanding that will help combat communism in Europe and Asia."

National film convener Mrs. James R. Wright of Toronto said chapters are continuing to support the national IODE film fund. She regretted that "there is a dearth of films of a patriotic nature."

Mrs. G. Graham Sinclair of Toronto, in her report on national civil defence, urged members to learn to do everything they can to protect their own life and the lives of their family.

"The apathy of the public is still our worst enemy." She urged delegates to offer their services to their local civil defence organizations.

National standard bearer convener, Mrs. Robert Cameron of Vancouver, said that 14 new standards were dedicated last year.

In the Commonwealth relations report Mrs. C. M. Scott of Peterborough, Ont. reported a total of $2,948 has been spent to further the understanding by Canadians of peoples of other nations.

Thirty Women Nominated To Seek Seats in Commons

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Women candidates will pit their ability and charm against the men in 28 constituencies in the June 10 federal election.

The close of nominations Monday found 30 women in the running for the 265 seats in Parliament. In two constituencies, however, it will be woman against women—and man—come voting day.

There was a sharp drop this year in the number of women candidates compared with the 1953 election when four of 48 candidates were elected to Parliament.

This representation dropped to three with the death last November of Sybil Bennett, Progressive Conservative member for Halton in Ontario.

The other three members, all in Ontario, are seeking re-election. They are Mrs. Ann Shipley, Liberal from Timiskaming and Conservatives Ellen Fairclough, in Hamilton West, and Margaret Aitken in York-Humber.

TWO MARGARETS

Miss Aitken, a columnist for the Toronto Telegram, is up against another Margaret—CCF candidate Margaret Thetford—and two men, Kenneth Thompson, Liberal, and Charles E. Ellis, Social Credit. She won the York-Humber seat in 1953 by 67 votes.

Miss Fairclough has male opposition, from the Liberals and the CCF, and Mrs. Shipley also is competing against two men, Progressive Conservative and CCF.

A man, C. A. Best, will try to retain Miss Bennett's Halton seat for the Conservatives against Liberal and CCF opposition.

Ontario has the lion's share of the women candidates—19. Quebec, Alberta and British Columbia have three each and Saskatchewan and Prince Edward Island have one apiece.

Thirteen women represent the CCF, six the Progressive Conservatives, five Social Credit, four Liberal and one each Independent Liberal and Labor-Progressive.

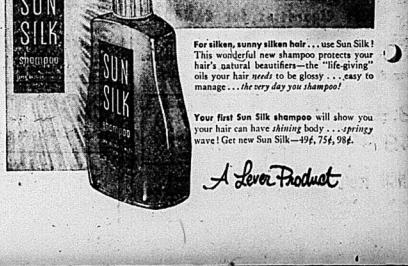
IS QUEBEC LEADER

Mrs. Therese Casgrain, leader of the CCF party in Quebec, is her party's representative in Villeneuve, Prince Edward Island's lone woman entry, in Prince's Mrs. Muriel MacInnis, also CCF.

The Communist Labor-Progressive candidate is Mrs. Annie Gurnick and her opposition in Toronto Spadina includes another woman, Dorothy Cureatz, "Social Credit.

In Ottawa, the Conservatives are pinning their hopes on women in two of the capital's seats. Mrs. Eleanor Blackburn is the party candidate in Ottawa East, and Mrs. Ethel T. Shaw, Ottawa's first woman alderman, is entered in Ottawa West.

Trade Minister Howe has Ina Vigars as his PC opponent in Port Arthur and Fisheries Minister Sinclair's Social Credit opponent in Coast - Capilano is Mrs. Evelyn Fingarson.



One woman is doing battle against a party leader. Mrs. Henriette Palmer is Social Credit candidate in Rosetown-Biggar, the home riding of CCF Leader Coldwell.

ADVICE To the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

BETTER GET THIS CLEARED UP BEFORE THE WEDDING

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I'm 18 years old, and have been going steady for three years with a fellow who is now 21. We plan to be married soon.

His family and mine are very friendly, and we have no problem with either of them. He has a good steady job and is well liked by everybody. He respects his elders and, most important of all, he respects me.

Most girls would wonder what more I could want, but I have one problem—he's untidy.

It's not that he doesn't keep himself clean, but he's just not neat. He waits too long between haircuts, doesn't shave often enough and his shoes are never shined. He won't buy himself decent clothes and wears old faded ones even when we go out. It would be different if he didn't have the money, but he does. He buys everything but clothes. I guess he's just not interested in them.

I've tried to improve the situation by saying how nice other boys look, and I've told him he'll never advance if he keeps on being untidy. But it's useless. He's neat for two days after I've spoken about it and then slides back.

I love this fellow very much and I don't want to hurt him. Also, I'm not a fuss-budget. I don't expect everyone to look their best all the time. But I do think they should look neat when they go out on dates.

I've talked this over with my mother but she's at a loss on how to solve the problem. Can you help me? — Louise

Dear Louise:

Since you apparently have said everything possible to this young man about his untidiness without it having any effect on him, it seems to me high time you stopped talking and took some definite action to show him you're really serious about it. You've said it. And the action I would suggest is that you gently but firmly refuse to go out with him unless he's dressed properly and looks well-groomed.

I don't mean that you should be nasty about it at all. Just tell him that you love him so much you want to be proud of him and feel happy being with him, but that, under the circumstances, you can't feel comfortable to have other people see you with a sloppy-looking young man. Say that, besides being embarrassed to be seen in public with a fellow who seems to care nothing about how he looks, you feel it gives other people the impression that he doesn't care enough about you to take the trouble to look as well as you do.

Actually, unless this young man straightens up and takes more interest in his appearance, I'm afraid you're not going to be very happy as his wife, for you're not going to like a sloppy husband any more than you like a sloppy fiance. Moreover, the whole matter could—and doubtless would—become a source of constant friction between you after you were married, which could easily work itself up to real trouble. For strange as it may seem, no matter how much two people may love each other, even a relatively small thing, sometimes, can get so much on their nerves that it wrecks their marriage. And if this cheap doesn't think you're important enough for him to yield to your wishes in this respect, there are going to be plenty of other things in which he'll do as he pleases, too, after you're married, no matter how you feel about them.

I advise you to make all this clear to him before that wedding.

BEAUTY

By MME. QUI VIVE

HELP YOUR DAUGHTER TO OVERCOME SHYNESS

Dancing teachers are particularly adept at bringing shy children together.

There was a time when to refer to a woman as "shy, modest and retiring" was virtually to put her into the "ideal" class—a "woman-ly woman" to be put upon a pedestal and worshipped. Now, certainly, we're not going to tell you that this was all wrong and that today's "ideal" is bold, aggressive and all extrovert, for it wouldn't be so. In fact, modern man still wants his women folk to be modest and possessed of the quiet serenity which does, or should, characterize the so-called "weaker sex." But when it comes to shyness—that's a different story.

Shyness is the result of self-consciousness. And self-consciousness implies a lack of confidence in one's self—a definite liability in the world of today. The person who is self-conscious, besides having to take a back seat in both social and business circles, suffers inordinately—and, alas, all too frequently, unnecessarily. Self-consciousness usually starts in childhood so, if parents are alert to its first symptoms, they can do a great deal to overcome this trait in their children. But they'll never do it by taunting.

We wonder how many little girls and, yes, boys, too—have grown up to adulthood with dreadful memories of standing there, tongue-tied and shy, speechless and with gulping throat, only to hear insensitive parents bell, "What's the matter? Cat got your tongues?" Very funny—for the parents, yes. But, for the child, frequently the beginning of a lifetime of agony in the presence of strangers.

Wise parents will never discuss a child's shyness in her presence. Instead they'll try to create a social life for little daughter. Without fuss or fanfare, they'll invite children of her own age to the home; will provide games and activities which won't permit of any child sitting on the sidelines. Joining in games with her contemporaries within the secure haven of her home is the first step toward overcoming shyness.

Nursery schools and supervised playgrounds will also help, but usually as a second step. Self-confidence in her own home should come first. If shyness continues, a course in dancing lessons is frequently effective. Dance instructors have a talent for recognizing and understanding shy children, can bring them together easily and naturally and, under the stimulus of gay music and merry banter, have them joking, unself-consciously in the fun, in no time.

Shy children should be encouraged in sports, too. They should be encouraged to talk about their school work, their little friends, hobbies such as craftsmanship, etc. In other words, the self-conscious girl must be drawn out of herself. Once she has learned to express herself articulately with parents, brothers and sisters and playmates, her thoughts will no longer dwell upon herself and she will learn how to be responsive—and self-confident—with strangers.

CHOOSE PROPER COSTUME ACCESSORIES

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My daughter's High School Prom is to be held at a night club soon. This is her first Prom, and I am uncertain about the proper accessories for the white chiffon bouffant-length dress I have bought for her. It has some pale-blue trimming, and would you suggest our getting light-blue, elbow-length nylon gloves, or what kind and length? What about shoes? And what about the evening wrap? I was considering making—her a white velvet cape, but she prefers a taffeta duster. — Mother

It might be a very charming and effective idea, if your daughter wishes, to choose pale-blue accessories as an accent for the white chiffon dress. The taffeta duster (very youthful and smart) might be of the light-blue; the gloves of the same shade (or white if she prefers) and I would suggest the pert short-shorties as smarter for a girl than the elbow-length; her shoes perhaps of the same shade of blue; and her evening bag of white or light-blue, or maybe a combination.

PROPER PROPORTIONS

This coat is one that has been designed with an eye for the petite woman who seeks clothes scaled to her proportions but clothes that are properly impressive without being over-powering. Done in imported wool, it features the semi-fitted silhouette with the emphasis placed high above the waist for a lengthening effect. Two tailor-made, self bows disguise the fastening of this gently flared coat.

TUESDAY

Scrambled Eggs with Chicken Livers (see Monday's Notes), Scalloped Potatoes, Sliced Cucumber and Tomato on lettuce, Orange Jelly with Cookies, Coffee.

Whether these Double Decker Bars would taste so good if I were not so ravenously hungry, I cannot tell you — for in these days of weight shedding I'm always hungry.

You decide for yourselves.

DOUBLE DECKER BARS

Two squares (2-oz.) unsweetened chocolate, 1-4 cup sugar, 1-3 cup hot water, 2 cups sifted flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 3-4 cup butter (or use 1-2 shortening), 1-2 cup white sugar and 1 cup brown sugar, 3 eggs, 2 tablespoons milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup finely chopped cocoanut. First melt over boiling water the 2 squares of chocolate with 1-4 cup sugar and 1-3 cup hot water. Remove from heat and let cool. Sift together the baking powder, flour and salt. Cream butter well with white and brown sugar. Add eggs, milk and vanilla. Blend in dry ingredients slowly and mix well. Add cocoanut. Grease the bottom only of a 15 x 11-inch pan or two 9 x 9-inch pans. Divide mixture between two pans and spread evenly. Pour the cooled chocolate mixture over it, in a thin stream, with a diagonal pattern. Take a knife and cut through batter to double direction to give marbled effect. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. for 25 to 30 minutes. Spread thin on an ungreased shallow 13 x 9-inch pan. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 10 minutes. Beat 2 egg whites until stiff, and 1-2 cup sugar gradually along with 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Fold in 1-2 cup finely chopped nuts. Either walnuts or alfnonds are very good. Spread this mixture over the partially baked layer when you remove it from oven after 10 minutes and return to oven and bake for another 25 minutes. When slightly cooled cut into bars or squares.

LEMON RIVALS

Cream 1-2 cup of butter well. Add 1-2 cup sugar and 2 egg yolks. Beat until very light and fluffy. Sift 1 cup flour, add 2 teaspoons of finely grated lemon rind. Add to butter mixture. Spread this mixture on an ungreased shallow 13 x 9-inch pan. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 10 minutes. Beat 2 egg whites until stiff, and 1-2 cup sugar gradually along with 1 tablespoon walnuts mixing well. Onto a greased cookie sheet drop by teaspoonsful about two inches apart. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. for 8 to 10 minutes. Remove from cookies sheet when slightly cooled. Makes about 3 dozen.

I know that Brownies have been a favorite since time began but how would you like to try a lemon flavored bar that is guaranteed to turn them a close, very close, second?

COMFORTABLE SHOES

I don't know but I have a feeling these are going to become regular favorites.

I hope you love tea for what I am giving you today — 3 topflight cookies recipes. I must be in a particularly mellow sweet-conscious mood.

MOLASSES SNACKS

One-half cup butter, 3-4 cup sugar, 1 egg, 1-4 cup molasses, 1 1-2 cups flour, 3-4 teaspoon soda, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-2 cup cocoanut, 1-2 cup chopped walnuts. Cream butter well, add sugar slowly. Capacity Ottawa Audience Hears Liberal Chieftain Give Strongest Talk of Campaign

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent says he doesn't believe voters will find vegetarianism so attractive that they will swallow all of John Diefenbaker's election "carrots."

The Liberal chieftain swung at the Progressive Conservative and defended his civil service salary stand as he faced his biggest and liveliest rally here Monday night. He travels to Quebec today for a meeting at Trois-Rivieres.

A horn-honking and streamer-decorated motorcade of some 200 auto jammed traffic as it carried supporters from 14 Ottawa, Hull and district ridings to the Landsdowne Park Coliseum where a capacity audience of some 4,500 gave the prime minister a tremendous ovation.

They cheered and applauded him and, accompanied by a 30-man orchestra, sang Vive la Canadienne; Il a Gagne ses Epaulettes and For He's a Jolly Good Fellow.

SOME HECKLERS

But among the boisterous supporters, some equipped with noise-makers, were about two dozen teen-age hecklers, some bearing Diefenbaker buttons, who booed the prime minister and other cabinet ministers.

At times their interruptions were so persistent that the 75-year-old prime minister said at one point:

"We'll have a recess for a few minutes for the youngsters."

At times, too, there were pushing incidents among some in the audience and eyes of spectators were diverted from the prime minister to the stands as open brawling threatened.

Cries of "Throw him out! Throw him out!" were directed at some of the hecklers, but Mr. St. Laurent and Finance Minister Harris, the speaker who preceded him, urged that there be no ejections.

Mr. Diefenbaker had charged that Mr. St. Laurent, by declining to announce civil service salary increases until after the June 10 vote, was holding a "carrot" before federal employees.

Mr. St. Laurent said that was not the case. Indeed, Mr. Diefenbaker had made so many election promises that his aim appeared to be a "carrot for every Canadian."

WOULD BE OUTCRY

If the Liberals announced increases for federal employees, there would be an outcry from political opponents. Every civil servant had known for some months that increases were in the offing.

The government had already increased the pay of some 7,000 professional workers. What had been done for one group would be done for others. But the Liberal administration had a responsibility to the voters. It had to have the approval of the electorate before it recommended the expenditure of additional funds.

Earlier Monday, the joint salaries committee of the various associations representing the 140,000 civil servants urged Mr. St. Laurent not to make the service the subject of partisan political debate. It said there is no reason why he can not announce increases immediately.

NOT ON RETURN

Mr. St. Laurent said the question of increases did not depend on the Liberals being returned to power. He was sure that any party —Liberal, Conservative, CCF or Social Credit—would want to see that the pay of federal employees was on a level with that provided by private industry.

"We are responsible to Parliament . . ." he began.

"What a laugh," shouted a heckler.

"I'm not talking to children but to adults," countered Mr. St. Laurent, saying that in his 12,000 miles of election travelling he had met children everywhere.

"They seem to know when it is time to applaud and when it is time to interrupt. . . In this meeting we find some who are behaving like children."

He suggested that in their anxiety to get back into power, the Conservatives are forgetting their own name and blowing up the name of John Diefenbaker.

RAPS ADVERTISEMENTS

In fact, he maintained, it has become the "Diefenbaker party."

Advertisements told the story of Mr. Diefenbaker in bold print. The name of the Progressive Conservative party was hidden in small type at the end of the advertisement.

"How about the St. Laurent party? How about the C. D. Howe party?" hecklers cried.

Mr. St. Laurent said also that Mr. Diefenbaker had been under a misconception of what he had said about family allowances. Out West Mr. Diefenbaker had charged the Liberal leader with making an irresponsible statement that the Conservatives would abolish family allowances if elected to power.

Touching on other points, Mr. St. Laurent referred to last year's fuss in Commons pipeline debate and charged that the Conservatives and the CCF were ready to destroy the reputation of Speaker Rene Beaudoin to prevent the pipeline legislation from going through.

"When Mr. Speaker's rulings did not suit them, they stormed into the centre aisle shaking their fists and advancing on the Chair. They were so afraid that the majority would prevail that they were ready to destroy the reputation of Canada's first commoner to prevent that happening.

"It was indeed a black Friday—for the Tories and Socialists. And the sooner they allow their fellow Canadians to forget it, the better for them."

When Revenue Minister McCann first minister to speak, told of what the Liberals had done for the Ottawa Valley, a heckler cried out: "Nothing!"

"Well, come up here and I'll talk to you," Dr. McCann retorted.

Mr. Harris defended his tax policies, said Conservative governments preceding the Liberals caused disunity, doubt, distrust and economic ruin. The Conservative party was badly disorganized. It had not recovered and was not going to recover in this election.

The federal tax rate was not high when Canadians considered what they got for it. About one-third went for defence; another third for internal security and happiness.

How you can help your husband to earn more money, worry less & probably live longer!

Your LIBERAL vote can do it.
And here's why:

Wages and Salaries are higher with a LIBERAL Government in Canada
(They have more than doubled in the last 10 years)

Canadians can buy more—because incomes have increased faster than prices.

You can finance the buying or improvement of a home—because of LIBERAL NHA and Home Improvement Laws.

It's easier to raise children—because of Family Allowances.

Your husband's success depends on the prosperity of Canada. He actually earns more, worries less, and has more time for you, when the affairs of Canada as a whole are going well.

Your vote for a Liberal Government can help to keep these good times . . . good times that have steadily grown better year by year, since the Liberals were elected.

If you were a wife in the years of the Conservative depression, we don't need to tell you how your husband worried, and you worried. If you were too young to remember, ask your mother or father what it was like.

Trouble is, we can get so used to good times that we forget they can change. Don't think your one vote isn't important. It's very important. Find out the name of your Liberal Candidate before election day — and mark X opposite his name when you vote.

Ontario's prosperity depends on all of Canada

Bookies Favor Crepello in Derby Classic

LONDON (AP) — Britain's top bookies Monday night made Crepello a 9-to-4 favorite for the June running of the Epsom Derby. Odds were shortened on Crepello after American - owned Hourne broke down Sunday in the Pris Duru at Longchamp and was scratched from the 176-year-old Epsom classic.

Queen Elizabeth's Doutelle was 100-to-7.

Objective, a three-year-old colt owned by E. P. Taylor of Toronto, is unlikely to run in the Derby, it was learned Monday.

Objective, by Nearco out of Steady Aim, finished ninth of 10 runners in a Derby trial at Lingfield last Friday, indicating he would have little chance in the big race. Earlier this season the lightly raced colt ran a promising second in a maiden event.

Sliver, The Man' Again Lead Loops' Batters

NEW YORK (AIN— — Ted Williams won his first of four American League batting championships 16 years ago. Stan Musial won his first of six National League batting titles 14 years ago.

Today, older, slower, but still effective with the bat, these two again lead their respective leagues as the major league baseball season approaches Memorial Day—the season's initial milestone.

Williams holds a commanding advantage in the American League competition even for this early in the campaign. The Boston Red Sox' star climbed 17 points in last week's games. With a .411 average he's 50 points in front of runnerup Mickey Mantle of New York Yankees.

The National League race is much closer. Musial, in fifth position a week ago, jumped into the lead on the strength of a 12 point increase to .362. The St. Louis Cards' first baseman had 11 hits in 21 times at bat.

10 POINTS BACK

Dick Groat of Pittsburgh, who suffered a severely sprained ankle n Sunday's game against Philadelphia, is second with .352. He picked up seven points before the injury. Groat is followed by Ed Bailey of Cincinnati, .348, Don Hoak, another Redleg, .347 and Willie Mays of New York Giants, .346.

Milwaukee's Hank Aaron and Cincinnati's Frank Robinson, one-two last week, slumped 21 and 16 points respectively and now they are tied for sixth place at .345.

After Mantle, with .361 in the American League, come Reno Bertoia of Detroit, .352, Nellie Fox of Chicago White Sox, .344 and Cleveland's Vic Wertz, .330.

Minor Softball

The Belleville minor softball peerwee league gets under way tonight with a pair of games on tap at 6:45 p.m.

Two new teams, Point Anne and Shannonville, have entered and both will see action in the opening games. Shannonville will meet the Booth Radio-TV's at Moira St. Fireball while Rotary Club visits Point Anne.

A complete schedule will be published later this week.

INSIDE BASEBALL for Future Stars

By MICKEY McCONNELL
Major League Scout and Instructor

It takes determination and desire to hustle on every play. Nine times out of ten, when a catcher races down the foul line to back up first base after the batter hits the ball, all he has to show for his efforts is a little more sweat on his brow. However, it is the tenth play, when there is a bad throw and he retrieves the ball to keep the batter from taking an extra base, that makes his hustle help the team.

A few years ago there was a professional catcher who kept rushing down to first base as fair balls were hit, with no runners in scoring position, without making a play. Finally a low liner was hit to right field in a crucial game. The batter was a slow runner and the fielder had an arm like Carl Furillo, so the fielder fired the ball to first base after catching it on the first bounce. In his rush to get the ball away, the fielder threw over the first-baseman's head, so the runner rounded first only to discover that the catcher had caught the ball. The catcher promptly flipped the ball to the first-baseman to retire the runner and snuff out the rally.

This is the kind of hustle and alertness which made Birdie Tebbetts famous as a catcher and insured his success as a manager. It often means the difference between winning and losing.

Top Golfers Hold Own in British Amateur

FORMBY, England (AP)—The British and Irish contingents suffered only one major loss in the opening round of the British amateur golf championship Monday but more than half of the American delegation was put out of the running.

Keith Tate, a good prospect for the British Walker Cup team, lasted to John Youdale, a Cheshire news agent, 1 up.

The others, including 1953 champion Joe Carr of Dublin, Ian Caldwell of England, George T. Duncan of Wales and Oy Wolstenholme of England won their first-round matches.

Two of the American contenders, Jimmy McHale of Philadelphia and Frank Strafaci of Miami Beach, Fla., survived opening play.

Nine Americans, plus two who haven't yet played, were left of an original U.S. entry list of 34. Most of the losers were servicemen stationed in Britain or Europe or vacationing businessmen.

This has prompted the governing Royal and Ancient Club to change its regulations. Starting next year, only 16 Americans will be accepted for the tournament without qualifying for it in regional tournaments two weeks in advance.

The righthanded Von was believed to have received a bonus of about $50,000—the sum Lindy was said to have received late in the 1955 season when he signed with Cardinals at the age of 20.

Von wound up a sensational high school career at Arnett, Okla., last Tuesday night with a no-hit performance against Eldorado, Okla. High. He had a 21-1 record for the year, striking out 343.

Lindy has won three and lost two this year. He is a starting pitcher and one of the steadiest on the Cardinal staff despite his limited experience.

Denies Rumor Will Resign As League Prexy

NEW YORK (AP)—Will Harridge has denied a published report he will resign as president of the American League in December and be succeeded by Joe Cronin, general manager of the Boston Red Sox.

Harridge, reached by telephone at his office in Chicago, said Monday the story gave him quite a chuckle.

"First of all," he said, "my contract does not expire in December, as was stated in the story. The club owners gave me a 10-year contract last December.

"Secondly, my health, contrary to the (report, has been excellent.

"You can say for me that there's absolutely nothing to the story."

Harridge, 71, has been head of the junior circuit for the past 20 years after succeeding Ernest Barnard in May of 1931.

Whitby Dunlops Named To Represent Canada In 1958 World Hockey

Sport Slices

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

BE DOOD IT!

The big sports news of the day is the story of the Whitby Dunlops whose meteoric rise to hockey fame had the sports world in a tizzy, being named to represent Canada at the world hockey tournament being staged in Oslo, Norway, next February.

Silver and gold did the trick.

Wren Blair's silver-tongued oratory paved the way and the Dunlops gold which will finance the trip dispelled any opposition in the minds of the CAHA brass sitting in judgment on the proposal.

Blair did a two-fold job. He not only convinced the CAHA moguls that his Dunlops were the proper representatives, but convinced them that Allan Cup winners would be the proper choice to represent Canada at future world tourneys.

Blair won't lose any time. He told the CAHA that he believed hockey championship teams are built in June and July, "and I'll be working on the team the minute I get home on Saturday."

The Whitby dynamo went to the meeting with a promise to co-operate with the CAHA in strengthening his club, clearance from the Dunlops out of Eastern Senior "A" hockey by January and with financial underwriting that assured the CAHA it wouldn't have to spend a cent.

But the canny Dunlops mentor did not stick out his neck. He told the big brass that he would not promise to win, "who could," he said, "that the important thing is for Canada to compete, not for Canada to compete only if it is assured of victory.

But he could not resist this one. "We feel," he said, "that as Allan Cup champions, we are the best amateur club in Canada and that with the required strengthening can give a good account in the world tournament. Certainly it is great to be a winner, but it is even greater to be a dignified loser."

A news despatch says that evidence that Blair put his case across was borne in the fact that the bid was accepted without opposition, one delegate abstaining from the vote on technical reasons, all others voting in favor.

In a unanimous vote, the story says, the CAHA meeting approved a resolution that Canada should be represented unofficially if cost the association nothing. And in the last few words of that sentence lies the main reason for the Dunlops being named the country's hockey representative.

The approval of the Dunlops by the CAHA makes it mandatory for the Allan Cup champions to gird their loins for the world tournament. It must strengthen by adding six top-rate players. The club will be underwritten by Dunlop of Canada which has sponsored it for the past three years.

The Dunlops as strengthened, will play in the Eastern Ontario senior "A" league until January, then withdraw and go to Europe where it will play several exhibition games both before and after the world tourney, win, lose or draw.

Some of the club's expenses will be covered from exhibition game receipts, the rest by its financial backers.

And so one of the most colorful chapters in the history of Canadian hockey enters its final phase. The little "sister" from Whitby who prevailed upon her eastern cousins to invade the senior "A" field, defied the scowls of her two "big sisters," dumped them into the discard, later went on to grab the golden slipper of Allan Cup glory, now faces the big climax to an unprecedented season.

That Wren Blair will carry the best wishes of Canada especially the Eastern Ontario senior "A" league goes without saying. More power to his team—and his tonsils.

He might have some difficulty getting a point across with Ivan and Sergei from Moscow, Hans from Germany, Tony from Italy, and other foreign competitors, but knowing Blair as we do, five gets you ten he'll devise some method of conveying his opinions to the hockey "league of nations."

WRESTLING

Look ahi, me 'earts, it looks like a wrestling card with a strong down-under flavor this Friday at Memorial Arena.

In the main bout the Edmonton Blockbuster one Gene Kinlaki who flaunts the bleached bauble of Hemphah championship atop his noggin, will tangle with one Fabrock O'Connor, late of Wellington, New Zealand, who has worn the crown but had it shaken from his locks by this same Kinlaki. Now Patrick wants it back. And get it he will—if he can—come Friday.

This should be a battle of the goliaths as both Pat and Kinlaki are far removed from the midget class. Kinlaki is a rough and tumble ombre who stops at nothing but will have to go all out to match the speed and agility of O'Connor.

Another chapple from down under is Fred Atkins from Australia who will tangle with Mark Lewin. Now, unless last Friday night was a step out of character for the Lewin Fiend this bout should be a merry old brawl. And brother Don will be along for the preliminary, matching his ability with Bob Leipler.

CHARGES TO VICTORY

TORONTO (CP) — Pink Velvet, owned by W. R. Beasley of Toronto, won the $5,000 Star Shoot stakes at Old Woodbine Monday. The speedy daughter of Polynesian raced in third position most of the way while Jet Marine set the pace, followed by Faultless Maid. The latter overtook Jet Marine, turning for home, but was unable to meet the closing charge of Pink Velvet. Defiladc closed late to finish third while Jet Marine was fourth.

HELD TO DRAW

CARDIFF, Wales (AP) — Joe Bygraves of Jamaica retained his British Empire heavyweight boxing title here Monday night, but could do no better than draw with Dick Richardson, the pride of Wales, over 15 rounds.

In the final two rounds, blood streamed from Richardson's face as he fought desperately for a major opening. He couldn't pull it off despite the urging of 20,000 partisan Welsh supporters.

Bygraves weighed 196¼, Richardson 199.

Eastern Senior Champions Unanimous Choice of CAHA; Sport Wins Over Politics

By JIM PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP)—The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, in recent years severely criticized and often wrought with internal dispute over the world hockey issue, has come together in harmony and unanimity to set a clear course for the future.

In a single move, calmly discussed and fully supported, the CAHA at its annual meeting Monday named a 1958 representative for the world championships Canada missed this year, established a firm method to choose future entries and added new glamor to the Allan Cup, senior hockey's premier trophy.

Canada's position in the world championships has been one of amateur hockey's most contentious issues since 1954, when the Canadian entry lost to Russia. It was the first major issue to come before the CAA's annual meeting, a four-day session ending Wednesday, and fireworks were expected.

They developed only briefly and that during a review of the previous year's dragged out proceedings that ended with Canada sending no representative to Moscow.

In the primary issue—the 1958 situation and a bid by Whitby Dunlops to represent Canada at Oslo next February—there was no disagreement.

In less than two hours, the meeting solved different and unanimously passed a motion that Canada should be represented in the world event at no expense to the CAHA.

It also approved the bid by the Allan Cup champion Whitby team, which is fully underwritten for the European trip, and provided that the Allan Cup winner, if it is a Canadian team and if it has financial backing, become first choice each year as Canada's world entry.

If the same harmonious approach is taken during today's open session, the meeting may amicably dispose of two other contentious issues—the professional agreement and the report on the Memorial Cup uproar that followed the West's victory in the junior championship this spring.

TO DECIDE AGREEMENT

The meeting is to give the negotiating committee direction on settling a new agreement to replace one between the association and the National Hockey League. The old agreement expired two years ago and a verbal arrangement has been used since.

Vice-president Gordon Juckes is to report on the junior hockey issue.

Just two points interrupted the unanimity in the meeting's approval of the Whitby application. President Ed Benson of the British Columbia branch abstained on grounds he had voted against the same principle a year ago and had not changed his mind. He said he was not opposed to the Whitby bid.

MAINTAINS STAND

Secretary-manager George Dudley also took the same stand as he had a year ago, when his proposal for an all-star team was accepted over the bid of Vernon (B.C.) Canadians, who were 1955-56 Allan Cup champions, to play the world meet. Benson had voted for the all-star proposal.

The all-star proposal, which would have cost $75,000, fell through when the money couldn't be raised and after several alternatives were tried. It was decided Canada would not be represented.

The delegates appeared to accept unanimously the idea advanced by Whitby manager Wren Blair that Canada should not let its decision to enter be determined by its ability to win every time.

Ken More of Regina told the meeting that a year ago each branch had felt the world tournament had taken on political implications that made it necessary to win or stay home. Now it felt the sport and the competition were more important things.

Scholarship Lure

United States Schools Take Top Canadian Track Stars

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Let's face it, fellows, if United States colleges didn't import Canadian track and field men the last few years, there'd be little or not international competition for Canadians beyond high school age. And competition within Canada for these fellows would be just about nil.

This was pointed up the other day when a Toronto district high school meet was held here. Four of the meet's five top athletes of 1956 graduated this year will head south for the green pastures of American colleges.

One teen-ager, Jim Irons of Brampton, Ont., had 18 scholarship offers, all from the U.S. Another, Toronto's Stan Levenson, who was Canada's outstanding track performer in the Melbourne Olympics last year, had seven bids. Irons has made up his mind to go to Michigan State University and Levenson to the University of Houston, Tex.

OTHER OFFERS

Don Brown of Toronto is pondering a couple of American offers and will decide which one to accept before next fall. Stan Worsfold of Toronto is enrolling at the University of Missouri.

Why shouldn't these young fellows accept these offers? Track and field is as dead as the dodo in Canada for high school graduates, and has been so for years.

Canada would have had a tough time rounding up a track team for Olympic and British Empire Games competition if American colleges hadn't taken many of our athletes in hand over the past years.

In 1950, for instance, the University of Michigan alone imported 19 Canadians. Included in this list was Don McEwen of Ottawa, middle distance runner who was an Olympic competitor.

Bill Parnell of Vancouver, 1950 British Empire Games mile champion, enrolled at Washington State after his high school days. He also competed in Olympic Games for Canada.

TRAINED IN IOWA

Rich Ferguson of Toronto, whose 4:04.8 mile in the 1954 British Empire Games at Vancouver was the fastest ever run by a Canadian, received his track polishing at Iowa State. Olympic and BE Games sprinter Don Pettie of Calgary received his training at Drake.

Jackie Carroll of Montreal, another Olympic competitor for Canada, also was in Missouri.

There have been many others and the export of Canadian track men likely will continue.

One high school official here said that "Canadian universities offer little or no opportunities for the youngster who wants to run while U.S colleges are shoveling out athletic scholarships."

The athletic scholarship at Michigan takes care of tuition fees only, but some Canadians combine up jobs for the athletes to help them with other expenses. Don Canham, coach at Michigan, once explained why he sought Canadian boys.

"They are more appreciative and much more determined to make good in track than our American boys," he said.

BIKE DERBY WINNER

ROYAL OAK, Mich. (CP)—Patrick Murphy of Delhi easily won the fourth annual Royal Oak Bicycle Derby Sunday.

The 23-year-old Canadian Olympic cyclist chalked up 100 points in coasting to a two-lap victory margin in the 25-mile senior men's race.

His Toronto teammate, Will Cleland, was runner-up with 47 points. Only 14 of 25 starters completed the rugged distance against a 20-mile-an-hour headwind. All the other finishers were Americans.

Yankees Take Over 2nd; Redlegs Nudge Braves As Dodgers Trip Phils

Bombers Blast Bosox 17-8, Chisox, Tribe Lose Ground; Drysdale Tosses Two-Hitter

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Winning on the road and hanging on to pocket extra innings games may not guarantee Cincinnati a pennant—but it doesn't figure to hurt the Redlegs either.

Redlegs, looking more and more like champs, combined those two knacks to finally knock off Milwaukee's slipping Braves Monday night, twice shrugging off blown leads for an explosive, five-run 10th inning that produced an 11-6 victory.

It was the first of the season for Cincinnati against Braves — who had beaten Redlegs seven in a row, counting one at the tail end of last season—and it stretched Cincy's winning streak on the road to 15 games, just two shy of the major league record hung up by the 1917 New York Giants.

They haven't lost on the road since April 21—when Braves completed a three-game sweep at Milwaukee to hang a fourth defeat on the winless Cincinnati.

FOURTH OVERTIME WIN

The extra - inning victory, the fourth of the season for Redlegs who have won every overtime session they've had to play so far, kept Cincinnati two games ahead of Brooklyn Dodgers, who beat Philadelphia 5-2 on Don Drysdale's two-hit pitching. Milwaukee, with seven defeats in 19 games, fell 3½ games behind in third.

St. Louis Cardinals, with Stan Musial 3-for-5, belted Chicago's Cubs 6-3 in the only other National League game scheduled. New York and Pittsburgh were idle.

Redlegs, only 10-9 in their own chummy Crosley Field but 15-3 on the road, also got around to whacking Lew Burdette, the Milwaukee righthander who had whipped them nine times in a row since 1955. Burdette escaped defeat, however, with an eight-inning home run by Hank Aaron and a ninth-inning shot by Del Crandall tying it at 6-all.

EJECT TWO

Pat Corrales hustled back to a pinch single by Smoky Burgess scoring the clincher. Pinch-runner Hal Jeffcoat scooted home and Johnny Logan got into a scrap when Jeffcoat slid into the infielder at third base, setting off a rush of players from both benches. Jeffcoat and Logan were thrown out, but Redlegs added three more runs before Braves could put down the uprising which gave Hersh Freeman the victory in relief.

Braves got their two singles off Drysdale, both in the second inning as Ed Bouchee and Aaron connected for the runs. Duke Snider's two-run homer broke Lew Burdette and Chisox Pitcher Bob Keisler

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Many men like to pull some phony bids now and then when playing bridge against their pals or dumb wives. But there is no use being silly about it in a world championship match. As in this deal number 94:

NORTH
♠ K 4
♥ 6 4
♦ A 10 9 6 4 2
♣ K 8 4

WEST — EAST

♠ 10 9 8 7 5 3 — ♠ Q 6 2
♥ K J 9 7 5 — ♥ 10 8 2
♦ J 5 — ♦ K Q 8 7 3
♣ J 5 2 — ♣ 10 6 3

SOUTH
♠ A J
♥ A Q 10 8 5 3
♣ A Q 9 7.

In room one south was declarer at four hearts. He got a spade lead from west that helped and one of the two trump finesses stood up. So, he took 12 tricks. But four hearts is the correct contract.

In room two the bidding went like this:

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 H	1 S	2 D
Pass	2 S	Pass	3 NT
Pass	4 C	Pass	5 D
Pass	3 NT	All Pass

Notice the west defence bid of one spade. It is so stupid, even a moron is unworthy of it. Surely he did not expect to scare such opponents thereby. And there could be no other advantage.

On the other hand, it is handing opponents a choice of gifts. One is for them to tell each other the spade suit need not be feared. The south did what his overcall in the opponent's suit.

Furthermore, it opened the way for south and north to cue bid the aces and kings of hearts. This might even have helped to reach a slam that could not be shown in any other way.

Luckily for west, south was a notrump addict; one saturated with that denomination, he blindly fought off the heart suit by taking a three notrump he took only 11 tricks; more than he deserved.

If masters are too stubborn to make the most of opportunities offered them, it is another story. But the west defensive spade bid, nevertheless, was still stupid. Just plain stupid.

SHE HAD PRIDE

RAMONA, Calif. (AP) — A 15-year-old girl scout rescued nine-year-old cub scout Tommy McClure from drowning Sunday after he lost her pajama bottoms. Bonnie Graham stayed in the icy water of a five-foot-deep mountain pool until a boy scout leader, Bill Skinner, threw her his shot, to replace the missing garment. She was then pulled out by a rope

Guided Missiles Not Yet Ready For Air Force

OTTAWA (CP)—In early 1950, the defence department embarked on a project to equip the RCAF with air-to-air guided missiles. Eight months later, the first test missile was launched.

But seven years later the RCAF still has no missiles and air force officers indicate it may be still another three or four years before the RCAF has them in operational use.

Production of a missile, especially in Canada which had to start from scratch, is an extremely complicated business. The Canadian missile, for instance, required 60,000 separate drawings.

When the missile program was launched in 1950—the weapon was called Velvet Glove—it was expected that the missiles would be in production by 1955.

In 1952, Velvet Glove was ditched in favor of an American-developed missile and plans were made to obtain licences from the United States firms involved to manufacture it in Canada. Officials forecast at the time that the American weapon, the Sparrow, would be in production in Canada by 1956.

ONLY IN U.S.

However, officials now disclose that only test models of the Sparrow are in production so far—and only in the U.S.

The defence research board has said in an official statement that "several" components of the Velvet Glove are still superior to their counterparts in the Sparrow.

The Velvet Glove program cost Canada $34,000,000 of which $7,000,000 was employed for permanent facilities which will be of use for some years.

It was abandoned because, though it came up to original specifications set by the RCAF, its performance was not good enough to combat high-speed, high-altitude bombers developed by Russia. More than 200 test models were built and fired.

OFFER TO LEASE CENTRE

MONTREAL (CP) — Executive committee chairman Pierre Desmarais said Monday he had had an offer from "a serious and responsible" Montreal syndicate for a long-term lease on the city's proposed $25,000,000 east - end sports centre.

Little Benny's Notebook

We were eating liver and onions in pop's honor, and ma said, William, you never hear a thing I say to you.

That statement is open to successful rebuttal, my dear, because I'm hearing every word right now, pop said, and ma said, I expressly asked you to remind me of something, but apparently my request went in ear and that was all.

Is it too late now? pop said, and ma said, How do I know?

That's the 64 multimetric question, pop said. I'll put it this way, what was I suppose to remind you about? he said, and ma said, It could aneer that I wouldn't need to bring up the subject in the ferst place.

Yee gods, dont you even know what you asked me to remind me? pop said, and ma said, Now William, if I had thought I could depend on myself to think of it, why do you think I asked you to remind me?

By gollies I know what it was, pop said, and ma said, Then tell me for land sakes.

You wanted to be reminded that you're the world's most forgetful man, woman or child, pop said, and ma said, William, that's exactly it.

Heh? pop said, and ma said, I asked you to remind me not to forget the women and children of the refugee camps. I promised to bake a cake to be auctioned off in the big fund drive, she said.

There, you see, that proves I listen to you every minute, pop said, and ma said, Well, I guess you're not so bad.

Which he's not.

Walter Brennan Badgered Into Doing Film Series

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—The television news today is that Walter Brennan, the only actor to win a Motion Picture Academy award three times, has been coaxed and badgered into doing a film series for television.

"Fella name of Pinkus talked me into it," Brennan said. "Irving Pinkus. He's been at me two years. A real nice fella. We hit off fine and we finally made this pilot film. Everybody who's seen it like it. Now I like it and even one of my sons who usually doesn't like anything, he likes it. So I guess it's all right to go ahead with it."

It certainly is, for ABC-TV has bought the series and scheduled it to begin Oct. 3. It's called The Real McCoys and concerns a West Virginia family who inherit a California farm or ranch, as they call it out there.

DISLIKES CHEAP PROGRAMS

"I think this program is off-beat and has class," he said. "I don't like cheap stuff and we aim to see this isn't cheap. I hope I'm right in it. I never do like myself much anyway. A funny thing, a lot of motion pictures I've been in I never even went to see. Take Pride of the Yankees, I never saw that, and I never saw Nobody Lives Forever. There've been a lot of 'em I never saw."

Brennan is 61, but nobody would believe it if he didn't say so. From seeing him in the movies I had thought he was on the scrawny side. He's not. He's tall and sturdily built and his skin is healthy and sun-burnished. His eyes are bright and penetrating and his grip is as powerful as a woodcutter.

You'd take him for a rancher. And he is. He owns a 12,000-acre cattle ranch near Joseph, Ore., which one of his sons runs for him. And which he visits often from his home in Los Angeles. He has three children, nine grandchildren and a wife to whom he once has given me a mite of trouble."

Nearly everyone takes Brennan for a westerner born and bred. Actually he comes from Swampscott, Mass. His family has been New Englanders for generations.

Technical Adviser Watches Life Pass Before Eyes in Movie

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Yes, that's just how it happened." That was what Jack Lord, who has the unique experience of watching his life pass before his eyes. He is the technical advisor on the film, The Lady Takes a Flyer, which is based on his own experiences.

Jeff Chandler and Lana Turner play a married couple who operate a plane-delivery service, flying aircraft to all parts of the world. Conflict arises when she has a baby and decides she wants to settle down as a housewife. The picture ends with the issue left up to the audience.

With Jack Ford and his wife, the dispute ended in divorce.

Jack is a dark-haired, handsome pipe - smoker who looks much younger than his 39 years. With his wife, who had flown transatlantic delivery flights in the war, he founded an aircraft delivery service. Their marriage went smoothly for a few years, though they were often at opposite ends of the world.

BABY CHANGES THINGS

Then the baby came. On some single-seat flights, Jack took the baby along, strapped to her back papoose - style. But Mrs Ford tired of the international gadding-about and sought the home life. That's when their marriage cracked up.

Jack is still sold on the business. "If you like to get around and see places, this is the life," he said. "The constant thing about it is that we go wherever there is trouble in the world."

He admitted that the work is not conducive to married life.

Jack Lord, meanwhile, has begun to send a crew to Toronto to make

YOUR HOROSCOPE

By FRANCES DRAKE

For Wednesday, May 29th, 1957

March 21 to April 20 —(Aries) — Neither very favorable nor unsuspicious planetary configurations in your sector today, but a tendency to "let it go" may tempt the extra careful about details, facts; don't be tense.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Strive yourself time, money and energy where you honestly can. This does not mean neglecting duties or obligations. A realistic attitude necessary.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Tendencies toward strain, anxiety, and resultant irritability and quick temper may be prevalent with many now. Don't be one of the offenders. Your Mercury's good position suggests that you be the peacemaker.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Give some time to the benefit of doubt where you can; smile through difficulties, and your day will not only be happy but you will be building untold future gains.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Get facts straight; don't assume without carefully analyzing; and don't make decisions alone which could better be made in collaboration with others. Act with forethought and discretion in all things.

August 24 to September 23 — (Virgo) — If prudent about business and finances, you can make appreciable headway now. Be sociable, don't hold little personal enmities.

September 24 to October 23 — (Libra) — You may have to settle for a little less than you anticipate. But don't be hasty and have to retrace your steps. Don't let minor irritations annoy you. Be patient.

October 24 to November 22 — (Scorpio) — Don't be bound by small streak of circumstance, situations, etc. Reach out for greater knowledge, more facts; keep studying; you are always happy when busy. There is no age limit to success.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — You need not accomplish a great deal to achieve soundly today. Often the few "small" things one does well contribute most to success and contentment.

December 22 to January 20 — (Capricorn) — Consider all matters on your agenda serenely and avoid taking useless chances, especially with money, properties. Use good judgment and initiative. Have faith; you will gain.

January 21 to February 19 — (Aquarius) — Waste no efforts on worthless projects. Keep your mind above petty things. You may have to push a little to get the results you wish, but don't strain.

February 20 to March 20 — (Pisces) — Anxiety about returns should be avoided now. Also curb obstinacy and restlessness. Both could cause loss of advantages.

You born today are enthusiastic, energetic, versatile. Other traits that can help you build a great life: intellectuality; liking for travel, adventure, inventiveness. Try to curb impatience, however; also inclinations toward restlessness and a smattering of your energies. You can attain success more quickly than many you will aid others, too.

The severed fuse was only four inches long

BLAMES CIGARETS

EDINBURGH (AP) — The general assembly of the Church of Scotland Monday put part of the blame for juvenile delinquency on smoking. "Mutton! Did you say MUTTON?".

Says Catholics Waging War on Anglican Church

WOLVERHAMPTON, Eng. (AP) The Archbishop of Canterbury has accused the Roman Catholic Church in Britain of "waging an open war against the Church of England."

The archbishop, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, also told a diocesan conference Monday that he would "like to see the churches of England, Scotland, the United States and any other churches all bound together in one body."

He added: "If the Pope would like to come in as chairman of a joint council of churches we should all welcome him."

"QUITE ASTONISHING"

Msgr. Derek Worlock, private secretary to the Roman Catholic Archbishop of Westminster, said in London "we find the Archbishop of Canterbury's remarks quite astonishing."

Coupled with what he said on earlier occasions and with the recent address of the Bishop of Chester," he said, "they would make it appear that open war is coming not from the Vatican but from the Anglicans."

The Bishop of Chester, Dr. Gerald Ellison, said in an address last week the Roman Catholic condition for a reunion with the Anglican Church "is total submission to the Pope and total abandonment of all that has been previously known as Christ's church."

The bishop said it was "unacceptable to any loyal Anglican."

Unity Urged Among Canadian Medical Men

TORONTO (CP)—Unity among Canadian doctors, even at the expense of some of their individualism, was urged Monday by the president of the Canadian Medical Association.

Dr. Roland Lemieux of Quebec City, speaking to the opening session of the Ontario Medical Association convention, suggested special measures to bring more Quebec doctors into the CMA. Doctors in other provinces not now members could be encouraged to join by intensifying education, promotion and service.

Some French Canadians, he said, regard the CMA as an Anglophile association and distrust it. Dr. Lemieux suggested education and "mutual attitude" on the part of English-speaking medical men, who should show greater understanding and tolerance to their Quebec colleagues.

More than 1,700 Ontario doctors are here for the week-long session. Guest speakers from across Canada and the United States will deliver papers.

TO REVIEW FINE

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Supreme Court Monday agreed to review contempt charges and a $100,000 fine levied against the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Alabama Judge, Judge Walter B. Jones in Montgomery found the NAACP guilty of contempt and imposed the fine after the organization refused to turn over its membership rolls for inspection by the state.

Diefenbaker Ends Western Campaign in Home Riding; Speaks on Tax-Sharing Plan

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (CP)—Progressive Conservative Leader John Diefenbaker has concluded a two-week western tour with a political rally in his home town.

An audience of 950 Monday night crowded into a 760-seat theatre, and many overflowed into the street where loudspeakers had been set up to hear Mr. Diefenbaker before his return to Toronto to resume his campaign Wednesday in the June 10 federal election.

Greeted by the audience which sang He's a Jolly Good Fellow, Mr. Diefenbaker said: "My friends, I like you too. Our home will still be in Prince Albert on 20th Street if I become prime minister." He said he and Mrs. Diefenbaker will be back in Prince Albert June 8 before the election.

"Olive and I will be here on election day. That's the least I could do."

SAYS TOO POWERFUL

Mr. Diefenbaker criticized the federal government and said "Many of the things the people want have not been achieved for the simple reason that one has been in the House of Commons an all-powerful government and an all-powerful majority."

Mr. Diefenbaker, seeking re-election in Prince Albert, a Liberal stronghold he won in 1953, promised that a Conservative government would give the Indians a voice in Parliament by appointing one of their number to the Senate.

A Conservative government would end a system begun in 1951 whereby Indians on reservations could challenge, on the basis of parentage, the rights of other Indians to live on the reservations.

"The welfare of the Indians was subordinated to the demands of a stupid bureaucracy."

Earlier, speaking at a press conference at Saskatoon of his party's chances, he said: "I have at no time been more optimistic and hopeful than I am at this moment. That's a maximum of understatement."

He was asked how his party's policy, involving increased expenditures, squares with the promise to reduce unnecessary taxation.

COULD BE DONE

Mr. Diefenbaker replied that both could be done without a budget deficit. His estimate had been made on the basis of steadily increasing budget surpluses. The surplus last year was $500,000,000 and if the economic forecast of Trade Minister Howe was correct the surplus in the current fiscal year would be 50 per cent greater.

Following the press conference he spoke at the noon hour from a bandstand in a city park.

He said it would be the last time in his campaign he would reply to Liberal allegations that a federal Conservative government, in drawing up new federal-provincial tax-rental agreements, would give preferential treatment to Ontario in return for Premier Frost's election support.

Those allegations were "an attempt to get my eye off the ball—the main issue, which was the preservation of Parliament."

Mr. Diefenbaker said as long as he was Conservative leader, his party attitude would be equal treatment of all provinces.

TALKS FALLING APART

ROME (AP) — British-Egyptian financial talks, now in their third day here, Monday were reported deteriorating rapidly because both sides amadantly opposed demands for reparations. Members of both delegations refused comment. It was reliably learned, however, little progress has been made since the talks began last Friday.

ISLANDERS STRANDED

MONTREAL (CP) — Hundreds of residents of Ile Bizard, off Montreal Island, were stranded Monday when a heavy steam shovel plunged through the floor of the wooden bridge connecting the island with Greater Montreal. The only other link for the island's 2,000 residents is a ferry capable of carrying two cars a trip. Public works department officials said it might take 12 to 15 days to fix the bridge.

Says Deseronto Police Using Illegal Method

TORONTO — The Toronto Globe and Mail today says that Deseronto police are writing their own roadside law by illegally demanding on-the-spot payments equivalent to speeding fines from motorists accused of breaking the speed limit.

"The action, which the Attorney-General's Department has described as "irregular," was brought to light as a result of complaints to The Globe and Mail" the paper says.

"Motorists stopped on a speeding charge are being asked to pay the equivalent of a fine and court costs as security for their appearance in court. The payment is forfeited if the person fails to appear.

"Legal authorities note there is no provision under Ontario law for a magistrate or police officer to collect a fine by the method adopted by the Deseronto police department. Nor has a police officer any right to demand payment of money from any person as security for non-appearance in court.

"No fine for speeding can be legally imposed or collected unless a summons has been issued and served on the accused either through the mail or by person.

"Section 4 (3) of the Summary Convictions Act, which covers speeding charges, provides that every summons issued for a violation of any of the provisions of the Highway Traffic Act shall be served by sending it by prepaid post or by personal service within 10 days of the alleged violation.

"Receipts issued by Deseronto police for money collected from motorists they stop, state that the money is to secure the appearance in court of the person accused of speeding.

"But under the law, a police officer has no right to demand payment of money from any person as security for appearance in court, regardless of whether a summons has been issued and served" the paper concludes.

WOMAN KILLED

OSHAWA (CP) — A Windsor woman was killed Monday night when a car left a side road 10 miles northeast of here and overturned. Dead is Doris Stewart, 30. Her companion, Alfred Van Dusen, 26, also of Windsor, suffered head injuries and was taken to hospital.

SPENT NIGHT ASHORE

SIMCOE (CP)—Len Tye and Fred North returned home here Monday night after being unheard from since Sunday when they took their outboard motor boat out in Lake Erie. They said rough water forced them into Long Point and they spent the night there.

LIGHTNING WRECKS HOME INTERIOR

When Norman Buffam of Carleton Place, Ont., returned home from a fishing trip, he found his wife in hospital with a broken ankle and his home wrecked. What happened to the Buffam home —was a one-in-a-million chance—a lightning flash struck the house causing the second floor to collapse onto the first. Mrs. Buffam, in bed on the second floor, had her fall into the living room cushioned by the mattress.

NAME PRIME MINISTER

HELSINKI, Finland (Reuters)—Dr. Veino Johannes Sukselainen, leader of the Finnish Agrarian party, was Monday night appointed prime minister by President Urho Kekkonen. He will head a 14-man coalition cabinet. Karl-Auguste Fagerholm's coalition government resigned last Wednesday.

868 CANDIDATES

Completing the roster are 62 candidates, exclusive of Mr. Bendickson, of various affiliations. There are Independents, Labor-Progressives, Canadian Democrats, Liberal - Conservative Coalition and Capital Familial, the designation of a persistent but not-yet-successful candidate in Trois-Rivieres, Que.

The Communist Labor-Progressives, whose 100 candidates all lost their deposits in 1953, entered only 10 candidates this time, Mrs. Camille Dionne, spokesman for the party in Quebec province, said the number was decreased "to promote labor unity at the polls."

In Quebec, where there are Liberals entered in all 75 constituencies and Progressive Conservatives in 69, the miscellaneous group of candidates included 26 Independent Liberals, 10 Independents and five Independent Progressive Conservatives.

There are 22 CCF candidates, including Mrs. Therese Casgrain, the provincial party leader who is contesting Villeneuve. Social Credit had five candidates, one of them Roland Roy who has Prime Minister St. Laurent as an opponent in Quebec East.

Mr. St. Laurent, whose 20,104 majority in a five-man contest in 1953 was the greatest in Canada, also is opposed by Louis Gagnon, Progressive Conservative.

The Capital-Familial candidate is Trois-Rivieres is George Gronier who has contested municipal, provincial and federal elections since 1927. Mr. Grenier received 41 votes in 1953 when he was a Liberal-Labor. The winning candidate then was Leon Balcer, national president of the Progressive Conservative Association, who is seeking re-election.

In the Atlantic provinces, Liberals and Progressive Conservatives are opponents in 33 constituencies, all except Mr. Carter's Burin-Burgeo riding. The CCF has 12 candidates, Social Credit three, including Carl Bates in Pictou—its first-ever Nova Scotia contestant—and there is one Independent.

Liberals and PCs have a full slate in Ontario's 85 constituencies and there are 60 CCF, 40 Social Credit and nine other candidates. Seventeen of the 30 women seeking election are in Ontario which returned the only four women elected in 1953.

The two veterans of the Commons, A. Clair Casselman and Earl Rowe, are in the field again. Both are Progressive Conservatives.

Mr. Casselman was first elected to the Commons in 1921 and has sat continuously for Grenville-Dundas except from 1923 to 1925 when he resigned to make a seat available for Arthur Meighen, his party leader. Mr. Rowe has represented Dufferin-Simcoe since 1925.

An interesting sidelight on the Grenville-Dundas contest is that Mr. Casselman's Liberal opponent is Peter Lesaway, son and initials—he is Arthur C. Casselman. Robert H. James, Social Credit, also is a candidate in the riding.

Manitoba has a full slate of Liberal, PC, CCF and Social Credit candidates, plus four others, in its 14 constituencies, while Saskatchewan's 17 ridings will be contested by 17 Liberals, 16 PCs, 17 CCF, five Social Credit and two other candidates.

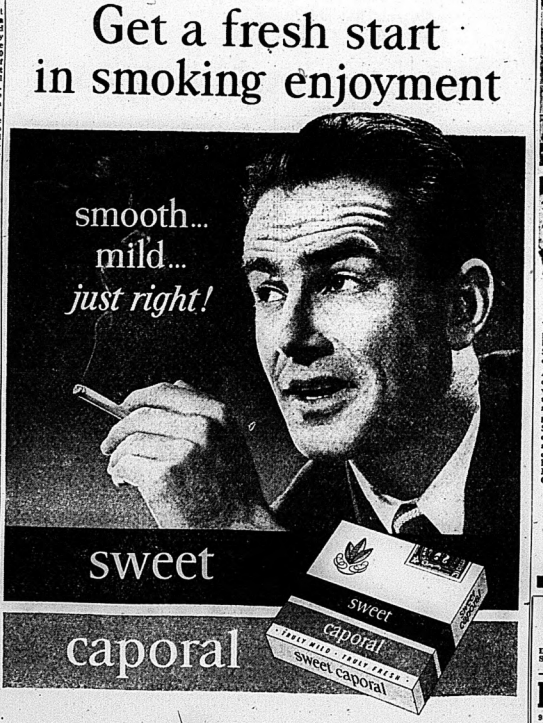
Alberta lacks only two CCF candidates for a full entry by the four leading parties in its 17 ridings and the only absentee in British Columbia's 22 seats is a Social Credit candidate in Skeena. The Yukon and Northwest Territories seats are straight Liberal-PC contests.

Seats of all the party leaders are being contested by at least three candidates. PC Leader John Diefenbaker has Liberal and CCF opposition in Prince Albert and CCP chief M. J. Coldwell is opposed by Liberal, PC and Social Credit candidates in Rosetown-Biggar.

Solon Low, head of Social Credit will have a five-way fight against Liberal, PC, CCF and Independent candidates in Peace River. Mr. Low and Mr. Diefenbaker were nominated May 13.

ALL BUT TWO

All but two members of the cabinet are seeking re-election. Miles Minister Prudham, in Edmonton West, and Slate Secretary Pinard, in Chambly-Rouville, are not contestants.



Two members of the last House are drawn against each other in Assiniboia where Hazen Argue, CCF, is seeking re-election. Rose Thatcher, who switched his support to the Liberals after being elected CCF member for Moose Jaw-Lake Centre in 1953, is the government candidate. W. J. Ferguson, PC, completes the slate.

The 868 candidates nominated Monday, although lower than the 1953 total because of the drop in Communist candidates, compared with 848 nominees in 1949 when 262 seats were contested. The record for Canada was set in 1945 when there were 964 candidates for 245 seats.

Sec. Of Treasury Geo Humphrey Resigns Office

Head of Canadian Mining Firm Will Succeed Him

WASHINGTON (AP) — George M. Humphrey today resigned as secretary of the treasury. Robert B. Anderson, former deputy secretary of defense who heads a Canadian mining firm, was picked to succeed him.

Anderson heads Ventures Ltd. of Toronto.

Humphrey's resignation was announced by the White House through release of a letter from the treasury secretary to President Eisenhower asking to be relieved "at a later time the choice of the current congressional session."

At the same time, Eisenhower formally sent to the Senate a nomination of Anderson to the U.S. government's top fiscal post.

Anderson, a Texas Democrat, has served as major secretary in the Eisenhower administration as well as deputy secretary of defence.

DATE UNSETTLED

Eisenhower left the effective date of Humphrey's departure vague in the air.

In a letter accepting the resignation, the president told Humphrey "there are a number of critical problems to be considered during this session" of Congress, and added:

"Until the bulk of these have been satisfactorily resolved, I deeply believe that your experience and the confidence that the business community has in your judgment will be great assets in reaching the best answers.

"Consequently, the date you turn over your duties to your successor, will, within the limits indicated, be dictated somewhat by circumstances."

Humphrey's decision to leave the cabinet and the choice of Anderson to succeed him were generally expected.

Humphrey's friends have been saying for months that he was anxious to return to the business world where he nearly doubled his life for 40 years until he took the treasury post in 1953.

The Ohio industrialist gave up a $300,000 annual income when he accepted the post for the government at $22,500 a year. (Cabinet salaries were raised to $25,000 last year). But his aides insist this had nothing to do with his decision to resign.

"He has made his fortune," one friend has said recently. "He doesn't need the money that private enterprise can give him. On the other hand, he is a man of great loyalty to the people and the country for which he was associated.

"They have convinced him he can do something for them. That's why he's going back."

Similarly, the report has been widespread that Eisenhower wanted Anderson to take over the treasury in his own and Humphrey left.

Anderson will be 47 on June 4. The present secretary was 67 last March 8, and his age is one reason Eisenhower has reportedly have felt he should give up the cabinet job.

Anderson was a high-salaried ($60,000-a-year) manager of a big Texas real estate with varied interests when he came to the administration in 1953. He was reported to have had been a Texas Democrat for Eisenhower in 1952.

The White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said today: "Bob Anderson has always had a legal residence to New York and legislative assistance to every dairy producers," Mr. Howe said.

Adenauer Blocks Possible Pact on Aerial Inspection

WASHINGTON (AP) — The possibility of negotiating with Russia a disarmament inspection zone in Europe appeared to be virtually ruled out today by Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's opposition to the inclusion of German territory.

Such a zone—along with one in the Northern Pacific area—had been discussed in Washington talks under way in London as part of a "first step" agreement involving Russia and the United States.

Adenauer told a press conference Tuesday that a first-step agreement on disarmament is primarily a program for the United States and Russia. It "would not serve a useful purpose," he added, to apply initial aerial inspection to Germany.

Germany is the key country in the heart of Europe and German consent to the essence of any disarmament agreement affecting its territory.

LEAVES LATE TODAY

The German leader, winding up his three-day visit to Washington, is scheduled to take off for Germany late today after a round of ceremonial calls.

Adenauer completed his conferences with President Eisenhower Tuesday and held a press conference shortly after Eisenhower and he had issued a joint declaration on their conversations.

In the communique, the two top-ranked Soviet leaders to agree to a first-step disarmament plan to create "a degree of confidence in Russia's intentions.

They said the limited plan could lead later to a "comprehensive disarmament agreement," but they agreed that any such step "must necessarily presuppose a prior solution of the problem of German reunification."

The division of Germany into West Germany as East Germany is Adenauer's constant and foremost political problem.

The communique disclosed that Adenauer had urged Eisenhower to plan an early four-power foreign ministers conference on German reunification after the conclusion of an initial disarmament pact.

Policeman Battles For Control of Truck

TORONTO (CP)—A panel truck raced through afternoon traffic Tuesday as a constable standing on the running board and the driver fought for control of the careering wheel.

Constable Ray Addison managed to get the truck to a halt and headed toward a parked tractor-trailer and hang on as it mounted a curb, hit a telephone pole and stopped aglast an iron fence.

Charged with the driver with criminal negligence and drunk driving. Constable Addison said Clifford tried to make a getaway after a minor accident, but the constable leaped on the side of his truck.

CHEDDAR CHEESE IMPORTS BANNED BY GOVERNMENT

Move to Support Canadian Price

OTTAWA (CP) — The government, by order-in-council, has banned all imports of cheddar cheese "for the present" and put it under import control for one year.

The action was announced Tuesday by Trade Minister Howe in a statement which added that "claims of special hardship or loss arising from this action by the government will be investigated and appropriate recommendations will be considered."

He said the move was decided upon to help support the domestic price of cheese, protected by a federal-Ontario price guarantee.

Canadian cheese producers had tried for some years to have the government control imports, but without success. They also have asked that the duty rate on New Zealand-manufactured cheese be increased to protect Canadian production.

U.K. ALARMED

Canada, producing a lot of cheese itself, imports most of its requirements of it, mostly from New Zealand, which was reported alarmed at the move by the Canadian action.

It was taken in the wake of a previous announcement that Canada was renegotiating its trade agreement with New Zealand and Australia. Cheese is allowed in from those countries at a special tariff of one cent a pound. The rate for non-Commonwealth countries is three cents. This was supplemented by another 10-cents-a-pound guarantee by the Ontario government.

Canada's cheese stockpile on May 1 totaled 28,000,000 pounds. Mr. Howe said, up 2,000,000 from last year. Canadian production during the five per cent higher than a year ago and expected to continue at that level.

The import controls remain for one year.

It is expected that the steps now being implemented will be of material assistance to dairy producers," Mr. Howe said.

Coldwell and St. Laurent Take Peck at Diefenbaker

By CP STAFF WRITER

Canadians might not be getting all the pay they'd like, but they've never had more to spend.

Prime Minister St. Laurent offered that assertion Tuesday as he joined CCF Leader M. J. Coldwell in criticizing Progressive Conservative Leader John Diefenbaker—but on different counts.

Mr. St. Laurent, opening a Quebec campaign at Trois-Rivieres Tuesday night for the June 10 election, trained his sights on the attitude of Quebec Conservatives at that party's annual meeting last December which chose Mr. Diefenbaker as successor to Hon. George Drew.

"Are Quebec's Conservatives trying to add to the voters' confidence they would not buy themselves?" he asked.

Mr. Coldwell, in a television broadcast from Winnipeg, approached from an agricultural angle.

He said Mr. Diefenbaker, in recently denouncing the CCF proposal for a system of parity prices for farm prices, was underestimating the confidence of Canadians to provide farmers with security.

Mr. Diefenbaker, meantime, moved quietly into the Toronto area to resume his vote wooing in Ontario.

He speaks tonight at Oshawa.

Social Credit Leader Solon Low will campaign in his own constituency of Peace River in North-Western Alberta.

While referring to the 26 Independent Liberal candidates in Quebec, Mr. St. Laurent said voters should not imagine they support his government unless they vote for the Liberal party's official candidates.

Mr. Coldwell said newspaper reports quoted Mr. Diefenbaker as describing the CCF parity proposal as "socialistic" and questioning whether anyone believes "the people of Canada would permit the taxation necessary to give farmers their full pay regardless of production."

The CCF believed Canadians are not afraid to see farmers get a fair income . . . "not just when crops are good, but at all times."

The Conservative leader "underestimates the Canadian people. . . . Canadians people 'are big-hearted enough and fair-minded enough to vote for a system of parity prices to provide our farmers with security" and not leave them "exposed to every change in world prices and every plague or drought."

Batista's Force Admits Rebel Opposition on Three Fronts

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—President Fulgencio Batista's forces have admitted rebel opposition on three fronts in his Cuban domain.

Batista forces clashed with insurgents Tuesday near Holguin, in northeast Cuba; near Manzanillo, in the southeast, and at Cienfuegos in the central province of Las Villas.

An army communique said the Holguin action involved a rebel supply column landed at Cabonico Bay last Thursday from the Florida-based yacht Corinthia. It said there were 16 rebel casualties and the rest of the band was being pursued.

Original reports said 25 men had landed from the yacht and that it had been captured within a few hours. The reinforcements were to have been heading for the Sierra Cristal mountains of northeast Cuba. Fighting in the area indicated the band was growing, the reports said, to more than the 100 well-armed men.

The Manzanillo skirmish was reported to have involved forces of insurgent leader Fidel Castro, whereabouts unknown for more than a year.

Batista's troops were reported to have been operating in the nearby Sierra Maestra range since landing of Gen. Maximo Gomez in December. The army said both sides suffered casualties.

Thursday rebel pilots were reported arrested at Cienfuegos. Interior Minister Santiago Rey said they were surprised at a secret meeting and taken after a gun battle in which there were no casualties. He said they were preparing to join the leaders in the Cuban mountains, emulating Castro's guerrillas.

The Havana Electricity Company worked to restore service in Havana after an underground explosion Tuesday but said power service might not be restored until Thursday. Authorities blamed sabotage for the explosion, which occurred eight blocks from the national capitol.

Meanwhile Fire Chief Sinesio Cuesta said a tunnel had been dug from an uninhabited house to the electric and gas mains and dynamite placed under the electric cables. The explosion left about 1,000 blocks of houses without electricity.

Three-Level Parley Urged To Fix Government Divisions

CHATHAM (CP) — The president of the Association of Ontario Mayors and Reeves today called for a plenary conference between representatives of the provincial government and local governments "to hammer out once and for all the respective responsibilities of both levels of government."

Mayor Arnold L. McCrae of Windsor said at the municipalities' session, holding its annual conference here, said such a conference would be the best way to enable the municipal governments make representations to the federal government.

In the past, he said, federal authorities have taken the attitude that any matter of general interest to all the municipalities in a province should be handled by provincial authorities, and municipal delegations are "out of court" in attempting to negotiate directly with the federal governments.

"There remains only one course open to the municipalities to seek consideration of their problems," Mr. McCrae said. "That is that course lies in a full consideration of their case by the province."

"Such a full consideration of provincial municipal relationships . . . should encompass submissions of the province in dealing with the federal municipal relationships with the federal government."

Mr. McCrae reviewed the activity of the association in the past year and commented upon the results of briefs by the group to the federal and provincial governments for relief to municipalities of some of the costs of "non-basic" municipal services such as education, unemployment relief, welfare services and care of the aged.

The increase of $33,000,000 in assistance to municipalities granted this year by the provincial government was all directed toward such non-basic services, he said, "all of which should be entirely financed by the senior governments."

Mr. McCrae cited several statistics of provincial legislation which "was well on its way" to becoming "dead" because the municipalities learned of it. Such legislation would have had an adverse effect on municipal budgets and was despite assurances from the provincial government that at least consideration would be notified of any proposed legislation that would affect the municipalities.

Mr. McCrae suggested that the municipalities retain a lawyer to keep watch on the legislature and notify it of any bills and representations before any proposed legislation became law.

The law, Mr. McCrae's report was released to the press in advance of delivery.

BRANTFORD (CP)—A human skeleton, believed of a man, was found Friday in a gravel pit two miles south of here. Police have sent it to Toronto for laboratory examinations. How long the skeleton had been buried has not yet been established.

100 POLICEMEN HUNT 2 BANDITS AT PICKERING

Steady-Nerved Pair Rob Bank of Commerce

PICKERING, Ont. (CP) — Nearly 100 policemen combed this area for the steady-nerved bandits who robbed the Canadian Bank of Commerce branch here of an estimated $6,000 Tuesday.

The pair, wearing white masks, took time to scoop up change and then stood nonchalantly by their getaway car before leaving Pickwards Toronto, 20 miles west, along Highway 2.

Police said one of the witnesses had time to get the license plate number before the pair drove off. They proved to have been stolen from a used car lot in nearby Oshawa, police said. The car was a black 1956 model.

SMARTLY DRESSED

Witnesses said the pair — one tall, one short and both "shabbily dressed"—walked into the bank at closing time and forced employees and customers to lie on the floor.

After a fuel company employee, Robert Scott, kicked shut the door to the office of bank manager Fred Shortreed, one of the men fired three shots into the door. Three of the bullets missing the men inside by inches.

Then Althea Dumond, 20, when told to lie down, pressed the emergency alarm. The gunmen ordered her to open a cash box and handed her a paper bag to fill. "Then one took over the other wicket where he told teller Ivan Hawkinson "put up and hand over the money. I don't want to hurt you."

NO FINGERPRINTS

After getting bills from both tellers, he returned to Miss Dumond's cage to scoop up silver. He wore red rubber gloves.

Manager Shortreed estimated the loss at $6,460.

William Murkar, 63, publisher of the nearby Pickering News, said the men followed him into his store five minutes before bank closing time.

Mr. Murkar's daughter-in-law sounded the alarm buzzer and went to the office of her husband two doors away. Dr. Murkar phoned police. Mrs Murkar said one of the men dropped a painter's hat while getting in the getaway car.

Congress Given Grim Forecast

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress has received a grim forecast that by 1960 Russia will be capable of launching 1,500 A-bombs, the equivalent to 2,500,000,000 tons of TNT and inflicting a death toll of perhaps 82,000,000.

Charles Shafer, U.S. weather bureau expert assigned to the Civil Defence Administration, testified Tuesday.

"We were advised an attack of this size was within enemy capabilities by 1960."

Half the deaths would be caused by radiation from the bombs, Shafer said. In addition, he said there would be 24,000,000 persons receiving casualties and 40,000,000 relatively uninjured persons would suffer from the effects of fallout.

These awesome estimates, which assume no advance evacuation, were presented to the Senate-House of Representatives committee on atomic energy at hearings exploring the hazards to humans from atomic radiation and fall-out.

Normally Mild Seaman Runs Amok After Conviction on Theft Charge

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Naval psychiatrists tried to determine today what sent a normally mild seaman on a murderous rampage of armed mutiny Tuesday aboard ship.

One officer was killed and another severely wounded in the sudden outburst on the Navy cargo transport Uvalde at Treasure Island dock in San Francisco Bay.

Negro seaman Jimmie Henderson of Marin City, Calif., said he killed because he was convicted of stealing a $30 watch. The 21-year-old youth talked freely of his resentment, planning and the killing. Then he was taken under guard to a naval hospital.

The bespectacled sailor slugged a guard on the Uvalde, seized his automatic and killed Ensign Arthur Morris, 24.

Morris was shot in the head as he sat on the edge of his bunk at 6:15 a.m.

He "caused all the trouble," Henderson said about Morris. Morris had reported he stole a watch. Henderson said he had found the time piece.

Henderson was convicted at a court martial Monday of theft, sentenced to four months at hard labor and demoted.

Shot three times through the stomach and arm, because "he was in the way," was Ensign Richard Harrison, 22, Morris' cabin mate. He was Henderson's defence counsel.

2 Killed, 3 Hurt As Police Chase Montreal Auto

Car Hits Steel Girder Doing 100, Splits in Two

MONTREAL (CP) — Two persons died and three others were injured in a 100-mile-an-hour police chase early today which ended when the pursued car split in two after it crashed into a steel hydro girder.

Police said Lionel Dubois, 30, and Roger Belanger, 20, died in hospital shortly after the crash. In serious condition in hospital with head injuries were Bill Nash, 18, and Robert Hawley, 19.

The fifth person injured was a pedestrian hit by flying debris from the crash. Mrs Phillip Duval, 27, who was walking with a friend, suffered a fractured leg.

A police cruiser started the chase when officers spotted a car reported stolen going through a stop light.

The brief purfuit touched the 100-mile-an-hour mark when the car went out of control and crashed in the girder. Police said wreckage was strewn over a wide area and one body was thrown 100 feet from the vehicle.

Premier Frost Accepts Word Of Dr. E. Forsey

TORONTO (CP) — Dr. Eugene Forsey of Ottawa, director of research for the Canadian Labor Congress, said Tuesday he has received a letter from Premier Frost of Ontario in which Mr. Frost said: "I am quite prepared to accept your statement that you are not now, nor have you ever been, a Communist."

Dr. Forsey made this known in a letter published in the Toronto Star.

Dr. Forsey's letter recalled that Provincial Secretary Dunbar said in the Ontario legislature on March 25 that Dr. Forsey had once said "he had been a Communist but he had resigned."

The letter continued: "I immediately said that Mr. Dunbar was a liar and that if he would repeat the charge outside the house I would sue him. On March 26, asked in the legislature either to retract or to repeat the charge outside, he flimsily refused to do either."

HAND QUOTED

The letter said Mr. Dunbar had quoted Graham Spry of the CCF Parliament as having once said: "He (Dr. Forsey) says he is a Communist once . . ."

Dr. Forsey said he wrote and telephoned Mr. O'Leary who flatly flatly denied ever having said anything of the sort." His letter continued that Mr. O'Leary told Mr. Dunbar to say that Mr. O'Leary never said nor thought that he (Forsey) was a Communist.

The CLC research director said he wrote Mr. Frost May 7 and enclosed a copy of Mr. O'Leary's letter to Dr. Dunbar.

He said the premier's letter was received in reply to him.

HAS POWER TIEUP

TORONTO (CP)—Elevators in downtown buildings stalled and traffic lights ceased to operate for 10 minutes Friday when a hydro transformer blew out. The tie-up, which lasted from 3:44 to 3:54 p.m., affected most of the downtown section.

U.K. Immigrants Up Four Times Over Last Year

OTTAWA (CP)—British immigration to Canada in the first three months of 1957 rose to 22,978, more than four times the number who arrived in the corresponding period last year.

Statistics issued Tuesday by the immigration department also showed a sharp increase over last year in arrivals of children and of immigrants trained in skills and professions.

Total immigration for the three months increased to 62,460 from 13,963 last year, with most coming from the United Kingdom or Hungarian refugee camps.

It is expected here that immigration for 1957 will exceed 200,000 by a considerable margin, making it the biggest year since 1913 when a record 400,870 arrived. About half of the 1957 figure likely will be made up of immigrants from the British Isles.

The 22,978 immigrants from the British Isles in the quarter included 14,20 from England, 2,553 from Ireland, 5,147 from Scotland and 438 from Wales. British immigration in 1956 was 54,310, and 30,150 in 1955.

Arrivals of Hungarian refugees in the first three months of 1957 totalled 11,963. Since last November's revolt, 22,228 Hungarian refugees have come in and the figure for 1957 is expected to be between 30,000 and 33,000.

Vancouver Herald Ceases Publication

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Herald Vancouver's only morning newspaper, ceases publication June 15 after a 30-year history.

In a front-page statement in today's first editions, General Manager Bernard J. Wood said the paper will stop publishing because of rising costs.

Mr. Wood's statement said the newspaper's circulation has gained and current circulation is the first five years but newsprint consumption has increased 40 per cent and the payroll has increased 74 per cent. The last Audit Bureau of Circulations report showed the Herald's circulation at 33,413.

The Herald, founded on a co-operative basis in 1933 as The News-Herald by a group of department store employees, then, was bought by Roy H. Thomson, president of the Toronto Evening Telegram, in February, 1952. It was politically independent.

The last publication, May 30 of them on the editorial staff, will be affected by the shutdown.

Bicycle Safety Program Will Be Carried Out

It is now safety time for bicycles and bicycles should be in perfect order for the coming holiday season. Many accidents involving bicycles could be avoided if brakes, chains, handlebars and other important parts of a bicycle were in proper condition.

The Belleville Bicycle Safety Dealers have realized the necessity of a safety campaign and are sponsoring a full scale program. This program commences with a check of all bicycles in the city through the co-operation of the Belleville School boards. This check will take place in the schools and lists of all defects will be left on the child's bicycle. Following this a safety rally will be conducted, which will necessitate the correction of all defects in order that the child may enter the rally. The rally will consist of a miniature street lay-out through which the child will have to maneuver, giving necessary hand signals and obeying all rules and regulations as required by the law.

Also a questionaire will be answered by the contestants and the awarding of many valuable prizes, including a Raleigh three speed bicycle, fully equipped with dyno-hub headlight, pump, kit bag, and reflector tape as first prize.

These prizes will be awarded on the basis of the best rider, neatness of bicycle, best and neatness of written test.

This is an important undertaking and the parents and children are asked to co-operate in every respect in order that every child in Belleville will be in safe working condition.

First Avondale Cub Pack Again On Active List

It was a sad day for Avondale community parents and their young lads, when their Cub Pack was forced into inactivity by illness of its leaders. Though frustrated often, they never gave up hope.

An aroused Home and School Association met with Mrs. Harry Lyle Jones could not see the chance again. They met, they planned and they brought forth an inspiring array of leaders.

The group committee — all fathers of present or future cubs, is made up of Hedley E. Wallbridge, chairman; Lyle Jones, secretary; John Wettlaufer; Byron Hagerman; Al Eggleton.

The leadership and training of the Cubs has been assured by the return of Mr. Tom Legacey as Akela, ably supported by Mrs. Legacey and three new enthusiastic assistants Mr. and Mrs. Robert Williamson and Dr. J. Morris Smith who will be invested June 3. At present there are twenty-one eligible Primrose Lil. But is happy to have such a fine group of boys under excellent leadership meeting in his school every Monday night.

Bruce Thompson, group contact chairman was invited to a parents' meeting at Avondale. So took three other local Association members along with him. This was a very informal affair but results exceeded all expectations. Mr. Jack Hodgson was there and sent the following report: "The active interest of these good people of Avondale puts the groups in a better position than they have ever been. Belleville Boy Scout Association extend to you their best wishes and thanks and assistance you may require".

Three Bands Will Give Concert At Collegiate

Saturday night in the Belleville Collegiate auditorium, at 8 o'clock, the curtain will be lifted by the performances of the well known bands, which are putting on an evening of musical entertainment to close the local Red Shield campaign of the Salvation Army.

The bands under the Dovercourt Citadel Band, under the baton of Bandmaster W. J. Habkirk.

The famous RCAF Training Command band from Trenton will be in attendance as well as the local Salvation Army band. Bandmaster Habkirk who is said to be unassuming and modest, yet a strict disciplinarian, has moulded the Dovercourt band to a remarkable standard since his arrival in 1945. His instrumentalists can achieve outstanding unanimity in their technique and brilliance in allegro passages is most skilled and his Graveworth is fine organ-like.

These results can be obtained only through expert training.

Since Bandmaster Habkirk accepted the leadership of the band in 1946, it has travelled extensively throughout Ontario, Quebec and the U.S.

Through the kind permission of Air Vice-Marshal C. R. Bryans, Air Officer Commanding RCAF Trenton, Ontario, the Training Command band will appear to render many well known and popular compositions.

Its leader is Flight Lieutenant Donald Bell. Today's band of this RCAF band occupies a high place among Canada's foremost musical organizations. Since it played its first concert in 1946 in the Trenton Memorial Hospital, Toronto, the band has won fame and distinction throughout Canada and abroad.

The Training Command band is no stranger to the C.N.E. and when Queen Elizabeth II visited Canada, her Majesty, Prince Philip left Newfoundland, the band was standing on the pier.

The third band to be in attendance will be well known and highly praised Salvation Army band from the Belleville citadel, under the direction of Jack Green.

The citizens of Belleville and district are well acquainted with the Salvation Army Belleville band and, from advance information, it seems likely a capacity audience will be packed on Saturday night.

Merchants Asked To Mail Loans For Parking Fund

Five years of planning by the Chamber of Commerce to develop three downtown areas for off-street metered parking may soon be realized if the Chamber succeeds in and near the affected sites begin now to mail in their loans to the Chamber of Commerce Parking Fund.

Plans to be developed are situated at the foot of Patterson St. on Pinnacle St., Celtic of the demolished Belleville Lock Co. building); adjacent to the Moira River from Front St. to the foot bridge behind the stores; and from the foot bridge to the Upper Bridge behind the stores.

Co-chairmen of the parking committee of the Retail Section of the Chamber of Commerce, D. Lunn and C. Colling, said today: "It is important that funds for this parking project be received as soon as possible so that the council may take the necessary steps to develop these lots. The monies will be deposited in a trust fund and used to meet the merchants' and businessmen's fair share of the costs of developing them."

Merchants and businessmen have agreed to contribute 25 per cent ($25,000) of the cost of development, in co-operation with council.

The proposed parking plan is a self-liquidating one and the revenue from the meters will be used to retire the loans from individual merchants and the city's investment position, on a pro rata basis. Costs of producing the lots are based on purchase price and engineering, construction costs, grading, paving and metering. The cost for individual stores was arrived at by calculating the property taxes, percentagewise, with the total sum needed of $100,000 to be obtained.

The chairmen emphasized that monies received from Chamber members and the city would be in the form of a loan, only. The time, contributors will receive their money back.

These students and the many friends Mr. Airola has made in this country will greatly miss him when he leaves on July 1st for Europe, mainly to Paris for further study and then in September to Mexico for painting and study for a year.

Mr. Airola's one-man show in Trenton, in the town hall courtroom of the new municipal office, on Sunday and Monday, June 2nd and 3rd, should not be missed and it is hoped, that all those interested in good paintings will be hard to see some of the best.

IN MEMORIAM

COXON. — In loving memory of dear daughter, Jo-Anne Coxon, who passed away May 29, 1956. Sadly from the ninth of sorrow,
Just like a flower in bloom;
So young, so fair, so loving,
Yet called away so soon.
Dad, Mum, Sandy, her sons, bright and loving,
Resting by waters fair,
She is waiting for our coming,
In the upper garden there.
In the arms of Jesus she lies at rest
Ever remembered by mother and father and brothers Sonny and Roy.

COXON. — In loving memory of our granddaughter, Anne Coxon, who passed away May 29, 1956. A year has passed since we lost you,
Since you left us for a while,
With Jesus Christ to dwell.
Time takes away the pain,
But memory lingers on for ever.
Sadly missed by Grandma and Grandpa.

GILROY. — In loving memory of a dear mother, Mary Gilroy, who passed away three years ago, May 29, 1954.
Gone but not forgotten.
May she rest in peace.
Ever remembered and missed by her daughter, Nellie and Clayton, Port Hope.

KENNEDY. — In loving fond memory of a dear mother, Susan D. Kennedy, who passed away three years ago, May 30th, 1954.
Three years have passed and gone,
Since one we loved so well.
Death has taken from our home on earth,
With Jesus Christ to dwell.
Ever remembered by her son Ivor.

May silver and decay,
Rust and dust,
Soon claim for her who sleeps beneath,
Shall never fade away,
Cherished memories of a loved one.
—Lovingly remembered by Grandma and Grandpa.

Queen Will Soon Decide Whether To Visit Canada

LONDON (CP) — The Queen is expected to decide at the weekend or early next week whether to visit Canada this autumn.

There seems an expectation that her decision will be affirmative.

The Manchester Guardian, discussing the possibilities in the most cautious manner, appears ready to lay a slight shade of odds that the visit will take place. It says that Prime Minister St. Laurent, in his recent statement on the subject, "has added enough weight to the arguments for a visit to offset the arguments which were tending to weigh against one."

At the same time, it notes that the arguments for and against a visit are "so nicely balanced" that the decision must be made solely in accordance with the Queen's wishes.

Arguments in favor of a visit are that the opening of the new Canadian Parliament will offer a "neat and seemly" occasion for the Queen to be with the Canadian people, and that President Eisenhower is also ready to welcome her.

Against the visit is the fact that she has already made three state visits this year, and will go to Canada in 1959 for the opening of the St. Lawrence seaway.

The possibility of a royal visit to North America this autumn has been widely discussed for some months now, first in the form of a U.S. visit with a side trip to Canada, and lately as a Canadian project which would include a stop in the U.S.

Bridge Club Closes Season With Banquet

The Belleville Bridge Club concluded a most successful season last night at Columbus Hall when the members entertained their wives at a social evening. There were more than sixty in attendance. The assembly enjoyed a social hour before partaking of a delicious roast beef dinner with all the trimmings served and prepared by Mr. McAvoy.

At the conclusion of the dinner the president, Claude D. Tice, thanked the women for their graciousness to the members playing in their homes during the season, to Mr. McAvoy for the splendid dinner and to Frank Domenico and Harry Trepanier with the help of the secretary, W. B. Vanderworst, the committee which was responsible for the fine programs.

After the tables were cleared other tables for bridge were set up and the gathering enjoyed a round of bridge, with the men helping the ladies garner the awards for prizes but banned from winning any of them. The committee in charge of play Mrs. Robert Murphy, Mrs. Frank Domenico, Mrs. Jack Lawrence, Mrs. Hugh Murray, Mrs. William Coulby, Mrs. Homer Townsend, Mrs. Gerald Hyde, Mrs. A. Wolfenden, Mrs. Don Stirling, Mrs. James Ward and Mrs. W. B. Vandervoort were the prize winners.

Some new applications have been received for next year's play and another successful season for the Bridge Club is anticipated.

Diver Will Be Employed to Probe for Body

With the search for the body of Charles Niles, 40-year-old Belleville man, who drowned nearly a week ago in the Trent River, still unsuccessful, a Trenton diver will be employed to probe near the edge of the base of No. 3 dam at Glenn Miller where the man disappeared.

Provincial police from Belleville are still heading up the search for the man's body but experienced river men doubt that it will be found in the vicinity of the dam unless it is caught in the rocks.

The Belleville man drowned last Thursday evening when he slipped off the dam as he prepared to fish.

Plan to Form Horseshoe League

Vic Belliveau, sports chairman of the Canadian National Recreation Association announces that a meeting will be held on Friday evening at 8.00 p.m. for the purpose of organizing a city horseshoe league. This meeting will be held in the ticket office at the CNRA Recreation Park.

Last summer, eight horseshoe pits were constructed by the association and a four-team Canadian National league was formed. Mr. Belliveau advises that this year, in addition to the railway employees' league, he has hopes of forming a city league and is confident there is a sufficient number of interested persons in the community to make this venture a success.

All interested groups or individuals are cordially invited to be in attendance at this meeting.

60 Tug, Dredge Workers Again Back on Jobs

MONTREAL (CP) — Marine Industries Ltd., has asked police protection in two provinces for some 60 tug and dredge workers who went back to work after briefly joining a wildcat strike Monday.

General manager Louis DeRome said at a press conference the men have been intimidated by the Seafarers International Union (CLC).

He said four tugs and two dredges halted their work on the St Lawrence seaway project Monday when 150 men left their jobs, but two tugs were back at work Tuesday.

Hal C. Banks, head of the SIU in Canada, denied his union had anything to do with the walkout. ASK PROTECTION

Mr. DeRome said negotiations began Tuesday with Quebec and Ontario Provincial Police, and Montreal and harbor police, for protection for Marine Industries crews from Quebec City to Cornwall.

Company officials said the stoppage now was not a strike but a case of employees "afraid to work because of threats."

Marcel Pichet, company lawyer, said an injunction against the SIU would be requested in Superior court, alleging intimidation.

The company alleges the SIU is trying to take over from a "rival union" which is trying to organize the employees. The rival union was described as the Association of Canadian Workers on Dredges and tugs. The association is scheduled to present its case Thursday to the federal labor relations board in Ottawa for certification of 550 employees of Marine Industries.

RECEIVE CORRESPONDENTS

LONDON (Reuters) — Soviet Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev Tuesday received in the Kremlin a group of correspondents of the Columbia Broadcasting System, Moscow Radio reported. Khrushchev replied to a great number of questions concerning the foreign and internal policies of the Soviet Union, the international situation and Soviet-American relations, the radio said. CBS plans to broadcast a tape-recording of the interview at a later date.

Board Reserves Ruling on Unions At Uranium Mine

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canada labor board today reserved its decision in an inter-union battle for supremacy in representing workers in Canada's uranium industry. At stake was who is to represent 105 employees of Northspan Uranium Mines at Elliot Lake in the Blind River district.

Claiming the right to represent all or just certain of the employees were the Red-tinged International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, which alleged that its major opponent, the United Steelworkers' Union, sold memberships at bargain rates to get support, and the International Union of Operating Engineers.

The engineers' union sought to represent only 12 stationary engineers and engineers' helpers.

The steelworkers, represented by lawyer John Osler of Toronto, want to represent all Northspan employees, including the engineers, but Mr. Osler said that if the board feels the engineers should be in a local of their own, the Steelworkers are prepared to set up a separate local.

Jail U.S. Chain Gang Fugitive For Two Years

TORONTO (CP)—Kenneth Brymer, 18, an escapee from a Florida chain gang, was sentenced in York County Court Tuesday to two years in Kingston penitentiary after he pleaded guilty to four theft charges.

Brymer's student defence lawyer, F. S Fisher, said Brymer was sentenced to one to 2 years for a $170 theft when he was in Florida.

The United States FBI advised that Brymer was also serving an additional five years on another Florida conviction.

Brymer and his companion, Edward Mathison, also 18, of Toronto, were captured by police here three weeks ago after a 100-mile-an-hour chase that ended when a stolen car rolled over several times.

Two of the four charges against the youths were for car theft, and the remaining two involved thefts from a post-office and a service station.

Doctors Propose Audits If Fee Splits Charged

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Medical Association has endorsed a proposal that doctors' financial records be audited when complaints of fee-splitting are registered.

The College of Physicians and Surgeons had made the proposal.

At the annual conference of the OMA here Tuesday, Dr. Glenn Sawyer, general secretary, said the association agrees with the college's desire to obtain power to investigate a doctor's books, but only if a complaint had been registered.

"It now will be up to the college to determine whether amendments of the Ontario Medical Act are required to acquire the necessary authority," he said.

Fee-splitting was defined by Dr. Sawyer as repayment to a physician of a fee the patient knows nothing about, such as in cases where one doctor receives a fee for referring a patient to another.

INFLATABLE PLANE REALLY FLIES

Fitting the fuel tanks to the underside of its novel inflatable wing, men prepare to send the revolutionary M.L. light aircraft off on a test flight at Whitehall, Walthan, England. The wing of the odd plane is of delta plan and consists of an envelope of rubber - proofed fabric. The fuselage is suspended from this wing and propelled by a pusher type engine. The wooden fuselage seats the pilot and one passenger in tandem. Designed for military reconnaissance and as a simple utility plane, the unique craft has a top speed of 58 miles per hour and weighs about 515 pounds. When not in flight, the craft can be deflated and folded neatly away.

WORLD POPULATION GROWING TOO FAST

Those wide open spaces appear to be doomed.

Man is multiplying much too fast for his own good. The United Nations Demographic Yearbook for 1956 reports that the world's population was 2,700,000,000 in 1955 and was growing at the rate of 5,000 an hour or 43,000,000 a year.

If the world's population continued to increase by 43,000,000 a year, the situation would not be so bad. But mankind is faced by the magic of compound interest, here a black magic. If the rate of increase continues, the actual increase will be larger each year. At the present rate, the world's population is expected to double by the end of the century, within the lifetime of many of its present inhabitants.

The fear that the population of the world would become so big that food supplies would be insufficient is an old one, the theory has been advanced, "debunked," and advanced again and refuted again, time after time. When first the gloomy possibility was suggested, there were few who would believe that the world's population could double within a scant forty-five years. Moreover, the world's population was not then as large as it is today. Even more frightening is the realization that there is no reason to believe that the trend towards a steady increase in population will be reversed in the twenty-first century. What if it doubles again within forty-five years, if by 2045 there are four people for every one today on earth?

The world, some scientists reply, can feed many, many more people if man properly exploits its resources. The sea, in particular, is depicted as a source of abundant food, at present practically untouched. Food can be obtained in great quantity from the plankton with which sea waters teem in many climates.

Let us for the sake of argument, grant that the world can provide food for a population doubled, and quadrupled and increased eight-fold.

Where are all those people going to live? In those wide open spaces? Many of these spaces are inhospitable, wastes either frozen or bothering beneath a sun which beats down on desert. Even if the world's deserts were irrigated, a herculean task, a world population doubling every forty-five years would soon fill them to overflowing.

Is the world to become one vast ant-hill, one big, sprawling city? Life under such conditions would be intolerable for man if he retained many of his present instincts.

Commonsense tells us that there is a limit to the number of people who can live on earth in comfort and decency. Commonsense tells us that the time to do something about checking the rate of increase is not at the end of the century, when there will be twice as many people reproducing their kind, but today.

Some kind of birth control, whether by mechanical or medical means or by self-control on the part of the world's inhabitants, would appear to be essential.

India, Pakistan and Japan, three countries where the population problem is most pressing, have already instituted birth control programs. Japan has also legalized abortions in certain cases, a policy which most of us will find abhorrent.

Religous objectives will be one obstacle to any attack on the problem by dissemination of information on birth control. Latin America is leading the world in population growth. This does not constitute such a pressing immediate problem as the growth of the populations of the Asiatic countries, because Latin America is comparatively sparsely populated, but eventually these lands will face a serious problem unless the rate of population growth is checked.

Here is a situation which is as explosive as an H-bomb and almost certainly as great a threat to the future of mankind as atomic "fall-out."

FREEDOM OF MOVEMENT

Liberals, with a small "l", may have been shocked to read last week that two South Africans have been refused the right to attend meetings in Britain.

One refused an exit permit was Harry Bloom, author-barrister, who planned to visit London to receive the British Authors' Club prize for the best first novel of 1956. This prize was awarded for "Episode," which dealt with racial unrest in South Africa.

The other South African refused a passport is Mrs. Jessie McPherson, national chairman of the South African Labor Party, who wished to attend the British Commonwealth labor parties' conference in Britain this week. On various visit to Britain in 1954, she had predicted that "those of us in South Africa who are opposed to the government" might eventually find it impossible to get passports.

There can be little doubt as to why exit permits have been refused Mr. Bloom and Mrs. McPherson.

Before we become too horrified, though, we ought to recognize that South Africa is not alone in following this pattern. The United States has adopted a similar policy towards travel in Communist China, even preventing U.S. newspapers from sending reporters there.

The development of nuclear weapons, and the possession by a few men of secrets whose revelation could jeopardize the future of a whole nation, has made it necessary for modern states to limit the absolute right of citizens to freedom of movement. But, aside from the few who possess such secrets, ought not the rest of us to have the right to travel in any country which will have us?

Measuring Age of Water

By Ritchie Calder in Unesco Features

Cosmic rays, or atoms from space, are constantly bombarding the earth. They are particles with tremendous energy that penetrate deeply into the earth. Some with lower energies never get through the protecting blanket of our atmosphere. But others do. Sometimes we detect the showers of cosmic rays, which may be related to flares on the sun and certainly are related to storminess in the earth's magnetism. Describing the magnetic field of the earth and cosmic rays are closely interrelated in a way that is not precisely known. But, in any case, the magnetic field is used as a way of analyzing the energy of cosmic rays, and cosmic rays, in turn, are used as a way of measuring the magnetic field of the earth and particularly to locate the magnetic equator.

Cosmic rays can also tell us quite a lot about events in the universe beyond the earth, just as they tell the nuclear physicist a lot about events in the atom itself — in other words, cosmic rays are born from the vast universe around to the infinitesimally small stem. Studying them, incidentally, will be one of the objects of the artificial satellites — the man-made moons.

But come back to earth. This cosmic ray is a violent continuous bombardment by atoms from space. These invisible projectiles come careering into our atmosphere and some of them penetrate deeply into the earth or into the depths of the sea. They are nature's powerful missiles, and when they hit other atoms they may split them to bits — split an atom, you do what the media-men-of-words call — change one element into another. When a cosmic ray strikes the atoms of water (H2O) it does just that — it transmutes an element into something different. One of the elements which cosmic rays produce in this way is tritium — and tritium is an atom of hydrogen — about three times as heavy as ordinary hydrogen.

Now this radioactive tritium is carried down to the earth's surface by rain. It gets into the rivers and the streams and the cisterns and into the water which soaks deep into the earth. And it can be detected by instruments.

But tritium is like a clock which gradually runs down. Its radioisotope gradually vanishes. In twelve and a half years, the signals are only half as strong as they were originally. But scientists with their delicate instruments can measure exactly the rate of the slowing down of decay, as they call it. So they can tell the age of water, whether it is one year old, two years old, eight years old, twelve years old, or older still when it has lost its radiation. And so tritium has been put to work to help find useful wells in the deserts.

This is of vital importance in the thirsty wilderenesses of the world. Over and over again, men have found water under the deserts only to be disappointed when the wells dried up — because they were unenlightened by spring sources, cut off from the rains which would have fertilized them.

That would not happen today, with the tritium-o-meter or a door-keeper can count visitors passing through a turnstile.

By this method, they can measure how much water is in a certain last year or the year before or whatever year—and whether it is like a lake, or has been only replenished or may be subject to vagaries which will disappoint the hopes of desert settlers.

So you see that atoms from space are not unfriendly visitors. They are sometimes unwelcome with your radio programme—as in the case of the atomic particles belched out from the eruptions on the face of the sun —those things interfere with sunspots. And, as we have seen, even those atoms of tritium which we have reason to detect in the hydrogen bomb are now being harnessed to the service of man — to simple jobs, like finding a well in the desert.

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

EASY WAY NOT THE BEST

It is a striking fact of history—both ancient and modern—that nations which do the least have come up to hard things practically never graduated. There are present-day live peoples who eat the fruit that drops off trees and need to do almost but few thousand years to end insulge themselves. And these people remain pretenders to the throne.

The same is true, of course, in the case of individuals. Occasionally a person born with a golden spoon in his mouth arrives at greatness and dies without a considerable list of highly achievements behind him. But this is rare. The life of Abraham Lincoln makes such a tremendous appeal to people the world over because it embodies the important principle that difficulties and crises make men. What Lincoln would have been had he been born into a wealthy home and had had everything he wanted, no one, of course, can say, but he is inclined believe that he would have been something far less than he universally revered.

When the Lord liveth, He chasteneth. Maybe you have wished at times that He would try impressing you with his generous method, than He usually employs. But the principle that difficulties and crises produce character continues to operate infallibly as the law of gravitation.

Don't lose heart. Don't become bitter. There is meaning to life, to the whole of it.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

EXPERIENCE

What we are is largely because of the experience that we have gone through. A high school or college graduate, for example, can farm, a clerk in a store, or a salesman. To be any of these, and more, is to gather a certain experience. When the young man applies for a job in a given organization, almost the first question asked by the employer of applicants is: "What experience have you had?"

The experienced mechanic, or, in fact, any worker at something, gains experience that is an asset when that one decides to improve himself. We have all read or listened to the story of people who have gone through an exciting or difficult experience, mostly in early life. Ill-experience that catalogs us, and, since it is so important, the more we get of it the better.

All experience is a contribution to our mental state of mind, and we have to give something out as we add to all the time. The richer and more extensive the experience becomes, the greater is our advantage over others. Every day of our lives we keep adding to the bank of experience something valuable, something that is bound to add to our success and happiness. Experience is an essential, no matter what it is called.

We have confidence in the doctor, because he has experience. The more experience he has, the more capable we become each day, for we keep adding to it. We have confidence in any person who has had extensive and put to the test of the years. What makes anyone interesting is what that one has gone through. The broader our experience has been

St. Joseph's CWL Sponsors Fine Membership Party

On Monday evening in the school, St. Joseph's C.W.L. executive held a delightful membership "Coffee Party" for the ladies of the parish. There was an attendance of 54, several were new members. The regular monthly meeting preceded the party.

The president, Mrs. J. Hanley, presided. The correspondence report was given by Mrs. T. McQuaid in the absence of the corresponding secretary, Mrs. T. Kelly. Reference was made to the Diocesan banquet to be held in Kingston, June 3rd, and promptness in calling Mrs. J. Hanley re tickets was stressed.

The treasurer, Mrs. E. Hopkins, read the financial report.

The spiritual convener, Mrs. George Whalen, wished the members to be reminded of the League Communion Sunday, on June 2nd.

Mrs. C. Murphy, second vice-president, reported the Brownie "Mother and Daughter" banquet held recently, and as Mrs. Murphy is retiring from Brownie work, Madam president thanked her for her splendid efforts last year in this regard. Much good work was accomplished by the 24 Brownies of St. Joseph's No. 9 Pack during that term. The president called for a volunteer to take charge of this work.

Convener for radio, T.V. and movies, Mrs. E. Cooper, drew attention to the new book entitled "Catholic Preview of Entertainment," and advised it was an excellent source of information on entertainment attractions for youth.

Mrs. J. Baker, convener of the "Spring Bazaar," reported it a success and thanked all who had helped. Members were asked to read a written report on the various booths.

Mrs. H. Carr-Brainf reported for the League of the Sacred Heart and reminded the ladies of the coming First Friday.

Reverend J. J. Buckley thanked the president and the ladies for the cheque which was presented to him.

JUNE "HO-BO" TEA

The president gave a report of the last executive meeting held May 21st. Members voted to have a "Ho-Bo" tea in June, and a "Dessert" bridge sometime in the fall. A welcome was extended to the new members and they were introduced.

Father Buckley, spiritual director, addressed the meeting. The members were informed of the sudden illness of Reverend Father Martin of Deseronto, and were asked to remember him in their prayers. Father Buckley congratulated the members for both their spiritual and material work in the parish. He remarked their efforts were exemplary and urged them to continue with their good work as God would bless them for their wonderful spirit of co-operation, cheerfulness and friendliness.

The president thanked him for his kind words of praise and expressed regret to hear of Father Martin's illness. She stated a spiritual bouquet is being prepared for him.

Mrs. P. Halloran, first vice-president, reported on membership and councillors were asked to assist with this work in their districts.

The social part of the program followed with a card game. The winners were Mrs. O. Dufour, Mrs. F. O'Connor and Mrs. H. O'Neil.

An attractive buffet table was tastefully arranged and the ladies, in groups of four at individual tables, enjoyed dainty sandwiches, colorful relishes, delicious little cakes and coffee.

This was a lovely party, bringing appreciative comments on the hospitality convener, Mrs. B. Bankey, her committee, Mrs. J. Polster, Mrs. M. Barlow, Mrs. E. Labelle and to all the ladies who assisted.

A minute's silence was observed in memory of a departed member, Mrs. Craig Platt.

Twenty-two members and three visitors were present.

Bills were presented and moved to be paid by Mrs. Smith, secretary, by Mrs. Wm. Adams. The layette for the Saladа Tea contest was discussed. Mrs. R. Moore, who has made all the knitted articles for the layette, had them on display. The ways and means committee are to buy flannelette to finish layette.

A letter from the Home Economics and Extension Service was read asking for two members to attend training school to be held in Picton with their project being "Hooked Rugs." Mrs. William Jackson and Mrs. Ellis were voted to attend the school.

A letter from Mrs. Colin Carter, Picton, re the annual hospital "June Fete" was read. It was decided to send the Hospital Auxiliary a donation of $10. Plans for members to attend the fete were also discussed. Thank-you cards were received from Florence Dick, B. Pettingell, Mrs. Dora Nelson, L. Vancleaf, the Morden family, J. H. Whitney family, Rev. Alfred Poulter and Mrs. Violet Marvin.

A lovely hand-crocheted doilie was given the W.I. by Mrs. Charles Wannamaker, also a traveler's alarm clock from the Simpson-Sears Company. Tickets will be sold on these at a later date. Three door prize tickets were sent to the W.I. from Mrs. F. Durrant, a former member of the W.W.I., who is now living in Oliver, B.C.

A bus trip to take place during the summer was discussed. This was left over until the next meeting.

Five delegates to attend the annual in Hillier were chosen and it was decided to cater to a wedding party on June 12th in the town hall.

Salads was chosen as the project for the extension service to be held some time in the future, to which Mountain View W.I. and Bloomfield W.I. will be invited to be the W.I. guests on that occasion.

The birthday box received only one donation this month, as Mrs. H. Dick seemed to be the only one present with a May birthday.

Mrs. Moore, co-hostess for the evening, presented the following program: a sing-song with all singing the Institute Rally Song, and "Oh Susanna"; poem of the month, "If We Had But a Day" was given by Mrs. S. Yourt; current events by Mrs. Norman Foster; Mrs. Harris gave her report on Historical Research and Mrs. H. Dick reported on her trip to the annual convention held in Guelph which proved interesting to all.

Mrs. Harris moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Dick on the splendid report she had given.

A flower contest was then enjoyed with Mrs. Bea Smith the prize winner.

Mrs. William Jackson held the lucky ticket on the door prize. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Ellis and their helpers.

Galt Prodigy, 9, Plays Classics With Ease

TORONTO (CP) — A pretty, blonde nine-year-old pianist with perfect pitch, a flair for improvising and what her teacher calls "the enthusiastic touch of an experienced musician" has given her first full recital here.

Virginia Belfer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Belfer of Galt, sat down Tuesday night at the piano before a special gathering of 30 persons with special interest in classical music and with the self assurance that might be expected of an artist many years older presented a varied program.

With pigtails bobbing, she played 10 selections by Bach, Beethoven, Chopin, Haydn, Field and MacDowell, and one she wrote herself, God Made Us All.

The little girl, who first began playing piano at five and who has won numerous scholarships, trophies and awards, concluded with the major work, Haydn's Concerto in D Major in which she was accompanied on second piano by Miss Clair Snoulten of Toronto, gold medalist at the Royal Conservatory of Music here.

ON TV LAST YEAR

Virginia, who has played publicly for many organizations and won recognition by leading musicians, made her television debut last year. But this was her first complete recital.

Among the guests were members of the women's committee of the Toronto Symphony Orchestra who were impressed by the ability of the youngster.

"The child is a prodigy," said Miss Mona Bates, her teacher, who included Virginia's own work to demonstrate the child's remarkable knowledge of composition.

Miss Bates said she feels her pupil will be ready to make her public debut next year.

Virginia says "a career as a concert pianist is my goal in life," and supports her claim by commuting the 50 miles from Galt to Toronto every Monday for a two-hour lesson with Miss Bates.

"Practising a few hours a day is not work," she says. "I have a one-track mind. All I think about is music."

A pupil in Grade IV at school, Virginia still finds time for outside activities. She sings in her church choir, loves to paint and hopes to resume her dancing lessons this year.

Her parents anticipate a great career for her. As a descendent of the composer Henry Field, Mrs. Belfer feels it is her daughter's heritage.

One of the selections Virginia played Tuesday night was Field's Nocturne. Others were Solfeggietto and Two Part Invention in C Major by Bach, Beethoven's For Elise, Haydn's Gypso Rondo, Prelude in C. Minor and Nocturne in E Flat Major by Chopin, and To a Wild Rose and Iungarian Etude by MacDowell.

This - - - and That

By HARRIET STEVENS

Going shopping?

How many times have you overheard or expressed yourself "you'd never know Front Street!"

It would be interesting from the point of view of curiosity to know how many shop fronts on Front Street have been changed over the past few years, say since the end of the last war. Judging from the changes made possible by the demolition on Pinnacle Street, it is revealed that to a great extent, it is only the fronts which change. Does this indicate that man really has not changed, or that the difference between today and the so-called old days is purely a matter of degree or form? We can remember the yarns of the wild old west when "men were men" and all that sort of thing, but roaring town had only fronts on streets with ostentatious saloon fronts in predominance.

We were occupying some idle moments the other day thinking about this most very important matter as we went to the encyclopedia. It turns out that the store front has been a feature of merchandising as far back as Pompeii immemorial. The EB says: "The shop front, since the earliest days of barter, has been a pertinent problem in design for the obvious reason that, apart from the requirement of presenting merchandise attractively, the interest of the prospective customer has to be obtained."

It appears that in the days of Pompeii and Rome, which seems far enough back for most of little story, merchants were proud of their shop fronts. Probably the rear was more attractive because many cases the owner of the building lived there. No doubt elegant courts were easier on the eyes than, say, that on the other hand elegant splendor did not always produce cleanliness.

You see how easy it would be to start back in ancient Rome, wander off on a shopping spree in the bazaars of the west flounder down through the ages, get lost in the shopping streets of the changing eras. Are you lost? Then and T is going round and round, getting nowhere fast, and so far we haven't made a single purchase. However, every once in awhile we rather enjoy just wandering about with nowhere in particular to go and nothing in particular to buy.

So when you are down town shopping and see all the additions, new store fronts, new buildings, for and so on, may realize that it is not an explosive twentieth century phenomenon at all. It has been going on for millenniums. The merchant "presenting merchandise attractively", so as to "interest the prospective customer" is living up to an ancient custom. We hope the Belleville merchants succeed and that customers are attracted as well as having their interest maintained.

Good Shopping!

A news item from New Zealand could have a local significance.

Palmerston North, a provincial city in the North Island of New Zealand, is to assume a role of international prominence as a centre of experimentation in traffic control this month. This city was selected because it is ideal for the experiments of the type that are to be carried out. It also has the advantage of being a centre serving a large rural area. It is to assist the motorist from these outlying areas, as much as to educate the city dweller in safer methods of driving and moving in traffic, that the experiments are to be made. The observations and investigations will cover the full field of traffic operation, and it is hoped that much information will be obtained that can be applied to making the streets of all New Zealand cities and towns safer for all who use them. The experiments will go on for twelve months.

The Australian Board Safety Council is going to conduct a similar experiment. Aware of the serious concern over our local problem, T and T passes this news report along for constructive reasons. Maybe someone who is vitally and personally concerned could enquire from Palmerston North what this city which in New Zealand will "become a traffic guinea pig."

The world food problem: A Japanese government survey group has said that Japan will need another 14,000 square miles of arable land — or another island the size of Kyushu — within fifteen years if the country's population continues to grow at its present rate. Along with their efforts to control the birth rate, the Japanese, too, may find an answer in pushing back the sea to create new land.

Straw Goes Glamorous

By TRACY ADRIAN

Straw, so long connected with beach bags, champagne baskets and carry-alls for trips to market, has gone glamorous this season and appears at important afternoon and informal evening occasions.

An example is this oval shaped satin straw box bag in white, pink, blue and yellow bon bon colors. It has double handles and a see-through vinyl top that is decorated with a tracerie of jewelled beads and sequins.

Christ Church W.A.E.B. Closes Season's Meetings

A delicious supper was enjoyed by 30 members and guests of the Evening Branch of Christ Church W.A. on Monday evening, in the parish hall.

Following the satisfying meal, the president, Mrs. L. Mason, wished all a happy summer holiday and asked members to keep in mind the fall bazaar as well as the cent-a-day donation through the summer months.

Archdeacon J. B. Creggan and the Rev. E. Smith spoke to the group. Mrs. L. Shambo had charge of several lucky number and birthday draws.

A convalescent card was signed by each member in turn, with get well greetings for Mrs. E. Smith, a patient in Belleville hospital.

Entertaining films were shown, bringing to a close the activities of the branch until the autumn.

ADVICE To the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

SHE SHOULD BE MATURE ENOUGH TO END THIS RIGHT NOW

It's easy enough to understand how young people can be swept away emotionally and marry someone they know will almost certainly fail them as a mate. Youth can hardly be expected to balance reason against emotion and make a wise decision.

It's considerably harder to understand how a woman of 44 can seriously contemplate marriage with a man ten years older than herself who seems to have most of the major faults and few, if any, good qualities to recommend him, since she mentions none at all. Moreover, at the moment, he is not even free to marry her, and seems to be doing far more talking about a divorce than planning to get one. Is that a good sign?

Here is the picture of him that she gives in her letter:

"This man is a heavy drinker and has no sense about money at all. He has his own business and justifies his flinging money around on all kinds of foolish things by saying there will always be more where that came from. He has a very quick and violent temper which is easily aroused when he's drinking, and then he gets the idea that I go out with other men besides himself, without telling him about it, and is insanely jealous.

"He tells me that the reason he is like this is because of his unhappiness at home, and that, once we're married, he'll settle down, and everything will be all right.

"I've been going with this man for a year, and I don't exactly know why I love him, but I do. Do you think he's right when he says he'll give up his bad habits when we are married?

"It just happens that we recently had a big quarrel about his actions and I'd like to know what I can do to help him mend his ways. I know he'll come back soon and want to make up with me, because he's done this a number of times, and I feel I must be ready this time with some kind of definite plan."

Well, why this woman should want such a man as this to come back and make up with her is a complete mystery to me, for all that could ever come of marrying him would be trouble, with a capital letter.

If she counts on any promise he makes to give up his bad habits as soon as they are married, she is, I'm quite sure, going to be sadly disillusioned.

If he's not anxious to make a good impression on her before he marries her—if he really ever intends to do so—he's not going to consider it necessary after they are married. If he's bad-tempered and jealous now, he's not going to be any better after he becomes her husband—if he ever does. If he drinks and throws away his money now, he's not going to turn magically into a sober and thrifty man just because he has a new wife to support.

For all these things this woman mentions are deeply ingrained personality defects, and the act of getting married again after a divorcee is not going to work any miracle and change him overnight. She doesn't explain why this man's first marriage is a failure, but I'd be quite willing to bet that his own deficiencies as a husband were the cause. Does she really want to expose herself to the same kind of marital experience the first wife has had?

I've said nothing about her own lack of integrity in going out with another woman's husband, and still I'm going to say on that subject is that, since she has, in this instance, been willing to become unfriendly with a married man, this fellow may well suspect, even though she become his wife, that she would be equally willing to go out with some other married man if she happened to feel like it.

In view of all the circumstances, I advise this woman to put aside the immaturity and irresponsibility she has shown to date in this relationship and be mature enough to put a definite end to it now. She'll have every reason to regret it, if she doesn't.

Wedding in June

By TRACY ADRIAN

Brides to be who are planning on June weddings will be very busy with the excitement of selecting a bridal gown to be worn on that happy occasion.

This beautiful gown is in the great tradition and is the perfect choice for a big church wedding. It is made of delicate Chantilly lace and tulle. The sabrina neckline is scalloped and the long pointed sleeves emphasize the dainty lace. A luxurious front skirt sweeps to the side and frames the tulle tiers which end in a chapel train.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

TODAY'S COURTESY TIP: SEND WEDDING PRESENT EARLY

When you plan to send the bride-to-be a wedding present, the sooner you send it after you have received your wedding invitation the better. This gives the future bride time and opportunity to enjoy it, and the thought of it and time to write you her note of appreciation.

ARE JUNIOR BRIDESMAIDS PROPER?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

(1) My groom-to-be has a sister and I have a cousin whom we would like to have as junior bridesmaids at our wedding. But my mother says she has never seen or heard of this. (2) For my bridal attendants I would like to have a maid of honor, two bridesmaids and two junior bridesmaids, and a flower girl. Would this be proper? What then would be the order of the Processional?

— J.E.

(1) It is entirely proper for you to have your cousin and the groom's sister as junior bridesmaids, if these girls are, say, from 11 or 12 years old (or possibly a tall 10) to 16. (2) And it would be proper for you to have as your bridal attendants the members you list. Then the Processional would be: first, the ushers, two by two, then the two junior bridesmaids, walking together; then the two bridesmaids, walking together; followed by the maid of honor, alone; followed by the flower girl, alone; and last, you and your father or whoever is to escort you.

PROCEDURE FOR ANNOUNCING ENGAGEMENT

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I would like to ask 3 questions concerning my forthcoming engagement.

1. How soon after a girl receives her engagement ring may her parents announce the engagement in the newspaper?

2. Would it be permissible to notify out-of-town relatives and friends of the engagement by writing each a personal note and enclosing the newspaper clipping?

3. What type of picture should be used with the newspaper announcement? Is it proper to use a professional picture, for example, nurses, Armed Forces? — B.J.D.

1. Your parents may announce your engagement in the newspaper as soon as you and your fiance wish after you and he have completed the conventions of the engagement. That is, when you have talked over your engagement with your parents; when your fiance has informed his parents of the engagement and has had that important interview with your father; when your fiance's parents have welcomed you into their family, either by personal visit or letter or telephone call; and after you have both told relatives and close friends of the engagement. These are pre-announcement musts . . . actually, of course, far more important than whether or not a girl has received an engagement ring.

2. Notifying your relatives and friends of the engagement in this way would be inexcusably bad taste. Both you and your fiance should, before the public announcement, tell relatives and close friends of the engagement, either verbally or by telephone or note.

3. Best to have ready a glossy print (9" x 10") of a conventional photograph . . . not a "profession-al" picture.

$250,000 Education Plan By I.O.D.E. in Past Year

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire spent more than $250,000 on education in the last year, Mrs. O. M. Martin of Toronto reported Tuesday at the closing session of the IODE annual meeting.

The order's expenditures for educational work have increased by 99 per cent in the last five years, said Mrs. Martin, national education secretary. She added that of every dollar spent, 55 cents went to students, 25 cents to schools and 19 cents to special education work.

"No thinking Canadian can be unaware of the present crisis in education and remain unmoved," she said. Canada is far behind less prosperous countries in fostering promising students, she added.

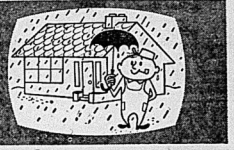
A total of $116,000 was spent on various types of assistance to students. She reported that this includes a 13-per-cent increase for scholastic standings in secondary schools and in universities on both under-graduate and post-graduate levels. Bursaries were awarded, she said, with more attention being paid to financial need.

In addition, 80 per cent of the chapters do some type of work in the schools. She commended New Brunswick, with 62 chapters, for taking care of 434 schools.

Expenditures for 2,040 schools across Canada exceeded $56,000. These included gifts such as projectors, screens, slides and teaching aids for such subjects as art, music and handicrafts.

CULTURAL PROJECTS

Cultural pursuits in the community have been emphasized by IODE chapters, Mrs. Martin said. They have assisted special classes, music festivals, libraries and recreational centres. In Ontario alone, she said, chapters have contributed more than $2,000 for awards in music festivals.



In her report on school album exchange, Mrs. George Shaw, Toronto, said "a solid foundation for exchange of knowledge and mutual understanding of the various ways of life is being obtained.

"The youth of today are eager for knowledge of other countries." She said the value of these albums cannot be over-estimated.

Chicken Even on Wednesdays

By Mary Moore

Bending over the frozen chicken counter beside me, was a little woman in a grey coat with grey hair. My fingers were numb from hunting for a boiling fowl weighing about 4 lbs. We both reached for the same bird and our hands touched, our eyes met and we laughed. Our common need started a conversation and I'm sure it would have lasted longer if other customers had not been reaching between us for the 39c per lb. "special".

Dinner Menus

by Mary Moore

WEDNESDAY

Spaghetti with Meat Sauce, Salad Greens, French Bread (to dip up sauce), Sliced Oranges and Bananas with Double Decker Bars (see Tuesday recipe), Coffee.

She told me she had 6 in her family and always bought a couple of birds when they were on sale "there's no end to what you can do with them, fry-they are always a treat. You know? Chicken every Sunday" and with a bright smile she pushed off again.

All our house we seem to be having guests every other day for a week, so I bought two—one a broiler and one a roaster and here are the methods I used.

CHICKEN CHURCHILL

Simmer one 4-lb. fowl in water to barely cover for 3¾ hours. Let cool enough to handle and then slip meat from bones, leaving pieces as large as possible. Arrange in the bottom of a buttered casserole (large.) Wash well 1-lb. small mushrooms, bring just to the boiling point in 2 cups chicken broth, drain, (saving broth of course). Turn into casserole over chicken. Add one large green pepper cut in strips. Strew over the top 1 canned pimento chopped finely. Heat together 1 cup each cream, milk and chicken broth. Blend together 3 tablespoons each melted butter and flour, stir into hot mixture. Season with ½ teaspoon each curry, MSG and pepper and 1¼ teaspoons salt. Pour sauce over chicken and vegetables. Sprinkle top with mixture of ¾ cups fine cracker crumbs and 3 tablespoons melted butter. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. about 40 to 45 minutes until cracker crumbs are golden.

ROAST CHICKEN (GENOA)

One 4 to 5 lb. roasting fowl, 1 8-oz. package medium wide noodles, ¼ lb. bacon or salt pork, 1 teaspoon each salt and MSG, and 2 teaspoons poultry seasoning or summer savoury, 3 medium onions, 2 stalks celery and 6 sprigs parsley.

DRESSING

Cook noodles in boiling, salted water till just tender. Wash and drain. Chop bacon or salt pork and fry till crisp, add chopped onion, celery and parsley and seasonings. Cook till barely tender. Toss lightly with noodles. Stuff bird with dressing after you have rubbed the cavity with salt. Do not stuff too tightly. Fasten opening. Place in roaster, breast side up, brush with melted fat and roast at 325 deg. Fahr. for 30 to 35 minutes per pound, basting frequently. When cooked remove from roaster to warm place to keep warm. While the chicken has been cooking, cook giblets in salted water and save for gravy.

GRAVY

Remove from pan all but approx. 3 tablespoons chicken drippings. Scrape down sides for those tasty browned fragments. Sprinkle 3 tablespoons flour over drippings and gently cook until golden brown, stirring all the while. Add slowly two cups stock or milk or water and stirring till thick like cream. Add chopped giblets, seasonings and bring to a boil. This European-inspired chicken tastes sublime with bright vegetables, cranberry sauce and your very best salad.

GOOD TRAVELER

By VERA WINSTON

Dacron and cotton combine for a fabric that is a good choice for sleepwear, since it is cool, pleasant and easily laundered. This nightgown is a new and clever design as it can be worn falling loose from the smocked neckline or girdled with a pretty, printed crepe sash, as shown. An especially good choice for the travel wardrobe on all three counts. Almost every item of lingerie from petticoats to peignoirs is obtainable in cool fabrics that wash easily and need no ironing.

Bringing Up Baby

HINTS COLLECTED BY Mrs. Ellen Carter (MOTHER OF 8)

Well begun — half done; an old saying that applies to modern baby feeding. Doctors add a variety of foods at an early age these days, partly because of the increased nutritive value variety affords — but also because they know that early acceptance of variety paves the way for future good eating habits.

• • •

As a mother, it should be reassuring to know that when you start your baby on Gerber, you can depend on the same brand throughout babyhood. Gerber has a type and variety of food for every baby need. Over 75 varieties of Cereals, Strained and Junior Foods, including Meats.

Spare that creeper. With summer in the offing, the floor makes a cool play area for creepers. But before you let your little wanderings explore on all fours, be sure to baby proof his travelling grounds.

1. Rockers should be moved out of harm's way. Lamp cords should be hidden, outlets guarded. Little hands are daring, but not deft.
2. Floors should be eagle-eyed for sick pins, hairpins or small buttons. Creepers make a beeline for bright objects.

• • •

Delicious, nutritious addition to baby's diet—Gerber Strained Egg Yolks. A creamy, custard-like texture and a delicate, fresh-egg flavor make Gerber Egg Yolks particularly palatable to baby. Nourishing, too, because they're rich in iron and vitamin A and a good supplementary source of protein. Important point: Gerber Egg Yolks are heat-sterilized for baby's protection.

• • •

Tapping attraction: Gerber Egg Yolks are added zest to Gerber Strained Garden Vegetables. Nice touch in a cereal dish, too. Gerber Baby Foods, Niagara Falls, Canada.

Teen-age Girls Recognized By British Manufacturers

By SYLVIA HACK

LONDON (CP)—At last British manufacturers have recognized there are teen-age girls who take pride in what they wear.

They held a buyer for a month of fashion store who attended a showing of autumn teen - age clothes at the fashionable Cafe de Paris in London.

For the third successive year, several British manufacturers call themselves "the teenage fashion group," staged a colorful show of day and evening clothes, suits and coats, designed for the 13 to 17-year-olds.

Styled by British designers and made mostly in British fabrics, the clothes showed several popular fashion trends being used for adult styles, including the princess line.

A sophisticated dress for a youngster's dinner dates comes in cobalt blue taffeta with round neckline, cap sleeves and bouffant skirt caught into a straight band at the hemline.

There's a tweedy outfit for the country girl comprising a pinafore dress worn over a white polo-neck sweater and a matching tweed jacket to go over it. Coats are mostly straight cut and come in vivid shades.

For rock'n'roll fans there's a green wool pinafore dress with a white wool shirt attached. Across the flared skirt of the dress the words "see you later alligator" are picked out in white wool.

FOR FORMAL WEAR

Evening dressed in glamorous weaves come in young styles, with wide cummerbunds and full skirts.

A white nylon number, with Swiss eyelet embroidery picked out on the wide cummerbund and around the hemline of the full skirt, brought applause from the chic-looking, mature audience.

Said a west London buyer: "Until three years ago most British teenagers had to have their clothes made, wear mother's cast-offs or buy the dowdy in-between in stores, if they weren't still in school uniforms. They really being catered for now."

Comments of a few 15-year-olds were that the clothes were too childish and precious-looking.

"We'd like to see teen -age clothes styled a bit more on what our mothers wear," said one.

"They're too fussy," said another. "Designers ought to consult us first."

Average price of the garments retail at about £11 in Britain.

BEAUTY

By MME. QUI VIVE

FIGURE RECONDITIONING REQUIRES WILL POWER—AND SELF-FORGIVENESS

This is the time of the year when women become exceptionally figure-conscious. Light colored clothes give the appearance of added weight and, of course, there is no way of hiding unwanted bulges when a swim suit's donned. So even five extra pounds loom enormously now. Those with a philosophical turn of mind usually console themselves, however, by telling themselves that "well, after all, this is the easiest time of the year to diet because one does not feel so hungry in warm weather."

Also, they tell themselves that one exercises more at this time of the year. One enjoys walks more, has more opportunity to enjoy outdoor sports.

Well, both of these statements are true. It is easier to follow a diet now; the weather's also more conducive to exercise periods. And so it's a perfect time for figure reconditioning. It will take a little will power at first—whether you need to lose five pounds or fifteen —to stay with your diet; to give up the fats, starches, gravies, fried foods and sweets of which you've so fond; will take even more will power, perhaps, to follow an exercise routine daily if you're inclined to be lazy along these lines. But the vision of yourself in a smart swim suit or one of summer's prettiest new frocks should be incentive enough.

From letters we've received in the past, however, it seems that, while such visions are incentives, they're sometimes over-shadowed after a few days by the realities of a strawberry shortcake or a luscious chocolate soda. And, bang goes the diet. But why?

Let's face it girls, we're all human. We all have our weaknesses, and sometimes they're hard to resist. But just because we yield once doesn't mean we can't pick ourselves up and start all over again. If everyone were to give up because of one failure, our world would be populated exclusively with failures. Try to be a little more self-forgiving.

Suppose you've watched your diet faithfully for ten days and you've exercised faithfully for the same period of time, and along came Janie's birthday party. You just couldn't say "no" to the ice cream and cake, and that night you were so stuffed, you passed up your stretches and bends. Of course, you'll be remorseful in the morning. But what of it? What do you accomplish by saying, "Oh, what's the use? I'll never get anywhere with my reconditioning program. I just haven't the will power"?

Say, instead: "All right, so I was a dope. I certainly didn't need those extra 600 calories and they'll probably show up on my scale tonight. But, on the other hand, the world hasn't come to an end. I'll start all over again—beginning this minute." With that attitude, your reducing program will be successful despite occasional lapses. With a sense of futility after each lapse you'll accomplish nothing.

Maximum Fine For Infractions To Be Increased

TORONTO (CP) — Maximum fines for certain traffic violations will be increased four times their present levels when changes in the Highways Traffic Act become effective next Sunday.

The new limits will permit fines of up to $50 for a first offence, $100 for a second and $200 for a third. The increased penalties are for improper turning, failing to stop at through highways and failing to give proper signals.

Maximum fines for these violations now are $10 for the first offence; second, $25, and third, $50.

Also included in the changes are provision for suspension of driving licences after two or three convictions for speeding or other traffic violations.

Convictions for criminal negligence will mean mandatory suspensions of three months, or six months if an accident is involved.

Ontario's new uniform traffic ticket, which is also to serve as a summons, will be first used in the Toronto area this weekend, and across the province in the next month or two. The ticket provides space for a reporting officer to note the type of offence and factors which might make it more or less serious.

SEEDING, PIPE-LAYING NOW PART OF PRAIRIE SCENE

Less than a mile from Regina, Sask., a ditching machine for the Trans-Canada pipe line digs a trench while, close by, a farmer seeds his land. In a few weeks the pipe will be laid, the trench covered and the farmer will plant his crops over the ditch. During the past winter, pipe, some of it in 80-foot welded sections, was placed along the right of way and now, with good weather, it is being laid at a record rate.

Tension Abates In Strike Area Of Murdochville

Out-of-town strikers headed back to their coast villages after collecting weekly strike pay, but provincial police continued 24-hour patrol of the town to guard against any outbreak between strikers and men who have gone back to work.

The out-of-town workers left after hearing Emile Boudreau, spokesman for the striking United Steelworkers of America (CLC) declare that the walkout is to prove to the company that "Gaspesians are not just another form of natural resources to be exploited."

Boudreau and Roger Bedard, another USWA official at an evening meeting urged the workers to "remain determined to continue the fight until victory is ours."

USWA officials reported that 577 strikers, "about three-quarters of them from out of town," picked up strike cheques ranging from $15 to $45. They said another 190 cheques remained to be distributed.

About 1,000 men left their jobs March 11 in a dispute that centres mainly around certification.

The sale brought in the amount of $75, clear. This club always does stretch the money to do the most possible worthwhile work, they deserve a lot of credit as do a number of service clubs in the town. The balance of goods which did not sell in the designated time limit was cheerfully turned over to the Salvation Army where it will, in turn be transferred to the Belleville Salvation Army for their rummage sale to be held there.

Free two-hour courses will be given by the St. John Ambulance Nursing Division, to groups such as service clubs, Home and School organizations, women's clubs, school classes or neighborhood groups, throughout a period commencing May 13th and part of June. Little Benny's Notebook

Ma told pop she wanted a sweater for her berthday, but not to buy her an expensive Cashmeer one unless he wanted to really surprize her.

The result being he bought her a Cashmeer one, and tonight after dinner she said, William, every time I look at my Cashmeer sweater I marvel at your good taist in choosing the perfect color and the exact size just as I discribed them to you.

Thank you my dear, pop said, and ma said, I couldn't be more pleased with anything.

Dont try, pop said, and ma said, You dont need to feel the slightest compunction, William! sez she.

The who? pop said. Do you mean to tell me they gave me one with moth holes in it or something? he said, and ma said, Of course not, the idea. I'm sure you're mutch too smart to let that happen. The only thing is, I've been thinking it over seriously, and I've decided I'd rather have a pritty blouse to wear with my new suit, so what would you think if I took the sweater back and exchanged it, William? she said.

I'd think history was repeating itself, and that I'm married to a fassinating historian, pop said, and ma said, Now William, I meen it. I meen if you would mind the slightest little bit, I want you to speek right out and say so, she said:

I'll speek right out and say it's a woman's werld and I feel proud and honored to be allowed to sine on the dotted line, pop said.

Meening Okay.

PROGRESS REPORT BY TCA

By 1961, all 4-engine... all turbine fleet to bring you new speed and comfort

The next few years will mark a revolutionary advance in air transportation. Present piston-engined types will be replaced by propeller-turbine and jet airliners. TCA, in the front rank of world airlines, will become the first intercontinental airline in the world to operate an all-turbine fleet.

The remodelling of the TCA fleet has already begun. In 1955, TCA introduced the now famous Viscount, and became the first airline in North America to fly turbo-prop aircraft.

An order has been placed for 20 Vickers Vanguard airliners, powered by Rolls-Royce Tyne turbo-prop engines. Seating up to 102 passengers and flying at 420 miles per hour, the Vanguard will serve TCA's high-density intercity and Southern routes. The Viscount, likely to be the best short-range aircraft for many years, will continue to serve short-stage routes.

Giant Douglas DC8 jetliners will round out TCA's re-equipment programme. Cruising at 550 miles per hour, carrying up to 120 passengers, they will cut flying times on trans-Continental and trans-Atlantic services by almost half.

The composition of this future fleet has been determined after years of exhaustive study and evaluation. It represents a balanced combination of aircraft best able to fulfill TCA's particular route requirements.

Three fine aircraft... each ahead in its field

In the Vanguard and Viscount, advantage will be taken of the superior operating qualities of turbo-prop aircraft over medium and short distances. The turbo-jet DC8, with its higher speed, will realize its full potential on TCA's long distance routes.

TCA TRANS-CANADA AIR LINES one of the world's great airlines

Cabinet Minister's Brother Seeks Seat by Recounting Story of His Year in Jail

LONDON (CP)—If the people of East Ham North are interested, one of the candidates is prepared to tell them before polling day Thursday how many votes he's going to get. And in Edinburgh South the voters can listen to an urbane playwright who cheerfully admits that he's been to jail.

Win or lose—and their chances of victory are slim—Edward Martell and William Douglas Home are by far the most interesting of the nine candidates contesting three parliamentary by-elections today and Thursday.

Home, brother of the Commonwealth relations secretary, the Earl of Home, and author of The Unicorn Hundreds, The Reluctant Debutante and The Iron Duchess, all west end successes, is the Liberal standard-bearer in today's voting in Edinburgh South, a seat in which two of every three voters favored the Conservatives in the 1955 general election.

TELLS OF PRISON

Home tells his audiences about the year he spent in prison during the war after a court martial convicted him of refusing to take part in the Battle of Le Havre because, he says, the Allied command refused to evacuate civilians before an aerial bombardment.

At one meeting Home suggested to a respectable Edinburgh gathering that his experiences might prove helpful to any of his listeners who might assault a policeman while on the way home from Burns supper.

J M Clark Hutchinson, a barrister contesting the seat for the Conservatives, has campaigned along more orthodox lines as has J. A Forsyth, his Labor opponent.

The activities of Martell, a former Liberal who calls himself a member of the People's League for the Defence of Freedom, may prove more embarrassing to one of his rivals in the London district of East Ham North Thursday.

Martell, a right-wing candidate, is bidding for support from disgruntled Conservatives in a seat in which Conservative candidate Jack Bangay is working to overcome the 5,500-vote majority piled up by the late Percy Daine for Labor in 1955.

AND INDEPENDENT

R. E Prentice, the Labor candidate, also has to contend with a flank attack from W. H Christopher, who is running under the Independent Labor banner on the single campaign plank of banning the hydrogen bomb. Even Christopher's campaign manager concedes that his man is not a serious threat to the Labor candidate.

Thursday's second contest is in the northern London district of Hornsey, where the widow of Sir David Gammans is seeking to retain his seat for the Conservatives in a straight fight with Lyn Mostyn the same Labor challenger whom Sir David defeated by 13,000 votes in 1955.

Present standing in the Commons is Conservatives and allies, 633, Labor 278, Liberal 5, Independent 10, vacant 4.

Former Liberal Turned PC Debates Issues With Garson

RIVERS, Man. (CP)—A former Liberal who turned Progressive Conservative has debated the pipeline closure issue with Stuart Garson in the justice minister's riding of Marquette.

The debate was proposed by Laurier Regnier, Conservative candidate for St. Boniface who was defeated in the 1949 federal election while running as a Liberal in Selkirk constituency. He first challenged Mr. Garson to debate the issue in St. Boniface but it was put off until Tuesday night due to prior commitments of the justice minister.

Each was given 30 minutes to debate the resolution: "The present federal administration betrayed the principles of parliamentary government in its closure procedure in the pipeline debate in the House of Commons last year."

Mr. Regnier was given a five-minute rebuttal and then left the platform as Mr. Garson continued to answer questions from the floor.

About 150 persons crowded into the tiny Ukranian hall at Rivers, 30 miles northwest of Brandon. Only one mild attempt at heckling was made—at Mr. Garson—during the 90-minute meeting.

Mr. Regnier launched a solid attack on Trade Minister Howe, comparing him with Russia's Nikita Khrushchev.

"The big difference between Howe and Khrushchev is that Khrushchev tries to talk to the farmer," he said.

Mr. Garson took exception to the comparison. He said: "I would have intervened at the time, but Mr. Howe would not have listened to it. . . . Mr. Howe is used to taking such abuse of this kind without comment.

"I don't think I have ever made the use of that figure of speech in the past or will hear it in the future."

Mr. Regnier said that Mr. Howe "had taken over the real power in the government party and had jettisoned true Liberalism . for what may be called Howeism."

"The government party had been taken over by a fuehrer and had adopted a code of conduct that no true Liberal could stomach."

Mr. Garson "congratulated" Mr. Regnier on delaying his reactions on the pipeline debate until the "precise time" that the Conservative party, not having a rule-title candidate in St. Boniface, chose to bring in an ex-Liberal candidate named Conservative as its candidate.

Later from the floor, Mrs. Myrtle Sutherland of St. Boniface asked Mr. Garson on what principle he remarked that the Conservatives had no candidate to run up in St. Boniface before Mr. Regnier came along.

Mr. Garson replied: "On the grounds that if they had had one they would have chosen him."

Mr. Sutherland said that the Conservatives had "several other good candidates to choose from, but we picked Mr. Regnier."

Prolonged laughter rang through the hall as Mr. Garson said: "I'm glad for this admission that an ex-Liberal is better than any Conservative."

Poison Control Centres Asked

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Medical Association has proposed that attempts be made to discourage the practice of some hospitals in discriminating against general practitioners.

A resolution passed by the OMA council at the association's annual convention Tuesday objected to the action of hospitals which restrict the privileges of general practitioners and limit staff appointments to specialists.

It asked that the situation be brought to attention of the Canadian Medical Association representative on a joint commission which accredits hospitals.

"The OMA suggested that possible withdrawal of accreditation be considered by the commission for hospitals which discriminate against general practitioners."

The council also recommended establishment of poison control centres throughout the province in hospitals to be provided with complete and up-to-date information on substances likely to be poisonous in general use, and on antidotes to these poisons.

CANADIAN CHARGED WITH MURDER IN U.S.

Clare Van Horne, well-known athlete of London, Ont., shows little emotion as he is charged with the murder of his step-niece at her home in Redwood City, Calif. Van Horne is said to have admitted having struck her several times with a hammer as she was sleeping. He had followed his step-niece, Mrs. Nancy McLennan, to Redwood after she had separated from her husband in London, Ont., and found, though she was living at the home of his brother, William Van Horne, she would have nothing to do with him. He appeared at a San Francisco police station with blood on his hands and clothes.

Mrs. Nancy McLennan, former London dancing teacher, had lived with her mother, Mrs. William Van Horne, and her stepfather, in Redwood, for the past seven months. Mother of two children and 27 years old, she was 19 years younger than Clare Van Horne.

$100,000 Fire In R.C. Church

VILLE MARIE, Que. (CP)—A two-hour fire levelled 70-year-old Notre Dame de Rosaire Roman Catholic Church here Tuesday. Damage was estimated by church officials at $100,000.

Priests, aided by villagers who had to be ordered to leave when danger became extreme, saved all fixtures from the church.

A nun at Ste. Famille Hospital next door gave the alarm when she saw flames and smoke shooting from th hitry of th brick church, oldest in the Timmins diocese.

More than 40 volunteer firemen from Ville Marie, Guigues and Lorrainerille fought the flames.

Ville Marie is on Lake Timiskaming near the Ontario border, 65 miles north of North Bay.

The Oblate Fathers said they believed the fire started from faulty wiring in the belfry.

RCAF Will Fly Canadian Sgt. To Meet Woman

WINNIPEG (CP) — RCAF officials say they will fly a 28-year-old Canadian Army sergeant stationed at Manitoba's Camp Shilo, to Toronto to meet the woman and daughter whose lives he saved on a shell-torn beach of Hong Kong in 1941.

Informed Tuesday that Sgt. Aubrey Flegg was financially unable to make the trip, Group Capt. G. F. Jacobson, commanding officer at Station Winnipeg said:

"We'd be delighted to give the sergeant transportation to Toronto to meet the lady."

The woman is Mrs. Ellen Field, who came to Toronto from Hong Kong to find the Canadian private who saved the lives of her and her three children. He led them to safety after they were abandoned by Chinese porters.

Now married with three children of his own, Sgt. Flegg said he had long forgotten the incident until Monday brought back the "voice from the past."

RCAF said a cross - country training flight will be leaving for the East Friday and returning Sunday and a seat will be found for Sgt. Flegg.

Prime Minister Asks Support For All Official Candidates Running in Que. Province

TROIS-RIVIERES, Que. (CP)— Prime Minister St. Laurent has opened his campaign tour in his native province with an appeal for support of the Liberal party's official candidates.

In a reference Tuesday night to the 26 Independent Liberal candidates contesting the June 10 election in 21 Quebec ridings, Mr. St. Laurent said "voters should remember that by voting for the official Liberals they are giving their support to the liberal party as a whole."

The prime minister resurrected last year's Progressive Conservative party cartoon which chose John Diefenbaker as national leader.

Quebec Conservatives, he said, apparently were penitent about their treatment of Mr. Diefenbaker at the leadership convention. He singled out Leon Balcer, seeking re-election as Progressive Conservative member for Trois-Rivieres.

"Mr. Balcer is apparently a new convert to the Diefenbaker bandwagon because it was only a few months ago . . . that Mr. Balcer headed the Quebec delegation that wanted no part of Mr. Diefenbaker as national leader."

NOW AMUSED

The prime minister said he now is "somewhat amused" to note that Mr. Balcer, the national president of the Progressive Conservative Association, was travelling to Western Canada to speak for his leader in Mr. Diefenbaker's Saskatchewan riding of Prince Albert.

Mr. St. Laurent said a Quebec Liberal speaker had summed up by saying that the Quebec Conservatives "are trying to sell the people of Quebec a bill of goods they don't want themselves."

He declared the Liberal government has paid close attention to economic activity in every province and every region.

"This concern to make sure that Canadians are not punished because they happen to live in one area of Canada rather than another is one of the prerequisites of national unity," Mr. St. Laurent said. "It is a concern that is very natural for the Liberal party, the only party which has its seats in every province and every constituency of Canada."

Chief foes of the Liberal party policy in this respect were, he said, allies of Premier Frost of Ontario.

Guilty of Murder

HACKENSACK, N.J (AP) — Edgar Smith, a young father, was found guilty of first degree murder Tuesday in the lover's lane slaying of a 15-year-old schoolgirl.

The jury made no recommendation of leniency, making the death penalty mandatory.

The 23-year-old ex-marine was accused of bludgeoning Victoria Zielinski to death in a gravel pit in Mahwah last March 4 when she resisted his advances. He testified he drove her to the spot but last saw her alive there in the company of another youth. June 4 was set for sentencing.

Other voices from other places. George Hees, former president of the National PC Association, seeking re-election in Toronto Broadview, told a College Bridge, N.S., meeting the Maritime Freight Rates Act should be revised to help Atlantic provinces producers sell their products in Central Canada.

"ONLY A DROP"

Freight rate increases had nullified provisions of the act and the adjustment promised by the Liberals was "only a drop in the bucket and at best can be considered only a partial stopgap."

Earlier at Newcastle, N.B., Mr. Hees said that if his party is elected it will start a Canada-wide highway program in conjunction with each provincial government. Mr. Diefenbaker had promised to start on such a program if elected to government.

A busy External Affairs Minister Pearson said at Peterborough that Canada will never become a satellite of the U.S. under the Liberals. Mistakes of the St. Laurent government during the last four years had been "growing pains and a result of the tremendous speed of progress which we are enjoying today."

Later at Whitby, he said the Liberal government believes it is in Canada's own interest to participate in a fair East-West armament inspection plan. "There is no safety for us in isolation."

Works Minister Winters said in a TV broadcast from Ottawa that more National Housing Act loans went to home-owners earning less than $100 a week last year than in any year since 1950, except for 1955. He looked for "further development of that market in the years to come."

CLAIMS SLUSH FUND

George C. Nowlan, member of Parliament for Nova Scotia's Digby-Annapolis-Kings, told a Progressive Conservative rally the Liberals poured a "terrific slush fund" into the constituency before the 1953 federal election.

Mr. Nowlan told an audience at Canning, N.S., that he had always been opposed to the spending of money or the use of liquor in influencing electors. "This is not sudden conviction on my part . . . and I trust we will now be able to clean up what has been a rotten situation."

A Liberal candidate told a Toronto federal election rally his party's policy on old age pensions could be improved.

Dr. Stanley Haidasz, candidate in Toronto Trinity, said in an address the pension should be raised to $50 a month and the residence clause reduced from 20 to 10 years. "I think this can be done without any damage to the government treasury," he said.

The pension was recently raised to $46 from $40 effective July 1.

ADENAUER

This would involve Britain, the United States, France and Russia.

So far as the communique goes Eisenhower did not agree to this but said only that the United States would consult with the British and French governments about it. However, there was some suggestion from German sources that the president had in fact agreed that it would be a good idea.

At his press conference, Adenauer was questioned most closely about the rule which Germany might play in the development of a disarmament program.

AVOID REDUCTIONS

He said that any first-step treaty with the Russians should avoid reductions of manpower and weapons in Europe. Those measures, he said, should be left for a later comprehensive pact—which would deal also with world-wide military cutbacks and global control of nuclear weapons.

Several times during the questioning Adenauer emphasized his view that the central purpose of any limited arms control agreement would be to test out Russian intentions and show whether it is possible to achieve what he called a "good political atmosphere."

He said, for example, that if a good political atmosphere could be developed by some progress on disarmament then there would be "good prospects for success" in a four-power conference on German reunification.

NORMALLY

After the shooting Henderson fled to the bridge with radarman Robert Lakey, 20, who said later he went along as a volunteer hostage when Henderson "asked me if I'd stay with him."

On the bridge Henderson held the pistol cocked and loaded for more than six hours while trying to make up his mind to surrender or shoot.

Watching his every move from the bridge, the ship's mast and the dock were more than a dozen sailors and marines armed with rifles, guns or pistols.

During the six-hour armed stalemate, Henderson's mother, two chaplains, the marine commander on Treasure Island naval base, the ship's captain, two military police sergeants and others argued with Henderson to give up peacefully.

He finally surrendered at 12:25 p.m. on the promise he would be taken from the ship as the personal prisoner of marine Col. R.M. Williams, and be given both civilian and naval counsel.

Start Deepening Channels Linking Great Lakes

BOB-LO ISLAND, Ont. (CP)—A symbolic charge of explosives hurled water 50 feet into the air and sleek United States Air Force jets roared overhead as the Great Lakes deepening channels project was officially launched.

More than 400 Canadian and United States civilian, government and military officials watched Tuesday as Health Minister Paul Martin, representing Canada, and Wilber M. Brucker, for the United States, together pressed a plunger setting off 40 pounds of explosives in the Detroit River.

The ceremony here marked the first phase of the Great Lakes channels project that will cost the United States government $136,000,000.

The colorful ceremony was featured by an 11-ship naval parade of Great Lakes vessels headed by the Mackinaw, United States Coast Guard ice breaker.

The Algonac of Detroit, the oldest vessel still in operation on the Great Lakes was among the 15 vessels from coal-carriers to tankers, that sailed with whistles blowing past the reviewing stand. The Algonac was built in 1834 as a passenger vessel but today is a sand-carrier.

WINS TUGBOAT RACE

The tugboat race was won by the Ethel S., out of Detroit. The Atomic, owned by McQueen Marine of Amherstburg, Ont., was second and another McQueen tug, the Patricia McQueen, third.

The plunger used by Mr. Martin and Mr. Brucker, United States secretary of the army, was carved from a block from one of the palisade posts of the original Fort Lenoult, on the Detroit River.

The fort was erected in 1778 by the British as a defence against the Americans. The handle will be presented to the Marine Museum at Amherstburg, Ont.

The Great Lakes connecting channels deepening project is a related project with the St. Lawrence seaway. It calls for the deepening of channels in the St. Clair and St. Mary's Rivers and in Lake St. Clair.

Judge Disagrees With Verdict

SAN DIEGO (AP)—A Superior Court jury Tuesday acquitted two women of charges of kidnapping and attempting to murder Mrs. Ruth E. Latham.

It was their second trial Thursday night for Mrs. Beatrice Wise, 57, and Mrs. Lucille Whisenand, 36.

They heard the verdict with little show of emotion, but they looked sharply when Judge John A. Hewicker told the jurors: "I heartily disagree with your verdict in every respect."

Mrs. Winn and Mrs. Whisenand had been in jail since last Sept. 14—the day Mrs. Latham was found crouching naked beside a desert highway.

The jury in the first trial deadlocked 7-5 for acquittal and was dismissed Jan. 25 after nine days of deliberation.

The prosecution charged Mrs. Winn had tried to eliminate Mrs. Latham for a lawsuit, enlisting the aid of Mrs. Whisenand.

Beer-Drinking Buddies Jump From High Bridge

NEW YORK (AP)—Two beer-drinking buddies plunged 130 feet off a bridge into the East River at 2 a.m. today "to get a kick out of life" the way Steve Brodie did 71 years ago.

One of them showed up soaking wet hours later and said he swam to shore. Harbor police searched for the other.

Police pieced this story together from questioning the dazed survivor and a third buddy who gave a second thought to the jumping idea and stayed behind on the bridge:

James de Voe, 22, a construction worker; Ronald Roulette, 20, a meat-packing plant worker, and Paul Paulos, 18, a deliverateen employee, were cut drinking and got to talking about Brodie's history leap from the Brooklyn

They were in Queens — across the East River from Manhattan—and near the Queensboro bridge which is up the river from the Brooklyn bridge where Brodie jumped.

Paulos suggested: "Let's go out on the bridge and jump and get a kick out of life."

The three parked their car and hiched a ride to the middle of the bridge.

They found a 20-foot length of rope, tied one end to a guard rail and dropped it over the side.

HEARD A SPLASH

De Voe slid down the rope. His pals heard a splash.

Paulos, changing his mind, ran to the shore and told what had happened. Police launches and emergency squads went into action.

About dawn, Roulette was spied walking along a street near the Queens shore. He was dazed, limping and wet.

Roulette said that when he came to the surface after his plunge, he heard De Voe calling to him—"Ronnie, Ronnie." The cries soon died out.

PRINCE PHILIP BECOMES A TELEVISION STAR

A 55-minute travel lecture on the British Broadcasting Television's children's hour has Prince Philip as a television celebrity. The Prince appears on the screen, as shown left, surrounded by models and souvenirs of his recent Commonwealth tour aboard the royal yacht "Britannia," and though the program was directed at children, adults found it one of the best of the BBC fare. The lecture has been transmitted to Canadian TV fans with the same results. After his TV debut, Prince Philip became the tal kof Britain again when he took up gliding. Above, he is being strapped into a glider for a short flight in which he controlled the craft for five minutes under the guidance of an instructor.

Charles Gavsie Named Boss of Seaway Project

OTTAWA (CP)—Charles Gavsie, friendly Cape Bretoner and an expert in law and finance, has been named the $32,000-a-year boss of the government's $300,000,000 St. Lawrence seaway agency.

The 51-year-old Maritimer will supervise work on the "big ditch," taking over the eld spot of Seaway Authority president held by Hon. Lionel Chevrier until he went back into the cabinet last month as president of the Privy Council.

Into Mr. Gavsie's old job as seaway vice-president goes Jean-Claude Lessard of Granby, Que., and Montreal, 53-year-old transportation authority and Canadian head of the Standard Railway Equipment Company.

"We've got day-to-day problems on the seaway, but I'm very optimistic that we'll complete the project in time for the opening of navigation in 1959 as scheduled," Mr. Gavsie said in an interview.

EFFECTIVE JUNE 1

The two appointments were announced by Prime Minister St. Laurent. Mr Gavsie's becomes effective June 1; Mr. Lessard's on July 1.

"The tolls situation is under study," continued Mr. Gavsie. "I'm hopeful we'll come up with a toll that will be attractive to traffic right at the outset. That same toll will, after the initial starting-up period, provide us with recovery of seaway costs as traffic increases."

The Seaway Authority, started in 1954, is run by three members: the president, vice-president and a member. Carl W. West, 67, another former deputy transport minister.

Mr. Chevrier will have cabinet responsibility for the seaway. It is understood that if the Liberals are returned to power on June 10, the transport portfolio, now held by George Marler, may be replaced by two new departments.

The plan would be to have Mr. Chevrier take over a new marine department, continuing his seaway responsibilities, with Mr. Marler directing a new communications department.

CAMPBELLFORD

Lorne Main, Don Fontana, Top Tennis Stars, Stage Exhibition Game

CAMPBELLFORD — Tennis fans from all over the district were on hand at the Campbellford Tennis Club on Sunday afternoon to watch an exhibition match by two of Canada's top tennis stars, Lorne Main and Don Fontana.

Threatening weather, and rain squalls throughout the district, failed to dampen the spirits of many who travelled a considerable distance to attend the matches. Luckily no rain fell in Campbellford while the matches were in progress. Winds, however, which at times reached near gale proportions, hampered the efforts of the players.

Playing in singles competition, in a three out of five set test, Don Fontana rallied to win the day after dropping the opening set. Scores were 1-6; 6-3 and 6-1.

EXHIBITION MATCHES

Prior to the Fontana-Main set, picked players from out of town clubs played exhibition matches. Clubs were represented from Belleville, Peterborough, Point Anne and other centres.

Campbellford club president, Kenneth Kingston, organized the affair and acted as MC for the afternoon. Mayor Douglas B. Maybee, welcomed the Main-Fontana team to the town, saying that the town was honored by the presence of two such noted players.

Ample seating was provided for the several hundred fans, on two of the courts which were not in use.

Mr. Fontana is expected to again represent Canada in the Davis Cup matches which get under way in Montreal on July 19th. He will play in a round involving Canada and Brazil. This will be his 3rd consecutive year on the Davis Cup team.

Lorne Main, who presently heads the Ontario Lawn Tennis association, and who has just received notice that he has been appointed as first vice-president of the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association, is a veteran of Davis Cup competition. He played on the Canadian team from 1949 to 1954.

At the close of the afternoon, the Campbellford Club, hosts for the day, served light refreshments to all local and out-of-town tennis club members, as well as civic officials who had been invited.

UMPIRES

Umpires who shared the duties at the centre court for the day were: Roy Johnston and Tony Simpson, both of the Peterborough Quaker Tennis Club.

In the way of future activities, the Campbellford Club is considering putting on an open mixed doubles tournament in July.

President Ken Kingston, said Sunday, he believed this is the first time in history of the local club that players of the calibre of Mr. Main and Mr. Fontana have played an exhibition game on the local courts.

Switch to Shell Premium with TCP* and restore lost power while you drive!

How can a gasoline bring back power your engine has lost? Only by overcoming the cause!—

You see, most engines lose power as a result of certain deposits which form on spark plugs and in combustion chambers. In fact, engineers agree that these deposits are the major cause of power loss in modern high compression engines. (Even a new engine can lose power within 3,000 miles). But TCP in Shell Premium Gasoline neutralizes these deposits while you drive— brings back the power your engine has lost.

Wealthy Briton Ousts Two Golf Prospects

FORMBY, England (AP)—Gerald Micklem, millionaire captain of the 1957 British Walker Cup team, eliminated two of the hottest prospects for the British amateur golf championship.

The wealthy London broker beat Ireland's Joe Carr, 1953 British amateur winner, 3 and 2 in the morning, then defeated Guy Wolstenholme, former English champion, 4 and 3 in the afternoon. Second and third-round matches in the championship were completed.

The defending champion, John Beharrell of England, went down in the third round, 3 and 2, before Sandy Sinclair of Scotland.

Four Americans, three of them over 40, lived out the windy and cold rounds played Tuesday. They were all that was left of an original group of 26 United States entries. They are Jimmy McHale, Dale Morey, Gene Andrews and Harold Ridgeley, a U.S. Air Force sergeant.

Offer to Rent New Stadium

MONTREAL (CP)—A syndicate of Montreal sportsmen and financiers has offered to lease the city's proposed $25,000,000 east-end sport stadium for 40 years at $500,000 a year, the city executive committee was told Tuesday.

The offer was made by a syndicate called Maisonneuve Sports Centre, Reg'd. and headed by chartered accountant Romain Bedard, president of the Montreal Chamber of Commerce.

It would give a $25,000 cash guarantee of good faith on signing the lease and put up a $500,000 insurance bond to protect the city from loss in the first year of operation, the syndicate said.

Rent money would include all city charges, but the syndicate would do repairs and be allowed to sublet as it wished.

If approved by the legal department, the plan is to be submitted to council for approval June 3.

No Canadians In Top Ten Ring Ratings

NEW YORK (AP)—Beating Bob Baker seems to be the way to get into the heavyweight rankings. Roy Harris, of Cut and Shoot, Texas, followed the formula and today was awarded the No. 8 position among the contenders in the latest boxing rankings by Ring magazine.

Archie Moore, the light heavyweight champion, was advanced from eighth to sixth among the heavies.

Willi Hoepner's upset of Trinidad's Yolande Pompey boosted the German back into the ratings at No. 6 among the 175-pound contenders. Pompey fell from second to third.

Sugar Ray Robinson was back as champion of the middleweights with Gene Fullmer, West Jordan, Utah, the leading contender. Joey Giambra, Buffalo, N.Y. went from sixth to fourth in the 160-pound division and Joey Giardello from seventh to fifth.

No Canadians are listed among the top 10 contenders in any class.

Trenton Nudges Madoc 12-11 In Extra Frame

By GARRY ALEXANDER

The Trenton Legion Juniors opened the 1957 softball season in Trenton last night with a 13-inning 12-11 victory over Madoc to even their Belleville and District Softball League record at one win and one loss.

Drake's Legionaires came close to blowing their second decision in as many nights when they lost a 10-4 lead to Madoc and trailed 11-10 entering the ninth. A terrific home run by Howard Cole, who had entered the game just one inning before, tied the score at 11-11.

The Juniors' starry third baseman, Guy Austin, paved the way to the winning marker when he opened the bottom of the tenth with a perfect bunt single. Roger Drake dropped a good sacrifice bunt, sending Austin to third. Doug Alexander then lifted a fly to left field, to bring the winning run home.

Gord Maroney gained the victory while hurling the final five frames for Trenton. He gave up three runs off five hits while fanning ten batters and walking three. Ron Wannamaker started on the hill, surrendering eight runs and 11 hits in his five-inning stint. He struck out none while passing only one.

Ken Pigden worked the full ten frames for Madoc. He was tagged for 15 hits while whiffing four and walking a single man. All pitchers were the the victims of a number of unearned runs as each team committing five errors

Two Madoc errors, Drake's single and doubles by Alexander and Kennedy gave the homsters a 4-1 lead in the first. Bob Bateman got one back in the third with a long homer but Trenton went in front with four in the fourth three errors helped while Austin tripled and Wilman and Alexander singled.

Singles by Bateman, Johnson and Blackburn, a Trenton misplay and Whiteman's double got Madoc back in the game with four in the fifth. Bateman and Johnson hit in the eighth and along with another Trenton error put Madoc in front 11-10, setting up Cole's tying homer and extra innings.

Great throws by centre fielders Sid Johnson of Madoc and Frank Caume of Trenton, cut runners down at the plate, Caume's toss completing a double play. Frank Lewis also made a fine running catch for Trenton in deep right field.

Guy Austin with a triple and two singles and Doug Alexander with a double and two singles led the Trenton batters. Roger Drake, Bob Burns each claimed two safeties. Cole homered while Leroy Wannamaker, Frank Lewis, Willy Kennedy and Wilman also had hits.

Bob Bateman had a terrific night at the plate for Madoc with a homer, double and three singles. Sid Johnson followed closely with a triple and three singles. Dev Tufts banged a double and single while Clayton Whiteman, Larry Stickwood, Ken Pigden, DeMille and Blackburn also hit safely.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

So you'd like to take a fling at the ponies? But don't let it get you. There is always the British quote of the track fiend who murmured to himself, "I hope I break even today — I need the money."

Perhaps this story may give you an idea of some of the thrills and heartbreak that attend some of those afflicted by the bet-bug.

It is the yarn of a horse-player who had lost a quarter million on the bangtails, had $200 left, became disgusted, decided to lose all that remained, played a $500 five-horse parlay and won $130,000 one sunny afternoon.

He was Charles Pope, a member of the New York Friars Club who made a million three different times in real estate and shot the profits elsewhere.

After taking a financial beating Pope discovered he had $42,000 in liquid assets. He drew $45,000 from the bank and went to the Belmont track where he became a Stein Chew again to the bookies. He had but $600 left to his name.

He told a friend "There are six races. I will shoot $100 per race and tonight I will find me a high-class broadline."

On the way to the track they passed an orphanage. Said Pope "If I should win anything up to $1,000 we will drop in here tomorrow and I will give the kids anything up to $1,000 just to buy ice cream, candy and cake."

Pope promptly changed his mind on the $100 bets when he saw a horse he liked. He bet $500 on Pen Rose which won at 3-1 odds. Pope took the $1,000 and put the works on Neap Tide in a sleepiehase. The nag won him enough to bring the profit to $5,500.

He bet $5,000 on a 1-2 horse and won. He flipped a coin in the next race, then wagered $7,500 on Thimble at 3-1. Thimble won and Pope now had $31,000.

The next race looked tough, but Pope got a break when an old Negro who had clocked for him in balmier days, happened along and said, "That old Lord Herbert you used to own has begun working fine."

Pope thanked him and promptly put the $31,000 on Lord Herbert at 3-1. The Lord was a slow starter and was off last. When he neared the turn for home he was so far out of it Pope gave up hope.

"Come on," he yelled. "Let's get on the train so we're sure to get good seats in time for the breadline."

Someone yelled, "Shut up and look. You've still gotta chance."

Lord Herbert did a cavalry charge in the home stretch, caught the field and won by a nose. The bookies owed Pope $128,500.

Pope had a tip in the eighth race on a two-year-old that had never started. He wanted to bet the entire $130,000 on the horse at 10-1. But the bookies yelled quits. The most he could place was $10,000. The colt finished eighth.

Those orphans had ice cream, candy and cake for six weeks. Pope had the balance, some $187,000, for two weeks. Then the bookies had it back.

P.S. They're still out it.

Two-Run Pinch Homer Gives Indians 4-3 Win Over Tigers; Gross Has 2-Hitter, Loses

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sport Writer

Some days you can't make a cent. And Tuesday was one of those days for Cincinnati Redlegs and Don Gross.

Gross, a 25-year-old lefthander, pitched one of his best games ever walking one, striking out two and allowing just two hits. But he lost to Milwaukee Braves 1-0 for his first defeat since Sept. 9, 1955.

The Redlegs, who retained their two-game lead in the National League as the second-place Brooklyn Dodgers lost 9-3 in 11 innings at Pittsburgh, managed eight hits off Warren Spahn, but left seven runners stranded for their first defeat on the road in 18 games. The major league record for consecutive road victories is 17, set by the 1937 New York Giants.

With the victory, the Braves moved to within a game at three games to retain third place, 2½ games back and a game ahead of fourth - place Philadelphia. The Phillies, off on their biggest scoring binge since 1950, walloped New York Giants 18-6. St. Louis defeated Chicago Cubs 5-1 in the other league game, with Cardinal Wally Moon extending his hitting streak to 23 games.

THOMSON WINS 7TH

Gross, who had won eight since his last loss, four of them this season, had faced only 22 men before Bobby Thomson stepped up to open the Milwaukee eighth. Thomson, batting .164, went to a middle fast ball to the fence in centre field for a triple and came home with the only run of a single by Frank Torre, batting .250.

Spahn, the old southpaw, didn't walk a man while gaining his 8th career shutout with his fifth victory of the season. He had failed to finish or win any of his last four starts after getting credited with the first complete game for the Braves' staff since May 12. The Dodgers made it a first thing chance to gain ground by losing on Pee Wee Reese's throwing error at Pittsburgh. The Bucs shelled Don Newcombe, who had six consecutive victories to his credit, with two singles and an intentional walk that filled the bases in the 11th. Than Bob Clemente greeted Clem Labine with a sharp grounder to Reese, who threw high to the plate.

ANTONELLI SOON LEAVES

Richie Ashburn had four of the Phils' 17 hits as the Giant pitchers, Ray Antonelli, losing his fifth, failed to get a man out in a four-run first inning.

Cardinals spanked the Cubs in a two-game set on the five-hit pitching of Larry Jackson, who now has won six in a row. Five in relief. The 25-year-old righthander struck out eight and walked none while the Cards made nine hits off loser Moe Drabowsky and two relievers. Stan Musial was 4-for-5, dropping to .363.

League Changes In Five Years

CHICAGO (AP)—Here's how the major league baseball map, unchanged for 50 years, has been altered in the last five years:

March 18, 1953—National League approves shift of Boston Braves' franchise to Milwaukee.

Sept. 29, 1953—American League approves sale and transfer of St. Louis Browns franchise to Baltimore.

Nov. 8, 1954—American League approves sale and transfer of Philadelphia Athletics' franchise to Kansas City.

May 28, 1956—National League grants permission to move Brooklyn Dodgers' franchise to Los Angeles and New York Giants' franchise to San Francisco if and when the clubs request such a change.

Only the 1953 change which converted St. Louis Browns into Baltimore Orioles ignored the westward trend.

National League Opens Door For Giants, Brooklyn Move

By CHARLES CHAMBERLIN

CHICAGO (AP)—The National League has opened the door to the Golden West for New York Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers.

Each of the eight clubs gave approval Tuesday for this procedure:

"If New York and Brooklyn request consent before Oct. 1 to relocate their franchises in San Francisco and Los Angeles, respectively, the league president is authorized to grant it."

A reported proposal that Cincinnati Redlegs shift to New York was not considered at the league meeting.

It is not known when or if presidents Horace Stoneham, of the Giants and Walter O'Malley of the Dodgers will shout: "Westward ho!"

PACIFIC COAST LURES

But it could be very tempting to do so.

There was a $39,500,000 bond issue election in Los Angeles Tuesday which could provide means to build a new city-owned stadium seating 60,000 in a 600-acre plot within easy distance of the downtown district.

San Francisco has a $3,000,000 fund earmarked for a new stadium to entice the Giants.

This is in contrast to the National League's New York area parks which consist of outmoded Ebbets Field of the Dodgers and the Giants' Polo Grounds—both plagued by inadequate parking, hostilities, dwindling attendance, a crowning five-per-cent amusement tax on admissions, and soon-to-expire leases.

All this would seem to put the pressure on the New York City fathers to do something quickly in the way of providing new playing sites if they don't want to lose their National League teams.

Stoneham-and O'Malley can be considered very much in the driver's seat. But the whole thing isn't as simple for them as picking up the telephone and telling League president Warren Giles they are ready to move west. There is as much new ground to be broken there.

The Dodgers have a clearer path than the Giants because last February they bought the Los Angeles franchise of the Pacific Coast League and all its facilities from P. K. Wrigley, owner of the Chicago Cubs and National League vice-president.

The Giants will have to dicker with Boston Red Sox for the San Francisco franchise.

And the PCL is reported to be ready for "a fight for its life" stand against the invasion. An official of the National League, who declined to be identified, said the PCL is prepared to demand up to $10,000,000 damages.

In Portland, Ore., The Oregonian reported "it's no secret that the coast clubs will seek heavy damages if the PCL is wrecked by invasion by the majors."

The Oregonian said that with Los Angeles and San Francisco out of the league, the Hollywood team would fold, and San Diego and Sacramento might also.

"In this case the coast league's northwest cities—Portland, Seattle and Vancouver, B.C. — might be forced to form a circuit including teams in such cities as Spokane, Salt Lake City, Tacoma and possibly Denver, Edmonton, Calgary or Victoria.

"Such a league probably would be of AA or A classification," the newspaper said.

Joe Cronin, Red Sox general manager, said the move of major league baseball to California is "inevitable," adding that he didn't know "if the American League has rights" to San Francisco since Boston owns the franchise.

"We never have had the slightest striving for the same territory," Cronin said in Boston.

He said all the Giants had to do to move to San Francisco "is pay us damages."

Nothing can be done about moving a franchise until Oct. 1, the specified time limit in draft minor league territory under baseball law.

The first reaction of O'Malley and Stoneham to the National League vote was: "The league has given us a chance to explore all possibilities."

The league action, Giles explained, was a "package deal" involving the shift of both the Giants and Dodgers. If either made the request singly, the matter would have to go back to the league for another vote.

New Pro-Amateur Deal Is Discussed Secretly by CAHA

By JIM PEACOCK

EDMONTON (CP)—The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association moved in secret today into the final day of its four-day annual meeting, continuing this morning the behind-the-camera discussion it began Tuesday of proposals for a new professional-amateur agreement.

Still to come up in open session were the president's report, a report on the Memorial Cup playoff situation, election of officers and the passing of a motion concerning club strengthening for the junior playoffs. These issues were to follow completion of the pro-amateur discussion.

It was understood Robert Lebel of Montreal, now first vice-president, likely would succeed Jimmy Dunn of Winnipeg in the presidency.

The press was ordered from a plenary session Tuesday before discussion began of the pro-amateur issue, described earlier by Dunn as "one of the most important things on the agenda" of the 1957 meeting.

The CAHA, amateur hockey's governing body in Canada, and the National Hockey League, which runs professional hockey, have operated for the last two years without a written agreement. The CAHA meeting here was asked to give the association's negotiating committee full power to accept or reject a new agreement when the committee meets shortly with the NHL.

Ed Benson of Trail said the NHL should not be given an advantage by learning through newspaper reports the CAHA's intentions. "There is some benefit in the element of surprise," he said in moving the press be excluded.

Delegates questioned later said little controversy developed in the discussion, most points having been settled in earlier committee meetings.

It was learned, however, that two points the CAHA intends to argue in any new agreement concern its rights to set its own rules for minor amateur hockey and that any amateur club sponsored by a professional organization must adhere to the same rules as any other club in the same series.

A motion discussed for some time Tuesday is expected to be passed with little argument.

It would let Western teams to add three players from their respective leagues for branch playoffs and the Western winner to strengthen by three more for the east. The Marlilmar branch, Ottawa district, Thunder Bay and Northern Ontario would be able to strengthen by six for inter-branch playoffs.

No strengthening would be allowed Ottawa Canadiens, a packed team sponsored by Montreal of the NHL, and loser to Flin Flon Bombers in the final this year, or Ontario branch teams.

Several amendments to the original motion made it necessary to reword it for clarity.

Tuesday's meeting also heard a report that the Western Canada intermediate committee had an operating surplus of $4,002 but had out that plus another $1,700 from its surplus in their participating teams to help them defray costs.

It also heard that the CAHA took in $1,000 from radio rights to Memorial and Allan Cup playoff games this spring.

A motion submitted by the Maritimes and passed would suspend a player accepting money to join a CAHA club and then failing to do so. The suspension would be lifted on return of the money to the club concerned.

Amateurs Start Play June 8

BURLINGTON (CP) — Amateur golfers will begin competition for places on Ontario's Willingdon Cup team June 8 at the Burlington Golf Club where the first 36 of the 126-hole test will be played. It is open to amateurs with handicaps of 10 and under.

The second 36 holes will be played at Brantford June 15 and 16 and the final 54 holes at St. Catharines June 22.

The four players returning the low aggregate scores for the 126 holes will be in the running for places on the team which will play in the national tournament in Winnipeg in August.

The first three are assured of places but the fourth man must give his place to the winner of the Ontario Amateur in London in July if the winner is not one of the selected three.

Entries for the Burlington tourney close June 1.

Tough Drivers Started in Race Classic

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Auto racing fans, already lined up for miles around Indianapolis Speedway gates today, were assured that on Thursday they'll see one of the greatest 500-mile races since Ray Harroun beat Ralph Mulford in the 1911 inaugural thriller.

Thirty-three drivers were set for the start, about 12 noon EDT. Clear, cool weather is the forecast.

Veteran drivers predicted a record of about 132 miles an hour.

Lee Wallard, who set the modern pattern of full bore driving in the long grind, asserted, "It's the most wide open race in history."

Wallard charged from the start in winning the 1951 race and wiped out the old idea of guessing the winning speed and then trying to maintain that average.

The 41st field is full of charging drivers who won't settle for anything but the lead. There are three of them in the front row — Pat O'Connor, who led 38 laps last year before his radiator burst; Eddie Sachs, a hot driver from the city-track racing his first Indianapolis start, and Troy Ruttman, the 1952 winner.

HEAVY TOLL

Pat Flaherty, last year's winner has not recovered fully from injuries suffered last summer in a racing accident at Springfield, Ill. He'll be a coach on Ruttman's crew. Bob Sweikert, the 1955 winner, was killed last summer on a high-bank track at Salem, Ind. Bill Vukovich, winner in 1953 and 1954, was killed in the race Sweikert won.

Last year's "500" was run without a fatality but drivers Tony Bettenhausen and Jimmy Daywalt were injured. Both recovered and will start Thursday. Preliminaries to this year's race already have claimed one life—Keith Andrews, killed May 15 in a practice run.

Maximum engine sizes were cut 10 per cent in an attempt to stop the yearly increase in speed.

Wants Track Ban Removed

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Attorneys for Saul Silberman called on the Florida Supreme Court Tuesday to set aside a state racing commission order cancelling his licence to operate Tropical Park race track in Miami.

Attorney Lee Worley argued that the commission's action in cancelling the licence April 4 on grounds of violating a ban against distribution of racing information for gambling purposes was based on "guess and surmise."

But Assistant Attorney General George E. Owen contended that circumstantial evidence in the case indicated an employe of Silberman's was using Silberman's phone for fast transmission of racing results from Tropical and placing bets for him.

The court did not rule immediately.

Silberman is president of Tropical Park, Inc., and owns 25 per cent of the stock in that horse racing plant.

Ortiz Favored Over Chiocca

CHICAGO (AP)—Carlos Ortiz, Puerto Rican lightweight from New York, is an 8-5 favorite tonight to stretch his undefeated string through 24 bouts in a television 10-rounder with Felix Chiocca of Fresno, Frankfort.

Ortiz, 20, has scored nine knockouts. He will be meeting his toughest foe to date in Chiocca, 22, who went to Paris from his native Caracas, Venezuela.

Bisons Clip Maple Leafs; Vees Nip Jets

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Steve Nagy, 27-year-old Buffalo lefthander, was still smiling today about the birthday party he had with Toronto Maple Leafs.

With first place the prize, Nagy, who saw action with Pittsburgh and Washington in the majors, blew out the fire in 4 2-3 innings of hitless relief Tuesday night as the Bisons clipped Toronto 8-5.

The victory kept the Bisons .003 percentage points in front of Richmond in the pennant race. The Virginians nipped Columbus 4-3. Toronto is third.

In other games, Rochester defeated Montreal 4-2 and Miami posted a 5-4 victory over Havana in 10 innings.

Bud Grieve belted two doubles and a pair of singles to pace the Buffalo attack and Ray Noble contributed his ninth homer. Jack Crimian, allowing three runs in relief, was charged with the loss.

PITCHER BATS WELL

Bob Wiesler captured his third victory for Richmond, aiding his cause with three hits. Columbus rallied for two in the ninth on Gail Henley's homer but Vees' reliefer John James nipped the rally.

Rochester's Gary Geiger singled in the ninth to score Wally Fassler, to produce the Red Wing win. The blow came off reliefer Bob Walz, who took his second loss. Mel Wright notched his second consecutive victory after three losers. Montreal had tied it in the ninth off starter Lynn Lovegrah.

Miami shortstop Bobby Micelota drove out a 340-foot homer in the 10th inning for the Marlins' clincher. It was his sixth four-bagger of the season. Satchel Paige received credit for the win, after pitching only five balls.

Rough, Tough Battle Seen By Wallace

MONCTON, N.B. (CP)—Gordon Wallace, looking strong and fit after an extensive training program; predicts "a rough, tough battle" when he and Yvon Durelle meet here Thursday night in a 10-round bout for the Canadian light heavyweight title held by Durelle.

Wallace, holder of the British Empire crown, said Tuesday: "I'm going to make up for my three previous defeats at the hands of Durelle, two of which I figure could have gone either way."

Wallace, who is tentatively scheduled to lay his British Empire crown on the line against Mike Hold in South Africa sometime in August, said: "I'll be out there trying from the start in an attempt to put an end to all this talk about me being scared to meet Durelle."

The Brantford scrapper, whose last fight was a loss to Tony Anthony, Dec. 7, said "Durelle's a good fighter. A strong and awkward man to get at and a bruising type that you have to watch all the time to stay out of trouble."

IMPROVES TIMING

Wallace, who will be making his 68th start since turning professional in 1950, says he has improved his timing and found that he moved better than before.

The rugged-looking pugilist won 106 out of 110 amateur fights.

Gordie has a special reason for winning this one. A new addition to his family is expected any day now, which would bolster his family to two. He now has a 2½-year-old boy named Gordon David.

Wallace and Durelle last met here Sept. 27, 1954.

SIGN NEGRO STAR

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four football union, Tuesday announced the signing of Adolphus Frazier, a 175-pound all - American Negro halfback and convert kicker from Florida A and M.

Frazier scored 118 points in 1956 on 16 touchdowns and 22 converts. He had an 8.8-yard rushing average and caught 11 passes for 405 yards in nine games.

To see how good my Horse Sense system is, all you have to do is to see how bad the masters are with their tricky 49-states. Here is World championship deal number 95:

NORTH
♠ K Q 10 9 7
♥ 10 9
♦ A 7 4
♣ 9 4 2

WEST
♠ 8 4 3
♥ A J 8 5
♦ 9 8 3
♣ K 8 6

EAST
♥ Q 7 4 3
♦ K J 7 6 5 2
♣ 10 5

SOUTH
♠ A J 6
♥ K 6 2
♦ 10 6
♣ A Q J 7 3

Room one bid it like this:

South	North
1 C	1 S
2 S	4 S

Opening lead from east was the ♥ronno to lead away from a (king) diamond five. West was allowed to keep this trick with queen. North won the second diamond with ace and lost a club finesse.

Dummy ruffed the diamond return. Trumps were pulled and with the help of established clubs, declarer took 11 tricks. Notice the correct heart lead would have defeated four spades.

Room two bid it like this:

South	North
1 C	1 S
2 S	3 S
3 NT	Pass

West led a diamond that north dummy ace took. The club finesse lost. Opponents then took four diamond tricks and a heart return from east defeated three notrump by five tricks.

In Horse Sense count, south has five tricks and north four. No way of showing ten tricks. Without a sixth trick, south should not raise the number either to show established clubs or spade support.

So, it would stop at a less-than-game contract in spades that no lead would beat. Of course, to make simple accuracy no master likes to stoop. So, they do something more stupid.

They gamble.

Senior Baseball

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

St. Thomas Elgins haven't been scored on after two games in Intermediate Senior Baseball League play. Their pitchers have allowed only seven hits and their batters have racked up a total of 19 runs.

In their home opener last night the Elgins trounced Galt Terriers 10-0 on the five-hit pitching of Gene Florcyk. They had won 8-0 in Listowel in their previous game on a two-hitter by Bill Jamieson.

In other action, Guelph Pirates handed Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen their third loss in as many starts, winning 9-4 in Guelph.

Sid Caesar Left TV Network In Best Show Tradition

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Sid Caesar left regular network television in the best show business tradition. He did not creep off like a dying swan.

Those who came to watch last Saturday night could literally say they were there to honor rather than to bury Caesar. For in his final appearance on NBC-TV he presented some of his finest satires.

As has been reported in this space previously, Caesar ran into sponsor problems and NBC did not feel it could afford to pick up the weekly $120,000 tab for his program. The network believed he was suffering from over-exposure on TV. Caesar did not, and terminated his long-term contract with NBC to join Pat Weaver in a new theatrical production firm.

His departure added to other news about television competition. It is too difficult, most of them have said, to do an hour-long original comedy program once a week. The only comedian who never protested the strain was Caesar —and yet his resiliency did not help him.

On the other hand, there are indications that the networks are increasing the number of their situation ...comedies. Sponsor, the trade magazine, reports that a survey of current and right-time programs, already set for next fall reveals 15 situation comedies coming on. And there will, unquestionably, be more.

HAROS, WIFE GO HOME

BUDAPEST (Reuters) — Sandor Iharos, world record - breaking middle distance runner who left Hungary during last fall's uprising, has returned to Budapest with his wife.

The Hungarian news agency MTI today quoted Iharos as saying "homesickness brought us back." In Vienna, he said, "we too became the victims of foreign propaganda and that is the reason we did not return." His wife is Ilona Laczo, a javelin thrower.

Mary Hosford Shows Wives Can Have Varied Careers

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Advice to wives: "The thing to do is figure out how much time you have—and then make the most of that time."

This is how Mary Hosford explains her success in combining a variety of careers, including homemaking. Right now she is embarking on a whole new career as a movie actress, making her film debut as the leading lady in The Missouri Traveller.

Besides this, she has been a radio actress, cookbook author, TV star, real estate saleswoman and occasional model for 200 gussets, and she's the mother of four small children.

COLLECTED RECIPES

Nine years ago she married leading Frank Hosford, who has insurance, oil and mining interests. But she didn't retire to a life of leisure.

They travelled a great deal, and Mary collected recipes wherever she went.

"If I found a dish I thought was extra-special, I'd march right out in the kitchen and ask for the recipe," said the ash - blonde beauty. "Some chefs were reluctant, but I found you can usually bargain by trading them a recipe for theirs."

After wintering in Phoenix, Ariz., for a few years, the Hosfords moved there the year before because of their children, who ranged from two to eight. With time on her hands, Mary embarked on a local television show of the Faye Emerson type.

LARK ONLY GUY

A year ago, she was complaining to a realtor friend that most real estate people don't know how to show houses. "How would you do it?" the friend asked.

She ushered him through the house as she would if she were selling the place. She offered her a job and she took it as a Lark. She has turned into $25,000-a-year income.

The movie adventure arose by chance, she said. C. V. Whitney, a millionaire financier who backs a film company bearing his name, was dining in Phoenix with Margo

AT THE McCARTHY — John Whitney and Dirk Bogarde, co-star in J. J. Cronin's "The Spanish Gardener" opening Thursday at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre, in Technicolor and Vistavision.

James, of the Sombrero Theatre. He was explaining the trouble he was having in the casting of a smalltown spinster for Missouri Traveller. Mary passed by and Miss James recommended her.

She came to Hollywood, but producer Pat Ford wasn't impressed with her script reading. He offered to give her a test, however, and the results won her the role.

KILLS BROTHER

CROWLEY, La. (AP) — A 13-year-old Crowley youth died in a coroner's jury Monday he accidentally shot his older brother in the back, then fired point blank into his head because he "didn't want to see him suffer." Refuses Request To Remand Man

TORONTO (CP)—Norman Lockwood testified Tuesday that his brother-in-law Willi am Wood, charged with attempted murder, said he "turned on the gas" while minding his six nieces and nephews, "because he was fed up with the way the child ren were treated."

At a preliminary hearing, Wood, 31, was committed for trial on a charge of attempting to murder the eldest of the children, Eleanor Annis, 12. No date was set for the trial.

Magistrate W. W. McKeown refused an application by defence counsel James Crealy that Wood be remanded to a mental hospital. Crown counsel Lloyd Gresham had argued Wood had been ruled fit to stand trial after his arrest May 7.

Wood was arrested after police, responding to a telephone tip, went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Annis. They discovered the children sleeping while a gas heater was turned on full.

Constable Thomas Cooke, who said he found the six children safe, told the court Wood admitted pulling the gas heater on the lighted coal stove with the intention of blowing it up.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were confirmed over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of even 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) — the discovery of a famous research institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed ointment Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

IT'S A SYMBOL OF INGENUITY

Tourists usually stop and stare in wonder when they come upon this strange arch spanning a section of ordinary grassland near Lausanne, Switzerland, apparently raised high into the heavens without any sense of significance, the arch is actually a symbol of man's ingenious triumph over matter. It is an ordinary water main and it was set up in this unusual fashion because the land beneath is unsteady and subject to slides, thus making it hazardous to entrench the pipe in the ground.

Britain Relaxes Trade Controls With Red China

Placed on Same Basis As Trade With Russia

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain has decided to relax controls on trade with Communist China, Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd announced today.

Britain's trade with China now will be placed on the same basis as British trade with Russia and Eastern European Communist countries, Lloyd told the House of Commons.

This would exclude strategic goods.

The decision was taken in the face of strong opposition from the United States.

Lloyd said that export licences will be granted on request for all items now embargoed for China but not subject to export licensing to the Soviet bloc."

OTHERS FOLLOW?

In reply to a question, he predicted that a majority of the 15 "Chincom" nations would follow Britain's example.

"Chincom" is a 15-nation group, consisting of NATO countries, except Iceland, and Japan, which have discussed trade with Peiping in a Paris conference for the last three weeks.

The British decision follows prolonged discussions in this China trade advisory group meeting in Paris.

The United States and Britain have disagreed at the meetings of the Chincom committee over revision of the embargo lists.

UNREALISTIC SAYS U.K.

Britain's attitude is that it is unrealistic to ban certain "strategic" articles for trade with China when they can be bought or sold to Russia.

Britain therefore has urged equalization of the Chinese and Russian embargo lists.

The United States has proposed removal of a large number of items from the China list but has also proposed adding some items to the Communist China list to Soviet list.

Chincom "is comprised of all the countries of the Atlantic pact except Iceland and with the addition of Japan.

PARIS (AP)—Britain and Japan have been invited to join the United States over restrictions on trade with Communist China, informed sources said today.

The new curbs on trade with the Chinese Reds will be the same as those the Western powers apply to trade with the Soviet Union and its European satellites.

Informed sources said it was not clear how many of the other 12 NATO nations would stick with the U.S. policy. Several countries, including France, were reported wavering.

The United States has emphasized that it will continue its total embargo on trade with Red China, a much more rigid policy than that followed by the other Chincom powers.

Sources said Canada proposed a compromise, but this also would have increased somewhat the list of articles which could be exported to Red China. The United States agreed to this but Britain and Japan held out for more.

The governments of Britain and Japan have been under heavy pressure from their industrial and shipping leaders for a more liberal trade policy with the Chinese mainland.

With both traditional rivals for the China trade, each must match any liberalization of policy that the other adopts.

Queen Presented With Pro and Con Facts on Visit

LONDON (CP)—Arguments for and against a royal visit to Canada and the United States this autumn were placed before the Queen today. A decision is expected in a few days.

The Queen flew back from Scotland Wednesday night and was at Buckingham Palace today, dealing with state affairs.

The decision will be the Queen's own, but there is every expectation she will choose to go.

Prime Minister St. Laurent's announcement that Canada would take her to see the new Parliament in Ottawa this fall may be a decisive factor. Earlier British ministers were in doubt about the Canadian attitude.

Italian Consul's Son Found Safe

NEW YORK (AP)—The FBI announced that 14-year-old Vittorio Barattieri, missing son of the Italian consul-general in Chicago, has been found and is "in good condition."

The boy, object of a 44-day search, was found wandering along a New York City street, the FBI said Wednesday. He was spotted from a tip by an unidentified person.

The boy was allowed to talk by telephone with his mother, Countess Olga Barattieri, at her Chicago home. Then the boy, her husband, Count Ludovico Barattieri, flew here by plane.

Beyond announcing Vittorio had been found, the FBI refused to give further details and would not say where the youth was staying.

Search for the country-wide search, his parents repeatedly expressed hope that he had been kidnapped, although there had been no evidence of foul play.

Welcome Planned

LONDON (Reuters) — Queen Elizabeth Wednesday ordered one of her personal planes to be ready to fly former prime minister Eden from Jamaica to "rest" in his thatched-roof cottage in the heart of West England.

A big governmental welcome has been planned upon Eden's arrival Monday with his wife in Liverpool aboard the Empress of British Columbia.

Struck by Car, Angler Drowns

MONTREAL (CP) Two persons drowned Wednesday night when a car swerved out of control and plunged into the Lawrence River at nearby Repentigny.

A fisherman on the dock was one of the victims. He was struck by the car, which left the road into the river. Police said his body was recovered but withheld his name.

A diver today is to attempt to hook a cable to the car, which Roads Minister Antonio Talbot said is in about 20 feet of water. The driver's body is missing.

Pilotless Plane Crashes in Field After Flying Across Four States

COLFAX, Wash. (AP)—A runaway United States Navy drone crashed unmanned Wednesday in a farmer's wheat field west of here after it Wednesday after an erratic, pilotless flight over four states.

Two Idaho air guard jets were flying escort as the drone neared the end of its journey. A navy jet also had been sent from Spokane with orders to deflect it from the city.

The propeller - driven drone, which broke its electronic controls over the Death Valley monument in California, went through weird aerial acrobatics at the end.

The unmanned plane for three hours flew generally northward across parts of California, Nevada Oregon and Washington at a speed of about 250 knots at an elevation of about 20,000 feet.

The runaway was tracked by radar after it had dodged into a thick cloud to escape two accompanying jet fighters. Then the commander of the China Lake naval air station permitted the drone to break free.

The California jets, which were unable to bring down the drone, damaged the elevator control surface on the tail with gunfire. This accounted in part for the run-away's erratic aerial behavior.

ARMY TESTING AN ALL-WEATHER TRACKED VEHICLE

Used for Infantry Operating in Arctic

OTTAWA (CP) — The army is testing a new all-weather, overland, oversnow, overwater vehicle designed primarily for infantry operating in the Arctic.

The 1,500-pound tracked vehicle is called the Rat. It doesn't sink into the snow as deep as a man on snowshoes.

At least $300,000 has been spent on the project, started five years ago. Canadair Ltd., of Montreal has produced six test vehicles powered by a German Volkswagen engine.

It will be another year before the army completes full-scale user trials. If it is decided to put the Rat into production — and it appears that it will be—it would take Canadair about a year to tool up for its manufacture.

POWERFUL CLIMBER

The vehicle has been designed primarily for use by the 8,000-man mobile striking force to carry infantry quickly over land or water. Maximum speed is 22 miles an hour.

The army showed off the Rat to reporters at its proving ground east of the capital, Petawawa. Before climbed hills and swam across water and possibly wealthy hunt- ers and fishermen may eventually find it the answer to their transportation problems. But the Rat's Canadair officials said they hope to be able to produce the machine at a cost of between $6,000 and $8,000 each.

The Rat is designed as a cargo and not infantry carrier. It can be equipped with the foot soldier.

The hip-high Rat is built in two sections linked together. Both sections are protected. Inverting is accomplished by bending the vehicle at the joint by a system of cables attached to the steering column.

Struck by Car, Angler Drowns

MONTREAL (CP) Two persons drowned Wednesday night when a car swerved out of control and plunged into the Lawrence River at nearby Repentigny.

A fisherman on the dock was one of the victims. He was struck by the car, which left the road into the river. Police said his body was recovered but withheld his name.

A diver today is to attempt to hook a cable to the car, which Roads Minister Antonio Talbot said is in about 20 feet of water. The driver's body is missing.

Britain Plans New Approach To Reds to Slow Arms Race

LONDON (AP) — Britain Wednesday night was reported preparing a new appeal to Russia to help slow down the world arms race with a proposal to open the way for a limited disarmament agreement short of total prohibition of nuclear weapons.

Government sources said Prime Minister Macmillan has drafted the main terms of a letter to Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin which likely will hold out prospects for ultimate East-West talks at three levels.

The first might be a visit to Moscow by Macmillan himself either next fall or in the spring of 1958.

The second might be a meeting of Big Four foreign ministers to negotiate a German settlement. Such a meeting, suggested by

Words Grow Warmer as Drive For Votes Nearing the Stretch

By CP STAFF WRITER

As the time shortens, the words fly stronger. And with some bluntness.

The Liberals are beginning to realize they're in an election campaign and "not a baby-kissing contest," John Diefenbaker said Wednesday, aiming his verbal blows mostly at Prime Minister St. Laurent.

Still flurrying with the Progressive Conservative leader, Mr. St. Laurent paused to suggest Quebec Roads Minister Antonio Talbot "mind his own business."

In this way the campaign drew within 10 days of the June 10 election.

Mr. Diefenbaker, throwing election punches in the Toronto-Ontario area, said there is a great groundswell in public opinion through Canada against the things done and left undone by the Liberal federal government.

"It is a protest against arrogant secrecy in affairs of state against the power lust of a few men, against distress and want in the midst of plenty, against callousness toward the needs of people in distress, against the piling on of taxes for the sake of piling up power."

The Liberals were trying to lull voters. "But Canadians are getting edged by before heading today for Newfoundland, said independent candidates in Quebec don't want to show their true colors. "Of what and whom are they independent?" The Liberals were excited." They were thinking hard. And when Canadians think they act, he said.

The Liberals now were "in a battle and they know it."

Mr. St. Laurent, drawing somewhat friendly crowds as he is running for a known team.

Then, directing his attention to Mr. Talbot, who is openly supporting Paul Gagnon, independent MP for Dicentfini last Parliament and seeking re-election, the prime minister said:

"You all know what the word provincial autonomy means. It is a strong-sounding word, but all it means is that everybody should mind their own business. It would be a good thing if the roads minister remembered to mind his own business."

Mr. Coldwell said in a radio broadcast that Canadian Canadian children die needlessly because of the Liberal party's failure to provide adequate research facilities.

Two Bandits Use Soap Gun To Intimidate Jail Guards, End Up In Exercise Yard

Geo. Coy, Bruce Saunders Use Keys on Wrong Door

Two ex-gunmen, already under lengthy sentences for armed robbery, made a desperate bid for freedom here this morning — and ran up against a lifted stone wall.

George Coy and Bruce Saunders overpowered two guards in the Hastings county jail by means of a toy gun, secured their keys and opened a door to make their getaway.

Instead of the blue sky and fresh air of the "outside" they stared amazed at high stone walls. They had opened the door to the jail exercise yard. Seconds later they surrendered to provincial police.

Saunders and Coy had been brought to Belleville to stand trial for the armed hold-up of Brown's Bread last May in which manager Louis Rump, Jr., was gagged and bound and $4,000 taken.

Last winter Saunders commandeered a provincial police cruiser at Sarnia and, at gunpoint, forced an officer to drive him to the United States - Canadian border.

USES TOY GUN

Saunders used a toy gun made of lead and encased in plastic to intimidate the guards at the jail here.

Since their arrival from Kingston penitentiary, the two men had been kept in separate cells in the jail. Last night at the request of police and their attorney John O'Fyon, Sr., the men were allowed to be together in the cell. They were to appear this morning before Magistrate T. Y. Willis on the Brown's Bread charges.

Preparatory to the hearing, Saunders was brought into the jail corridor from his cell for fingerprinting. Coy stood behind the grilled corridor door.

Guards Russell McPeak and Jack Stone conducted the search. One of the guards noticed a lump in Saunders' clothing that looked like a pocket watch. Saunders refused to give it up, then jerked it from his pocket. It was the lead-and-soap gun. How the convicts secured the gun or manufactured it is not known.

TOSSES GUN TO COY

Saunders worked himself into a position where he could toss the gun to Coy. He backed the guard against the cell door and the door where Coy reached through and grabbed him around the neck for a personal meeting he'd likely see well-timed, well-prepared and strictly businesslike.

Staring them in the face were the towering stone walls of the jail exercise yard. In a matter of seconds, grim determined convicts bent on freedom were transferred into week headed trustrated men who decred a provincial police cruiser at Sarnia and, at gunpoint, forced an officer to drive him to the United States - Canadian border.

Saunders and Coy raced downstairs to the jail and opened a door which they thought led to the "outside".

Staring them in the face were towering stone walls of the jail exercise yard. In a matter of seconds, grim determined convicts bent on freedom were transferred into the Ontario Intelligencer this morning that charges of attempted jail-break would be laid against Saunders and Coy.

Saunders and Coy were picked up by a Belleville police escort at Kingston penitentiary Tuesday and returned here by car for trial on the warehouse robbery.

Saunders was serving five-to-eight year sentence passed at Windsor Jan. 5 for stealing a police car. Coy was sentenced last month at Hamilton to five years for breaking and entering. He was in custody at Hamilton Assizes while awaiting transfer to Kingston and drew an additional six months for this offence.

'Near Beer' Hot Item in Ottawa Delicatessen Store for First Time

OTTAWA (CP)—Whatever it is, it sold like cold beer on a hot summer day.

The proprietors of the Party Palace termed it "near beer" Wednesday when a customer at Ottawa delicatessen and lunch counter became what is believed the first person in Ontario to purchase the drink.

It is brewed by a distributor of the brew, which it bottled in the United States, said it is manufactured from malt and hops and always contains less than .05 per cent alcohol, added as a preservative.

Ontario liquor control board officials are to be determined whether it is intoxicating and subject to LCBO jurisdiction.

In Toronto, a spokesman for the Retail Grocers Association of Ontario said that "near beer" is sected in 'any way" with the Ontario sale but hopes it marked as "light beer" containing 2.5 per cent alcohol, Regular beer in Ontario contains 4.5 per cent alcohol.

Jon W. Kierna, RGA consultant, said in a statement the association has been negotiating with the Ontario government to market in food stores a beer containing a relatively small percentage of alcohol.

But it "never planned to market or arrange for marketing of near-beer or any beer substitute."

W. H. Collings, LCBO commissioner, said in Toronto an analysis will be made to see if the drink can be taken against persons selling it.

Mr. Collings added that the food and drug division of the federal health department and the federal revenue department may also be interested in the beverage. The former checks on the purity of items sold for human consumption. The revenue department collects a duty on imported beverages containing malt and might want to determine whether content of the drink is as represented.

Spokesmen for the two federal departments were not immediately available for comment.

Meanwhile, customers bought. David Pulevich, who runs the Party Mirsky operates the delicatessen and lunch counter, said he sold out. the five-24-bottle cases he started with and five more.

The drink — called Maltcrest Brew—comes in 12-ounce bottles which retail for 25 cents. A 12-ounce bottle of beer cuts about 18 cents in a dozen-bottle case. The "near beer" is lighter in color than vegular beer and has a mild beer flavor.

Said Mr. Polowin: "There certainly is no kick to it."

Deny Hungarian Jobless to Go To Soviet Union

BUDAPEST (Reuters)—A Hungarian foreign office spokesman today denied a Vienna newspaper report that Hungary has agreed to send 50,000 Hungarian unemployed to work in the Soviet Union.

The spokesman said that the report is without foundation.

Quoting reliable sources in Budapest, Wednesday's Wiener Neuer Kurier said the 50,000 would be recruited from among those suspected of being opposed to Hungary's present government.

The paper added that Hungary would receive $100 for each of the 50,000 from Russia.

Murray Motors Grand Opening Will Be Staged

Tomorrow night and Saturday Frank Murray and his staff of 30 men and women will entertain the automotive public at the grand opening of Murray Motors Ltd., 224 Pinnacle St.

Formerly Haig Motors Ltd., Murray Motors will continue the fine traditions of its predecessor by selling and servicing Ford Motor Co. products — the sleek and beautiful Monarch passenger car and the low-priced luxurious Ford auto.

Free roses will be given to the ladies during the grand opening and a draw for 24 miniature Ford cars will be held.

Mr. Murray, who is president and general manager, was born and educated in Ireland and started his business career with the Royal Exchange Assurance Co. in Dublin.

Six years of war saw Flight Lieutenant Murray serving the British Commonwealth in the Royal Air Force in Coastal Command and, when the last shot was fired, a staff officer in Northern Ireland. Part of his wartime service was spent in Canada and the U.S., where he training airmen from countries participating in the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan.

JOINED CJBQ

On his release from the RAF, Mr. Murray joined the radio station, CJBQ, in Belleville, where he spent two and one-half years before going to Toronto with H. N. Stovin and Co., national representatives of a large group of Canadian and U.S. television stations.

Late in 1950 he was sent to the firm's Montreal office, where he managed it for two years, before returning to the radio station here as assistant station manager.

Mr. Murray is a member of the Rotary Club of Belleville, and is co-founder and past-president of the Belleville Sales and Advertising Club. About five years ago he played a leading role, locally, in the campaign for funds for the CNIB building in Kingston. When the Belleville General Hospital announced plans to build a new wing, Mr. Murray became one of the hard-working solicitors.

He is an active member of the Chamber of Commerce and, since he has been in Belleville has helped out on the Community Chest and Easter Seal campaigns.

Mr. Murray is married to the former Isobel Stewart of Belleville. They have three children, Pamela 11, Stewart, 6, and Kevin, 3.

SHOW 'TURNPIKE CRUISER'

On display tomorrow night and Saturday will be a Monarch "Turnpike Cruiser," one of the most luxurious cars on the road.

"It's got everything. It's the most fully equipped car you'll find on the road today," said Mr. Murray.

If anyone wants to learn what a "signal-seker" or "remmy-berry" seat is, Mr. Murray suggests he drops in to Murray Motors Ltd., 224 Pinnacle St., on Friday evening or all day Saturday.

Labor Council Backs Mayor On City Manager

At a regular meeting held in the Odd Fellows Hall, Front St., last night, the Belleville and District Labor Council, with a full turnout of members, voted unanimously to back Mayor Jane Forsyth in her decision to take complete airing as to the reasons behind the attitude of certain council members toward the city manager.

The delegates at last night's meeting all spoke on the manner in which this problem has been presented. It is nothing but discrimination of the first water, as any fair minded knows, for a man to be fired without just reasons being given, speakers declared. The members of the Labor Council were strong in their support of the motion to make certain that specific charges must be explained.

All 3,000 members are to be briefed by mail as to the action which has been completed. A letter has been drafted to the Canadian Labor Congress for proper control.

REPORTS ON HOSPITAL

This discussion lasted most of the meeting and only the renovations that have been made and are to be made at the hospital. He also praised the Administrator, Mr. Kenneth Box, for his efficiency in handling a complex hospital in such a manner that is now one of the best and finest in Canada. Mr. Whitehead also asked the Labor Council to bear in mind the future needs of the hospital for new buildings. The money, or a large part of it, could be sought by public donations, he said, so he thought that the Labor Council should try and implement plans whereby it might raise twenty or thirty thousand dollars in the future to be added over to the Hospital Building fund.

The meeting was under the direction gf D. Burshaw, president of the Council.

Disarmament Meet Postponed

LONDON (AP)—Harold Stassen, President Eisenhower's disarmament adviser, returned to London from Paris today to get a report on American arms control plan to the UN disarmament sub-committee.

Today's scheduled sub-committee session was postponed until Monday. No reason was given for the postponement but a source close to the talks said "it was no surprise."

Stassen outlined the still-secret plan Wednesday at a meeting of permanent council and was reported to have won preliminary support from all 14 of the Western powers.

NOT CONFINED TO THREE

In Paris, French Foreign Minister delegate Jules Moch denied earlier reports that part of the U.S. proposals called for a ban on the manufacture of nuclear arms except by the three powers which already have them—United States, Russia and Britain.

The earlier accounts quoted authoritative French sources as saying such provisions would be unsatisfactory to France.

"There was never any question of the United States, the Soviet Union and Britain forming an exclusive 'atomic club' which would have a monopoly," Moch asserted. "That is not the American policy at all."

South Thurlow Forms Assoc. For Taxpayers

A meeting of the South Thurlow Annexation Committee was held on S.S. 20 public school last evening.

Mr. J. Paget, chairman for the meeting, gave the brief reason for the benefit of new members, the progress of the annexation committe since its formation last November 22.

Following this review, a ratepayer's association of the South Thurlow taxpayers was formed. The main function of this committee will be to see that the tax dollar is spent to the best advantage.

Bill Means was elected president of the association with Frank Valentine elected secretary-treasurer. About six executive members are Tom Anderson and Gordon Hutchinson. The membership fee is $1.00 at the present time but this may be lowered later.

Chairman Paget read a report on the progress of the three annexation committees, College Hill, South Thurlow and Parkdale.

The report was a very thorough comparison of the operation costs of the City of Belleville as compared to Thurlow Township.

This report will be mailed to all taxpayers in Thurlow in the near future. People receiving this report are asked to fill out the questionaire on the back and retain it until it is called for.

Following this a committee was formed to investigate zoning in the Township of Thurlow. T. Walsh and H. Brodie are members of the committee.

Another committee, consisting of P. Melchior and J. McCabe, was also formed to investigate parks and recreation in Thurlow township.

Apt. Project Is Opposed

TORONTO (CP) — A proposed $60,000,000 apartment-hotel project over an open portion of the Toronto subway met opposition at the property committee meeting Wednesday.

Members of the South Rosedale Ratepayers Association, opposing the project, attended the meeting. But when the proposal was presented by Industrial Leaseholds Co. Ltd., it was criticized by members of the planning board and the association's delegates did not get an opportunity to speak.

The plan calls for eight 19-storey apartment buildings and two 16-storey office buildings.

The committee decided to ask for reports from the Metropolitan Toronto planning board and department heads.

SENTENCE SUSPENDED

STRATFORD (CP) — Wallace Landers, 17, of the Tavistock area was placed on two years' suspended sentence Wednesday following his conviction on a charge of intent to conceal a birth. The charge followed discovery of the body of a female baby on the Landers farm March 27. The youth told the court he had buried the baby and that it had died moments after being born to his mother.

Foster Homes Badly Needed By Society

ALL'S QUIET ON THE ELECTION FRONT.

The Belleville, Hastings and Trenton Children's Aid Society is appealing for foster homes for children ranging in age from one year to 18 months. These children need much more than mere shelter and food, as the following story graphically explains.

Nine years old is a very nice age to be, if you have a loving Mom to come home to after school, and your very best friend lives just down the block, and your older brother, though he treats you like a nuisance around home, is good enough for a game of pour battles if things get too tough at school. But nine years old can be a very frightening age to be if you are not quite sure whether your foster mother (she happens to be the fourth) really wants you, if you come from school, and you don't have a "best friend" because each time you move and change schools it seems to become more difficult to make friends around the gang, and your new brother is not yet accustomed to having a big sister around, and he is even less sure than you are whether you like the arrangement.

Patty is a little girl whose life experiences fit the second of these descriptions and she is indeed a frightened child. You see, Patty is a ward of the Children's Aid and has been for several years. The first three times she was moved from one child's home to another, the reasons lay in circumstances beyond her or anyone else's control.

But, by the time she went into her fourth home, she herself had become the chief source of the difficulty. Not that one usually thinks of as a "behavior problem" Patty is a slender, attractive child, who is careful about her personal appearance and takes good care of her clothing and other belongings. Generally cheerful she makes polite conversation with the adults in her foster home and might say that while she is a little saucy perhaps she will probably outgrow it.

PARENTS DISTURBED

We know that Patty's succession of moves and the less disturbing ways in which she is trying to say that she has a problem. Her foster parents are disturbed and concerned that not one member of the family has been able to get close to her, even though she has been in the home for several months. We too know that they have every reason to be concerned for if Patty does not learn to love and be loved in return, she will go through life a lonely and unhappy person.

Five times—once in her natural family, and three times in foster homes Patty has turned her benefit to parents, let herself love them and depend on them, and four times they have had the ground crumble under her feet. It is little wonder that she finds it difficult to believe that this present home is going to last very long. And if she is going to love this child anymore, is it not better to remain aloof and detached so that she does not get hurt again? That is the way an adult would reason. A child does not always think things through, typically but he does react to his experiences, sometimes in ways that even he himself does not understand. Patty probably could not explain why she acts all the time that family's willingness to make her one of the family, she has received a polite stranger in the home.

RELUCTANT TO UPROOT CHILD

After a few months of living with a child like Patty, most mothers would be thinking about whether they were doing something they should not or failing to do something they should do. Common sense says that if a child likes the home it's in, a mother then she will trust you like a mother, and not just someone who cooks her meals and washes her clothes. The conclusion that Patty's present foster parents have reached is that the child will not accept them as parents and if they cannot help her, then she had better be moved to another home where she can fit.

The Society is always reluctant to uproot a child from a home he has known, unless it becomes necessary for the welfare of the child himself. Before Patty can use help-to overcome her fears about trusting parents, she must first be settled in a home where the parents are understanding of her problem and are willing to work along with the Society.

Patty is only one of many children who must be provided for in foster homes available to the Children's Aid Society. Further information about placement of children in boarding homes may be obtained from the Homefinder with the Children's Aid Society at 63 Moira Street West, Belleville.

Espionage Trial In Cairo Ends, Verdict Later

CAIRO (Reuters) — The espionage trial of 29 persons, including eight Britons, ended today nine months after the first arrests were made.

Five times—once in her natural family, and three times in foster homes Patty has turned her benefit to parents, let herself love them and depend on them, and four times they have had the ground crumble under her feet. It is little wonder that she finds it difficult to believe that this present home is going to last very long. And if she is going to love this child anymore, is it not better to remain aloof and detached so that she does not get hurt again? That is the way an adult would reason. A child does not always think things through, typically but he does react to his experiences, sometimes in ways that even he himself does not understand. Patty probably could not explain why she acts all the time that family's willingness to make her one of the family, she has received a polite stranger in the home.

RELUCTANT TO UPROOT CHILD

After a few months of living with a child like Patty, most mothers would be thinking about whether they were doing something they should not or failing to do something they should do. Common sense says that if a child likes the home it's in, a mother then she will trust you like a mother, and not just someone who cooks her meals and washes her clothes. The conclusion that Patty's present foster parents have reached is that the child will not accept them as parents and if they cannot help her, then she had better be moved to another home where she can fit.

The Society is always reluctant to uproot a child from a home he has known, unless it becomes necessary for the welfare of the child himself. Before Patty can use help-to overcome her fears about trusting parents, she must first be settled in a home where the parents are understanding of her problem and are willing to work along with the Society.

Patty is only one of many children who must be provided for in foster homes available to the Children's Aid Society. Further information about placement of children in boarding homes may be obtained from the Homefinder with the Children's Aid Society at 63 Moira Street West, Belleville.

"Dear old golden rule days" were recalled by Progressive Conservative leader John Diefenbaker when he returned to the school near Whitby, Ont., which he attended in his youth. He couldn't risk playing hookey for his father was the teacher. About 15 men and women, Diefenbaker's classmates of 1899, answered the roll call, ending with Diefenbaker, who answered, "present."

Copper Search Ends in Failure

TORONTO (CP) — A six-year search for copper ore-bodies rich enough to mine in Labrador has ended in failure for Frobisher Ltd., a mining subsidiary of Ventures Ltd.

In a prepared address to the stockholders at the annual meeting Wednesday, Frobisher president A. J. Anderson said that the search did disclose some attractive blends and columbium finds which will be further investigated.

The president said the company spent more than $500,000 in the copper search, begun in 1951.

The search was carried out in the Seal Lake area about 100 miles west of Goose Bay.

Mr. Anderson said most other Canadian and African operations were going well, and the company's long-term debt to Ventures Ltd. was reduced by almost $5,000,000 during the last year.

IN MEMORIAMS

SANFORD, — In loving memory of Margaret Sanford, who passed away May 30, 1956.

Sadly missed, bright eyes, a tender smile,
A loving heart that knew no guile;
A gentle hand in ours that all we might
Her joy to make some other bright.
Her life was filled with deeds of love,
Some gentle act of love she'd do.
Now she has gone to her home above,
And I know He said, "Well done dear mother."

—Ever remembered by husband Roy and family.

WEEKS, — In loving memory of our dear son and brother, George Weeks, who passed away May 30, 1954.

His last parting wish,
Just heard and heeded;
And last look in his eyes,
Just read the parting word.
Only remembered love.
Are able to tell
The pain in the heart,
In not saying farewell.
—Sadly missed by mother, father, sister and brothers.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

By CHRIS F. LEGGAT

The annual Cubaroes was held last Saturday at the Belleville Fair Grounds.

Nearly 600 Cubs and leaders took part in this affair. All the local packs were well represented and Cubs from Foxboro, Melrose, Avondale and a group from the 180th Toronto Pack joined in the fun. They made very welcome additions and in no time became part of the large Cub family.

It was a perfect day and under the direction of A.D.C., Phil Allcorn and his committee consisting of Jack Hodgson, Chris Leggat, Lew Andrews, Art Athey, Lorne McDougall, John Townsend, Jim Ritchie, John Ross and Vic White, the program was handled very efficiently. The help given by other members of the group was outstanding and contributed largely to the success of the Cubaroe.

At 1.45 p.m. the ceremony of Flag Break was performed, following which the Grand Howl. Mr. A. S. Robb, president of the local association, made a brief address of welcome. Chairman Phil Allcorn outlined the program and events went under way with a break for ice cream and cokes, after which the program continued.

The races were split into two events and the winner were:

Running race under 10 years, Terry Hilliston and Mike Reddick, Rickey Knott and Steve Memtim. Running race over 10 years: Glen Percival and Bob Ridley, Bob Bailey and Don Russell; high jump under 10 years: Robby Morbry, Charles Potts, Doug Dickey and Mike Mooney; high jump over 10 years: Bob Ridley, Gerrardus Martens and Philip Bardy, Bob Bailey; broad jump, 10 years and over: Bob Ridley and Jack Nury, Peter Lipes and Forest Smith; baseball winning teams: Jay Kaufman, Brian Adams, Bill Elliott, G. Campbell, F. Farrell, Bill Fisher, Allan White, Bill D. Fraser, J. Muldoon, J. Eastwood, D. Cox, B. Westlauter and B. Smith; bean bag throw: Stuart McIntosh, David McMullen, Albert Lenlini, Bobby Lenlini; father and son race: David Beresford and dad, Morris Beresford; Peter Lipes teamed with Mr. Bob Williamson, Steve St. Piere and dad, Frank St. Pierre.

We are happy to report that the St. Johns Crusaders under Mrs. H. W. Read, superintendent, were on hand for any emergencies and this service was much appreciated.

The local association of the Boy Scouts wish to thank all leaders, parents and committee men who helped make this Cubaroe so successful.

inite answer Friday night.

If Pflimlin can put together a government with majority backing, he probably will go before the assembly Monday or Tuesday for its endorsement. Coty, meanwhile, would finally accept Socialist Premier Guy Mollet's resignation, which he has kept on ice for three days.

The president asked Mollet again Wednesday to form a new government. The Socialist leader held to his decision to quit.

The MRP is a slightly left-of-centre party which came to postwar prominence under the leadership of former premiers Georges Bidault and Robert Schuman. The party is close to the Socialists on all issues except state aid to church schools, which the Socialists oppose bitterly.

Socialist backing is essential for a centrist majority.

The MRP leader has a reputation as an expert in "round" table finance. Mollet was voted out of office by conservative distrust of his financial policy.

Pierre Pflimlin Will Attempt to Form Govt.

PARIS (AP)—The French political log jam today showed signs of breaking as Pierre Pflimlin, 50-year-old Alsatian leader of the liberal Catholic MRP, agreed to try to form a government.

Pflimlin flew to the Pyrenees seaside resort of Biarritz to obtain the backing of his party's national committee. Since Pflimlin is national chairman of the MRP (Popular Republican Movement), there was no doubt the convention would endorse his decision.

President Rene Coty asked Pflimlin to take on the task after former premier Rene Pleven advised the president he had been unable to work out a platform acceptable to France's centre parties.

Pflimlin promised Coty a definite answer Friday night.

If Pflimlin can put together a government with majority backing, he probably will go before the assembly Monday or Tuesday for its endorsement. Coty, meanwhile, would finally accept Socialist Premier Guy Mollet's resignation, which he has kept on ice for three days.

Twins' Future To Be Argued Before Court

OTTAWA (CP)—The future of two fair-haired, blue-eyed boys, twins who have changed home twice since their birth three years ago in Toronto, goes today before the Supreme Court of Canada.

A panel of the country's highest judges is to decide whether Richard and Roland Mast will remain with their natural or with their foster parents.

The twins have lived with their natural parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Mast, a youthful Dutch-immigrant couple, at Cooksville only since last December. For the previous 2½ years they lived with Mr and Mrs. Austin Hepton, also of Cooksville.

The case comes to Canada's highest court for final decision following lower-court rulings that first granted the Heptons legal custody of the twins, then returned them to their natural parents.

SUMMARY OF EVIDENCE

Herman Mast was 22, a $50-a-week truck driver whose home was a trailer when the babies arrived. Mrs. Mast, then 21, tried to have an abortion, but was persuaded to give birth naturally.

The couple advised, Dr. J. D. Smith of Cooksville they wished to surrender the babies for adoption. The Heptons, 35 and 34, respectively, had been trying for years to adopt a child and the Mast children were placed in the Heptons' five-room bungalow.

Persistent questioning by the younger couple's parents, who were wondering why they were never shown their grandchildren, disclosed the situation. The Masts changed their mind and sought the infants' return.

The Heptons refused. The Masts had signed a document that they understood the adoption would "permanently deprive us of our rights." The Heptons held that the courts should decide.

Mr. Justice R. W. Treleaven of the Ontario high court ruled the children should stay with the Heptons. The paramount issue was the boys' welfare.

Ontario Court of Appeal then held 2 to 1 that parents' natural rights to their children should not be interfered with unless the children's welfare demands that the rights be disregarded. The twins were returned to their natural parents.

Mr. Mast's income has risen now to $85 weekly and his family, to which a little girl has been added, lives in a three-room apartment.

But the Heptons want a decision by the highest court in the land.

Coe Hill Woman High in Class On Assessment

WINDSOR (CP) — The three-day convention of the Association of Assessing Officers of Ontario concluded Wednesday with a luncheon honoring the first graduates of the Institute of Municipal Assessors of Ontario.

The meeting was told that 93 of a total of 106 persons who wrote the exams given by Queens University passed.

Heading the list was Mrs. Hazel M. Hoard of Coe Hill, Hastings County. Mrs. Hoard, only woman to write the exams, tied with William E. Noble of Ajax, in taking first place honors.

Mrs. Hoard, who has been township assessor of Wollaston Township, population 690, for 19 years, is the wife of Charles Hoard, a farmer. She has two children, Graham 14 and Carol 11. She is a former teacher.

Mr. Noble has long been connected with towns and townships. He was clerk and tax collector of Ajax, a town of 6,000 before becoming assessor. He is a former mayor of East York, 1950-51, and Oshawa alderman in 1951.

Aurele Ricard, assessment commissioner of Sudbury, was third. A former school teacher, he is credited as originator of the idea of the training course for assessing officers. He is married and has five children.

He said Wednesday he "felt many committees like mine have a special assessing problem."

MILK COWS FOR RAIN

NEW DELHI (AP) — Hundreds of cows were brought Wednesday by government order to the drought-dried bed of the sacred Pagmati River at Katmandu. Farmers milked the cows into the river bed, hoping to appease the Hindu river goddess so that she would ask her husband, the rain god, to end the six-week drought. Wednesday night it rained.

LOWER LAKE LEVELS

Many citizens have commented on the low level of the Moira River. Looking at the stretch of rocky river bottom, and the stranded depris, between the lower bridge and the river's mouth one would think that it was mid-August instead of May and the river level was even lower a few weeks ago.

This low water level has been generally credited to the lack of snow this past winter, and to the dry spring. That this has been a factor is doubtless true. The manner in which the river level will rise rapidly, and the area of the uncovered river bed will contract, after a heavy storm confirms this supposition. It does not appear probable, though, that this is the whole story.

The water level in the Bay of Quinte is extremely low this year and the same story is true along the St. Lawrence, where the power project and seaway work is underway. This work has been blamed by some citizens of that district for the lower level of the river and the Brockville Recorder and Times a short time ago took issue with this theory. The Brockville paper says that "most persons who are familiar with the rise and fall of the river realize that the extremes are noted every seven years — and that this is the year for low water." We are not prepared to corroborate the theory that the rise and fall of the lake level follows seven-year cycles, but that there is such a periodical change, whatever the period may be and regardless of whether the change comes at set intervals, is certain.

The low water level is not a phenomenon peculiar to Lake Ontario and its tributary waters. On the upper lakes, too, there are complaints about the manner in which the water has receded. In some cases this has been welcomed. It was only a couple of years ago that owners of shore property on the Bay of Quinte, and indeed all around Lake Ontario, were complaining about the high level of the water, of the damage already done to their property and of the danger of this damage being increased many times if the water should rise even a few more inches. The same complaints about high water were heard from resorts on the Upper Lakes, although the high-water mark there seems to have occurred somewhat earlier, which would be understandable. The water has receded again, in some cases restoring to cottage owners the possession of fine sand beaches, in others leaving them with docks and breakwaters many feet from water.

The fluctuation of lake levels would appear to be something over which man has, as yet, little control and there is grave question whether the lack of precipitation during the past winter and spring is the full explanation. Rather it would appear that it has merely aggravated a condition which was developing as part of a long-term cycle.

THE OFFICE GROUCH AND POLITICS

The Office Grouch is following the current political campaign with intense interest these days. The Office Grouch has only one vote to give for his country, but he is making enough fuss about it to delight even the most ardent supporters of "Get out the vote" campaigns. That one vote has been wagging as vigorously as the tail of a dog which has been chasing a cat and has tripped over an elephant's thigh bone. The Office Grouch says that every time a politician opens his mouth, he is almost sure to spit out a lot of words he ought to have swallowed and digested with ease if he had refrained from airing his tonsils.

It is not only the campaign speeches that cause the Office Grouch to remark his ballot. The advertisements are just as sure-fire a method of making him change his mind — in the opposite direction from that that the advertiser desires.

There was, for instance, a sterling tribute to a sitting MP, who shall be nameless, which appeared in a newspaper many ridings to the west.

"For 17 consecutive years," trumpeted the advertisement, "Joe Blow has been a fighter for all that is just and right and fair."

The Office Grouch complains that there are so many things that are just and right and fair that it would take even the most nimble-tongued politician full 17 years to even mention them, at the end of which time even a politician would be too breathless to do much fighting for them.

The Office Grouch complains that he nev r knew a man yet, (excluding himself, of course), who was a supporter for "all" that is just and right and fair.

Just where the Office Grouch's vote will land on election day is anybody's guess. It will almost certainly go to the party that shuts up first.

BASEBALL LESSON

Once I broke a baseball law:
Cut first corner several feet.
Didn't think the umpire saw;
Got to third on flying feet.
Then I heard the umpire shout:
"Smart young fellow, you are out.
Learned a lesson then," said he.
"Glad it happened now," to me.

Wise old coach back then I had.
Quietly he spoke to me:
"Better lose the game, my lad,
Than your self-respect," said he.
"Better far to bear defeat
Than to know you've been a cheat.
If to win by trick you choose,
Something dearer far you'll lose."

I was just a youngster then,
Needing just that lesson stern;
For the busy world of men
'Twas a truth I had to learn.
Win or lose, at work or play,
Keep the honorable way.
Grateful I will always be
That our first lesson taught to me.

How Many Faces Have You?

By MILLS LETHERINGHAM

"You can't do it! He's always been a wonderful husband to me!" Exclaimed a woman in the court when the prisoner was sentenced for a particularly savage assault. It is a remarkable fact that some of the biggest scoundrels are loved by their spouses or by their wives and families. At the same time many of the most popular men in public life have most charming manners often are vicious at their home. Most human beings have two or more faces, but few as diametrically opposed as the real concentration camp commander who murdered thousands of civilian prisoners but always ensured that the birds were fed.

The prisoner had been convicted of a particularly savage assault. Moreover, he had led a life of crime and violence for many years. Formally, he received a stiff sentence — and from a woman at the back of the court came a heart-rending scream. "You can't do it!" she shouted. "He's always been a wonderful husband to me!"

Was she really speaking the truth? Or was she influenced by emotion, by the tenseness and the grim drama of the occasion? There is only one answer. Undoubtedly she was utterly and entirely sincere.

It is a remarkable and puzzling fact that some of the biggest rogues and scoundrels — brutal men who stop at nothing — are kind and generous to their wives and families. To the ordinary, decent-minded person this does not make sense. Yet it is the common experience of the welfare workers and the police.

But then are we not all Jekylls and Hydes to some extent? Does not every single one of us possess not merely two faces but a dozen? Study your close acquaintance and think. Then — and it will probably be a shock — take a careful and unbiased look at yourself and then you realize that what I have said is true.

Take, for example, the woman who gives a considerable amount of time to the performance of work for charities. She is a pillar of the church, works hard on behalf of various charities, and is always ready to help and lend a hand to the weak and those who sick, frightened and the needy. Her friendly, comforting smile has cheered many a tired and stricken soul. Yet the same smile becomes a scowl when she reaches home. Her cruel and callous treatment has made her unfortunate husband a fit subject for mental caricature of his original self.

AN UGLY MASK

Women — although it is a dangerous thing for one of the opposite sex to say so — seem more prone to this sort of mentality than men. On a London bus a conductress was greeting cheerfully to a soldier. She was pretty and good natured girl, easy to get on with, pleasant in her manner. Unfortunately she had a fad for being — this face, was reserved solely for men.

Or so it seemed, for when an elderly woman boarded the bus by mistake, the conductress was swiftly transformed. Her kindness and her brightness gave way to viciousness and spite. It was as though she had assumed an ugly mask. And the unfortunate and somewhat bewildered old soul, she behaved like a virago. "People like you should never be allowed out unless accompanied. "You're a bloody nuisance!"

I do not want to give the impression that only women behave like that. I know a commercial traveller, a man typical of his kind. In company he is always full of beans, laughs and jokes with his pals. A tremendously popular everywhere he goes. A really nice man in fact — or so you would imagine. At home it is a different story. There are unfortunates I discovered for myself — he is a bullying, overbearing person. Gone is any attempt at bon homie, of cheerful comradeship. His poor wife almost cringes when he speaks, and no wonder. For he never says a pleasant word, treats her like a slave, and bullies the children unmercifully. Even the dog slinks away as soon as he hears his master's key in the door.

Two-faced? That is putting it mildly. Neither does the expression sufficiently describe an ex-regimental-sergeant-major I know. But it certainly explains something which would surprise and highly amuse his friends. A terrific figure of a man, rigidly smart and confidently efficient, he used to be the terror of the men he commanded. When he walked along the pavement, everybody instinctively saluted. This was one side of his character, the side he revealed to the world. Once with his family he became completely docile, a human, unfortunate creature. So much so that his daughter, a mere child, had the courage on him to silence in a few minutes.

UTTERLY RUTHLESS

Then there is the sharp and ruthless business man who has devoted all his working life to one purpose only — the making of money and still more money, spending little on himself and which has given him no material satisfaction or any real happiness. He has had success he had left tears and misery, for each success to a rival he is utterly unscrupulous, entirely without conscience. But to his family he is the kindest. To know that this same man, whose name is curses in hundreds, has also brought a gleam of sunshine to the dark corners of many homes, has given thousands to charity — anonymously.

Teen-agers can have two or more faces too. "He's a good boy at bottom," said a mother who heard that from the sobbing mother of a youthful thief. "He's a real, sane fellow — and especially those unfamiliar with the seamier and darker side of life — her assertion seems well-nigh incredible. Yet she is honestly speaking from the heart.

To obtain the right perspective, then, one only has to look a bit, to recall incidents of which you have been given perhaps intimate knowledge. Then you will quickly remember that fellow — or woman — appreciative, perhaps — who did something particularly shocking or outrageous. "Good Heavens!" you exclaimed at the time. "He's the last chap in the world I should have expected to behave like that!" And you were alone this reaction. Undoubtedly all his friends were similarly surprised and shocked.

Yet why should they have been? Human nature is not set in one mould, and the human temperament has several aspects. You, too, are all many-faced — only we usually try to keep the most unpleasant turned towards the world.

Except one blood-soaked trail also, without a warning, destroyed thousands of civilian prisoners in a concentration camp. Yet he indescribable horror, and always kept it well supplied with birds.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

For an elderly widow of our acquaintance, recently deceased, there was left with plenty of means to get along nicely with, including the house. Her sons married and didn't want to be bothered with Grandma, except for a few days at a time, because she is a lively old cricket full of ideas, suggestions, improvements, plans. I regret to say, a natural gift for kindly reproof.

Financially, she is always in a muddle.

"Try as I will," she tells me, "to break even each year, I find myself either fifteen hundred in the hole or five hundred to the good."

"Is that bad, that five hundred?" I query.

"Well, mercy," she says, "think of the things I might have done with it!"

"You spend it, eventually, don't you?"

"All in a lump," she admits. "You see silly thing like a big T.V. Or painting the house."

You can see from this that she is nothing but an elderly flibbertygibbet.

She tried to become interested in church work. But that didn't pan out.

"All they want to think about is teen agers," she explained.

She induced a lifelong friend, another widow, to come and live with her. After two months, a lifelong friendship was in ruins.

She got a job in a dress shop, afternoons. I think it was. She made all the middle-aged customers mad by telling the truth.

"My dear," she told the harried customer of the shop, who was determined to buy the fiery evening gown she was trying on, "you look like one of those fifty cent valentines . . ."

She had me over the other evening to counsel her on the evasion of her sons regarding having her to their summer cottages this season.

"I feel," she said, "like those buffoons you find in the fridge."

"Well, but it was a good meal yesterday," I reminded her.

Remembering the good, productive yesterdays is small consolation to those who come to the time when there is nothing more to do.

Long Sermon
Peterborough Examiner

A writer in the London Free Press suggests that each man might write his own funeral address, to be read at his obsequies. We know men whose good opinion of themselves would turn such a funeral into a four-day picnic.

(Note 1957) The Corby Public Library Building was the former location of the Merchants Bank; the manager's residence occupied the upper part of the building. The Merchants was a long established bank; eventually it became merged in the Bank of Montreal and the Bank of Montreal transferred its offices from the Herchimer Bank on the corner of Front and Bridge Streets, formerly the Montreal building, the upper part of which was the manager's residence, was purchased by the Ontario Hydro Commission, which now occupies the building.

Why King Had 100 Wives

Hamilton Spectator

A news story which received less prominence than it deserved was that which told of the death on the same day of Haile Eladesida Ojiljigoun, Western Nigeria's oldest ruler. This worthy was more than 100 years old and left more than 100 wives and 200 children to mourn him.

Polygamy, particularly on such a generous scale as this, produces a variety of reactions, ranging through astonishment, admiration and disbelief to downright disgust. It also conjures up nightmares of domestic pandemonium, reminds us that the Western male trembles with terror.

We suspend that ancient tribal custom made the king personally responsible for the agricultural women over a certain age and all widows left unprovided for. It was his duty to marry them all, otherwise they would starve. What it all amounted to was primitive social welfare and it had worked well for uncounted centuries.

Venostasis Will Get You If You Don't Watch Out

The splanchnic pool is the vast network of veins in the abdomen, and all of the large trunk veins, including the great vein or cave below the diaphragm on about the level of high waistline.

Medical term for stagnation in the splanchnic pool is venostasis. Minor manifestations of venostasis are internal hemorrhoids and varicose veins.

Another manifestation is familiar, although its significance is seldom recognized. If is increase in blood pressure, the pressure on the blood in the arteries and heart, that is.

This is a compensatory effort—Nature tries to maintain adequate blood supply to the functioning cells, tissues, and organs in spite of the venostasis. If this rise in arterial pressure or tension did not occur, the pool with stagnant splanchic pool would be much worse off.

The blood pressure is too high or too low in consequence of what ails you or your way of living. Never mind your blood pressure.

The best prophylactic or remedy for venostasis is a reasonable amount of general exercise, such as a walk of two blocks to six miles daily, or the equivalent in whatever kind of work, play, or vocation suits you the best.

Here are some suggestions, for you. 1. If you have varicose veins with or so far without varicose ulcer, lie on the floor and ride an imaginary bicycle upside down for a few minutes several times a day.

2. Cultivate the habit of doing the belly breathing exercise every night after you get into bed and every morning before you get up.

3. When you walk erect — always keep your chin tucked inside of an imaginary high collar.

4. If you're a sedentary occupation, take every opportunity to walk.

5. If you are not quite decrepit and your insurance is still in force, jump rope. Jump, and forward rolls every day.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

GENTLEMANSHIP

I have known and loved many a great man during my newspaper life. I recall none of them who weren't gentle and rare in understanding. That is what made them both great and beloved. A really great man does not make you feel that he is great. He makes you feel that you, by your own right, may be wealthy, make you feel his wealth. His kindly friendliness is the finest tribute to the man that he is.

I once heard a story about the gentleness of Henry Ford, the founder of the great motor company. A friend of his was retired but they discovered a robin building in a fore part of the building, and orders were given to stop work on the building until the robin had raised her family and started them out in the big world of Nature.

At another time Henry Ford told me that when he had the screen door put at Macon, Michigan, for a great plant, he paid boys five dollars each to bring the squirrels on that plot to him, unharmed. Then he had them set loose in another section of country. Mr. Ford loved children and had a kindly feeling for senseless life, for nature, and among his fellow creatures.

All the many Nature writers, whose books I prize, and whose friendship I have made with all their admirer, have been gentle men. Thoreau lived in a world made by God, able to all the inhabitants of Nature. This was what John Burroughs was, the great nature writer. The Argentine pampas, where he was born, was full of birds, and every gentleman was his friend. His gentlemanship showed in his unconscious characteristics about him. What a worthy trait!

Nationalists Frustrated

Montreal Gazette

The people of the United States have a lot in a state of shock today. Their Chinese Nationalist allies (called "mercenaries" by the Communists), have turned against them with a violence which must have chilled the cockles of the hearts of our generous neighbors to the south.

The cause was minor and, perhaps unjustified. An American court martial had found a Chinese Army sergeant who killed a Chinese Peeping Tom.

In response the Chinese arose in violent demonstrations against the American official centres on the island.

How could this happen? How could it be? The Americans have expended treasures in blood and material and kept cash to help Chinese Nationalists. They supplied Chiang's fight against Chinese in Korea. They have supported him, protected him, fed him.

What the Formosa Chinese are reported to have said is simply this: is that man does not live by bread alone, or by bread or guns, either. Hence the United States given the Nationalists almost everything — everything but the thing that counts the most, to return to the mainland. Their favorite method of repression is by armed invasion, and many of the aging Nationalist Army would be happier dead on the beaches opposite Quemoy than live out a futile existence on Formosa.

Could Import Spectators

Alcan Press, Kingston

Frank Clair of Ottawa Roughriders has proposed that the big four football league import referees from the U.S. To this reminding him of a constructive suggestion. They import their players now and propose to import their officials. The logical time to do it is when fans to watch them and then the rest of us can go back to watching common, ordinary Canadian games between ordinary Canadian football—and here's one viewer that thinks the change would be refreshing.

Conservatives Having Trouble In U.K. Elections

By FRASER WIGHTON

LONDON (Reuters)—The Conservative party, hit hard by Edinburgh voters in a byelection Wednesday, faced more trouble from Londoners in two contests today.

The party held its seat in the Edinburgh South byelection but its 1955 majority of 12,367 votes was slashed to a plurality of 4,640 in a three-way fight involving Labor and Liberal candidates.

Today voters went to the polling booths in two London industrial - residential districts — the northeast suburb of Hornsey and the east-end area of East Ham North.

DEFENDED BY WIDOW

At Hornsey, the seat held by a late government junior minister, Sir David Gammans, is being defended by his widow, She is opposed by Labor's Lyn Mostyn, successful challenger in the 1955 general election when the Conservatives won by 13,726 votes.

Labor is the defender in East Ham North, where the party had a 3,545-vote majority last time in a straight fight with the Conservatives.

This time there are four candidates—Labor's official nominee, R. E. Prentice; Independent Labor Ite W. H. Christopher, Conservative J. Bangay and E. Martell of the People's League for the Defence of Freedom.

MONETARY ISSUES

As in Edinburgh, the chief issues are rising living costs and the government's rent decontrol bill.

The government of Prime Minister Macmillan has lost ground in a string of byelections since the first of the year. It lost one seat to Labor and suffered heavy slumps in popularity in the others.

Conservative candidate A. M. Clark - Hutchison received 14,638 votes in the Edinburgh South polling, caused by the resignation for ill-health of Sir William Darling.

Clark-Hutchison's Labor opponent, James Forsyth, polled 9,781 votes and playwright William Douglas-Home gained 7,439 votes as a Liberal candidate.

GOVERNMENT MAJORITY 38

The Conservatives took 45.6 per- cent of the vote, Labor 30.9 and the Liberal 23.5. In the straight Conservative-Labor fight of 1955, the Conservative candidate polled 57.5.

Douglas-Home — 44-year-old author of The Chiltern Hundreds and brother of Lord Home, Conservative leader in the House of Lords—thus took 2.9 per cent of the votes from the Conservative but only 1.8 from Labor in a comparison with 1955.

Both of Douglas - Home's opponents were 43-year-old lawyers.

Standing in the 630-seat House of Commons now is: Conservatives and allies 294, Labor 278, Independent Conservatives 8, Liberals 5, Independents 2, vacant 3 —a working government majority of 38.

OPENS BANK ACCOUNTS FOR ORPHANS

Not many six-year-olds can boast of having a bank account. Thanks to the generosity of a businessman in Hamilton, Ont., little Wayne, of St. Mary's orphanage, has $2 in his. All 49 children in the Hamilton orphanage received $2 starter bank accounts from N. P. Norden, who hopes it will train the children early in saving habits. Figuring out interest here on his money, Wayne is "gonna buy a steam engine and drive to Toronto," when he has enough in his account.

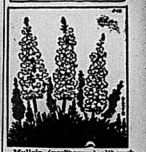
AUTO THIEVES BUSY

MONTREAL (CP)—More than 2,600 automobiles valued at more than $5,300,000 have been stolen in Montreal to date this year and police expect the rate to increase during the summer months. Police say auto theft reports come in at the rate of between 425 and 450 a month.



LANDSLIDE BURIES CARS AFTER STORMS IN HONG KONG

Parked cars in a Hong Kong street were buried deep under sand and silt that swirled down from the hillside like lava from a volcano, following torrential rain and floods. Pedestrians pick their way through the mud in search for victims. Twenty persons lost their lives in the landslide and an equal number were reported missing.

Weddings

BROOKS — DONOVAN

Yellow and white chrysanthemums adorned the altar in Holy Rosary Church, Belleville, and white satin bows the guest pews, on Saturday, May 25th at 9.00 a.m. for a lovely May-time wedding when Marlene Anne Donovan, of Belleville, R.R. 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Donovan, became the bride of Ernest Alfred Brooks, Belleville, R.R. 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Brooks. The Reverend Michael Simson officiated.

Mrs. W. G. Grant, church organist, rendered bridal and nuptial music, and accompanied the soloist, Miss Betty LaMore, of Trenton, who sang, "O Sacred Heart", "Panis Angelicus", and "Mother Thy Feet, is Kneeling".

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, Mr. Leo Donovan, was lovely in her full-length bridal gown of white Chantilly lace, nylon and net satin, fashioned with molded bodice and lace jacket having a tiny, standup collar, and long sleeves, lily-pointed over the hands. The full skirt of lace and net over satin fell in graceful folds. Her waist-length lace-edged veil of illusion net was held in place by a matching headdress dotted with sequins, and she carried a cascade bouquet mingled with lilies-of-the-valley, and tied with white streamers.

Miss Joan Donovan, of Belleville, sister of the bride, attended as maid of honour and wore a full-length gown of blue net and lace over satin, fashioned with a fitted bodice and lace jacket having a tiny, standup collar, and long sleeves, lily-pointed over the hands. The full skirt of lace and net over satin fell in graceful folds. Arts and Crafts Club Reports Splendid Year

The annual meeting of The Belleville Arts and Crafts Club was held Tuesday evening at the Kinsmen Clubhouse in the form of a potluck supper.

As one looked at the dining room it could more aptly be described as a banquet rather than a potluck supper.

All seven crafts: Arts, Ceramics, Copper Enamelling, Leather, Metal, Photography, Silk Screening and Weaving were represented along with husband and/or wives and friends, and a very congenial dinner was enjoyed in a friendly and informal atmosphere.

Following the dinner the business meeting was brought to order by the president, Mrs. Madge Whitfield with the minutes of the last angual meeting and annual report being read by the secretary, Miss Kay Heenan. The treasurer, Mrs. Gladys Parker, gave her annual report as did the convenors of each craft.

Mr. L. G. Doran, Recreation Director, spoke on the progress of the club over the past three years stressing the fact that from a handful of interested and enthusiastic people the Arts and Crafts Club had grown to a successful club with an ever-increasing membership.

He mentioned how very grateful they were to the school board for furnishing the club with two rooms at the King George School and this has filled the need in part. However, it is far from being adequate. The biggest detriment of the school was its location on College Street, as so many of the children and adults live on the east hill. The heating and lighting also being a major problem. With this limited space at King George School the program is curtailed to only four phases of a craft program and if more space were available the potentialities of a recreation program are unlimited.

ELABORATES ON BUILDING

From here Mr. Doran elaborated on the proposed recreation building. He mentioned that council had advanced the Belleville Recreation Committee funds to go ahead and have plans drawn up in connection with the renovation of the building for a Recreation Centre. Mr. Doran mentioned that if the building were renovated that it would not only be used for an Arts and Crafts centre but would be a recreation centre to house such other phases of recreation such as Woodworking classes, Senior and Handicapped groups, Drama, Millinery classes, Chess Club, Camera club, teenage groups, Band, Senior Square Dancing, Tap and Ballet dancing for many others, plus their own groups of Art, Leather, Copper, Aluminum, Metal, Silk Screening, Ceramics and Weaving.

It was hoped that plans for this building could be available to present to council soon so that there would be a possibility of taking possession by fall.

It seems at the present with limited facilities the club is at a standstill and unless further facilities are available new programs could not be added.

At the end of the program Mr. Doran announced the slate of the new officers for the coming year, who are as follows: President, Mrs. Hazel Hooper; vice-presidents, Mrs. Jane Shepherd, Mrs. Muriel Andrews; secretary, Miss K. Homan; treasurer, Mr. W. Y. Simpson; program, Mr. C. MacKenzie; publicity, Mr. J. Layton; social, Mrs. Pitt, Wilkinson and house, Mrs. D. Diamond.

Everyone then spent much time at the exhibit displayed and discussing the excellent work done by the club members over the past few months.

A large crowd turned out yesterday for the annual tea and bazaar sponsored by the Community Nursing Registry, the Student Nurses Association of Belleville, General Hospital and the Bay of Quinte Chapter District 6 of the Registered Nurses Association of Ontario. Co-conveners of the tea, which was held in the Masonic Temple, were Miss M. Waters and Miss A. Donalds. Miss E. Campbell and Miss H. Collier were in charge of the tea room.

During the afternoon tea was poured by Mrs. A. C. Miller, Miss Margaret Pearl, Miss E. Arnold, Mrs. Doris Howie, Miss Verna Nelson and Miss Dorothy Connor. Mrs. Esther Barclay and Mrs. J. C. Campbell were in charge of the kitchen, while Miss Jean Stephens had charge of decorations.

One side of the tea room was lined with booths where the guests could purchase various items.

At the handkerchief and picture draw booth, conveened by Mrs. Ruth Hagerman, dainty handkerchiefs could be seen. The painting, an autumn scene of a local woman, Mary Mouit, was to be presented to the holder of the lucky ticket.

The student nurses were in charge of the booth for flowers and potted plants. African violets, begonias, cacti and tulips were among the types of flowers and plants which could be purchased there.

Small baskets of homemade fudge, as well as boxes of other candies, were for sale at the candy booth. This was convened by Miss Joanne Crocker. Mrs. M. Barrett convened the parcel post booth, where customers could find packages of various sizes.

The home cooking booth contained jars of pickles, tarts, many kinds of cakes, rolls, pies and bread. Miss E. Nickle and Mrs. E. Dowsett convened this booth.

Miss E. Hutchinson convened the apron booth, where there were for sale aprons of brightly colored aprons from which to choose.

NURSES MODEL GOWNS

Highlighting the afternoon's events was the fashion show, with all the nurses modeling the outfits.

Miss Margaret Kilpatrick was in charge of the show, assisted by Mrs. Ben Safe and Mrs. Racheal Stewart. Mrs. Dorcey Hancock played soft music on the piano as the fashions were being shown. Miss Eleanor Boyce described each ensemble as the models walked along the carpeted platform.

Pyjamas and nightgowns were first in the show. Red terse-for dressers and a lone jacket formed an attractive set for lounging pyjamas. The nightie with its matching duster was a popular item, being modeled by many of the girls. The accent was on night attire that could easily be washed. Nylon and dri-dry cotton were featured often.

The always-fashionable suit made its appearance during the afternoon. The slim skirt with the open box jacket is still stylish. The short-sleeved suit jacket also can be seen this year.

In the sports line, bathing suits with matching hat, beach bag and coat, will be seen. One model wore a turquoise print bathing suit, under a terry cloth beach coat, trimmed to match. To complete her outfit she carried a matching beach bag.

The dress had two styles as a rule. For the young woman ready to go to a party the models showed dresses of delicate fabric, featuring full skirts, some over as many as four petticoats worn underneath. Many of the dresses had large cuffed sleeves.

The full-skirt effect was found in many of the cottons as well. Mustard yellow, pale blue, pink, chocolate brown and mauve were popular colors for these cottons. Necklines will be more varied this year. Back pencil will be featured, as will bows at the neck.

If the show is any forecast of what will be worn during the summer months, the nurses dress well for the annual fall bazaar.

A short devotional period followed the singing of the hymn "Jesus Saviour Pilot Me" which brought the meeting to a close. A successful auction was held.

Refreshments were then served by Marion Barron and her group.

Kazaks, Annette Roper, Susan Hopkins, Jean Anne Parks, Shirley Parsons, Shirley Hargreaves, Sheila Ladoucier, Helen Kuglin, Glenna Vaughan, Nancy Casey, Shirley Stokes and Marilyn Redick.

Mr. Ken Box, hospital administrator, drew the winning ticket on the picture. It was held by Mrs. Mary Hawkins, a patient in Belleville General Hospital, who resides at Lake St. Peter.

THE CUFFS on your young son's long-sleeved shirts are likely to have lines of ground-in dirt that sticks. Before you put a shirt in the washer, rub some undiluted liquid detergent on those extra-soiled spots. Collars usually need this treatment, too.

Bridge St. United Church C.C. Plans Events

The regular meeting of the Coronation Club of the Bridge Street United Church was held in the church parlor on Monday evening with Mrs. Sylvia Cronk presiding.

The meeting opened with the singing of "Unto the Hills." A number of new members were welcomed.

Regular business was discussed. It was decided that the June meeting would be held in the form of a pot-luck supper at the cottage of Dr. and Mrs. Bateman, Oak Lake. Plans were also formulated for a coffee party to take place at the parsonage in September. Tentative plans were discussed for the annual fall bazaar.

St. Michael's Sodality Sponsors Fourth Annual Fashion Show

Chic, durable and pleasingly practical were the "rags" displayed last evening at the fourth annual fashion show sponsored by Sodality of Our Lady in St. Michael's auditorium.

The stage was attractively set with blue-grey backdrop of mauve, yellow and bronze baby mums and sprays of purple delphiniums with white daisy-like standards with their colorful flowers, background by the gold backdrop curtains lent a most gracious atmosphere to the simulated living room with its modern-styled piano, and other furnishings. Here, the gaily-clad models pirouetted and paraded along the green-draped ramp, exhibiting to the large assembly of fashion-conscious women the summer styles for the young, the adolescent and the young and maturing matrons.

GAY AUDITORIUM

The auditorium itself was gay with interlacing green and white garlands which were caught in gleaming chandelier to gleaming chandelier caught up with colorful balloons in the centre. Across the stagefront were yellow placards denoting the names of the various flower, flower and fur merchants of the city who had assisted in the fashion show.

Soft, recorded music was played during the assembling of the guests.

Miss Joan Shannon brought greetings, welcomed all guests, and introduced the commentator, Miss Alma Lalonde, who deftly drew attention to the latest fashion trends which featured stripes, button trims, polished cottons, large buttons, wide belts, pleats and luxurious furs with their square backs, banded collars and small cuffs.

SPORTS CLOTHES

The "tops" shown included sports clothes for all: school outfits; cotton dresses, culottes, and street dresses. The outstanding fact of the display was the washability of the clothes shown, and the drip-dry fabrics required.

A pretty sports outfit was in turquoise blue with pedal-pushers and matching sleeveless blouse; another was in gold colour; three-piece style with shorts; blouse and pleated skirt buttoned down the front; while others were in pink and green. A striped shantung outfit was durable, and had a sleeveless bodice.

Practically all shown were in sleeveless style, or had tiny sleeves, just topping the shoulder. Some even sported long slacks as well as the popular shorts.

The little tots literally stole the show with their charming and disarming demeanor, and were cherubic in their day clothes which included swim suits — accompanied by practical floating tubes which also acted as life savers.

Their formal attire was fairy-like for the girls; and the little male was a literal Beau Brummel in his cut-away coat, striped trousers, grey coat, white shirt with natty bow tie, and grey hat with black band. These dresses and suit had the distinction of being washable and drip-dried.

The embossed, glazed cottons were lovely in their striped and floral designs. The stripes ran horizontal on the skirts, and vertical on the bodice in the upright styled blouse. Some of the dresses had skirt. Some of the dresses had the added idea of two inches which might be let down as the years grew.

BLACK AND WHITE POPULAR

Black and white is still popular, and one outstanding dress was of dotted nylon with wide cummerbound with large back bow. A black suit which is a 'must' in wardrobes was shown with Chantilly lace blouse and pencil-slim skirt with kick - pleat for ease in walking.

Other suits for summer included linens in pastel tints. A three-piece linen suit in powder blue, an exclusive linen, featuring a long coat with split sides and Mandarin collar. The dress was fashioned with Empire waistline of pin-line trimming.

The coats shown were of polished cotton and linen, all having short sleeves. Contrast lining was similar to the dress worn. Colors were pastel tints. Teen-agers' dresses were in pretty shades of red and blue, featuring pleated skirts, round necklines round, and square, and fitted bodices with tiny, puff sleeves.

Gowns of pure silk in greys, browns, white and navy, were in metrical patterns, and other shades, were shown, some with bustle bow at the back, and others with smaller bows.

SUMMER FURS

The furs were mostly for summer wear, especially the cool days of the past few weeks. These included Canadian wild mink, with square back, collarless, and having tiny cuffs. Grey lamb in an in-between length was attractive, the Russian Ermine, and the sapphire mink in its subtle gray. Stoles held the spotlight. During the intermission, Mr. Gregory Butler, well known city pianist, favored with piano selections, "Chopin's Waltz in A flat Major," and a "Polonaise," which were much appreciated.

A pretty tableau, presenting the bride and three children in a bedtime scene of prayers, accompanied by soft singing of "God Bless this House," and curtains slowly drew together, concluded the show, showing of up-to-date fashion trends.

MODELLING

Those modelling were: Theresa Asher, Meribeth Barrett; Barbara Bunton; Catherine Cowan; Pam Dineen; Mrs. B. Foster; Janne Gilhooley; Wim Maloney; Jacqueline Murphy; Ann Rashotie; Diane Rawson; Joan Rawson; Joanne Rayvrut; Mrs. C. W. Stone, and Pamela Stork.

Those who ushered were: Mary Agnes Donaghue; Mary Elizabeth Lally; Patsy Pigden, and Mary Trudeau. Pianists: Mary Agnes Donaghue; Mary Trudeau; Patsy Pigden, and Lorraine Wardhaugh. (Photo of St. Michael's Music Studio).

Those who directed were Mrs. Ann Stone, and Mrs. J. D. Corkery.

An interesting moment was the drawing for the door prizes which were as follows: Bulova watch, won by Mr. Norman Smith, Trenton; $10. certificate by Pat Morgan; Sweater, by Mrs. M. Whelan; Children's Shop certificate for $10, by Miss A. Cournyea.

APPRECIATION VOICED

Appreciation was extended to Templer's Florists; Barrett's Furniture; Mr. and Mrs. B. Corkery, Georgia Salem Limited; Woolley Furrier's; O'Connor's Jewellers; and E. St. Amtoe and Son for their kindly assistance in making the fashion show so successful.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECHMAN

TODAY'S COURTESY TIP: WATCH "FRANKNESS"

Do you brag about your "frankness"? Do you smugly and loudly boast, "I always believe in being frank. I say what I think right to a person's face"? Watch this boast, watch it with real wisdom and real understanding, for it can be full of danger. One of the quickest ways of making yourself most unpopular, a pest, is to go along the highway of life hurting people's feelings, being unkind and interfering because of a ridiculous insistence on doing what you may be pleased to call "being frank" . . . telling people what you think of them and of their actions. "Frankness" is an unruly quality . . . it must be carefully watched. Knowing when to mind your own business is a golden wisdom!

PLANNING FOR UNCERTAIN WEDDING DATE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My prospective bridegroom is in the Navy, and he isn't at all sure when he can arrive home for our wedding. All our preparations have been made. When he knows when he can arrive, would it be proper to telephone relatives and friends to invite them? — I.

Yes, leave your list completely and definitely made, and then when you know the wedding date, telephone the relatives and friends, perhaps telegraphing those at a distance. I suggest you "alert" as many relatives and friends as possible of your plans for coming soon wedding, telling them you will telephone or wire them when you know the date.

(Sometimes, when the chances are definite that there will be quite a few days, perhaps two weeks, between the time when the groom-to-be is informed when his leave is to be and the date of the wedding, the wedding invitations are ordered with the date line left blank. Later the date can be filled in in ink, and the invitations mailed as soon as possible."

WHO MAKES THE WEDDING PLANS?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When our three daughters were married we could not afford big weddings, and so two of the daughters were married at the minister's home and one was married in our home, and in each case we gave them very nice receptions. Now we have been told that this was very improper. Our son is to be married soon, and as his future wife said that her parents cannot afford a big wedding, I suggested that they do what we did in planning our daughters' weddings. Mrs. Beeckman, I just can't tell you how I felt when she said that what we did was a terrible way and very improper. Our son has some money to finance a home. We do not believe he should spend it on a big wedding, for he has told us that his home what he really wants. If need be my husband and I are willing to help toward a reception. Please let me know if we did an improper thing. — F.

Your plans for the weddings and receptions of your three daughters were entirely proper . . . and please don't worry one bit about this procedure. I really don't think your son's future wife meant in any way to hurt your feelings, but just wanted to suggest that it is the privilege and responsibility of the bride-to-be and her family to make all the plans for the wedding and reception. You will be wise, very wise, if you don't "offer" any advice as to the wedding procedure and the reception plan. And don't offer any financial help toward the reception (this is not a proper gesture for you to make). And please do let those young people make their own decisions about the financing of their home . . . this is, naturally, their privilege.

New Listening Aid

By TRACY ADRIAN

A new style in hearing aids has just been brought onto the scene and it is really a wonderful innovation since it is a perfect device for both men and women and is most practical and inconspicuous.

It is pictured above and is an eight-transistor, stereophonic hearing aid—the first to be built completely into the temple pieces of eyeglasses. It can be attached to any standard eyeglass frame and provides a separate independent aid for each ear - which is certainly a grand invention to promote easier listening.

ADVICE To The LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

DON'T TRY TO HANDLE THIS YOURSELF

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I'm a girl of 17 and I have a very grave problem.

About two weeks ago, I was walking along a seemingly deserted street, when a man appeared out of the shadows and attacked me. Then, about a week ago, a very good man friend of mine asked me if he could speak to me very frankly. He then admitted he had done this horrible act and offered to marry me. He said that he had been drinking, and that ordinarily he wouldn't harm me for the world.

My parents died when I was 12 and since then I've been living with a relative. I feel close to this relative, but not close enough to discuss a thing like this. Also, I'm not a very religious girl and don't feel like discussing this with a clergyman.

It's almost certain now that I'm to be married, and I can't afford to go away to a home to have it. The man who confessed to this act has been a friend of mine since childhood. If I were to marry him, as he suggested, I don't know how I would feel toward him. I don't know if I could accept him as a husband, or merely as a friend I had to marry. Yet if I don't marry him, what will I ever possibly think of me, an unmarried mother? — N.C.D.

Dear N.C.D.:

Have you seen a doctor since this dreadful thing happened? If not, you should see one right away. Don't torture yourself by trying to guess whether or not you are going to have a baby.

I think that this relative of yours with whom you are living should know about this occurrence. Whether you feel close to him or her or not, he or she must be your legal guardian at present and you shouldn't hesitate to speak frankly about this horrifying experience. You're much too young to try to handle it yourself.

I urge you to talk to your relative immediately and ask to be examined by a doctor. Then let the relative and the doctor together decide what is the best thing for you to do.

YOU'D BE SMARTER TO DO AS YOUR PARENTS WISH

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I'm writing to you about a problem I have at home.

Practically every day after school for the past two weeks my parents have been nagging me to rake the leaves and pick up stones in our yard so we can mow the lawn with our power mower. I have a brother 11 years old. My parents ask him once or twice to do this job, but, if he doesn't, nothing happens.

Saturday I was asked again to do the lawn. I said okay. Then my brother suggested that if I would mow the lawn, he would get ahead of me and rake the leaves first. But when I went in the house to ask my father if we had any gas to put in the mower he got angry and began yelling at me for getting out the mower before the yard was raked. So I took the blame. Then I got angry, and when he asked me to rake the leaves instead, I said I wouldn't.

I tried to explain to him that no girls around our neighborhood rake up leaves or do yard work, but he wouldn't listen. Instead, he locked up my record player and radio and won't let me look at television. Now my parents say I won't get any spending money and I won't be permitted to go any place I would like to go. Incidentally, my brother doesn't even get looked at crooked. As far as my parents are concerned, I was the only one at fault and therefore I was the one to be punished.

Do you think it was right that my parents insist that I do the lawn in the first place, or do you think it would be better if I helped my mother in the house and my brother helped my father in the yard? I am 14 years old. — G.L.

Dear G.L.:

I agree with you that working in the house and out outdoors is more suitable for a girl, but, on the other hand, if your parents want you to do outside work, why not do it?

Raking up leaves is not a very arduous job, and the exercise in the outdoor air will do you good. Even though you may feel that your brother isn't doing his share, I think it would be much better if you just kept your mouth shut about it and did whatever your parents asked you to do. That way, you'll be keeping out of arguments and trouble, and you'll be running no risk of being punished.

So don't go around feeling abused. You have more to gain than you have to lose if you go ahead and carry out your parents' wishes without protest.

BEAUTY

By MME. QUI VIVE

TEEN-AGE SKIN CARE

Matched in Big Name Beauty

A well-lathered complexion brush is the teen-ager's first weapon against acne.

One of the skin ailments that teen-agers suffer most frequently is acne, with its pimples that so often end up as blackheads. Because acne is rather common, parents may think nothing should be done about it, and it does usually clear up in time. But Dr. T. Arthur Turner, writing in the official American Medical Association's "Book of Health," just now available in paper-cover form, points out that even though regular soap-and-water cleansing is usually the best cure, every case of acne should be brought to the attention of a doctor. Sometimes the condition may be aggravated by faulty diet or emotional disturbances or irritating cosmetics, and the doctor can determine such contributing factors and do something about them, Dr. Turner says.

If however, none of these irritants are present, then the answer is usually more thorough cleanliness. Basically, any skincare program must start with soap and water. A good complexion is impossible without cleanliness. But, remember, teen-ager, it's how you properly and thoroughly use that soap and water that counts. Begin giving yourself a real facial night and morning, instead of a hasty dab with a washcloth. Massage thick warm soapsuds into the pores of your skin. And, when you feel your face tingling, rinse well. Leave no soap on the skin. Use a well-lathered body brush when you bathe or shower, to stimulate the circulation. Never skip that once-a-week shampoo. Soiled hair produces many complexion blemishes—especially on the forehead. It really requires an astonishingly small amount of time in any one day to improve one's appearance, the secret being persistence.

Just keep at it. You'll soon be able to see yourself looking more attractive, your skin will look fresher, and even your hair will look livelier. So resolve right now to make the most of the remainder of 1957. Wash your way to new beauty!

WEAVING is something different to do on rainy or short-in days. Start with a loose-meshed dishcloth, and a safety pin fastened to ribbon or yarn. Run the pin in and out through the holes in the mesh. Two "woven" cloths can be sewed together to make a bag, with a drawstring top.

Another Whole Wheat Convert

By Mary Moore

One of the men in the composing room says "I tried your (best-ever-tasted) nut and date bread that appeared two or three months ago and when I started the recipe after supper, found I was short of flour by 1 3/4 cups. The only substitute I had was whole wheat bread flour, so in went 3-4 cups whole wheat flour. End result? Rather a very nutty-flavored bread. Our son Kim, 10 (not a fancy eater — meat, potatoes and we do mean potatoes and lots of them, peas, beans, and bread and butter with plenty of milk) went for it and now I have a very steady job of baking nut and date bread every weekend. (2 large loaf pans)

BEV'S DATE AND NUT BREAD

(1-3 and 1-3 whole wheat flour and white flour). Four cups cut-up dates, 2 cups broken walnuts, 2 cups boiling water, 1-2 cup shortening, 1 1-2 cups brown sugar, 4 cups stirred but not sifted flour mixture (2 cups each whole wheat and white flour), 1 teaspoon salt, 2 eggs, 2 teaspoons soda, 2-3 cup water. Cut up the dates coarsely, break nuts coarsely by hand. Pour boiling water over them and let stand. Beat shortening until very light, and then slowly cream the sugar into it. Drop in eggs and beat very well. Sift flour with salt, making sure to tip the remaining flour from the sifter into the bowl also. Stir the soda into date and nut mixture now — not earlier or the dates might turn red. Stir in flour and fruit mixtures alternately and stir not too vigorously until thoroughly mixed, then stir in the 2-3 cup water. Grease and lightly flour 4 small bread pans. Turn batter into them. Bake 45 minutes at 350 deg. F. Test for doneness with toothpick — when it comes out clean, bread is baked. Cool on rack. Note: This is a wonderful bazaar item or very good for serving with tea or coffee to your ladies' group or bridge club.

Optimistically I bought a 25-lb. bag of whole wheat flour. I made 2 batches of bread and the above date and gut loaf, then things came to a standstill. So I asked Eleanor to use from it in her baking. So like the accommodating friend she is she tried a few old favorite recipes for me with the addition of the whole wheat. She used the wheat germ muffins recipe with which you are familiar, but replaced some of the white flour with the whole wheat, and added more sugar.

ELEANOR'S WHEATY MUFFINS

One cup whole wheat flour, 2-3 cups white flour, 5 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons sugar, 2-3 cup wheat germ, 1-3 cup melted fat, 2 eggs, beaten, 1 cup milk. Sift the flours, baking powder, salt and sugar into a mixing bowl tipping the remainder of the flour left in the sieve into the bowl also. Stir in wheat germ. Add melted fat to eggs and milk. Add this milk mixture to the dry ingredients. Mix only enough to dampen flour. Work quickly. Fill greased muffin tins 2-3 full. Bake at 400 deg. Fahr. for 15 to 20 minutes. Serve warm.

A good choice for the shorter or petite figure is this suit, the fabric a silk and cotton blend. The short, unfitted jacket has a tab fastening at the waist. The sleeves are set all in one with the jacket and are elbow-length. The skirt is knife-pleated and the jacket is lined with matching sheer. There is a blouse of the same fabric. Esther-Lillian Studio Stages Ballet Program at Collegiate

By EUGENE LANG

The annual recital of the Esther-Lillian Studio of the Ballet was held in the Collegiate Auditorium last evening before a sizable audience of proud parents and appreciative friends of the many young dancers who took part in the various numbers that were staged.

Diversity of style was the keynote of the recital in which ballet routines of many different types were delineated by the many pupils who took part. The stage was clothed in trappings suggesting a vernal atmosphere as the participants came out in varied numerical groupings to do their respective acts. The tiny doll-like moppets, the sinewy lass of the awkward age and the teenager of adolescence all were represented before the footlights as they flitted and capered in the many productions staged. Many hours of intense practice led up to the fine showings made by the young dancers and in their graceful gestures they each helped to portray one tiny aspect here or there of the fantasy that makes ballet the sought after art that it is becoming in the moulding of Canadian youth.

COSTUMES EXCELLENT

The costumes, which were designed for the dancers by Lillian and Esther, were beautifully envisaged by the designers in heightening the effect of each number. Taste and careful planning were much in evidence in this respect. In the majority of acts the dancers demonstrated careful timing, rhythmic coordination and commendable poise in their performances. Space limitations do not permit the evaluation of each of the thirty-five numbers produced, but it must be said that one and all did their very best in each of their numbers.

In the group dances commendation could be made of the ensembles entered "Snowflakes", "German Peasant", "Tarantella" and the concluding "Waltz". In the duos, "Copy Cat", "Broadway Street" and "Happy Days" were appreciable items, as also were "Pyle" and "Crispino" in the triple ensembles. Kudos must be given to those who did the solo work in "May Time", "Wintry Weather", "Highland Ballet" and "Mexican Flower".

The presentation of examination certificates to those who were successful in Grades 1, 2, and 3 was made to the aspiring young dancers by Mrs. Robert Tamer. Piano accompaniments of careful modelling and rhythmic precision were ably played by Helene Leatherland. Floral bouquets and gifts were given the two understanding and knowledgeable instructors, Esther and Lillian, and the patient accompanist, Helene, by grateful students at the end of the recital.

At future recitals of this nature it would be advisable to arrange for a short intermission at the half way mark in the recital so that the audience won't have to sit for two solid hours in those non-padded seats. It would make for better audience reception during the second half of the recital.

PICTON

Mochpelah Rebekah Lodge Holds Unusually Fine Chinese Tea, Bazaar

PICTON — Entering the Odd Fellows hall more than 325 ladies literally entered another land. For this was the occasion of the "Oriental Tea" sponsored by Mochpelah Rebekah Lodge, No. 144, I.O.O.F., held Wednesday afternoon.

Passing through flower bedecked halls, where colorful booths were set up, the guests reached the main halls where the oriental theme was beautifully carried out.

They were received by the Noble Grand, Miss Vivian Bylott, and the vice-Grand, Mrs. Gena Miller, who were standing inside a Chinese house of bamboo curtains which were embellished with Chinese decorations and panels.

The two large rooms were identically decorated, except that in the lodge hall, there were two large pagodas in the centre of which were huge glass jars in jade color. Tall cherry trees in bloom; kites with long tails, colored paintings of Chinese scenes, and emblems, flags of National China and Free China, further carried out the theme. Large banners in Chinese translated read "Welcome to the Oriental Tea."

CHINESE SETTINGS

The tables with linen cloths were centred in lovely, low arrangements of flowers, flanked by Chinese ornaments. Place cards were bright with Oriental poppies. At each place was a favor, a miniature umbrella or fan; real ivory chopsticks from China and other novelties. Ming trees were also an interesting feature along with some large Chinese brass plates.

In addition to the fragrance of the flowers, there was the sweet odor of incense and the sound of soft music.

Adding to the scene were the ladies in lovely summery frocks and hats.

The many booths proved popular. The food table was convened by Mrs. John Kelder, Mrs. Rena Foster and Mrs. Howard Dulmage.

Mrs. Gladys Sayers had charge of the touch and take parcels and Mrs. Ed Rolston the white elephant.

A great variety of aprons was in charge of Mrs. Fred Greatrix and Mrs. Lawrence Burford.

Fancy work, also a large display of lovely work, was convened by Mrs. Maude Carson and Mrs. Garfield Whitney.

Candy was sold by eight girls, who were dressed in bright Chinese costumes. They were Sharon Sheffield, Mary Brummell, Elizabeth Caughey, Diane Love, Margo Higginson, Lynn Gardiner, Patsy and Ruth Dulmage. They moved among the crowd, carrying decorated baskets.

Mrs. Gladys Rundle and Mrs. Flossie Welbanks were conveners.

Mrs. Earl Hicks received the fees at the door, a greeting, in Chinese and flowers forming a background for her table.

Guests were shown to their tables by Mrs. A. O. McGinnis and Mrs. Milton Dulmage.

Conveners of servers were: Mrs. Adrian Dulmage and Mrs. Carl Sheffield. Servers included: Mrs. H. Bowers, Mrs. Cecil Lobb, Mrs. Harry Palen, Mrs. Ross Jeffrey, Mrs. S. Blowes, Mrs. R. Cockburn, Mrs. Clarence Brummell, Mrs. M. Le-Heup, Mrs. Sherman Coulter, Mrs. M. Christy, Mrs. R. Francis, Mrs. Arthur Gayton, Mrs. L. Wright, Miss Dorothy Thurston, Mrs. E. Young, Mrs. K. Trumble, Mrs. M. Francis, Mrs. Reg Moore, Mrs. A. Hicks, Mrs. A. Dulmage, Mrs. Mary Wilson, Mrs. E. Hubbard, Mrs. W. Chisnell, Mrs. H. Foster, Miss M. Carson, Mrs. Florence Tucker, Mrs. E. Bryant, Mrs. R. Hill, Mrs. C. Rabble, Mrs. D. Tripp, Miss Nettie Zimmerman, Mrs. C. Ackerman, Mrs. G. Williams, Mrs. E. Stone, Mrs. B. Rosborough and Mrs. M. Bakey.

Assisting in the kitchen and with refreshments were: Miss Chrissie Mitchell, Mrs. I. Pearsall, Mrs. R. Gardiner, Miss Emma Welbanks, Miss Thelma Ackerman, Mrs. Ruth Ackerman, Mrs. Madeline Rolston, Mrs. Alice Seeley, Mrs. Marion Byers, Mrs. Lillian Reid, Miss Margaret Mullen, Mrs. Norma Wood, Mrs. Oneta McKinley, Mrs. Ethel Lloyd, Mrs. R. Jenkins.

The delectable refreshments featured relish plates, fancy sandwiches, angel cake, tarts and many kinds of fancy cakes.

Tea was poured at each table by the hostess.

Mrs. Reg. Moore was convener of the tea with Mrs. Adrian Dulmage as co-convener.

Mrs. Harry Bowers, Sr., received the reservations. The unusually beautiful decorations were largely the work of Mrs. Russ Gardiner and Mrs. Cecil Lobb.

So popular is the annual tea given by the Rebekahs that reservations were suspended a month before the event was held.

Freedom Giving Imre Gregor And Family Chance to Forget Past and Look to Future

QUEBEC (CP) — Freedom is giving Imre Gregor and his family a chance to forget the past and to look eagerly to the future.

Mr. Gregor, a 33-year-old former member of the Hungarian parliament, fled the country with his wife Julia and daughter Clara, came to Canada and now works as a draughtsman at the Davie shipyard in Lauzon, across the St. Lawrence River from Quebec.

While in Hungary, where he worked as a machinist, the family lived with Imre's parents because he could not afford a home and furniture of his own. Now they live in a modest apartment.

GOOD BEGINNING

"I am only three months in Canada and I have my own home," he says proudly. "It is not much but it is a beginning."

In Budapest, Imre and his wife had an income of 2,400 forints a month—about $200. "We earned more than the average but we could buy only three pairs of shoes with that amount."

"In Canada you can save and buy whatever you want. In Hungary you can never save because you don't earn enough and you cannot buy whatever you want because you cannot find it."

The Gregor apartment still lacks some furnishings. The family used an ice-box during the winter but this spring a refrigerator was bought.

The Gregors appreciate the opportunity to earn these things. Most evenings the family gathers around the kitchen table for an English lesson. Imre knows a little now and helps his wife and daughter. Clara is also learning French at the school she attends in Quebec.

Imre hopes to increase his earnings after he has improved his English and knows he is free to change his job or his location—a fact that still holds some amazement for him.

"If you want to travel in Canada you just buy your ticket and away you go. In Hungary you have to ask permission of the secret police, explain why you want to travel, where you want to go and how long you are going to stay. If they do not find your reasons good enough they may refuse permission. In Hungary we lived in a world of restrictions."

These new freedoms are making the Gregors forget the terrors of the revolt and their 15-mile walk to the Austrian border after the uprising was crushed. Now they look to the future.

And it is rapidly bringing the things they hoped for.

"One of the things I have wanted most in my life is a car," Imre said shortly after he started work. "I hope to drive a car of my own in a year or two. Isn't that something?"

It took less time than that. He has already owned two.

IN THE WAKE OF FORMOSA RIOTS

Mrs. Liu Chi-Jan maintains a hunger strike outside the U.S. Embassy in Taipei, Formosa, in protest of the verdict of acquittal of the American sergeant who shot her husband as a "Peeping Tom." Speaking with her is Col. H. K. Chang, Taiwan provincial foreign affairs police chief. The widow's action triggered a riot in which the embassy was wrecked and charges have been made that the Communists inspired the incident. The woman carried a sign in English and Chinese, neither of which she can write.

M./Sgt. Robert E. Reynolds, whose acquittal in the fatal shooting of a Chinese "Peeping Tom" touched off the violent anti-American riots in Taipei, is shown on arrival at Travis Air Force base in California. With him is his wife, Clara, and his daughter, Shirley, seven. Refering to the shooting on Formosa, Sgt. Reynolds told reporters, "I'm sorry about what happened."

Coldwell Urges UN Action To Distribute Surplus Food

BEAUSEJOUR, Man. (CP) — Canada should take the lead in establishing international bodies under the United Nations to stabilize prices of agricultural commodities on world markets and help distribute huge food surpluses, M. J. Coldwell, national leader of the CCF party, said Wednesday night.

In a political speech at Beausejour, a Manitoba farming community 38 miles northeast of Winnipeg, he said the CCF proposes an international trading organization, the setting-up of a world food trade from the United States to the United Kingdom.

Mr. Coldwell addressed an audience of about 500 in the 400-seat town hall as he wound up Manitoba appearances in his federal election campaign. Some listened to the speech from outside.

The 68 - year - old CCF leader spoke in support of Jake Schultz, former president of the Manitoba Farmers' Union who is the party's candidate for Springfield—a Liberal-held constituency since 1935.

RAPS TRADE POLICY

Mr. Coldwell said Liberal government policy had concentrated Canada's trade in the United States.

This is "the height of folly," he said. Three-quarters of Canada's imports come from the U.S. but the U.S. doesn't buy anywhere near that amount from Canada.

"Concentrating our trade in the United States has prevented the United Kingdom and other countries from purchasing as much of our wheat and other agricultural products as they otherwise might."

Canada could shift some of its arms purchases to the United Kingdom and also trade more with Western European and Asian countries, he said.

SMALL BOY DROWNED

EXETER (CP) — Paul Prouty, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Prouty, was drowned Wednesday when he fell into a creek on the family farm near this Huron county village.

WELLANDOC FREED

ALEXANDRIA BAY, N.Y. (AP) A Kingston salvage tug has freed the Canadian lake freighter Wellandoc from a sunken rock on which she had run aground Tuesday. The freighter, out of Fort William, was pulled off by the tug Salvage Queen.

Rival Candidates Meeting On Same Platform to Debate Issues Almost Thing of Past

OTTAWA (CP) — Western politicians are reviving a feature of past election campaigns that was all but abandoned years ago.

It is the contradictory meeting, joint meeting or political forum, supporters meet in debate to defend their party and attack their opponents.

Except in rare instances, however, the old - time, no-holds-barred color and oratory that marked contradictory meetings of a generation or more ago are peaceful, too.

THEY'RE RIVALS NOW

One such was held May 20 at Mossbank, Sask. It featured Premier T. C. Douglas of Saskatchewan and Ross Thatcher, former CCF member of the Commons for Moose Jaw-Lake Centre, who now is Liberal candidate in Assiniboia against his former CCF deskmate, Hazen Argue.

The meeting, called to debate the CCF provincial administration and its crown companies, attracted an estimated 2,000 persons to a village of about 600.

That's small stuff compared with a contradictory meeting in St. Hyacinthe, Que., in the 1911 election. It was attended by 25,000 from all over Quebec and parts of Eastern Ontario.

Sen. Charles L. Bishop, 80, a long-time parliamentary correspondent who covered the meeting, said it was the biggest he ever saw.

"The big issue that year was trade reciprocity with the United States," he recalls. "But in Quebec the main issue was the Navy Bill.

POLITICAL GREATS

"Henri Bourassa, the old Quebec nationalist and a great orator, and Rodolphe Lemieux, a Liberal, got together to debate the navy issue.

"The meeting started at two o'clock and when the train left for Ottawa at seven it was still going on. The big guns had had their say, but the local boys were still speaking."

(The Navy Bill proposed an expenditure of $35,000,000 to strengthen British naval forces. It was passed in 1913.)

The origin of joint meetings is not clear. The practice probably was brought to Canada from Britain and flourished from at least the time of Confederation in 1867 until about the middle of the First World War. Then, its popularity declined.

Probably the only constituency in which contradictory meetings have been held at every federal election since Confederation is Carleton, near Ottawa. The historic seat once held by Sir John A. Macdonald, and later by Hon. George Drew, has elected only Conservatives since Confederation.

IN CURRENT CAMPAIGN

A few joint meetings have been held in British Columbia in this and in other election campaigns and in Alberta the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Farmers' Union of Alberta are sponsoring a number of multi-party forums.

Two are scheduled for Peace River constituency where Social Credit leader Solon Low is a candidate. Mr. Low believes such meetings bring out more people than single-party gatherings.

The Saskatchewan Farmers' Union has arranged 24 joint meetings in the province for the first week of June. Farmers will be permitted to "question candidates on the agricultural policies of each party and on their views on SFU policies. SFU district officers will preside.

Multi-speaker meetings are being held in Manitoba in this campaign for the first time. A crowd boos and cheers at a joint meeting of four candidates contesting Springfield. Four candidates in Brandon - Souris will address meetings at Boissevain June 3 and at Melita on June 4.

Little has been done about joint forums in Ontario, but in Montreal Notre-Dame-de-Grace on Monday night, a crowd of 600 provided some lively heckling at a nomination and contradictory meeting sponsored by the community council. Speeches were made by Liberal candidate George Mooney, William Hamilton Progressive Conservative, and Dr. Cyril Flanagan, CCF.

Challenges by CCF candidates in Quebec for contradictory meetings have not been accepted.

Contradictory meetings were popular in the Maritimes on nomination day some years ago, the last one in Prince Edward Island in 1947. They have never been held in Newfoundland.

OLD DAYS IN QUEBEC

Dr. Arthur Beauchesne, 80, retired clerk of the House of Commons, saw many Quebec contradictory meetings in the 1896-1913 period. This is how he recalled them:

"The parish priest would announce the meeting from the pulpit and after Sunday high mass the village population would gather at the church steps.

"The mayor would introduce the debaters, usually local candidates. Each had a 30-minute time limit, the first speaker getting a 10-minute rebuttal period.

"The more biting the attacks the better the crowd liked it.

"The political parties had their plank among platform debaters who went around the province taking part in regional meetings. Among the best were Charles Thibeault, Auguste Corneillier, Henri Lasselier, Armand Lavergne and Bourassa."

Dr. Beauchesne said the popularity of contradictory meetings began to decline in 1916-17 at the time of the Borden union government.

Mayors and Reeves Swept Into Hot Political Debate On Federal Education Aid

CHATHAM (CP)—Despite cries of "no politics," mayors and reeves from more than 100 Ontario communities found themselves swept into political debate Wednesday concerning federal aid to education.

The discussion, on the first day of the three-day annual conference of the Association of Ontario Mayors and Reeves, started when Mayor Merle Dickerson of North Bay urged that the association become a pressure group to ask every federal candidate to "declare himself on the issue of aid to the municipalities to help carry the ever-increasing burden of education."

Mayor Dickerson said federal aid is essential because the provinces and municipalities combined are hard pressed to pay for rising education costs.

Mayor Fred Cox of Stratford said "we are sick of paying income tax every year and not getting a cent back for education."

SPEECH DENOUNCED

Mayor J. A. Dewart of Peterborough denounced the Dickerson speech as "one of the most partisan I have ever heard." He added: "This association must keep out of politics."

Mayor Robert Badanai of Fort William asked that the debate be stopped on the grounds that entry into politics was never the prestige of the association.

Mayor Cliu Edwards of Mimico said the British North America Act made education a provincial matter.

Reeve Vernon Singer of North York added: "We are the creatures of the province and should direct our representations there."

TO HIRE LAWYER

The debate ended without a vote but delegates decided to hire a lawyer at $1,000 per year to keep a watch on legislative trends.

Earlier, Mayor Armour L. McCrae of Welland, president of the association, criticized in his annual report federal expenditure of $100,000,000 on culture while the municipalities were short of cash.

"This culture expenditure is budgeted for five years. I am not against culture but I do resent one government having enough money to budget for five years while we are struggling."

ADMIT SICK HUNGARIANS

HALIFAX (CP)—More than 600 Hungarian refugees arrived here Wednesday on the liner John van Oldenbarnvelt and 86 of them immediately boarded a train for Moncton, N.B., where they will undergo treatment for tuberculosis. Immigration officials said most of them would require only a checkup. They were admitted as part of Canada's commitment to receive sick refugees.

TO VISIT ENGLAND

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario division of the Army League of Canada has announced the names of seven Ontario sea cadets chosen to visit England this summer to attend the third Empire and Commonwealth sea cadet camp at Portsmouth, July 1-14. They include William Barnes, Kitchener; John Hutchinson, Collingwood; Harry Whittaker, Cornwall; William Tager, St. Catharines.

Traffic Fines To Be Increased After June 5

TORONTO (CP) — Out-of-court settlements of Toronto traffic offences will cost more beginning June 5, it was announced Wednesday.

Chief Magistrate Thomas E. Elmore said that since the Ontario legislature has raised maximum fines for minor traffic offences to $50 from $10, Toronto magistrates have decided to follow suit by raising out-of-court settlement maximums.

They will go into effect the same day as the new Highway Traffic Act.

In the past violators could settle out of court by paying up to $5 on most offences for a first summons and $8 for reissued summonses in the future the first summons will range up to $20 and the second $25.

For example, going through signal lights and stop streets will result in a maximum out-of-court settlement of $20 compared with $5; improper turns may cost as much as $10 instead of $8 and obstructing a pedestrian crosswalk is instead of $5.

Other offences on which the maximum will go up to $10 from $5 include: Changing lanes improperly; failing to keep right; passing on the wrong side; failing to yield the right of way, obey a flasher signal or exercise caution at an amber light.

Disobeying a signal light for pedestrians or passing on a grade will have maximums of $6 instead of $3.

The home which was owned and occupied by Mr. Cassidy prior to his moving is now being occupied by Mrs. Bernadette Gabourie and family. Mrs. Gabourie is a teacher in St. Carthage's school here.

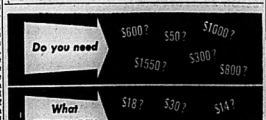
Mrs. John Gehan and Mrs. Doug. Spencer attended a miscellaneous shower at Point Anne on Thursday night for Mrs. Lorne Gehan, a bride of Easter. "Lorne" is a Tweed boy and is teaching school in the above mentioned village.

Sorry to report that infant Andrew Cassidy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cassidy, of town, is hospitalized at present. All trust he will soon be well and be home with his parents in the near future.

The appreciation day weekly winner on Saturday at the Montreal Bank corner was Mrs. John D. Courneyea with a 20 per cent ticket on a "kitty" of $333., so she went home richer by the amount of $66.60. The party has to be present to claim the amount when it is called.

The hand-sewn quilt which was made by one of the town menfolk was won by Mrs. W. Baverstock, of Wellington, at the banquet program following the rose rally held here by the Ladies' Legion Auxiliary on Thursday last. Tickets were sold on the quilt and two baskets of groceries prior to the rally on that day as well. The beautiful quilt was made by Mr. Harry Austin, of Minnie Street, and was donated to the Auxiliary. He is at present making another one for the church missionary society. Mr. Austin has been far from well for the past two years and has found he is adroit with the needle, and his work is a masterpiece indeed.

James Halpenny, proprietor of the Crown Cleaners, of town, has purchased another truck and has a new driver. His business has developed so that he is planning on expanding his business needs and facilities to look after the demands of the public which at present extends to several local villages which he previously did not touch.



Mr. and Mrs. Alan Fisher, (formerly of Tweed), were visiting relatives in town this past weekend.

The new store hours went into effect this week. All stores with the exception of four, are closing all day Monday and remaining open all day Wednesday in future. It is understood that by-laws affecting the various types of businesses which operate in Tweed have been prepared and have been submitted to the municipal council for their consideration. There always seems to be much confusion with any problems of a similar nature within the town. The Reeve and council will discuss the by-laws and will take action as they see fit in one way or another.

Miss Pat. MacLean spent Friday as a guest of Miss Shirley Robertson, of Cloyne.

More than a touch of magic in its motion...

THE "MILLION-DOLLAR RIDE" . . . ANOTHER REASON WHY BUICK IS YOUR BEST BUY!

Pick a road . . . but not just any road, anywhere. Pick a road that would strain the sinews of any ordinary car. Fill it with chuck-holes and washboard—boulders and wooden bridges. Then . . . try it in a '57 Buick.

Try it at slow speeds where most cars jounce and bounce, jitter and pitch. Nudge the accelerator a bit, to the point where most cars slam and shudder on the rough spots.

But in a Buick? This is magic, you'll say . . . sheer, easy-floating magic!

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

Actually, of course, this kind of cream-smoothness is something more than magic . . . and considerably more substantial. It's Buick's "Million-Dollar Ride" . . . crafted for you exclusively in Buick with coil springs on all four wheels. And it's one more reason why your best car buy will always be Buick.

So take our advice and see your Buick dealer. One look . . . one Demonstration Drive . . . will prove everything we say. Buick's best—anywhere, everywhere you go.

BUICK'S BEST WITH DYNAFLOW

IT'S EASIER AT THE WHEEL . . . SAFER, TOO!

Here's why!

- The convenience and safety of "park" position
- Eyes where they should be . . . on the road
- Hands are always on the wheel
- Easier "rocking" in mud and snow

Big Ride Thrills BUICK

Resentment of Formosans against the court procedure which acquitted a U.S. sergeant of killing a Chinese citizen was shown in the riot at the U.S. embassy at Taipeh, right. Interior of the embassy was wrecked and nine U.S. citizens injured. Most of Formosa's Chinese sympathize with the rioters as they feel that the trial, a court-martial by U.S. military officers, was a farce. The sergeant, Robert G. Reynolds, had shot a "Peeping Tom" who, he said, was loitering around his home while his wife was having a shower. Widow of the slain man, Liu Tze-jan, left, sat for days under a protest sign outside the U.S. embassy.

GARDENVILLE

Carrying Place United Church Hall Dedicated

GARDENVILLE — Members and friends of Carrying Place United Church gathered in fellowship on the evening of May 22nd for the dedication of the new hall, which will be used for Sunday School and the social activities of the church organizations.

Baskets of apple blossoms and lilacs added graciousness and beauty to the occasion.

The Rev. A. Foulter, of Wellington, supervising minister of the Consecon charge, led in the service, assisted by the Carrying Place church minister, Mr. E. V. Cook, who has given most generously of his time and energy in the leadership of this project.

Mr. Foulter drew attention to the amazing rate of building in the United Church across Canada, and invoked God's blessing on this, His house for teaching and rendering Christian service to the community.

The choir, under the direction of Mrs. William Hendricks, contributed an anthem, "The Mercy Seat," and Mr. Lloyd Mitts sang "Bless This House."

CHURCHES EXTEND CONGRATULATIONS

Congratulations and best wishes from the other churches of the Consecon charge were expressed by Mr. Clapp, of Hillier.

Mrs. A. Steenburg, president of the W.A.; Mrs. Stan Hart, Sunday School superintendent, and Mr. Walter Miller, chairman of the building committee, thanked everyone whose co-operation had made the project a reality, through giving of their time, talent, and substance.

A bountiful repast, served by the Woman's Association, brought this memorable evening to a pleasant conclusion. The offering for the building fund amounted to nearly $50.

PRESENTATION MADE

During the evening a presentation was made to a valued member of the choir, Mr. Lloyd Mitts, whose musical talent has been greatly appreciated by both the congregation and the choir leader, Mrs. Hendricks, who said she will miss his help in teaching the younger members their parts, as well as feeling the loss of his fine, tenor voice in the anthems. As a token of remembrance, Mrs. Walter Miller, on behalf of the members, presented him with a beautiful cuff link set.

To Mrs. Mitts, who has always lent a willing hand to every undertaking of the Woman's Association, thanks were expressed and an Eastern Star pin presented. To Mr. and Mrs. Mitts be best wishes for success in their new business, in Marmora, and the hope that, in the church they already are attending there, they may enjoy rich fellowship in Christian service.

PM Looses Blast Against Quebec Cabinet Minister

Diefenbaker Says Politics Enter Civil Service

CHICOUTIMI, Que. (CP) — A member of Premier Duplessis' cabinet has been told by Prime Minister St. Laurent it would be a good thing if the minister "remembered to mind his own business."

Addressing a cheering, placard-waving meeting that packed the large apprenticeship school hall Wednesday night, Mr. St. Laurent said:

"You all know what the word provincial autonomy means. It is a strong-sounding word, but all it means is that everybody should mind his own business."

The statement was directed at Resolute Minister Talbot who openly is supporting Paul Gagnon, independent member for Chicoutimi riding in last Parliament, seeking re-election.

PUTS TEXT ASIDE

Putting aside a prepared text to deliver an hour-long speech, the prime minister said there are independents in Quebec who do not want to show their true colors. They were not frank like the Liberals who were running for a known team.

It was his first blast of the campaign directed at a member of Premier Duplessis' cabinet. The prime minister was speaking in support of Mayor Rosaire Gauthier Liberal candidate.

The Liberal leader read about a page of his prepared text before departing from it to criticize the cabinet minister.

The meeting was preceded by a parade through the city's streets which climaxed a tour of the region which started at Chambord in the morning and continued through Roberval, Hebertville Jonquiere. Mr. St. Laurent delivered six speeches, two more than scheduled, and gave television and radio interviews.

LETS VOTERS JUDGE

Residents chuckled when he said one of his main purposes in touring the country was, apart from seeking votes, to let people see "whether I am as aged as the Progressive Conservatives make me out to be."

In each town he said the Liberal party supports a policy that will provide equal prosperity for all Canadians.

He described the present world situation as in a state of "worried peace" but said it enabled Canada to enjoy its prosperity and to go ahead with its development.

Mr. St. Laurent took a light swing here at John Diefenbaker, national Progressive Conservative leader, who had made a single appearance at Quebec City early in the campaign.

His picked up the theme he launched at Trois-Rivieres Tuesday, that Quebec Conservatives had walked out of the convention that picked Diefenbaker as the Conservative leader.

OSHAWA (CP) — John Diefenbaker has accused Prime Minister St. Laurent of injecting politics into the civil service.

As he wound up a fast-moving day in the Toronto - Oshawa area the Progressive Conservative leader contended here Wednesday that politics entered into Mr. St. Laurent's recent indication in a public speech that government employees would get a raise after election day.

Mr. Diefenbaker said his party would support pay increases immediately for the civil service and he challenged the prime minister to institute them now instead of waiting until after the general election June 10.

The opposition chief said to a rally of about 1,000 people that filled all seating space in Oshawa Collegiate auditorium:

"I call on the prime minister to act now so that Canada's civil service will not be plunged into politics by his actions in this campaign."

Today, Mr. Diefenbaker headed by train for Quebec. Friday he is to talk at Montreal, then flies to the Maritimes Saturday.

Mr. Diefenbaker moved Wednesday through the Toronto ridings of Parkdale, High Park, York West and York-Humber besides Ontario constituency of which this automobile-manufacturing city is the chief centre.

Here, Mr. Diefenbaker promised that if elected as head of government, he will remove—"in whole or in part"—the special excise tax of 10 per cent on passenger automobiles.

Reduction of this tax, he said, would be part of a Conservative government program at a special tax-reducing session of Parliament to be called in fall.

Of his party's outlook generally, Mr. Diefenbaker said Conservatives now have achieved unity such as has not been seen in many years. The Liberals were running.

He revived the Progressive Conservative charge that the Liberal government has abrogated the rights of Parliament.

Parliament now had become "a game of hide-and-seek" with the opposition never able to get facts and the government hiding them.

At scores of his meetings, he criticized the smallness of the recent federal increase of $6 a month in old age pensions.

Gardenville

GARDENVILLE — Mr. and Mrs. Jack Vader and Jimmy, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Baxter enjoyed a pleasant motor trip to Denbigh.

Mrs. Keith Young spent Wednesday in Toronto, with her father, Mr. Blake Young.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Baxter and Susan, with Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Green of Trenton, visited Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Green, in Oshawa, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Herb Hart, Trenton, were Sunday guests of Mrs. Sarah Hart.

Mr. Jack Wilson received a nasty cut when his car slipped off the jack, causing the bumper to strike his hand. Seven stitches were required.

Mr. Douglas Baxter has been suffering from the effects of a severe kink in his back for several days.

Strawberry growers here report frost damage to plants which were in bloom.

Mrs. Jack Baxter visited with Mrs. R. Burgess. Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Badgley, Frankford, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hutchinson of Stirling, on Thursday evening. On Friday afternoon, with Mrs. Sarah Hart she visited Mrs. D. Terrill and Miss Minnie Church, at the Bayside Rest Home.

Miss Lois Burgess of Stirling, and L.A.C. Robert Bird were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Baxter, on Saturday.

Goyer's Marines Edge Bobcats 3-2; Frankford Belts Merchants 12-6

By GARRY ALEXANDER

Bob Brooks' three-run homer with two out in the bottom of the ninth inning provided Goyer's Marines with a 3-2 victory over Temple's Bobcats in a Belleville District softball league thriller at CNBAA Park last night.

All five runs of the game came in the last frame as Tommy Thompson of the Marines and Vic Allen of the Bobcats dueled down the line. Both hurlers had two hitters entering the ninth.

The Cats got to Thompson for a pair of singles and plated their two tallies unearned. Allen claimed the first two batters in the bottom of the ninth to place himself in the position of being one out from a shutout victory.

Gerry Goyer than slashed a single through the centre and coach Leo Goyer went in to pinch hit for Doug Armstrong. He hammered the first pitch for a base hit and Brooks represented the winning run at the plate. The left fielder made no mistake, hitting the ball on a line over Red Culkin's head in right field to wrap up the decision.

Thompson, making his initial start in the B. and D. loop, impressed fans with a fine control effort. He was touched for four singles and both runs against him were unearned. He tossed third strikes by eleven batters while walking only two.

Vic Allen lost the decision but also threw good ball. He gave up only five hits while whiffing one and passing one.

Two men were out when the Bobcats plated their runs in the top of the ninth. Allen drew a walk and Al Smith drove one in the hole at short, Gerry Goyer knocking it down to hold the runners to one base. Duke Doran, who had fanned in three previous appearances, belted a single to right field and the runners headed for home. Garry Goyer fired a strike from the outfield and catcher Harvey Stolliker had the ball secured as Allen 15 feet away but the pitcher hit Stolliker and Jarred the ball loose, allowing both runs to score.

The winners had the game's lone twin-killing in the third frame, Armstrong, Gerry Goyer and Wayne Bovay working it on Bob Woods' ground ball with Harry Wardhaugh on base via a single.

Bobcats threatened in the 4th on Armstrong's error and a single by Conway with none out but Thompson nailed three in succession, two on strikes, to pull out of the jam.

Brook's homer was the big blow of the game while Garry Goyer with a brace of singles was the only batter with more than one safety. Leo Goyer and Harvey Stolliker had the other Marine hits.

Duke Doran, Harry Wardhaugh, John Casey and Al Smith led the Bobcat singles.

FRANKFORD — (Special) — Frankford — Bata Shoemen exploded a 17-hit attack at Batawa last night to whip the Belleville Merchants 12-6 and even their record. at the Belleville and District softball league with a win and a loss.

The Shoemen led from the opening frame when they netted one run. They held a 6-3 margin and then scored four in the sixth to salt away the decision and added a pair in the eighth following a trio by Belleville.

Bobby Hunter tolled for Frankford-Bata to gain his initial win of the young season. He allowed eight hits, including a pair of homers, while fanning two and walking four.

Bep Guidolin started and took the defeat for Belleville, lasting until the seventh. He whiffed one and passed one while Bobby Green completed the chore with one strikeout and two free passes.

Harry Wickson struck the big blow for the Shoemen in the 6th frame. He followed singles by Harder, Cosgrove and Burtt with a solid triple.. An error, one of five committed by the Merchants, helped the cause.

Four of the Merchant tallies were the result of home runs. Lionel Botley smashed a three-run job in the seventh frame while Wayne "Wiener" Brown belted a bases empty shot in the 8th.

Claude Carr had a brace of singles in a losing effort with Bob Bunton poking a double. Don Barclay, Doug Soule and Bobby Green each contributed one single.

Bob Hunter spearheaded his own attack by slamming four singles in five trips for the winners. Harry Wickson had a triple and two singles with Vic Burtt netting three base hits. Carl Austin and Harder each had a triple and single, Mike Cosgrove a double and single and Harvey Ackerman a lone safety.

The 17-hit total surpassed by one the previous record high for the season of 16, hit by Madoc against Trenton on Tuesday night.

Royal Copeland Hangs up Grid Gear

TORONTO (CP) — The second of Canadian football's touchdown twins has retired.

Royal Copeland, who With Joe Krol formed the great passing and running combination for Toronto Argonauts in the late 1940s, announced Wednesday he will not be back next season.

The 32-year-old backfielder, a native of North Bay, is living in California but has taken a job at a boy's camp in Wisconin which will prevent him from returning for another seasog in the Big Four Football Union. Krol retired several years ago.

CHANGED HIS MIND

Copeland who teamed with Krol to lead Argos to Grey Cups in 1945-46-47-50 announced at the end of last season he would not be back. But he was prevailed upon by two old friends, Lew Hayman and Teddy Morris, to return for another year. Now he has decided to quit.

Hayman now is the team's manager and Morris is in charge of the team's hunt for Canadian talent. Both are former Argo coaches.

Copeland, six-foot 190-pounder, was an offensive star when Krol to Copeland (and occasionally Copeland-to-Krol) passes made Argos a power in Canadian football.

He was with Toronto until 1950 when he moved to Calgary Stampeders for three years, returning in 1953.

Five Million Quid Bet On 'Crepello'

EPSOM DOWNS, Eng. (Reuters) — British bookmakers stand to lose heavily if Crepello, one of the hottest favorites in Derby history, win next Wednesday's 177th running of the Epsom classic.

Since odds on the Derby first were quoted six weeks ago, an estimated £3,000,000 has been bet on Sir Victor Sassoon's handsome three-year-old.

The odds on Crepello have plummeted to the lowest since 1947, when Tudor Minstrel went to the post a 4-5 favorite.

But under Britain's legal offcourse betting system, bookmakers must pay off at the odds prevailing when the bettors placed their wagers.

At Wednesday night's callover, Crepello was quoted at 6 to 4.

QUEEN'S HORSE RUNS

Queen Elizabeth's Doutelle is among the favorites to take the £18,669 first money. The purse totals £22,670.

Other favorites include the Aga Khan's Prince Taj and Greek shipping magnate Stavros Niarchos' Pipe of Peace.

An estimated 120,000 spectators are expected to be on this course about 23 miles from London.

Besides millions of British bettors, holders of Irish Sweepstakes tickets on Derby starters stand to make a fortune if their horse wins.

HORSESHOE PITCHING

Want to get the kinks out of the joints, the wrinkles out of the muscles, a few inches off the equator and a new lease on life?

Try pitching horseshoes!

Vic Bellveau, sports chairman of the Canadian National Recreation Association informs this department that a meeting is being held in the ticket office at the Recreation Park come Friday at eight o'clock for the purpose of organizing a city horseshoe league.

Last year, Vic states, eight horseshoe pits were constructed by the association and a four-team CNR league formed. This year, the railroad boys want to share their facilities with the "outsiders" since they feel there are enough interested to make the venture a success. In addition the CN association will operate its own league.

So if you are a shoe flinger or are interested in the game drop around the CN Recreation Park Friday and get into the swim. Potential teams are especially invited.

To the camp followers of the Roman armies goes the credit of starting the horseshoe pitching sport. In those days the Roman aspirants would hurl at which they tossed the shoes. And so began the game of today.

The soldiers soon picked up the sport and it became so popular that the nobles and aristocracy of the different nations took it up. Women played the game using a light type of shoe.

The Romans took the game to Britain. Many thin flat shoes unearthed in Devon are believed to have been worn by horses belonging to Romans, later discarded, then used for pitching unless worn too thin for such a purpose.

The game of quoits got its birth from the early horseshoe pitching. The twin sports grew together in England with the boys using the horseshoes and the men the quoits.

British soldiers introduced the sports to America during the colonial war days. Shoes were available around the military "smithies."

The first horseshoe pitching club in the United States was formed in 1900 at Long Beach, California, with a membership of 600. In 1919 the first championship tournament was held at Broome, Kansas.

The pitching rules of those days called for a distance of 38½ feet with stakes sticking two inches out of the ground. There was nothing standard about the size and weight of the shoes. A ringer counted five points, a leaner 3, closest shoe, one. A man who scored a ringer was credited with five points, and also five for any ringers underneath his. Game was 21 points.

The entire principle of horseshoe play was revolutionized in 1920 by George W. May of Akron, Ohio. May saw no reason why the player should concentrate merely upon getting close to the stake and scoring just one point. He decided to become a ringer specialist. He started adjusting his finger along the blades of the shoe aiming to regulate the revolutions while the shoe was in the air. By doing this, he finally acquired the knack of ringing the stake with startling frequency.

He entered the National Tournament, an unknown, and put on the most astonishing ringer exhibition seen up to that time. He won 24 straight games, tossing 430 ringers during the tournament. He averaged more than one ringer in each two pitches.

Some of this world's greatest efforts included that of Guy Zimmerman of Iowa City who, in a game against Dean Brown, pitched 28 consecutive double ringers, meaning 56 ringers with 56 pitches.

In a double game, Eddie Peckham and Henry Harper beat Dean Brown and Tommy Bartlen at Exposition Park, Los Angeles. Packham had 174 ringers and Parker 162. Both had 66 double ringers. Brown scored 166 ringers and Bartlen 163. Brown had 68 double ringers and his partner 62. The totals were ringers 664, double ringers 262, all four shoes on stake 31 times.

And in case you are still interested, in a tournament of 30 games the average player walks nine miles add tosses three tons of metal.

RASSLIN'

Gene Kiniski, the blustering braggart of the wrestling ring has been sounding off again. It looks like this crew-cut cutie loves talking next to wrestling. And that he lives, breathes and sings. In fact, he makes grand uproar of it. Friday night he meets Pat O'Connor, the New Zealand rancher who has more lamb chops on the hoof than there are in all the butcher shops of the country, for the British Empire title now worn by the Edmonton Blockbuster. What a rowdydowdy this bout will be. Then there will be those imps-turned-angels (or have they), the Lewin Boys. Don meets that nawsty Fred Atkins with Mark tangling with Bob Leipler, a football, baseball, basketball and track star. Fun starts nine o'clock.

EASY VICTORY

TORONTO (CP) — Saragino, owned by M. J. Boylen of Toronto, won the $2,000 Whimsical Stakes at Old Woodbine Wednesday before a crowd of 7,781.

Saragino, ridden by Eddie Plesa led all the way and won handily with Larchall beating Butter Ball narrowly for second money. Baffin Bay, the only other starter, was a distant trailer.

Lowly Nats Crush Yankees As Tribe Scalps White Sox; Phils Close in on Leaders

By The Associated Press

It may not sound like much to New York Yankee or Cleveland Indian fans but that three-game winning streak put together by Washington is sweet music to the ears of Senator supporters.

It is the longest win streak of the season for the American League's cellar-dwelling and perpetual second-division Nats, who defeated the world champion New York Yankees 6-2 Wednesday night.

Pete Ramos, who had lost five and won none against Yanks before Wednesday, scattered eight hits—the Yankee runs came on homers by Mickey Mantle and Hank Bauer—in going all the way.

LEADERS BEATEN

In other games Cleveland moved into a second-place tie with New York as they defeated league-leading Chicago 8-4 in 10 innings; Boston jiled Baltimore 5-3 to fifth place with their third loss in a row, this one 3-1 to Baltimore; and Detroit moved into fourth place, six games back, as they beat Kansas City for the first time this season, 4-2.

Bauer and Mantle blasted their home runs too late as Ray Sievers had started Tom Sturdivant to his third loss with a two-run homer in the first inning. Senators scored their other four runs in the seventh.

Mantle was two-for-three, pushing his average to .371, still second to Boston's Ted Williams, also two-for-three who round up at .417.

NINTH-INNING HOMER

Rookie Larry Raines was four-for-four for the Indians, delivering his second double of the game as the Tribe scored four times in the 10th after Vic Wertz' sixth home run had provided two runs to tie it 4-4 in the ninth. Raines also had his first home run and a single.

It was Dick Williams, not Ted, who did the damage at Boston, driving in a pair of Oriole runs with a third-inning double to beat George Susce. Billy Loes won his fifth, with George Zuverink pitching in the ninth, as the Orioles ended a four-game slump. They had lost seven of eight.

A pinch double by J. W. Porter scored the clincher in the ninth for Tigers, who had been 0-6 against Kansas City. Jim Bunning won his third with a five-hitter, giving up home runs to Hal Smith and Bob Cerv.

The National League reached its first mile post today with the pennant race every bit as close as expected—but what are those Philadelphia Phillies doing up there with Cincinnati, Brooklyn and Milwaukee?

The Phils had been figured for a fourth place fight with St. Louis with the winner well behind the big three. Going into the Memorial Day doubleheaders, Phillies were in fourth place, all right, but only three games behind Cincinnati's first-place Redlegs and just a length behind third - place Milwaukee.

To do it, manager Mayo Smith has blended a fast-fading veteran crop with a few old hands for a combination that hasn't done too well against Redlegs, Dodgers or Braves (3-7) but has belted the second division with a .600 clip (18-3).

They were at it again Wednesday, blowing a 5-1 lead but coming back to score twice in the 10th, with the help of an error, to defeat New York Giants 7-5. It was Philadelphia's seventh success in the last 10 games.

CLOSE GROUND

With the victory, the Phils closed ground on the idle Redlegs, who saw their 1½ game margin in six games over Brooklyn as Dodgers defeated Pittsburgh 11-6 on seven-run earned run and Johnny Podres' three-hitter. Braves also gained a winning their second in a row with a 6-2 job on Chicago Cubs.

Veteran Gran Hamner, junking thoughts of becoming a pitcher to return to second base, drove in three of the Phillies' runs at New York as Robin Roberts, a six-time loser, won his fourth with a perfect two-inning relief job. Marv Grissom lost it in relief, giving up a walk ahead of a two-base error by first baseman Gail Harris on rookie Ed Bouchee's grounder. Willie Mays extended his hitting streak to 16 games with an RBI single that capped a four-run eighth as the Giants tied it 5-5.

Bob Buhl won his third for Braves, four-hitting Cubs while gaining his first complete game in 14 starts, seven this year going back to last August 30. Felix Mantilla had three of Milwaukee's 12 hits off loser Don Kaiser and two relievers.

Dodgers wrapped up Podres' third shutout (tops in the league) and fourth victory on a two-out, two-base error in the eighth by Frank Thomas and a following single by Gino Cimoli. Wireless Service Inc. Vet hit seventh for the Bucs, despite a five-hitter. It was ...o defeat.

RUSE PACES PONTIACS

SIGNS WITH ARGOS

TORONTO (CP)—Boyd Carter, six-foot, 185-pound halfback from Santa Monica City College of the Los Angeles area Metropolitan Conference, today became the 19th new import signed by Toronto Argonauts for the 1957 Big Four football season.

South African Favored in British Amateur

FORMBY, England (CP)—English champion Antonie Walker of Johannesburg, South Africa, Wednesday moved into the favorite's position in the British Amateur golf championship with a 2-and-1 victory over Gerald Micklem of England.

Walker scored a fourth-round victory in the morning over John Niven of Scotland, 2 and 1, before defeating Britain's Walker Cup captain.

Walker and Harold Ridgeley, a U.S. Air Force sergeant stationed in Britain, are the only non-residents of the United Kingdom left in the championship, to be settled Saturday.

Ridgley defeated Dr. Frank Deighton Glasgow, the Scottish champion, two up. He then downed Sandy Sinclair, one of Scotland's best, 3 and 2 in the fifth round.

26 AMERICANS STARTED

Ridgeley is the only survivor of 26 United States amateurs who started in the tournament Monday. Three other Americans were eliminated Wednesday.

Charlie Stowe of England defeated former Walker Cupper Jim McHale of the U.S. one up in the fourth round. Leslie McClue of Scotland downed Dale Morey of the U.S. in the fourth round 3 and 2. Reid Jack of Scotland defeated Gene Andrews of the U.S. 5 and 3 in the fifth.

The U.S. challenger meets Scotland's Leslie McClue in today's quarter-finals and Walker plays W. J. Girardet, a middle-aged Londoner.

Allan Cup Winners Will Represent Canada At Future World Tourneys

Must Be a Canadian Team And Arrange Own Financing; CAHA to Protect Referees

By JIM PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP)—The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association has ended what delegates describe as one of its most successful annual meetings in a decade.

Three major steps were taken during the four-day meeting that ended Wednesday. They are moves many of the 40 delegates say should save the association from much of the type of criticism levelled at it in the past.

The annual meeting gave the CAHA negotiating committee full power to conclude or reject a new agreement with the professionals without first reporting back to a general meeting.

There has been no written agreement between the CAHA and the National Hockey League for two years and the negotiating committee, which will meet the NHL soon, never before has been given full power to act.

WITH RESERVATIONS

It was decided Canada should be represented in future world hockey championships at no expense to the CAHA and that the Allan Cup champions, with certain reservations, should form the nucleus of the Canadian representative each year.

The reservations are that the Allan Cup winner must be a Canadian team and that it must be able to arrange its financing at no cost to the CAHA.

Considered highly important in the decision was that in taking in the meeting almost unanimously concurred in the idea that Canada should compete even though it is not always guaranteed victory.

The team that advanced this theory, Whitby Dunlops, was named to represent Canada at the world meet in Oslo in 1958.

Definite regulations were established for the coming year regarding strength of various teams for Memorial Cup playoffs. This is to prevent wired votes on requests at the last minute.

Delegates also supported unanimously continuance of Young Canada Hockey Week, started a year ago and considered one of the most successful of the CAHA's ventures.

It also voted to endorse the Memorial Cup dinner as an annual affair and support it by aiding in selling it up.

The association elected its first French-Canadian president in its 41-year history. Robert LeBel of Chambly, a suburb of Montreal who succeeds Jimmy Dunn of Winnipeg, who held the post for two years.

MOVES UP

Gordon Juckes of Melville, Sask. moved up from second to first vice-president and Jack Roxburgh of Simcoe, a former Ontario Hockey Association president, became second vice-president.

George Dudley of Midland will continue as secretary - manager with an increase to $5,000 from $4,000 in annual salary.

The 1957 annual meeting directed the CAHA's resolutions committee to seek ways and means of putting new life into the Allan and Memorial Cup series, both of which have found fewer years. The world championship decision is expected to add some glamor to the Allan Cup.

A suggestion by the National Ice Skating Union of Japan to have a Japanese hockey team tour Canada in 1958-59 was taken under consideration and a three - man committee named to start preliminary investigations.

EDMONTON (CP)—Public criticism of game officials in the Memorial Cup junior hockey final this spring was described Wednesday as "unfair" to all concerned.

The subject arose at the closing session of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association's annual meeting and it directed the association's officers to consider at their annual meeting recommendations made by Gordon Juckes of Melville, Sask., newly - elected first vice-president, who handled western arrangements for the junior playoff.

These recommendations included:

1. That a definite policy, providing for severe disciplinary action be established to curtail public outbursts by coaches, managers and other team officers, against persons appointed by the CAHA to handle hockey playoffs.

POLICY ON LOCATION

2. That the CAHA consider and state definitely a policy on the location of the Memorial Cup final.

3. That a regulation be passed on how clubs should travel to playoffs, stating that they should all travel by train unless given special CAHA permission to do otherwise.

Juckes' comments came as a result of the league that arose during the junior final between Flin Flon Bombers and Ottawa Canadiens.

Referring to uncomplimentary remarks printed in a number of newspapers and credited to Sam Pollock, coach of Canadiens, who lost to Bombers in seven games, Juckes said:

"I feel that what Pollock had to say during the series in public print was not fair to either of the clubs or to the referees on the job they still had to do and it was not fair to this association."

CRITICIZED REFEREE

Pollock was quoted as saying that one of the two referees who handled the series was dishonest and Juckes said that it apparently was not a case of Pollock being misquoted, because the same thing appeared in more than one newspaper.

"Pollock's statements had a detrimental effect on the persons appointed to handle this important series," Juckes said. "We should take a stand on this type of criticism."

Juckes also referred to criticisms of the location of the series, which saw three games in the small community of Flin Flon in Manitoba, and four in Regina. He said he believed the location had been decided in accordance, with CAHA policy to give the home-team fans as much chance as possible to see their team.

It was indicated at the meeting that a policy to stage the junior final in the largest centre in the branch whose team represents the East or West may be taken.

NOBBY SIGNS AGAIN

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Big Four football union have announced that quarterback Nobby Wirkowski has signed his 1957 contract.

Wirkowski, who stands five foot eight and weighs 180 pounds, was traded to Hamilton in 1955 after playing four seasons with Toronto Argonauts. He was claimed on waivers by Ottawa in the middle of last season but refused to report and remained in Hamilton as backfield coach. Ottawa recently traded him back to Hamilton for two intermediates.

Oakville Wins Three in Row

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

One league is as good as another to Oakville Oaks. Last year they burned up the West Toronto Senior Baseball league and went on to win the Ontario Senior championship.

This year they moved over to the Senior Intercounty loop and have started in just where they left off.

Wednesday night they won their third game in as many starts, shutting out Listowel Legionnaires 4-0. And the star of the evening was lefty Russ Paton, who has been the core of the Oak's pitching staff for several seasons.

He spun a two-hitter, striking out 18 batters, walking two and picking two men off first base when the going got tough. Altogether he left just two men stranded. It was his second win this year.

Federal Judge May Dissolve Boxing Clubs' Limit Activities of Heads

NEW YORK (AP)—Jim Norris' days as the nation's leading boxing promoter are numbered if federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan rules the way he is thinking in the government's monopoly action against The International Boxing Club.

Judge Ryan, who is conducting hearings to determine the penalties he will decree against the IBC of New York and Illinois, Norris, his partner Arthur M. Wirtz and the Madison Square Garden Corp., said Wednesday he was inclined to direct the dissolution of both boxing clubs and limit the activities of the partners.

Last March, Judge Ryan found the defendants guilty of monopolizing the promotion of world championship fights. Norris heads both the IBC of New York and the Madison Square Garden Corp. and holds a controlling interest in the IBC of Illinois of which Wirtz is the president. Norris and Wirtz also control the Chicago Stadium, which is not a defendant in the action.

SPOKE INFORMALLY

Speaking informally from the bench, Judge Ryan said he was inclined to direct the dissolution of both clubs. He said he also was thinking of forcing Norris and Wirtz to choose between the Madison Square Garden Corp. and the Chicago Stadium for their future activities.

Dissolution of the IBC of New York and Illinois could end the weekly Wednesday and Friday night televised fights. The IBC of Illinois handles the Wednesday series and the New York IBC sponsors the Friday night fights.

Testimony is expected to be completed today, the next hearing day, after which attorneys for both sides will submit briefs.

Leonard Gives Caddy Credit

VANCOUVER (CP) — Golfer Stan Leonard, who recently won the $15,000 Greensboro Open after trying for 19 years on the U.S. golf trail tournaments, says a big share of the credit is due to his caddy.

"In 72 holes of golf I selected my own clubs only twice," Leonard said Tuesday night at a banquet in his honor.

Although a five-time winner of the Canadian professional golf championship, Leonard is undoubtedly the "almostest" golfer in Canada, forever stalling at the top prize in major tournaments.

He said he knew his gangling Greensboro, N.C., caddy only as George.

"Follow about 40 . . . He'd been caddying on the golf course since he was 17 and knew it like the back of his hand.

"On one crucial hole in the final round, I asked for my three-iron. Next, said George, 'If you think you can reach that Green with a three - iron, you're crazy.' I switched, took the two-wood he handed me, hit it with all I had and won pin-high."

More than 150 persons shelled out $100 each to attend the banquet.

Leafs Thump Buffalo 6-3; Vees Take Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Richmond Virginians left no doubt about it when they took the International League lead for real Columbus Jets 13-6.

The victory pushed Vees past Buffalo, a 6-3 loser to Toronto, into first place after having held the spot on a won-lost basis for a couple of days while actually "trailing" Buffalo on a percentage basis.

Going into the Memorial Day doubleheaders, Richmond has a 1½-game edge over Buffalo and Jim Piersall was in fourth, 5½ games back, after defeating Havana 3-0 Wednesday night. Rochester packed Montreal deeper into the cellar 3-1, in the other game. Jerry Lumpe and Tom Carroll each had three-for-five in Richmond's 20-hit assault on loser Jackie Brown and three relievers, with Lumpe driving in three runs. Jim Piersall was the victim of the WAS PITCHING DUEL.

Toronto broke up a pitching duel between Humberto Robinson and then Bison's Fred Hahn with two runs in the eighth for a 4-3 lead, then socked it away with Rocky Nelson's two-run homer in the ninth. Robinson won his seventh, permitting five hits before giving way with an aching leg muscle with one out in the ninth to relieve Bob Tiefenauer.

Gene Snyder scattered eight hits to shut out Sugar Kings, gaining his third victory on a double by Bobby Micelotta and a single by Haywood Sullivan in the fifth. Woody Smith's seventh homer, a solo shot, came in the eighth to close Marlin scoring.

Red Wings scored their three in the fourth to beat Roberto Vargas on Wally Fassler's single and doubles by Allie Clark, Gene Green and righthander Gary Blaylock, who won his third in a row with a six-hitter.

Fight Tonight

Durelle Is Slight Favorite To Defeat Gordie Wallace

MONCTON, N.B. (CP)—Canadian light heavyweight champion Yvon Durelle is a slight betting favorite to defeat British Empire champion Gordie Wallace of Brantford when they clash in a 12-round title bout here tonight. Only the Canadian title will be at stake.

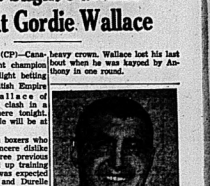
A couple of veteran boxers who have worked up a sincere dislike for each other in three previous matches, each wound up training Wednesday. Wallace was expected to weigh about 189 and Durelle 185 at the official weigh-in this morning.

Durelle, always confident, predicts his fourth victory over the Empire champion.

"I'm going to try to stop him before the 10th," said the fighting fisherman from Baie Ste. Anne, N.B.

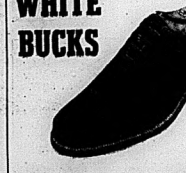
"I've waited a long time to get Wallace in the ring again."

GRIM DETERMINATION



The Ontario scrapper, who lays his Empire title on the line against Mike Holt of South Africa in August, is grimly determined to win.

"I'll be out there in an attempt to put an end to all this talk about me being scared to meet Durelle. In previous meetings I weighed about 182 or so, but I expect to check in at 189 for this bout which will help me to cope with Durelle's bearing tactics."



Wallace said that he'll "wait for the openings" and use his lethal right.

Durelle, undefeated in Moncton, took his last win from Wallace by decision here in 1955. Since then he has fought 20 times, Wallace has fought seven bouts.

If Durelle emerges from tonight's battle without serious injury, he meets Tony Anthony in Detroit June 14. Anthony is rated No. 1 contender for the world light heavy crown. Wallace lost his last bout when he was knocked by Anthony in one round.

Ten Given Chance to Win Famous Race

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Four crafty old men—as ages go in auto racing—pitted their years of experience against 29 hard-driving younger pilots today in the 41st running of the world's most famous auto race at Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

Track veterans called it the most open race since the opener in 1911, with at least 10 drivers rated a chance to win.

The weatherman held off as Speedway officials set out with only partly cloudy skies appearing this morning. Scattered showers and thunderstorms were predicted for late today but were not expected to begin until after the finish of the race.

Two of the toughest old timers, never able to win the big Memorial Day pot but always contenders, were Paul Russo of Canoga Park, Calif., who wrecked his Novi while leading last year's 500-mile grind, and Fred Agabashian, Walnut Creek, Calif., driving one of 11 new style Kurtis-Kraits. Each is 52.

Sam Hanks of Pacific Palisades, Calif., 42, was starting in a new horizontal engine Salih-Epperly car that could revolutionize race car design if it finishes well. Tony Bettenhausen, 40, Tinley Park, Ill., was in a twin to Russo's Novi.

Troy Ruttman, of Lynwood, Calif., the 1952 winner, was the only former winner in the field and a strong contender in his new light-weight Watson car.

There was the usual incentive to go full bore for the lead as soon as possible—special lap prize of $150 for each time a driver led the field around the 2½-mile track. That was a potential $30,000 on top of a purse expected to be $300,000.

The winner is guaranteed $75,000 but the purse is added to on the basis of attendance.

Bill Vukovich, killed trying for a third straight victory in 1955, set the event record of 130.840 m.p.h. in 1954.

Stan Leonard Heads Canada Golf Team

TORONTO (CP) — Stan Leonard of Lachute, Que., will head a team of four Canadian professional golfers who will team with four top amateurs for competition against a United States team at Flint, Mich., golf club June 18.

The match is a preliminary to the $37,000 open June 20-23 at Flint.

The other pros, chosen on a point basis by the Canadian Professional Golfers' Association, are Murray Tucker and Al Balding, both of Toronto, and Jack Kay of Montreal. Next in order were Gordon Brydson, Toronto; John Henricks, Montreal, and Bill Mawhinney, Vancouver.

Kay will be unavailable because of a tournament engagement in Quebec and Brydson will take his place.

Humez Retains Middle Crown

MILAN (AP)—Charles Humez of France successfully defended his European middleweight boxing crown, defeating Italy's Italo Scortichini in a 15-round fight Wednesday night.

The referee's decision was booed by the 12,000 spectators.

Scortichini scored the only knock down, dropping Humez for an eight-count in the ninth round.

Lords Sign Canadian Stars

LONDON, Ont., (CP)—London Lords have signed their 11th and 12th Canadian players for the coming senior Ontario Rugby Football Union season in guard Bill Needham and backfielder end Gord Sturdy. The club already has signed five American imports.

Needham, 31, returns after a good season with Lords last year. He is an ORFU veteran serving three terms as a defensive guard with the Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen.

Sturdy played high school football with Oakwood and East York collegiates in Toronto. He tried out with Lords last season but was dropped before the schedule opened.

Will Discuss Video Question

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—The television question will be discussed at tonight's meeting here of the Senior Ontario Rugby Football Union executive.

President Ralph Duffus of London Lords said that a tentative agenda is to be tabled and will spark the talk, and that a TV policy decision might be made.

A uniform player contract for all clubs, along with a sale-or-trade policy are also expected to be debated.

It is reported that Sarnia Golden Bears will propose a tight regulation on tampering with a player while he is trying out with another club.

DROVE 90 MILES AN HOUR

SUDBURY (CP)—Gerald Foley, 26, rightwinger on the New York Rangers National Hockey League team, was convicted Wednesday of careless driving.

Police said Foley, of nearby Garson, was charged after his car was observed travelling at speeds of 90 miles an hour last week.

Magistrate P. J. McAndrew reserved sentence until June 12. He suggested Foley attend a traffic clinic held twice weekly in a Sudbury police station.

Dana Andrews Has Wrinkle For Tax-Haunted Film Stars

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Dana Andrews has a new wrinkle for tax-haunted film stars: the spread.

Last year he made three pictures and earned $300,000. He found himself in a 91-per-cent income tax bracket, leaving him with pretty small pickin's at the end of the year.

He also had deals to give percentages of the films' profits. But unless a picture is a great grosser, the star seldom sees any added revenue.

So far Zero Hour, he arranged to be paid $1,000 a week for 100 weeks. The producers are delighted, since they don't have to make a big salary outlay all at once. Dana is delighted, because the money can be spread on three years' income. And the U.S. government doesn't seem to mind.

If there was any doubt about Jerry Lewis' going it alone in pictures, it now is dispelled. His first solo effort (he also produced), The Delicate Delinquent, has more laughs and greater credibility than any epic he inside with Dean Martin. He now is the screen's top (and virtually only) comedian.

There are the makings of a dandy feud in the walkout of Frank Sinatra from Jerry's next TV show. Frank pleaded another date, but Jerry is sore at the short notice.

Ran into William Powell in Palm Springs and asked him when he's coming back to work. "I'm working every day — 18 holes," he cracked. Seeing him in the old MGM movies on TV makes me realize anew what great charm and style he has. Come back, Bill. . . .

Hall Wallis has a class western in Gunfight at O.K. Corral, in which the Kirk Douglas-Burt Lancaster chemistry works wonders. It's lucky the theatre marquees are long in Mexico. Heatwave of August Moon translates as La Casa de Te'de la Luna de Agosto. . . .

YOUR HOROSCOPE

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes, and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

Friday, May 31, 1957

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Especially propitious rays for matters concerning home and loved ones. Don't allow materialism or outside interests to dull this day. Build for the Tomorrows.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Venus' position suggests caution in unfamiliar activities. Ask questions; heed sound advice. Don't let your artistic side dominate unwisely. And don't over-indulge in foods, liquids you like.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — If you do not start too many chores at once, you won't find yourself rushing to finish — resultant nervous strain. Be systematic. Really good aspects to use well.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Begin your schedule promptly, strike a brisk but not too hurried tempo, and keep up the good work. Consistency, inner calm and self-confidence will bring the best results.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Your Sun's aspects suggests that you review your program carefully. Little flaws could undermine success. Don't repeat old mistakes; don't imagine hurts or obstacles. Don't try to cross the mountain till you come to it.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — The advantageous position of your Mercury is somewhat offset by Moon, Mars and Jupiter aspects. Careful plans and constant vigilance will be needed to prevent errors.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — You may find new problems, delicate situations to handle. Point up your sunny disposition, promote harmony. Curb your emotions and remain philosophical.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio) — Designing, building, renovating, agriculture, medical science especially favored. All well-managed endeavors can yield unusually successful returns, however. Be reasonable in aims.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — The position of Jupiter suggests that you avoid over-exercise and speculation. Also curb tendencies to exaggerate or become over-confident.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — Results now will depend upon how you direct talents, efforts; how you manage matters under your care. Emphasize your prudence, executive ability.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — Emphasize your inventive talents now. Your intuition and foresight should help you greatly. Unusual ventures may prove profitable.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — This can be a profitable period for building for the future. You can go places now if you don't go to extremes or worry. Originality, cleverness will pay well.

If you born today are under Gemini and have a dual sort of nature, a vibrant personality. Cultivate the habit of reasoning things out before speaking; it helps prevent tactlessness. You can reach the heights in business, a profession, or in the artistic world when you earnestly, honestly strive. Read, seek more knowledge always. You are roundly capable, adaptable, grasp things readily; should achieve top goals. Just don't be hasty, over-zealous or skip over things too quickly. Birthdate of: Walt Whitman, poet; Frances Alda, opera singer.

LEAP SAVES LIFE

WOODSTOCK (CP) — Donald Butt, 17, was standing on a bridge at Southside Park Wednesday when he saw a car zig-zagging toward him. He jumped seven feet into shallow water of a spillway, suffering a fractured ankle. The car broke through a guard rail and landed beside him. Its driver, Robert Dolson, 19, was unhurt.

Gaston Gelinas Leaving Field In Election

TROIS-RIVIERES, Que. (CP)—Gaston Gelinas, Independent Liberal in Trois-Rivieres for the June 10 federal election, said Wednesday that as a result of an appeal from Prime Minister St. Laurent he has decided to withdraw from the running.

Mr. Gelinas, secretary of the Trois-Rivieres Liberal Association said he had entered the election as a "straight" Liberal. He had felt that Premier Noberet, the provincial candidate, could not be considered an official Liberal because he was not chosen by a party nominating convention.

"Mr. Nobert was chosen by party headquarters in Montreal," said Mr. Gelinas.

"However, the prime minister said it would be preferable if I would withdraw so that the party could present a united front. That is the reason I am withdrawing."

Leon Balcer, president of the Progressive Conservative Association of Canada, and Georges Grenier, who describes himself as a Radical-Socialist candidate, are candidates in this riding.

Mr. Gelinas' withdrawal reduced to 996 the total number of candidates seeking election to the 265-seat House of Commons. In total, 315 candidates are running in Quebec province.

Baghdad Pact Ready to Fight Subversion

KARACHI, Pakistan (Reuters)—The five Baghdad Pact countries and the United States have announced their readiness to combat subversion in the area with "greater concentration and vigor."

This commitment in a communique day night after six days of private discussions by the counter-subversion committees of the Baghdad Pact said the committees respective governments would take to offset this threat."

Full members of the pact are Britain, Pakistan, Iran, Iraq and Turkey. The U.S. is a member of the economic and counter-subversion committees of the pact.

The United States already has pledged more than $12,000,000 for development projects in the Baghdad Pact countries.

Seven Killed In Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (Reuters) Seven persons were reported killed and 35 injured today in clashes between police and demonstrators who defied a government ban on meetings.

Preffiter Sami Solh ordered the army to take charge of security in the clashes which are reported continuing.

The injured included two opposition leaders. A former premier, Saeb Salam, was hit on the head by a rock and needed several stitches in his head. Masim Majdalani suffered a broken arm and leg injuries.

The Lebanese cabinet decided Wednesday to ban all political demonstrations likely to disturb the peace but opposition leaders announced they would hold peaceful anti-government demonstrations today.

WORDS GROW

Speaking at the auto-producing city of Oshawa, Mr. Diefenbaker said if he becomes prime minister a special fall session of Parliament will reduce taxes, including the 10-per-cent excise tax on passenger cars. His party would remove it in whole or in part."

At Beausejour, Man., Mr. Coldwell said Canada has lost markets in many parts of the world because Liberal policy concentrates Canadian trade on the United States. This in effect prevented the United Kingdom and other countries from buying as much Canadian wheat and other agricultural products as otherwise.

The CCF would shift Canada's trade to the U.K. and other markets and work for orderly and planned trade among nations.

Elsewhere:

External Affairs Minister Pearson in a television broadcast derided Mr. Diefenbaker's charge that the Liberals are running "scared." He said: "We are not running scared; we are running strong."

In Montreal Health Minister Howe said "Canadian nationalism which expresses itself in anti-Americanism or in any other negative philosophy is not likely, in my view, to advance the true interests of Canada."

George Hees, former National Association president seeking re-election in Toronto Broadview, told a Stellarton, N.S., meeting senior civil servants in Ottawa "have never seen anything like the flip-flop the government has performed in its sudden courting of the Maritimes after so many years of disregard." This was because the Conservatives had won Nova Scotia and New Brunswick political elections.

At New Glasgow, N.S., Works Minister Winters said Nova Scotia need not fear another depression as long as a Liberal government in Ottawa continues to spread Canada's wealth. His party would ensure that all parts of the country benefited from Canada's prosperity.

Donald Fleming, Progressive Conservative candidate in the Toronto Eglinton, told a Pembroke audience Liberals who say his expulsion from the Commons last year was planned are resorting to the lowest depths of prevarication.

When Liberals said "my expulsion must have been arranged because a fag was dropped over my empty seat, then the Liberal candidate is resorting to blatant, base falsification of the truth," Mr. Fleming told about 300 persons at a rally in the collegiate auditorium.

At Annapolis Royal, N.S., Conservative George Nowlan, trying to retain Digby-Annapolis-Kings, said his party will make a direct payment to the provinces for education if elected. Despite schools the country now had "we just haven't the equipment to give our children the education they need."

Doctor Stresses Extreme Danger Of Radar Beams

Have Already Killed One And Injured Several Others

IT'S JOKE NOW

Brothers Alan and John Twigg take a dig at the Sunday baseball question in Vancouver which has become a serious subject since Vancouver Mounties entered the Pacific Coast Baseball League in 1956. The British Columbia government has not legalized Sunday sport but Mounties play on Sunday in Vancouver. They sell tickets on Saturday. The Twigg brothers dressed up like this for the annual West Vancouver's children's parade. (CP Photo).

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Radar beams can be extremely dangerous, warns a California surgeon who says they already have killed one man and injured others.

The first known case of death from radar is believed to have occurred in 1954 in the Los Angeles area, Dr. John McLaughlin reported in the current issue of the California Medical Association's monthly publication.

He says the victim stood in front of a radar transmitter for less than a minute. In 10 seconds he had a sensation of heat in the abdomen. In less than a minute the heat became so intense that he had to move away.

The man, a technician in a radar manufacturing plant, died within two weeks. There were no marks on the surface of his body, Dr. McLaughlin says, but "his insides were cooked. . . . There was a hole as big as a silver dollar burned in his small intestine."

The case is just now being reported for security reasons, Dr. McLaughlin adds.

He says microwaves emitted by radar transmitters cause instant and intolerable temperature increases in tissues. The rate of increases in tissues and cells. Tissue temperature even a few degrees above the normal body temperature, the shorter the time necessary to cause cellular death.

He says it must be treated with "the same respect as nuclear radiation."

All-Arab Firm To Build Oil Pipelines, Plan

NEW YORK (CP)—The New York Times reports that Saudi Arabia has proposed formation of an all-Arab company to build a vast network of oil pipelines in the Middle East.

The paper, in a Cairo dispatch, says the proposal is reported to have been made at a meeting in Cairo last week by the Arab League economic council. The proposed pipelines, to be built by a company which would run from the oilfields of the Middle East to docks on the Mediterranean, the Red Sea and the Persian Gulf.

The dispatch says the Saudi Arabian proposal is aimed at removing, through economic cooperation, "the Arab unity that had been disrupted because of bitter political differences."

White Men Acquitted of Charges Dynamiting Negro Baptist Church

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Despite a prosecutor's warning that further racial violence in Montgomery would be likely if they acquitted, a white male jury Thursday cleared two white men of charges of dynamiting a Negro church.

To the cheering approval of a packed courtroom, the jury came in after 35 minutes with a verdict of acquittal for Raymond Britt and Sonny Livingston.

An acquittal would give "the right" to bomb Negro churches and homes—and might lead to retaliation—the prosecutor had said. It would serve notice "that we are not going to yield another inch in fighting for our way of life," the defense had countered.

Postponed from scheduled trial now was a case against two other white men charged with participating in the bombing of four Negro churches during a series of two pre-integration ministers Jan. 10.

Britt, 27, and Livingston, 19, were tried only for the bombing of the Hutchinson St. Baptist Church. The charge carried from two to 10 years' imprisonment on conviction. James York, 52, and Henry Alexander, 27, face possible death sentences on a charge of dynamiting a Negro minister's home.

The bombings came a few hours after shots were fired for jury.

U. OF ILLINOIS STUDENTS RIOT, FIFTY ARRESTED

Police Officers Fire 150 Tear-Gas Bombs

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—More than 5,000 University of Illinois students staged a campus-wide riot that was quelled Thursday night after eight hours by more than 200 police officers who fired at least 150 volleys of tear-gas bombs.

At least two co-eds were injured and 50 students were arrested.

Students used waste baskets as water jugs in the jumbo water battle that apparently got its start as a friendly water-fight between two neighboring fraternity houses. As the fight progressed and more and more students appeared dressed in bathing suits.

The outbreak came on a campus off-day, because of the United States Memorial Day holiday. Final examinations began Wednesday and were to be resumed today. The university has some 25,000 students.

TROUBLE AHEAD

Some students will face more than final examinations.

Dr. Dodds Henry, university president, said "Everyone involved will be taken before the disciplinary committee." Henry said the University of Illinois investigation is being conducted and a full report will be made.

Henry said he appealed for order to break grew from a water fight between members of the Phi Gamma Delta and Alpha Delta Phi. Soon, students used some of the girls from the blood Lodge, a women's dormitory, as targets.

Henry said it began some time after 4 p.m. and "by about 7 p.m. there were more than 5,000 students." University police called for help and police from surrounding cities, the county and state police districts responded.

United Church May Restore Midweek Service

TORONTO (CP)—The mid-week service and the family altar may be restored to the United Church of Canada, Rev. A. Dawson Matheson, president of the Toronto conference and former dean of Emmanuel College, said Thursday.

Addressing the annual Toronto conference of the United Church, Mr. Matheson said many church members would like to see the return of the former practice.

Pearson Says British Trade Policy With Chinese Realistic

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—External Affairs Minister Pearson says he does not know now whether Canada will follow Britain's lead in relaxing restrictions on trade with Communist China. But he said Thursday night, Canada's policy will be based on what is felt to be best for Canadians.

Addressing 1,200 person at a Liberal campaign rally in support of Hugh A. McCormick, candidate in the London riding in the June 10 federal election, Mr. Pearson said he believes Britain has shown a "more realistic" attitude than the United States on the China trade question.

"I do not know right now what Canada's position will be but I can say that our view will be that which is best for ourselves."

His statement followed reports that Britain would put its export list for Red China on the same basis as Russia. Many items which have been embargoed for shipment to China may under the Western agreement be shipped to the Soviet Union.

A special committee of NATO countries has spent several weeks negotiating in Paris on working rules for trade with Red China. Britain advanced the view, opposed by the United States, that the products permitted for export to Russia should be the same for Red China. Britain has announced that it was illogical to draw a line between what constitutes strategic

China Trade Decision Puts Strain on British-U.S. Ties

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new strain on relations between the United States and Britain was foreseen today as a result of British decision to reduce controls on trade with Red China.

Over American objections, Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd announced in Parliament in London Thursday that henceforth "we shall adopt the same lists for China and for Russia." The net effect of this is to reduce Red China trade controls to the levels of those applied to Russia and her European satellites.

Officials here said the impact of the British action on relations with the U.S. will be determined largely by the degree of criticism unused in Congress. The British action came while a number of Congress were away for the Memorial Day holiday.

Senator William F. Knowland of California, the Senate Republican leader, has been outspoken against any trade with the Chinese Communists, contending that this would increase their warmaking capacity. He declined comment Thursday night on the British action.

Senator John Sparkman (Dem., Ala.), a member of the foreign relations committee, commented: "I think we have a very realistic. It's easy for us to resent trade with Red China, but our economy doesn't depend so much on it. The economies of other countries, notably the United States, are such I think we can be more realistic and that their trade needs are concerned."

Senator William Fulbright (Arkansas), a democratic member of the Senate foreign relations committee, has been critical of the Eisenhower administration foreign policy, calling the British action "a surrender of our rather sterile policy toward China, with the prospects of it leading anywhere."

The U.S. does not recognize the Communist Chinese government although Britain does. The U.S. also has no trade relations with the Red Chinese.

In its statement Thursday on the British action, the state department announced that the U.S. intends to hold firmly to its policy of "total embargo" on all American trade with Communist China. The statement also described the U.S. government as being "most disappointed" by the British action, which marked a heavy defeat for American diplomacy. The action was the result of our rather sterile policy toward China, with the prospects of it leading anywhere.

Expect Chinese Will Be Eager to Buy Machinery

PEIPING (Reuters) — Machinery, precision instruments, high-grade steel mining and refining equipment—these are the type of goods Communist China will probably want from Britain now that she is able to buy them.

Observers here think the main effect of the relaxed British embargo on trade, announced Thursday in London, will be felt in the nature of Chinese purchases.

The London trade ministry official was asked recently what China might buy if the embargo were relaxed. He would not go into detail, but in general suggested the items mentioned above.

China is having a difficult economic year of retrenchment with emphasis on developing home-grown industries and not going too fast with highly mechanized factories.

The present difficulties, following last year's natural calamities which affected lets the harvest, are causing a general economy campaign and a strict supervision on imports and all purchases.

Foreign businessmen who have been in Peiping recently say there are not a great many prospects this year. But they are making contacts they hope will be useful and profitable in the future, particularly with the second five-year plan starting in January.

Asia Turning To West for Aid in Problems

TORONTO (CP) — Theodore Jaeckel, missionary to Japan, told the Toronto conference of the United Church Thursday that Asia is turning to the West for help in solving its problems.

He told the group's 32rd annual convention Thursday night that if the West ignores Asia, it will turn to dictatorship in a belief that democracy and Christianity have nothing to offer.

Mr. Jaeckel said Asia is moving from the fatalistic acceptance of accepting suffering, and the Christian spirit of co-operation in bearing her burdens.

Dr. A. Dawson Matheson, president of the conference, told the meeting that Christians in this country are becoming alarmed at becoming denominationally conscious with a freer interchange of ideas among the different churches.

Dr. Matheson said that the church must not be content with division among Christians and though there is less understanding of the Christian faith, Christian doctrine, the situation is being corrected.

SEEK $100,000

TORONTO (CP)—The London House Association of Canada has launched a $100,000 fund-raising drive to pay for improvements of Lorden House, founded in 1938 as a residence for Commonwealth students on post-graduate studies in the British capital. Seven hundred Canadian students have stayed there in the last 25 years.

BEIRUT RIOTERS BATTLE PRO-WEST REGIME'S FORCES

Disturbances Occur Throughout Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Pro-Nasser violence has broken out in Beirut, claiming the lives of eight demonstrators and leaving some 70 others wounded in what more than 200 rioters arrested.

Opposition political leaders who called Thursday's demonstrations that led to clashes with police and troops urged their supporters to continue a general strike in Beirut. They demanded such protests from all the government falls and until the criminals who are government officials and employes get their just punishment."

Four hours of violence swept the Moslem quarter of Beirut. It ended only after Lebanese troops fired shots in tanks and armored cars.

(The Damascus Radio said clashes and demonstrations also occurred in the Lebanese cities of Tripoli, Sidon and Baalbek.)

ACTIONS SOON

Lebanon's parliamentary elections are scheduled to begin June 9 and are expected to provide a test of strength between this eastern Mediterranean country's pro-Western and pro-Egyptian factions. More than 200 candidates are seeking 44 parliamentary seats.

Thursday's violence, the first in the pre - election manoeuvring, broke out when troops and police sought to halt a demonstration by a strike called by the opposition National Front Party to protest the government ban on such gatherings.

The demonstrators were called out by Premier Rashid Solh's government refused demands that he resign and let a neutral government conduct the elections. The opposition has attacked Solh's government as a pro-Western stand and demanded that Lebanon align its policies with the pro-United stand of Egypt and Syria.

301 Moslem Men Massacred By Algerian Rebels

Corpses Piled in Streets Many With Throats Cut

ALGIERS (Reuters) — Algerian insurgents massacred 301 Moslem males over the age of 15 in a raid on La Casbah, a tiny village in rugged mountains near Setif, according to reports reaching here today.

First news of the slaughter came when an elevation plane reported fires blazing in the village in almost inaccessible mountains in Algeria.

Troops making their way through the difficult mountains were met by the stench of death as they approached La Casbah, a village of 1,000 inhabitants.

BODIES PILED IN STREETS

They found corpses piled in the streets, and women hysterical with fear. The dead had been shot and had their throats cut. The bodies of 15 men killed by machine-gun fire were found alone in one house, the report said.

French authorities said they did not know the reason for the massacre, but speculated that it was another bloody chapter in the rivalry between the two big Algerian nationalist groups, the Algerian National Movement and the National Liberation Front.

The village lies on a road into the mountain route the rebels use in moving from the Constantine area to the Algiers area. There was speculation that the attack might have felt the Algerians were betraying their movements.

The biggest previous all-Moslem massacre occurred in the summer of 1955 in the Soummam Valley east of Algiers. About 200 villagers were slaughtered then by fellow Algerians for declaring loyalty to France.

Charge Man Bit Piece off Ear Of Irate Husband

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Samuel Randall, 32, was charged with an assault and battery here Thursday for allegedly biting off a piece of his estranged wife's ear in a fight aboard a train.

The dentist, Dr. Max Garson, 43, told police Randall kept touching Mrs. Garson's hair as he rode behind them on the train. The dentist said he finally started swinging at Randall when the man ignored a number of requests to stop bothering Mrs. Garson.

Garson's ear was bitten during the struggle, he said, and he said he didn't even realize he had lost a piece of it until it was handed to him by a fellow passenger.

Woman Rescued After 19 Days In Crashed Plane on Mountainside

RAWLINS, Wyo. (AP) — "It's certainly a blessing I'm alive."

Those were the first words Mrs. Dalton LeMasurier spoke to rescuers who found her beside the body of her husband Thursday on a snow-shrouded mountainside.

The 45-year-old Dundas, Minn., woman survived her ordeal of 19 days—more than a week longer than searchers sought the weekend age of the couple's plane.

Mrs. LeMasurier ate bark, three small pieces of chocolate candy and a bottle of vitamin pills, and slept three nights outside of the burned-out wreckage and shrubs to protect herself from the storms.

She shouted with joy when she spotted the seven-man party. She and LeMasurier, 48, who was suffering from shock, frostbite, sunburn, exposure and malnutrition. Said Dr. Howard D. Paul, county coroner:

"I thought it was an echo from one of the fellows. Then we saw two figures—one wearing her husband's pants and jacket but no shoes—and calling for help.

"We were amazed. Not once did anyone think, even for a moment, that one of them would be alive."

The couple's light plane, headed back to Duluth from Pasadena, Calif., smashed into a 9,500-foot Ferris Mountain east of here May 11 during heavy overcast.

The gasoline tank exploded and burned for an hour. Then a rainstorm put out the fire.

Here is Mrs. LeMasurier's story of the crash and what followed:

"We were flying at about 8,000 feet when there was a strange noise and my husband said: 'We're going to crash.'

"As soon as we could get free of the wreckage we began to run because the gas tank was on fire. It exploded and blew out clothing except for a bloodburst finally put out the fire. We crawled into the fuselage of the plane and stayed there for the first three nights.

"After that we wandered about 400 yards down the mountain onto a level area. The drifts of snow were about four feet deep and it kept snowing and raining."

LeMasurier, 48, who was president of Duluth radio station KDAL, was unconscious and delirious during the crash. His wife first told rescuers he died four days after the crash. Later that he died seven days ago.

A $2,500 reward offered by the Duluth station for information leading to discovery of the plane will go to Jack Putnam, foreman of the Buzzard Ranch from which Ferris Mountain rises.

Using a pair of binoculars, Putnam spotted the wreckage glistening in the early - morning sun Thursday and immediately notified the sheriff's office.

Bill Luke, secretary of the Sudbury, Ont., chamber of commerce, holds Hector, the bulldog whose talent is getting him a job in the United States. When Francis, H. L. Wheeler of Port Seneca, N.Y., appealed to the Canadian Chamber of Commerce for a deep-croaking bullfrog for her ilfy pond, the request was passed to Luke. Hector was taken from his home on a Georgian Bay island and after an audition was picked for the job. All he needs now to go to work is the permission of U.S. authorities. (CP Photo).

Multi-Million Dollar Faraday Uranium Mill

Above is a winter scene of the multi-million dollar mill at the Faraday Uranium Mines Ltd., five miles west of Bancroft, which was officially opened Thursday by Ontario Premier Leslie Frost. This large processing plant—simply called a "mill" in mining parlance, already is processing uranium ore at the rate of 1,000 tons per day and will shortly handle 1,500 tons when ore from nearby Greyhawk Uranium Mines commences to be processed. Faraday has a contract to sell the Canadian government nearly $30,000,000 worth of uranium concentrates and during the past year has spent approximately $8,000,000 in preparing the mine for production. —Ken Wyatt Photo—Peterborough.

Bancroft Has High Ratio of School Children

Densely populated urban sections in the older parts of Ontario have their own problems in affording educational facilities for a growing younger generation, but they are nothing compared with the trend in the uranium - producing Bancroft district.

With a listed population of 2,100 persons this fast growing village in North Hastings has a public school population well over five hundred pupils.

Public school inspector for North Hastings, Mr. J. H. Bates of Bancroft notes that new problems with respect to school accommodation are cropping up every day and that is difficult to keep up with them.

He feels that the ratio of public school pupils in Bancroft compared to total population is possibly one of the highest in the province. It is two or three times higher at Bancroft than in his former inspectorate in Western Ontario.

Uranium mines in the district going into production have resulted in a tremendous demand for public school accommodation in the past two or three years.

For instance at Bi-Croft Mines in Cardiff township where three years ago there was but a one-roomed school there is now a school with eight classrooms.

But a few big families in Bancroft village are contributing to the high ratio of children of public school age.

Banner Day for Bancroft As Premier Frost Officiates At Faraday Mine Opening

BANCROFT (Staff) — It was a big day Thursday for this bustling Ontario Hastings village of 2,500 persons, and also for Prospector Arthur H. Shore whose "backyard" prospecting has turned into a $15 million mining project.

Yesterday marked the official opening of Faraday Uranium Mines Ltd., just five miles west of Bancroft where, back in 1949, the property was prospected by Mr. Shore.

The mine was officially opened by Ontario Premier Leslie Frost who said it was his earnest hope that Bancroft uranium would never be used for the destruction of mankind but would be used for the betterment of living standards of the human race.

PRAISES PROSPECTOR

Approximately 300 persons, many of them mining industry, and brokerage officials, together with government and municipal representatives, were on hand for the official opening which saw Mines President Bryan W. Newkirk pay tribute to the Bancroft prospector who made the Faraday mine possible.

"Mr. Shore is the man to whom full credit be given for the original prospecting and development of the Faraday Uranium Mines on a site lear than five miles from his home," he said.

Mr. Newkirk reviewed the early development and financial backing for the mining company noting that its development and financing "were "entirely Canadian."

$30,000,000 CONTRACT

He noted that Faraday had a contract with the federal government for sales close to $30 million worth of uranium.

The mine would rather broadly, that when the current government contract was filled "there would still be uranium ore for further production."

Introduced for the official opening included Ashton W. Johnston, mines vice president; D. R. Williamson, manager, H. Helm construction superintendent, Ontario Minister of Mines Hon. Phillip T. Kelly; L. S. Mackeray, Imperial Bank of Canada, and J. T. Dyer, chairman of the American Stock Exchange.

Among those on the speakers' platform were Bancroft Reeve, John Brown, Faraday township reeve John Hogan, George E. White, M.P. for Hastings Frontenac, Elmer Sandercock, M.L.A. for Hastings West, and Prospector Arthur Shore, founder of the mine and still a member of the mines directorate.

HEAVY INVESTMENT

Premier Frost referred to the tremendous development in the Bancroft district which within the past two or three years has seen close to $40,000,000 invested in uranium mining in three townships.

This and other developments being repeated all across the province would result 20 years from now in three times the demand for power, with waterpower only able to develop one third of the demand.

Oil, gas and even the hills of Hastings, through uranium production, would contribute to the vast requirement of power.

MILL 1,000 TONS DAILY

Little more than three years ago the site of Faraday Mines, Ltd., along the shore of Gunning Bow Lake, was as nature made it. Today there is an investment of nearly $15 millions in mine property with its modern mill processing approximately 1,000 tons of uranium ore daily.

Within the next two months the mill at Faraday will commence processing ore from the nearby Greyhawk Uranium Mines in quantities of up to 500 tons daily.

In addition to the mine and mill property there are 11 houses and two bunkhouses for key personnel at the mine and 40 bungalows at Faraday Heights, a company sub-division at Bancroft.

EMPLOYEES NUMBER 300

Operating personnel at the mine is about 180. Three underground shifts require approximately 80 hard rock miners for each shift.

Faraday Uranium Mines had its start just eight years ago when prospector Arthur Shore confirmed the presence of uranium at the present mine site. He went to work with the pick and shovel, staking claims and formed a company.

Initial finances for the company were modest, raised by Mr. Shore mainly from people resident in the general area of the discovery.

Two years of additional trenching, test-pitting and survey work were carried out until in 1952 the late Bryan W. Newkirk, Jr., son of today's mines president, became interested in the possible merits of the property and the first full scale development program was started.

DRILLING STARTED IN 1953

Diamond drilling commenced in 1953 and in 1954 engineering plans were completed for systematic diamond drilling which confirmed the presence of ore body.

Early in 1956 a contract for the supply of $30 million worth of uranium concentrates was signed with the Crown company Eldorado Mining and Refining Ltd.

The huge crusher and mill buildings were rushed to completion and on April 9th of this year the mill commenced operation. First shipment of uranium precipitates was made May 1st.

End product of the mine is a yellow distillate product which is shipped in 500-pound steel drums.

And thus the dream of Arthur Shore, Bancroft prospector who made the first strike, has been realized.

YELLOW RAIN FALLS

SINGAPORE (Reuters) — Mysterious "yellow rain" is falling in a Singapore suburb. Some residents said they believe the rain, which falls in yellow-speckled droplets, is the result of radioactive fallout from Britain's Christmas Island hydrogen bomb test. It has stained people's clothes and the rooftops of cars.

Trent River Gives up Body Of Chas. Niles

The Trent River above Glen Miller paper company's dam yesterday afternoon gave up body of 40-year-old Charles Niles, Belleville, who slipped from the bank at the dam into a boiling whirlpool on May 23.

Two employees of the company, Louis Patrick, spotted the body almost in mid-stream and called fellow workers Donald Paul and Roy Morey.

The youth current carried the body over the spillway of the mill dam.

The three men launched a boat below the dam and recovered the body.

They called the Trenton Police Department which, in turn notified the Belleville O.P.P. Sgt. J. Lewis was on his way to the scene of the drowning and, upon his arrival, took charge of the body until Coroner Dr. John W. Farley, Trenton, arrived.

Mr. Niles was taken to the John R. Bush Funeral Home in Belleville.

Since Mr. Niles slipped to his death a week ago, while fishing on the east side of the river at the third dam, O.P.P. from Belleville and many volunteers dragged the river from below the dam for the company's dam.

Local river men, with many years of experience, told police Mr. Niles would not be found in the water between the dam and the mill dam.

Wentworth Miller, general manager of the plant, refused repeatedly to remove some of the logs from the mill dam, because, he felt the cost of doing so would be too great and the body would not be found above the dam.

On Wednesday afternoon Constable Roy Miller of the Trenton police force and president of the Underwater Club of Trenton, dived at No. 3 dam in effort to find the victim but he was forced to surface because of the cold water and poor visibility. He had planned to dive again late yesterday, this time using a powerful spotlight, to probe the many holes on the river bottom. Mr. Niles was from Glen Miller near Trenton.

Mr. Niles leaves his wife, the former Margaret Anne Stevens, and two children, Linda, Donald and Richard.

Crown Attorney John A. Pringle said there will be no inquest.

Northern Woods Are Bright With Trilliums

Nature lovers in the Belleville district have almost forgotten about the annual trek to the woods to enjoy spring flowers, but the northern woods are now just at their best.

The roadside hardwoods along Highway 62 in the Bancroft area are now matted with trilliums which in a very few days will be past their best. Seventy-five miles further north and the considerably higher altitude makes for the nearly month different in the flowering time between the Belleville area and the Bancroft district.

TO CIRCULATE PETITION

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — A petition asking for a plebiscite on whether the city of 40,000 is to have liquor served in licensed bars and dining lounges will be circulated before the end of June. Twenty-five per cent of the city's 21,503 voters must sign the petition to enforce the demand for a vote. Nearby Niagara Falls recently voted for bars and lounges.

Industrials led the rise with an index gain of 1¼ points to a 1957 high. Base metals gained a point while western oils added a few decimal points to their index.

Industrial gains ranged to 1½ points, led by Algoma Steel and Dominion Stores, each of which touched all-time highs. Union Gas and Toronto Iron Works A were each up a point while all other changes were fractional.

International Nickel was a ¾-point winner at 106¾ among senior base metals, Gunnar was up ¼ at 19½ among uraniums, Preston East Dome gained 20 cents at $7.70 in lower-priced mines.

Canadian Homestead was ahead 15 cents to $2.25 in western oils.

Must Pay Costs Share

KITCHENER (CP)—A decision handed down Thursday by County Judge D. S. Charlton ruled the Grand River Railway must pay the city $4,875 as its share of local improvement costs.

The judge ruled the railway assessable for paving work at three local intersections through which rights-of-way pass.

The decision reversed one by the court of revision which ruled the railway does not come within provisions of the Local Improvement Act.

It is expected the test-case decision will be appealed by the railway to a higher court.

Judge Charlton's ruling opposes the precedent set in five Ontario county cases to date.

Most Ontario cities assess railroads under the Local Improvement Act.

Soroptimists Enjoy Gala Birthday Dinner

Soroptimist International, of Belleville, celebrated ten years of activity at a gala birthday dinner at Dawson's Motel, on the Queen's Highway, where the atmosphere was conducive to a real festive spirit.

President Miss Helen Symons, Mrs. A. Mazer and Miss Gladys MacDonald, delegates, entertained the members and guests to highlights of the Regional Conference of the American Federation of Soroptimists, which they attended at Barrie on May 10, 11 and 12.

Miss Mary Lloyd of Madoc, charter president of the Belleville club, was a guest at the birthday party.

GRATIFYING REPORT

President Helen Symons submitted a gratifying report on the 1956-57 achievements as follows:

October—A $25 scholarship was awarded to a student judged most worthy to receive it, from the Commercial Department of the Belleville Collegiate and Vocational School.

November— Fashion Fantasy was presented at the Belleville Collegiate auditorium. From a publicity and entertainment point of view this proved to be successful as well as financially worthwhile.

December — Christmas cards for 99 ladies in the County Home for the Aged were addressed and mailed. A gift of $5 was enclosed in a Christmas card and delivered to ten deserving older citizens of the city. A guest book, signed by each member of the club, was sent as a gift to the sister club in Bath, England.

April—Hearing aids were presented to two students of the Ontario School for the Deaf. Baskets filled with candy were distributed to 100 ladies at the County Home for the Aged at Easter gifts. A contribution of $36 was paid to the Fellowship fund.

Through the efforts of Mrs. Georgia Smith, a past president, clubs were organized in Brockville and Kingston, and on May 25 several members from Belleville attended the charter dinner of the Kingston club at the LaSalle Hotel.

Congratulations and best wishes go to the Soroptimist International of Belleville for their achievements and service of the past ten years.

Fire Causes Heavy Damage To Shipyard

VANCOUVER (CP) — Fire burned through a west end Vancouver shipyard Thursday night, causing damage estimated at $750,000.

Five vessels being built at the A. C. Benson shipyard were destroyed. Two were tugs; another was a gillnetter.

A fireboat sprayed water on the Burrard Boat Works and the Queen Charlotte Cannery, two adjacent buildings, helping to save them.

Damage to the shipyard was estimated at about $550,000 by Herman Benson, nephew of the owner.

The loss in ships was estimated unofficially at $200,000.

Robin Babies Lead Hot Life

NORANDA, Que. (CP) — Four baby robins were hatched today in what is probably the hottest, noisiest, smokiest robin's nest in the world.

The mud nest was built two weeks ago on the suspension tracks of the Wahi Iron Works Foundry. About every 90 seconds a couldron of white-hot molten iron trundles underneath radiating intense heat and belching gusts of gas and smoke.

The quadruplets are reported doing well but their parents now face the task of finding enough worms for their brood in the fiery environment.

Radio Picture Of Babe to Dad In Antarctic

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)8 — A United States Marine Corps major in the frozen Antarctic has a picture of his newborn daughter by wire and radio from Buffalo Thursday.

Mrs. Rhoda Antos gave birth to the girl in Buffalo Wednesday. A Buffalo Courier-Express photographer took the picture of mother and daughter within three hours.

The Associated Press wirephoto network carried the photo to Syracuse, where it was sent to the home of Paul Blum, a Syracuse radio antiliteur. From there, it was transmitted by radio 8,467 miles to the U.S. Navy base at McMurdo Sound, Antarctica.

With the picture was a caption reading, "Baby Blum Arrives — Excellent."

Blum is chairman of the Operation Deep Freeze Committee of the Radio Amateurs of Greater Syracuse, which transmits a message newspaper to the men at McMurdo twice a week by radio.

Spy Posers Fail to Return From Hungary

EISENSTADT, Austria (AP)— Two 20-year-old American college students, reported acting as spies for excitement, crossed into Red Hungary Sunday and have not returned.

An Austrian border patrolman said he saw Hungarian soldiers escort two persons from the frontier barbed wire barrier at Margarethen Sunday night.

The missing Americans were identified as Mike Gilbert and Warren Hair, students at the University of South Carolina. They had been on a hitch-hiking tour of Western Europe.

An Australian girl acquaintance said the two boys took along a camera, political publications and other gifts for the Hungarians to make the Hungarian Communist authorities think they were American spies.

1,400 Laid off In Windsor Chrysler Plant

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — About 1,400 employees of Chrysler Corp. of Canada have been laid off as the company's plants here since the company announced a cutback in automobile production two weeks ago.

The company formerly employed about 9,000 here.

Production was suspended two days last week while schedules for the reduced working force were arranged. The layoff became effective May 23.

A union statement following the company's announcement termed the cutback "a case of complete irresponsibility on the part of a company which suddenly lays off hundreds of workers but does not propose any remedy whatsoever."

The union statement was signed by George Burt, Canadian director of the United Automobile Workers (CLC), and Charles Brooks, president of Local 444, UAW.

A spokesman for Ford of Canada, which employs about 8,000 at its plant here, said his company does not contemplate any similar layoffs.

CORNWALL (CP) — Mrs. Shirley Lajoie, 24, died in hospital Thursday night of burns suffered in an apartment house fire Wednesday.

Mrs. Lajoie did not regain consciousness after being rescued by fireman James Dunlop from the basement apartment.

Hospital officials said Mrs. Lajoie's son, Glenn, 2½, and her sister, Merle MacDougall, 15, are in improved condition. Both were severely burned in the fire which burned out the interior of two apartments.

Mother Talks To Daughter Dead 2 Months

NEW YORK (AP)—A 65-year-old woman was found Thursday night sitting at the bedside of her long-dead 39-year-old daughter. Police said the mother was talking to the body.

Authorities were summoned to the run-down home of the mother, Mrs. Wilhelmina Koehler, by an unidentified grocer who had been trying to collect a food bill. The grocer said he was not allowed inside but became suspicious of an odor coming from the dwelling.

Found dead in right clothes was the body of Mrs. Lillian Elliot. Authorities estimated she had been dead for two months.

Rains Delay Work on Farms

TORONTO (CP) — Farmers throughout Ontario registered the same complaint last week: Wet weather delayed work on farms, the weekly report of the Ontario department of agriculture says.

However in some cases, as in Wellington County in Western Ontario, farmers agreed the rainfall supplied an adequate amount of moisture for crops already sown.

Farmers in Carleton County in Eastern Ontario say rainfall is still several inches short of normal.

In Grenville, Leeds and Renfrew Counties fronts damaged strawberry and apple crops and in some orchards spoiled as much as 90 per cent of fruit blooms.

Southpaw Parent Makes Children Slow to Learn

TORONTO (CP)—Having a left-handed parent can cause a child to be slow in school, Dr. William Hawke of Toronto's Hospital for Sick Children said Thursday.

Speaking to a group of Ontario Medical Association delegates, Dr. Hawke said a prolonged study of "slow" children almost invariably revealed a heredity of left-handedness although not left-handed themselves.

"For some reason these children were afflicted with communications," he said. "They can't seem to read or spell or write as quickly as their schoolmates.

"Teachers are sometimes prone to try to rush them, or ignore them, and the child grows up with the feeling of being 'different' or inferior."

The problem usually solved itself if it was understood and additional tuition provided.

There is usually nothing wrong with the child but the pattern of left-handed heredity is there and should be recognized, he said. There is no known medical reason why the child should be affected.

A REPREHENSIBLE PRACTICE

During a recent election, many signs were attached to hydro poles in Belleville. The Public Utilities Commission took action, warning the parties responsible about this practice. The Commission's action was not based on any by-law, but on the reasonable contention that the commission owned the poles and that nobody had any more right to attach signs to these poles without its consent than they would have the right to nail these signs on the front door of a house. Nails used to attach signs to poles can result in a serious accident, if a lineman's spurs strike one and slip. The Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission has a by-law prohibiting attaching posters to its poles or other property.

This election Hydro poles in the city are free of posters. Instead these posters have been nailed on trees.

This is a flagrant example of an effort to observe the letter of the law while ignoring its spirit.

The City of Belleville has several by-laws dealing with the posting of signs, but while these by-laws mention poles the word "trees" is nowhere to be discovered in them.

Apparently the city fathers, through the years, never thought that anybody would nail a sign to a tree.

This state of mind may surprise those persons responsible for nailing election posters to trees, but it is easily understandable by the people who love trees.

A tree is a living thing. Many people would no more think of driving a nail into a tree than they would of kicking a dog. Because this is so natural it may be that a nail will do a tree no harm whatever. This does not alter the fact that many people will be outraged by actions which turn beautiful trees into ugly billboards.

As a matter of fact it is debatable whether those responsible for nailing election posters to trees were as successful as they apparently would have been in observing the letter of the law. While no by-law specifically states that no poster shall be nailed on a tree, a by-law passed on May 27, 1927, states that "no person or persons or body corporate shall upon any of the highways within the Corporation of the City of Belleville erect signs, signboards, posters, paintings, notices or expose any advertising device of any kind whatsoever" without the consent of the City Council. The next sentence makes one exception. The prohibition does not apply to signs affixed to buildings abutting on the highways. But a tree is not a building. So, in this by-law, the failure to comprehend that anybody would ever consider nailing a poster to a tree does not bring that act within the law.

Both the Liberals and Progressive-Conservatives have been guilty of nailing signs to trees.

ROADS FOR SUNDAY DRIVERS

The Port Arthur News-Chronicle has a new solution for the problem of weekend congestion on the province's highways.

Instead of building more super-highways, the Port Arthur paper suggests, consideration should be given to the construction of highways for the "Sunday driver," for the family man who is not going anyplace in particular, but merely wants to take his wife and children out for a pleasant weekend drive. He is the forgotten motorist of today, says the News-Chronicle, as he superhighway, with its four lanes and not for him. If he drives slowly enough to see the country sights, he is hooted at by motorists trying to get from once place to another in a hurry, or warned by traffic policemen to speed up.

"The pleasure driving highway would not need to be built at great cost," argues the News-Chronicle. "A good gravel surface would suit the Sunday driver."

It is that latter sentence which raises doubts about this scheme. Would "Sunday drivers" be content with gravel roads — and dust? True, there was a period not so many years ago when most Sunday driving, or weekday driving for that matter, was done on gravel roads, because they were all there was. But that period has changed. We have either been spoiled by smooth pavements, or else something has happened to the country's gravel.

Were gravel roads really as dirty, a few decades ago, as they are today? Is it just fond memory that paints a picture of motoring through the countryside without eating dust? There are already innumerable gravel roads in this section of the province which could accommodate the Sunday driver, and which would be used by many more such motorists were it not for the fact that such a drive always returns the family to home in a bad temper, with mouths full of grit and clothes full of grime, and a father, he takes one look at the car and knows what he will be doing Monday evening.

COUNSEL

Once to me my father said
"Always do the best you can.
But don't get it in your head
You were cast for a superman.
Here's a truth to keep in mind
Whatever task you face:
There is someone just behind
Who will some day take your place.

"You be faithful to your trust,
Learn the business though and study,
But if your employer must
He can say goodbye to you.
Don't think you know it all,
For long after you are gone—

Be the business great or small—
It will still be going on.

"Use your head for what you do
Work that's good will take you far.
It will win respect for you,
But don't boast how good you are.

Earn the wish that you would stay,
But to claim it would be wrong.
For if you should go away,
You would not be missed for long."

Deacon, the recording steward of Bridge Street church. The three tablets are memorials to A. G. Northrup, R. J. Graham and T. V. Sharpe. The pastor of the church, the Rev. Dr. James Semple, conducted the service and referred to the great service these men had rendered the church. Short addresses were also made by Mr. J. W. Cook, Mr. H. W. Ackerman and Judge C. A. Ponton, the tablets which have been reconditioned have been placed on the east wall of the church to the left of the entrance. (Note 1957) John Street Church was destroyed by fire and not rebuilt.

Belleville's tax rate for the year 1927 will be slightly higher than last year. It was struck by the council last night at 41 9-10 mills which is the highest rate in the city's history. The rate struck last night exceeded for by the overdraft of $8,842.52 from last year and resulting from unexpected expenditures in the various departments, including the one mill of the increase and the other mill is absorbed in larger school expenditures and interest payments on a larger debenture debt. Much of the expenditure this year is not within the control of the council, the general tax having been fixed at 13 mills. The public school rate is 9 7-10 mills and the high school calls for 4 mills more. Next year the tax rate will be higher. The new collegiate and vocational school will mean a big jump and there are several other things like the bay bridge which will add to the load of the taxpayer.

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

A WORD TO YOUTH

Yesterday we took the parents to task for the way they sometimes conduct themselves before their children. Today let us ask ourselves to what extent the children themselves are responsible for the trouble and failure which sometimes overtakes them.

You might as well face the fact, young folks, that you live in a world which is not perfect nor quality is concerned. You are not responsible for the fact that this age exists, but you are responsible for the fact that it per-sists. We do not have to be specific, for you know what goes on today and you know what it leads to. You know that there are dating customs which are outrageous. Purity of life cannot long survive such customs. What we should like to pass along to you is the information that those who people have lost purity of life, they have not yet taken a step downward—they have gone over on a precipice. This is much more serious than you perhaps have imagined. You understand it in later years, even though you do not understand it now. Values may be destroyed which you may never be regained.

While the parents are much to blame for bad conditions today, you young people are, too. When you get a chance, instead of accusing mood, hunt for a mirror. Present-day moral conditions may not be blamed on any one group, but youth must bear its share of the blame along with maturity.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

TO BE MISUNDERSTOOD

Not very many of us are truly understood. A few become very dear to us, acquainted with our faults and good points, but never thinking the best of us, being kind and considerate regardless. These are the little tonics that keep the sun shining in our lives, no matter what the weather.

Of course we are misunderstood at times. How can we expect others to understand us when we understand so little about ourselves? We all welcome appreciation and sympathy, however. Even the great react to these and would grow lonely without them. The bigger the person, the more does he keep his human traits, understanding them far and near.

Most great men and women have been misunderstood, ever since history began. Emerson has said that "to be great is to be misunderstood." People with big hearts are usually lonely in addition. It's because they are always giving so much of themselves away to others.

Many times in my library are silent friends that don't ask questions that I can't answer. They live with me because I understand them, and were it not for them many of them still alive they would still be with me. Books are wonderful to be a friend in a book. Seven of the best many of them are immortal! Many of my books, I am sure, almost beg of me to whisper a little love into them.—And so I do! The world exists as but we may make love popular, yet genuine.

If we understood everyone, as well as ourselves, we wouldn't have the fun of searching out books and people that interest us on! I couldn't happily live without new books coming to call upon me unexpectedly. And so I keep them near when they do call.

When Toast Is Not Toast

Ottawa Journal

This is an editorial about toast.

It would seem right to asume that there is nothing to be said about toast, that toast is toast and that's all there is to it. But it is our proposition that toast may have been toast in the good old days but it rarely is today.

The commonest variety of toast is served today in hotels and restaurants is a limp sodden wash-rag affair which was not long ago plain bread but has been placed near heat of some kind and had the skin taken off it so that butter or imitation butter will melt on its surface and ooze to a sickening sludge. It is no sense of the word toast, it bears no lovely crisp surface, it is a dirty yellow color except for the small greasy globules of second grade butter that have been painted on by a bush and is a blob of beyond sight.

Another variety is the stale-bread - toasted - last - night - to - save - time - this-morning. It may have been laid in a warming oven for a short spell before serving but that has served only to take all remaining flavor from it and make it a tough, leathery piece of hard breakable plastic. It serves only to carry marmalade and indeed in some cases may no doubt be washed with the dishes and reappear day.

Offshoots of these basic kinds of "toast" are the many slightly bits of bread that have had the crust taken off and therefore have lost toast's purest claim to distinction: the great honey - one-inch-thick - all-day dining car versions which frequently have been lighted in one corner by a gentle flame but whose thick innards are about as digestible as a school scribbler. There are still other variations of a theme now all but forgotten, including the slices of bread which has been sliced so thin that it will bend so far without without cracking into holes, and in this manner one sometimes gets accustomed to the fact that crusts taken off but toast with nothing left to show for the encircling ring of crust.

The benefit of those who didn't live in the good old days who have never seen a cow and who think bridge is something you walk over and a canoe a stage property for Rose Marie we recall that toast is a slice of bread browned on each side sufficiently to add interest, flavor and appetizing complexion; it gives off a harmonious smell; it is piping hot and butter basks upon its surface so that even the best margarine has a added glory and not a necessary recipe. There used to be two schools of thought in toast: some liked it buttered and some liked it butter it themselves; but both had this in common, it was toast that was treated to adorn, not some revolting imposter prepared unlovingly by someone in a hurry to get to lunch.

That is the end of this editorial about toast.

This No Way To Keep Fit

Dallas Morning News

A White House press secretary and President Eisenhower how have conferred with the Vice President about inaugurating a goodwill tour to Europe riding by the youth of the country. It is argued that this will keep them physically fit.

Research should go at once into the possibilities of railroad-iron bumpers and explosion-ejection seats with parachutes for bike riders in heavy traffic. A physically fit American youth minus a million or so teeth, limbs and square footage of epidermis can't be satisfactorily compensated by congressional appropriation.

Middle Class Mediocrity

Sudbury Daily Star

A man described as one of the leading industrial economists in the United States, Clark Kerr, of the University of California, says within 34 years "nearly everyone will be 'middle class'." Gone will be most of the millionaires and "upper crusts" of society in the opinion of this U.S. professor. For how else could "nearly everyone" be "middle class" in the social structure?

There will be shorter work weeks and more vacation time by 1975 for Americans. But Prof. Kerr doubts that there will be shorter work days because of the commuting time to the worker and the cost of stopping and starting work to the employer.

It looks as if the old "I Won't Work" slogan of the Industrial Workers of the World is to be supplanted by "I Don't Work." But the professor could be right about a "middle class" society.

Mass production education is stamping children in the same mediocre mould. The ob-so busy child psychologists are trying to establish a standard behavior pattern for all babies. The unions are trying to level off all workers at the same level in both economics and politics. The day is coming when the genius will not be permitted by his union to work overtime or step outside of his narrow classification in the working world. There will be no Edisons unless he is a member of the electrical union, and no inventor of a new-type atom-powered motor unless he is a member of the mechanics' union.

Some may think the professor is "preaching" in his remarks. But give it a thought! Is he? Mediocrity is performance by rule and geared to a time clock are becoming commonplace.

Springtime Escape Route

By Maurice Seltzer in the Wall Street Journal

Along with the robins, flowers and sunshine, spring also has a dark side, one of the main features of which is spring cleaning. This 'is the time of year when wives drag the husband's unwilling carcass from underneath the automotive contraption and discover that it's a 50-50 proposition. So they divide up the chores, letting the wall washing, painting and furniture moving to thier husbands.

If you are of that vast group of males that regard the jolly fun of spring cleaning should consist of washing off your golf clubs and fishing equipment here are a few formulas that might enable you to escape the worst of the varnishing American.

When the wife brings up the subject try to ignore it. With luck you may be able to get by for a few days with this method, but if she pins you down try flattery. Tell her that she is much too clever to be able to get by with such a transparent device as spring cleaning. Tell her that you belong to the annual spring wash back group and work of this type could quite possibly result in your falling off the ladder, spraining her back or contracting paint-er's colic.

If this manoeuvre fails fall off the floor and start the start of operations. Of course this is risky but you've got to bear in mind that it would mean a lifetime of exemption.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

Let's All Take A Breather

Every one who breathes is endowed with a physiological mechanism that serves as a booster pump to aid the circulation. A good many persons who could use the pump to advantage, do not because they don't know how.

The booster pump is not something I dreamed up, in order to understand how it works, you must have a working knowledge of physiology. It is pretty complicated. So difficult to explain that, since I first commanded belly breathing as a daily technique good for everybody's health, I have avoided many pipefuls over the problem, but I have not yet hit upon a way to make it clear to casual readers in the limited space of a piece this size.

But even if you have no more knowledge of physiology than a high school or college graduate has, take my word for it and try to master the technique of belly breathing—belly means front wall of the abdomen and abdomen means the lower body cavity. You'll realize in due time that one gains many advantages by using his own or her booster pump.

From observations made since the idea popped into my head, believe that a few inflations of the belly (bellows) in the emergency may in some instances prevent an impending anginal attack. Also it will benefit reader who is subject to angina pectoris set me back on my heels by asking how in tarnation could a man take a breath when he's caught in a vise. Can't argue about that, but may I remind you that I recommended the remedy to prevent the attack?

I still say it can do no harm, may bring astonishingly quick relief, to try a few belly (bellows) inflations next time you have any ache, pain, pressure, tension, or other distress in your midst.

Where we fall down with regard to Russian propaganda is in being too polite and gentlemanly. We appear to have on our side, at the present time, and statesmen who are masters of the art, none other.

A perfect example is the international furore over the setting off of nuclear test explosions. A few weeks ago, Russia set off a series of tests in Siberia. It was then well be that Japan protested without any suggestions from Russia. But all we have to do is look at the record of Russian tactics over the past twenty years to have no doubt that, immediately after she had completed her own explosions, she was knowing that Britain and the United States were about to conduct theirs, she would have begun so much to prevent the tests by Britain and the U.S., as to create a world-wide propaganda, with her in pious leadership, having just completed her own tests. She reminds me of the fat boy under the apple tree, having filled his pockets, calling up to his chums in the tree not to shake any more down "We really shouldn't steal apples!" cries the fat boy, piously from his perch.

When Russia, still smoky from her recent five explosions of bombs, stands up and rises into the forefront of the protests against nuclear tests, in Britain and elsewhere begun to appear on newsreels and TV, and our dignified representative on the latter TV, with this lips entirely incapable of a frown delivers himself gravely to discuss the situation in all its aspects save the important one to wit, is perfect manifestation of Russia's fat boy mentality.

Russia's propaganda techniques are those of the downtown district west of Bloor. Most of her moves actually have been ward heelers. Maybe our trouble is that none of our statesmen ever served apprenticeship as ward heelers.

Maybe it's quite know how to handle goons.

Vegetables Have a Past

Cornwall Standard-Freeholder

Vegetables are probably more important now than at any other time in history. At least their place in the diet is stressed more and more, instead of the former absolute monarchy of meat on the dinner table.

The National Geographic Society says that men have actually hunted the wild world over for vegetables. Some of them have extraordinary interesting and varied histories. A few have no known origin, or at least their original wild ancestors cannot be found.

The most important of this class is ordinary maize or Indian corn — sweet or fodder. The latter, as we know it, is a variation of that grown by the Indians of Central and South America from time unknown. But it has always been a highly developed sort of plant, and the original grass has disappeared without trace.

The onion, however, has a more distinct and definite history. Mentioned in the Jilly family, it has had a part ip play in history. The Israelites bewailed the absence of onions in their diet of manna on the desert after they fled from slavery in Egypt. The Roman legions depended on the onion; onions were among the favorite garden foods of the middle ages.

After the discovery of America, a number of important new vegetables were added to the list. Corn has been mentioned, and the story of the introduction of the potato is well known. The Indians also gave the world lima beans, many kinds of peppers and those soon spread all over Europe.

Many other vegetables originated in Asia, lettuce, rhubarb, beets, broccoli and celery being among the most important. Africa produced okra and the watermelon.

The common garden pea has had a strange history. Wild field peas came from Asia and were known in Europe as long as 6,000 years ago. But ordinary green or garden peas were unknown to the English farmers of William the Conqueror. There they were so much improved they were called English peas.

Much later eating green peas became sort of fad throughout France. Madame de Maintainon told the cutting of green peas at all hours of the day was so pre-valent that it was "both a fashion and a madness." Vegetables do change in their popularity but the humble garden pea still rate among the best dishes that can be prepared from garden produce.

ADVICE To the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

DON'T TRY SO HARD, MILLIE; JUST WRITE

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I'm wondering if there is a telephone number through which I could reach you.

I have a problem about which I need your advice very much and I must have tried to write you about six times. But every time I'd sit down to write, I just didn't know how to start.

Please help me out. — Millie.

Dear Millie:

I'm sorry that it isn't possible for you to reach me by telephone, but why don't you just sit down with paper and pen and pretend you're talking to me as you write? Put things down just as they come into your head.

You don't need to worry if it doesn't sound just the way you'd like it to. I'm sure I'll understand exactly what you mean.

I'll be watching for that letter, so don't disappoint me.

YOU'RE THE ONE WHO SHOULD DO THE "ACCEPTING"

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

My boy friend has a prison record. My parents know this and have forbidden me to see him.

I love him very much and I know he was sent to jail for a crime he didn't commit. A lawyer has almost proved this point, but still my parents refuse to hear of our going together.

What can I do to have my parents accept him? — "In Love" Dear "In Love":

I really doubt if you know enough about this boy's problem to be qualified to judge whether or not he's a proper companion for you.

I know you'll be disappointed to have me say this, but my honest opinion is that you should accept your parents' decision in this matter.

BEAUTY

By MME. QUI VIVE

NEW TEMPORARY HAIR COLOR SPRAYS ON

Sprayed into hair partings, new temporary hair color blends streaked and faded areas effectively.

What would we daughters of Eve do without color as a beauty aid? We rouge our cheeks, lipstick our lips, paint our nails, shadow our eyes, pencil our brows and mascara our lashes. Then of course, we use color as an invaluable aid for self-expression in our clothing and accessories, and in our homes. There's probably not one of us who hasn't bought a gay red hat just to get out of a "deep blue" mood.

But, basic as this instinct for color is, many of us have hesitated about doing anything about the color of our hair—usually because we're afraid it might be too drastic. As a result we keep going along with mousy-brown, streaked blonde or faded red topknots—wishing there were some easy way to put a little more glamour into what should be our "crowning glory".

And now it can be done—simply, easily and with wonderful effectiveness. One of the largest manufacturers of hair coloring products has recently put on the market a completely natural-looking tint, temporary hair color that sprays on easily, colors evenly, will not rub off, yet shampoos off. Fashion-conscious women who have used this firm's gold and silver hair coloring to put streaks and tips into their coiffures for gala occasions will know how effectively this system of coloring works. Well, the new hair color works on the same principle but now it comes in black, brown, auburn and blonde. Its prime function is to instantly touch up roots of newly grown hair along the part, hairline and temples, as well as yellowish or faded areas on otherwise streaked gray hair. To streak and tip contrasting shades into your hair, you simply pull the ends of hair you want to color through holes or slits in a piece of cardboard and paint it full of color on them.

Women on vacations or business trips, miles away from home and hairdresser, will find this a quick and easy way of retouching dyed, bleached, auburnt or streaked tresses. It's good to know that if you haven't time for a color rinse or tint that involves shampooing, two or three quick swishes from an aerosol container will give you bright, colorful tresses in mere seconds. And plain water won't take that color out—something to think about if you're a swimming fan—but a shampoo will.

QUESTION: I have trouble making scalloped potatoes. They always curdle. Secondly, Mexicanos on one crust pies often weep . . . I mean there's a watery substance at the edge of the meringue . . . I'm fond of cooking. Elders P. Algoma.

FRIDAY

ANSWER: I was intrigued with the address of a Uranium mine on your letter. I have two methods, both of which produce excellent potatoes that do not curdle. But I must add that the soil in which potatoes are grown is a factor. I can't guarantee this will not curdle, but if it does, change the kind of potatoes you use, and try to buy potatoes grown in another area.

SCALLOPED POTATOES No. 1
(Courtesy Lolle of Kingston)

Pare potatoes; then, alternate layers of potatoes with a sprinkling of flour, chunks of butter or margarine, salt, pepper and a slice or two of onion. Fill casserole almost to the top, dotting the top generously with butter to help it brown. (Don't add the milk now). Put potatoes in moderate oven; about 350 deg. F. and bake for 15 minutes. In the meantime heat enough milk to about half fill your casserole. When potatoes have cooked 15 minutes add the hot milk. By doing it this way your milk will not curdle. "Lallie."

SCALLOPED POTATOES No. 2

To serve six slice four large potatoes thinly (a generous 4 cups) and place half in 1½-quart greased casserole. Mix 2 tablespoons all-purpose flour, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper and sprinkle half of this evenly over the potato layer. Peel and slice one medium onion and arrange half of the slices over. Dot with 1 tablespoon butter. Repeat. Pour over 1¾ cups reliquefied skim milk (from skim milk powder) or 1 cup evaporated milk diluted with ¾ cup water at room temperature. Cover and bake 30 minutes at 325 deg. Fahr. Remove cover and bake 45 minutes longer. I have mailed to you recipe for making non-weeping meringues which appeared for May 1.

LETTER . . . some time ago I cut your recipe for Rosse's (Grace) Butter Tarts from your page and never tasted anything better. I have a son in the army and sent him a box of goodies — instead of making them into tarts which I did not think would pack I made the pastry and lined a square pan with it, put in the tart filling and covered over with more pastry and baked and when cool cut it into squares. They were wonderful so thought I would pass it on. Mrs. A. H.

ANSWER: Thank you. Your letter will prompt other readers to ask for Grace Rosse's Butter Tarts so I will anticipate them.

PASTRY: 2 cups unsifted all-purpose flour, 1 cup shortening, ½ teaspoon salt, 3 or 4 tablespoons water. FILLING: ½ cup butter, 1 cup brown sugar, 1 tbsp. milk, ¾ cup raisins, 1 egg, ½ cup walnuts, ½ cup cocoanut, 1 teaspoon vanilla, ½ teaspoon salt. Form pastry for each tart before filling.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

BRINGING BACK GIFTS FROM EUROPE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband and I are sailing soon for a European trip, and some of our relatives and friends have said that they are coming to the ship to bid us good-by. Although we would much prefer that they don't bring us going away presents, I have a feeling some of them will. Would this mean that it is necessary that we bring back presents to them? — A.B.

This isn't strictly necessary, but I'm quite sure you'll be happier if you choose some small remembrances to bring back to show your appreciation. The simplest and easiest present is, I think, handkerchiefs, which take up minimum room, and which are always welcome.

APPROPRIATE GESTURES TO ENGAGED COUSIN

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My aunt has just told my mother and me that her son's engagement will soon be announced. He is my first cousin, and our families have always been quite close. His fiancee lives quite a distance from here, and we have not met her. What is the right thing for us to do, now that we know about the engagement?

— Dorothy Z.

As such close relatives of the engaged man you and your mother should tell him or write him your congratulations and best wishes, and then write to his fiance wel-

Canadian Nursing Education Backward, Rome Parley Told

ROME (CP)—A Toronto nursing educationist told the International Council of Nurses' Congress today that Canadian nursing education is not keeping pace with the advances of medical science.

Nursing has increased in content and complexity, said Helen Carpenter, assistant professor at the University of Toronto's school of nursing.

But it was still struggling with 19th-century methods in a 20th-century world.

Most of Canada's nursing schools were operated by hospitals which required a lot of services from the student nurses while they trained.

United Church Choir Holds 'Blossom Tea'

WELLINGTON — On May 22nd a "Blossom Tea" was held at the home of Mrs. Hugh East, under the auspices of the United Church choir.

The home was artistically decorated with lilacs, apple blossom, and other flowers.

Receiving with the hostess was Mrs. McNeil, choir leader.

Tea was served on the sun porch. The tea table covered with beautiful cut-work cloth was centred with a novel arrangement of garden flowers.

Ladies who assisted in pouring tea were Mrs. A. T. Fleming; Mrs. R. A. Thompson, and Mrs. B. C. Bishop.

Servers at different intervals were: Betty Bishop; Barbara Pettingell; Joan Hubbard; Carol Marvin; Carley Cleave; Beverley Alyea; Betty and Barbara MacDonald, and Sally East.

Making tea, replenishing plates and having a busy time in the kitchen were: Pat McKenzie, and Reta Ellis.

Fees were taken at the door by Dorothy Preston.

A bounteous domestic table was the centre of attraction in the dining room and although replenished several times was not adequate for the demands of the many guests. This table was capably looked after by Greta Alyea, Rhoda Bryant.

After tea, and between showers, the ladies were invited to view Mrs. East's garden with its colorful display of tulips and other early flowering shrubs, and flowers. Many of the guests took a rain check on the garden and the hostess will be happy to welcome them back at any time.

Among those who entertained were: Mrs. A. Morden, and Mrs. L. Branscombe.

The choir wishes to thank everyone who helped in any way to make this such a pleasant and successful event. Proceeds from this tea will be used to further the fund toward new choir gowns.

Walkout Action Continues in Tug Strike

MONTREAL (CP) — Scattered walkout action continued for the fifth day today among Marine Industries Limited tug-and-dredge units spread from Cornwall to Quebec.

A company spokesman said it was impossible to determine how many vessels were affected today by the walkout, begun Monday when about 150 of the company's 500 employees left their jobs.

Meanwhile, at Ottawa, a Canadian labor relations board was in its second day of hearings on an application for certification by the Association of Canadian Dredge and Tugboat Workers.

The strike followed failure of the Seamen's International Union (CLC) to sign up enough crew members for a certification bid, the company has charged.

The company has termed the walkout illegal and complained of strong-arm tactics employed to force crew members to stay away from their jobs. Wednesday, it obtained a court injunction banning the SIU from interfering with non-union crew.

SIU officials have declined comment.

Eased Trade Controls Affect More Than China

LONDON (Reuters)—A board of trade spokesman said today Britain will automatically relax her trade embargo with North Korea under the easing of trade controls with Communist China.

The list of goods banned for export to China covered North Korea, which under the relaxation will also come on the same footing as trade with Russia and Far Eastern Communist countries.

The relaxation of the embargo also affects exports to North Viet Nam, Tibet and Macao.

None of these countries was specifically, mentioned in Thursday's announcement by Foreign Secretary Lloyd.

Drive FORD—you'll drive a WINNER

Fairlane 500 Town Victoria

It's North America's fastest seller!

Right from the start, Ford has set the 1957 sales pace. Since the new cars were first introduced Ford has consistently outsold every other car in North America. Sales figures quoted in leading automotive newspapers and journals give conclusive evidence of Ford's leadership.

No wonder the new kind of Ford is setting new records. Ford leads in styling—the kind of styling that's designed to last, because its long, low, "sculptured look" expresses elegance and good taste. Even standing still, the new kind of Ford looks as though it's going places in a hurry. And while we're talking about GO, we'd like to remind you that Ford set 458 speed and endurance records at Bonneville Flats—a classic demonstration, unequalled in automotive history. Indeed, Ford leads in the kind of performance (SIX or V-8) that takes nothin' from nobody and the kind of ride (Even-Keel Ride) that makes every road feel airstrip smooth!

You owe it to yourself to take ten exciting minutes to experience the sheer fun of driving the car that's new all the way through . . . the car that's the undisputed leader in style—in performance—in motorists' preference . . . the things Canadian motorists want most . . . the winner . . . the new kind of Ford.

Chinese Runs As Conservative In B.C. Riding

VANCOUVER (CP) — For the second time in his brief political career, Douglas Jung is trying to make history.

Mr. Jung, 33, is campaigning as a Progressive Conservative in Defence Minister Ralph Campney's Vancouver Centre riding. If elected in the June 10 election, he would be the first Canadian of Chinese extraction to sit in Parliament. He is the first Chinese-Canadian even to be a candidate for Parliament.

A lawyer, he contested a 1956 byelection for the Vancouver Centre seat in British Columbia's legislature. He finished second to Social Crediter Leslie Peterson, now B.C. education minister, in a four-cornered race.

The Vancouver Centre riding extends from Stanley Park through the densely - populated west-end area of apartments and rooming-houses to the business area and skid road. It takes in the city's Chinatown district.

LITTLE ANTAGONISM

Asked in an interview if he had noticed any antagonism as a candidate because of his race, Mr. Jung said:

"Very little. I'd say 99 9-10 per-cent of the voters I've met treat me just like another Canadian. There'll always be a few people who are racially intolerant, but they're a very, very small minority.

Born in Victoria and educated there, Mr. Jung went into the army in 1942 at the age of 18. Eventually he was attached to Allied Intelligence Bureau.

"We were a combined Allied group operating behind enemy lines in the Southwest Pacific. I was a warrant officer and also won an parachute missions."

Back in Canada, Mr. Jung served as head of the Chinese section of the national employment office here for three years. He attended the University of B.C. and graduated with bachelor degrees in arts and law in 1954. He is unmarried.

Sunday School Lesson

Destinies for Doughnuts

By Roy L. Smith

The Old Testament story of the silly youth who bartered away his future for the sake of a single lush meal can be matched in almost every town and village of the land, for they are legion, among us who are trading destinies for doughnuts.

Esau, the lad who would naturally have inherited the headship of the clan, and two-thirds of the family's wealth came in from a hunting expedition famished. In that wild moment, urged on by an empty stomach, he traded his preferred position with his brother, receiving for his inheritance the paltry price of a big meal.

Before we condemn the young man too severely, however, let us remind ourselves that we are all in danger of entering into other agreements just as stupid.

COST OF APPETITES

From one end of America to the other there comes evidence of the mounting tide of alcoholism. At the same time there is a growing body of evidence that cigaret smoking is a major cause of lung-cancer.

Yet the per capita consumption of alcohol is rising sharply, and the sale of cigarets exceeds last year's record by billions.

It is the confidence of every youth that he will never become an alcoholic, and it is the confidence of the cigaret smoker that the cancer experts are mistaken. In the meantime he bets his life against their judgement, and gambles his future against inexorable statistics, that he will never become an alcohol addict.

Esau was so hungry that he cast all reason to the winds, and there comes a time in the life of the drinker when there is no returning to sobriety and freedom.

POINT OF NO RETURN

As the pilots head their planes out to sea, for intercontinental flights, they come to a point where they cannot return to their base. They have to go on. Less space separates them from their destination than from their port of departure.

It is one of the tragedies of the alcoholic that he comes to the point of no return—to that place where he is no longer in command of his own habits, his own appetites, or his own destiny.

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for June 2: "ESHOTIERS DIVIDED," Genesis 25:27-34; 27 and 28.

The psychologists and the psychiatrists have ways of measuring addiction. The point of no return differs according to each individual. But every girl from promiscuity, or boy from the fraternity, who takes the first drink has started out toward that point of no return.

Esau came home eventually, but it was too late. His inheritance was gone, and there was nothing in all the world that anyone could do about it.

A GOOD FELLOW, TOO

There is something very tragic about the way a good guy and a grand fellow made shipwreck of his life.

Esau was no criminal, neither was he a rake or a rowdy. He was only a good living young fellow who could not say "no" to an empty stomach. He never learned to discipline himself. He was a victim of his love of good food.

From the little we know of him it is easy to believe that he would have divided his last bit of venison with a friend, or even a stranger. He would have gone to great lengths to accommodate a stranger. Inside a crowd, he was probably the life of the party—hilarious, careless, and undisciplined.

He had never learned to estimate the differences between the values of life, and he lost the best because the petty looked so good to him.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

The 15th Belleville Cub Pack held its annual banquet on May 28th in St. Margaret's Parish hall. This pack has grown from 22 to 59 cubs during the past year. Mrs. Margaret Godwin is Cubmaster and is doing a tremendous job.

Cub Ken Russell performed Flag Break and Cub Robin Bateman welcomed the fathers. About 100 sat down to a very hearty dinner prepared and served by the Scout mothers.

Chairman Bud Bateman introduced the guests: District Commissioner O. C. Owen; Regional Commissioner A. S. Lewis; Norm Gerow, Cubmaster 4th; Cub Terry Gerow, DCM; John Townsend; Scout Bob Townsend; Everett S. Fairman, principal Sir Winston Churchill School; Bruce Kerr, Director Children's Aid Society; Cub Dennis Kerr; ADC Phil Allcorn, ADC Les Boyle; C. F. Leggat.

Mr. Kerr was guest speaker, "Behavior," he said, "is a sign language. Talking is only half the story, actions tell the character of a boy. A baby cries because he needs food or comforting. A sense of inferiority sometimes leads to a bullying attitude. It is tragic when a father loses the affection of his son because he is too busy to bother. Children remember small things, the important things such as food, shelter, clothing are forgotten. A father's company is important to boys and a feeling of insecurity follows if neglected. We should try to understand and help people with odd behavior."

Badges were presented by Archie Lewis and Phil Allcorn. Phil explained the Cub ladder. First the new Cubs who must repeat the Cub Law and the Cub promise before he can wear the Pack colors, and become a Cub. Then the First Star and the Second Star and finally moves up to be a Scout.

Collectors' badges were awarded to Cubs John Histed, Ronald Smith, Danny Fraser and Douglas Fraser. House Orderly badge to Cub Douglas Stickle. Artists' badge to Cub Colin Dybie. Cub Stephen Nemtin received Artists' and Collectors' badges.

Norm Gerow with the aid of the Sixers, prayed to the god of fire for a great yellow bird but what he got was seven strange animals (the Sixers). All the Cubs, except the Sixers, enjoyed this.

Les Boyle spoke on the life of Baden-Powell, concluding with B.-P.'s last recorded speech.

The chairman praised Akela Godwin for her work and patience. Mrs. Godwin in turn, thanked Scouts Martin Hughes, John Moore, Sea Cadet Bobby Holgate and her assistants for their help. She also complimented the fathers for the wonderful turnout.

Cub Jimmy Male's birthday was taken note of and John Townsend and Norm Gerow led the Cubs and fathers in action songs. The fathers attempted "Three Blind Mice." Cubs were highly amused at their utter confusion.

Col. Fairman thanked the chairman for this opportunity of

Scoharie

SCOHARIE — Deepest sympathy is extended to the Clayton family in the sudden loss of their beloved son, brother and grandson. All extend sincere sympathy to Mr. Kenneth Warren in the passing of his brother Clare, in the County Hospital on Friday morning. A number attended the funeral Monday afternoon at Whattam's Funeral Home, Picton.

Mrs. Harry Foster and Ross were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wood, in Shannonville.

Miss Norma Foster and Mr. Theodore Foster were Sunday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Pierson, Wellington, and Tuesday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Foster and Darlene in honor of Norma's birthday.

Co-workers at the Bank of Commerce, Bloomfield, also provided a birthday cake and ice cream for a little party at the bank.

Miss Norma Foster and Ross Foster were among those who attended the County Junior Farmer's "Spring Festival" dance at Tobe's on Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Foster and Darlene were Sunday guests of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Wannamaker, Demorestville.

Charles Warner said: "What a man needs in gardening is a cast-iron back with a hinge in it." After dropping 1500 strawberry plants a couple of weeks ago the writer agrees and might suggest a few springs in the knees might help also. The sons of the house dug and set out 500 alone so he wasn't sorry when the job was finished.

Mrs. Norman Kerr and Mrs. Harry Foster spent Monday in Peterborough.

TWEED

Kinettes Elect 1957-8 Officers

TWEED — The regular meeting of the Tweed Kinette club was held at the Hotel Tweedsmuir, Monday evening. They enjoyed a tasty and well-prepared roast beef dinner with all the trimmings. Nineteen guests were present.

The election of officers was held and the ladies appointed are as follows: president, Pauline Hughes; vice-president, Mary Bancroft; secretary, Sheila Buckley; treasurer, Janet Whitfield; program committee, Joan Belch.

It was agreed that tickets would be sold on a wool blanket and the draw would be held on Friday, June 28th.

It will be recalled that the Kinette Club was responsible for the modern facilities and spacious washrooms at the Tweed park and at Monday night's meeting they donated another $25 to the Parks' Board for any necessary cleaning or painting of this building or everyday up-keep as it may be needed.

In the course of the business session $100 was donated to the Plainfield Children's Convalescent Home for retarded children to apply on a playground for these deserving youngsters.

Each regular meeting one or two draws are held among the members and Monday's two draws were won by Sue Cotton and Elaine LeSage.

They gave a little insight on their yearly work which is donating money to help pay for the lifeguard and helpers (if helpers are required), to supervise the playground at the Tweed park and also oversee and assist with any water activities.

They also gave a sum of money to send two children to Guide Camp and donated $50 for a scholarship for one of the students of highest standing in Tweed High School. These are at leinterprizes for the coming year under the newly appointed directors.

Much credit is herewith due the Kinette Club of Tweed, comprised of a "not too large membership" and they are carrying the load of many on their shoulders. "Welfare" work is surely their ambition, and they are doing wonders to date.

Leader of Cleanup Forces Helps Investigators Locate Son, Relatives of Dave Beck

Calls Protest Meetings

Fred Whitehouse, president of the 10,000-member Civil Service Federation, says protest meetings will be held across Canada because the government is making an election issue of salary increases for federal workers. He said the government refuses to make a definite statement until after June 10 on the increase. Preparations are under way for meetings in Quebec, London, Toronto, Winnipeg, Calgary and Vancouver. (CP Photo).

WASHINGTON (AP) — John F. English, a leader of cleanup forces in the Teamsters Union, helped Senate rackets investigators locate a son and relatives of teamsters president Dave Beck after they had been long sought for questioning.

English is the union's 68-year-old general secretary - treasurer and guardian of its purse strings. His opposition to Beck is believed to be the main factor in Beck's recent announcement that he is not seeking re-election as president.

It was reliably reported today that English met Dave Beck Jr., and three other relatives or friends of the elder Beck' off the teamsters' payroll two months ago.

REPORT IN CANADA

In that time Beck Jr., and two other Beck relatives were reported in Canada—out of reach of committee subpoenas seeking to compel their attendance at hearings here on the elder Beck's money dealings with teamsters funds.

The committee reported the group, out of the country for pay, finally ran out of funds in British Columbia and had to return to the United States. Two committee lawyers were served with subpoenas in Washington State.

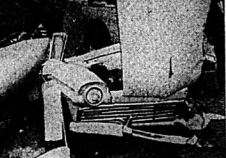
LINKED BY TESTIMONY

Beck Jr., and McEvoy have been linked in prior testimony to Beck Sr.'s complicated money trails. Verschueren is a Teamsters Union auditor on the west coast. The committee has linked him also in connection with finances of both Beck Sr., and Frank W. Fressette, another teamsters union boss.

A fourth witness, Norman Sievert, cousin of Beck Sr.'s wife, was the first of the group finally served with a Canadian subpoena, police chase. He appeared here for testimony May 17.



Gessert invoked the Fifth Amendment 71 times in 91 minutes in refusing to tell about his financial dealings with the elder Beck. He was asked, among other things, about drawing some $250,000 in Teamsters Union salaries over a period in three years, and profiting by another $50,000 from sales to the union.

NO. 1 BACHELOR WEDS

SCINVELD, The Netherlands (Reuters)—Ger Gren, 43, "world bachelor No. 1," married Miss Nel Bakker here Tuesday. Two years ago two miles from the village of Groveneindeck which he made famous for its annual bachelors' congresses, Gren said he will continue to attend the congresses which have brought thousands of bachelors from all over the world to the small village.

A United States fisherman was killed and his passenger was injured when their car was hit broadside by a transport truck which plunged off the highway down an embankment (left) near Newcastle, Ont. The transport driver escaped with a few bruises. Police said the car was parked and the truck crushed the car against the guard rail. (CP Photo).

St. Laurent Sees Bright Trade Possibilities

Diefenbaker Makes Quebec Crossroads Talks

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent has told a Liberal election rally that the proposed British Caribbean Federation offers Canada new trading possibilities.

"One of the big questions Ie are going to have to deal with in the next two or three years," he said Thursday night, "is the establishment of the right kind of relationship between Canada and the new British Caribbean Federation, which is coming to a full head and which is about to become a full member of the Commonwealth of Nations.

"The new federation is going to look to Canada for friendship and possibly for economic leadership. I hope we can establish closer relations with the British Caribbean Federation than we have ever had with the West Indies.

"We want to increase our trade with the Caribbean, and trade can be mutually advantageous."

COULD PLAY PART

Liberal members from the Atlantic provinces and especially Newfoundland, if they were about it the right way, could play a large part in winning for fisheries more a more secure and an expanding market in the Caribbean.

A crowd of about 800 heard Mr. St Laurent in the St. John's Stadium, which holds up to 5,000 for wrestling matches. Premier Smallwood led cheers when the prime minister arrived at the airport, and said the crowds who attended Tuesday's meeting at a motorcade swept him into St. John's "numbered in the tens of thousands."

His first official act on arriving in Newfoundland was to open a new department of transport air terminal at Stephenville on the west coast. A faulty starter on one engine of the plane carrying his party delayed departure from Stephenville for St. John's, by more than half an hour.

HE HIM FRIEND

Mr. St. Laurent was introduced to the St. John's rally chairman who called him "a friend of Newfoundland — you're going to see your last fall's friend in the next House of Commons than the prime minister. He is the architect of Confederation, he is the father of this province."

"Put him back. Newfoundland can't afford any other prime minister. Give him a new seven years or Parliament who are Liberals."

Mr. St. Laurent said "there is nothing in my years of public life of which I am prouder than of what I was able to do to help bring about completion of Confederation" by making Newfoundland a province.

The prime minister will visit Argentia and Placentia on the south coast today and will stop off briefly at Gander. His next stop is Mont Joli, Que.

NOT FAIR EXCHANGE

CHATHAM (CP)—Mrs. Thomas Shyshak recently notified police that pawnbrokers had stolen her steps and replaced them with a rose bush transplanted from the garden of a neighbor. Police were unable to trace the culprits.

NO ONE SHOWS U P

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—When doctors arrived at two schools set aside as polio vaccination clinics, they were unable at first to understand why no one showed up. Later department of health officials admitted they forgot to notify parents of the vaccination date.

QUEBEC (CP)—After a strenuous day of bilingual campaigning in Eastern Quebec, Progressive Conservative Leader Diefenbaker today moved to Montreal for a try at the metropolitan area's Commons seats.

Mr. Diefenbaker made a series of crossroads speeches in three federal constituencies south of the St. Lawrence River Thursday. He has two speeches scheduled for tonight in Montreal. Mr. Diefenbaker motored about 200 miles Thursday in a highway version of whistle-stopping, moving at a fast pace through the south shore ridings of Lotbinière, Dorchester and Bellechasse.

SUPPORT FROM DUPLESSIS

Through his tour of the area —though Quebec's Premier Duplessis did not turn up personally —there was evidence that the Conservative leader has the support of the province's Union Nationale chief.

Mr. Diefenbaker was given the very-important-person treatment of a siren-screaming escort of Quebec provincial police for the whole route, and at a night meeting he had a platform appearance of one of Mr. Duplessis's cabinet members — Colonization Minister Begin.

The minister lent his presence at a meeting in Ste. Germaine, in the riding of Dorchester, where the Conservatives held on to their four Quebec seats and the only one they have in the province south of the St. Lawrence. The member has been Robert Perron.

At this and other meetings, Mr. Diefenbaker spoke mainly in French, usually from prepared texts.

One French-Canadian supporter described his French as "understandable."

CATHOLIC HOLIDAY

His crowds at about a dozen stops ran anywhere from a handful on a hamlet street to about 2,000 at an auditorium in Ste. Germaine.

It was Ascension Day, a Roman Catholic holiday and Quebecers were out in their Sunday best. The meetings had a hefty sprinkling of youngsters and women, too.

Mr. Diefenbaker announced that if he is returned as head of the federal government there will be no reduction in the number of federal cabinet ministers from Quebec province.

This statement was made in reply to some suggestions in this area that Quebec's cabinet strength might be cut down in the event of a Conservative win.

PROMISES LARGER SHARE

Mr. Diefenbaker also said that a Progressive Conservative government at Ottawa would provide the province with more public facilities with a bigger share of the national income.

He said his party will guarantee them enough that they can "discharge their constitutional responsibilities and develop their natural resources."

For farmers, he also promised a bigger slice of the national income. Farm products support prices would be extended.

"We guarantee farmers a new deal," Mr. Diefenbaker said.

Mayors, Reeves Approve Motions On Tax Problems

CHATHAM (CP) — The Association of Ontario Mayors and Reeves passed three resolutions in principle Thursday seeking a better deal for municipalities from provincial and federal governments.

Chatham proposed a provincial-municipal conference to establish a fair division of responsibilities and revenues.

Simcoe County suggested a provincial commission study municipal responsibilities with the idea of expanding the base of assessment or handing the cost of certain services to the province or local governments can remain reivent.

WANTS NEW DEAL

Oshawa urged an approach to Ottawa to redistribute the tax dollar between the three levels of government.

The association also decided to work for legislation to allow municipalities to collect interim tax payments during the loan period preceding the first tax collection of each year.

Smaller areas such as Chatham would derive major benefit because they have to pay interest up to 5 per cent on borrowed money during that time, Chatham city treasurer Lloyd Groombridge said. The Chatham resolution, with a London amendment that the payments should not exceed 50 per cent, was adopted with little opposition.

SPECIAL TAX

Six of the Metropolitan Toronto governments proposed a special tax on single-family homes housing more than one family. The proposal was referred to the Association of Assessing Officers of Ontario.

Officials said when single-family dwellings are used by several families, the bill for municipal services and education rises substantially while the assessment rise is negligible.

Another proposal that municipal councils be allowed to dismiss police staff without going through a hearing under the attorney-general's department was referred to the executive for further study.

"We hire police chiefs by resolution, and we should be able to dismiss them by resolution," said Grimsby Reeve J. C. Coffey.

Pierre Pflimlin Trying to Solve France's Crisis

PARIS (Reuters)—Veteran politician Pierre Pflimlin headed today into a round of talks with parliamentary leaders in a bid to solve France's government crisis.

There is still little sign of an early end to the political dilemma that arose with the fall from power 20 days ago of the government headed by Socialist Premier Guy Mollet.

Pflimlin, 56-year-old leader of the moderately leftist Catholic party, Mouvement Republicain Populaire, has agreed only provisionally to form a new government.

He will tell President Rene Coty whether he will go ahead only after talks with speakers of both houses of Parliament, the presidents of the consultative French Union Assembly and economic council, and political party chiefs.

MEANS "LITTLE PLUM"

Pflimlin, whose name means "little plum" in Alsatian dialect, got his party's approval to attempt to form a government in the quick visit Thursday to the movement's annual congress in the resort town of Biarritz.

On his return to Paris Thursday night he talked with Mollet, whose government of 15 months and 20 days was the longest since the war.

He also discussed with Rene Pleven former premier who's failed in an attempt to bring Conservatives and Socialists together and then declined an invitation to form a government.

Pflimlin wants to weld all parties except the Communists and the anti-tax Poujadists into a "national government" with four main tasks—to get an honorable end to the Algerian insurrection, save the franc, ratify the six-country European atomic pool and common market treaties, and end French government instability by constitutional reforms.

Monkey Cuts Up Shines On Plane

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Two hours off monkeyshines took place Thursday aboard a cargo plane en route from Detroit to Kansas City.

Running loose inside the plane as it flew at 9,000 feet a pound chimpanzee on its way to a pet shop at Santa Cruz, Calif.

The crew said the chimp broke out of its cage when they were 30 minutes out of Detroit. It spent the rest of the flight investigating the plane, swinging from the radio racks and, for a long time, sat in the pilot's seat.

A relief crew and freight handlers needed 20 minutes to catch the monkey after the plane landed.

SHOW GOES ON

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Chicken pox almost knocked out Thursday night's Playhouse 90 production on television. A Columbia Broadcasting System spokesman said Portland Mason, eight-year-old daughter of actor James Mason, went on in her part although in the early stages of the disease. Then she was rushed home to bed by her mother, actress Pamela Mason, also in the play.

All British Papers Hail Decision to 'Go It Alone' In Boosting China Trade

LONDON (Reuters) — British newspapers have hailed their government's decision to "go it alone" in boosting trade with Communist China, but express regret that the move was made despite stiff United States opposition.

Easing of the embargo on trade with the regime of Mao Tze-tung is described as sensible and realistic by newspapers representing all shades of political opinion.

Announcement of the relaxation of controls was made in the House of Commons Thursday by Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd, who said British trade with Red China now will be expanded to the level of British trade with the Soviet bloc of eastern Europe.

The 15-country "chincom" committee, which administers controls on Western trade with China, headed into a meeting here today expected to decide all its time to the repercussions of the British decision.

HAS BEEN DEADLOCKED

The committee, composed of Japan and the Atlantic pact countries except Iceland, has been deadlocked for three weeks in attention to relaxation of controls was spearheaded by the U.S., which said through the state department Thursday that it was "most disappointed" by Britain's action.

French sources say they fear the British decision will undermine the whole system of embargoes on trade with Communist countries, and that other countries are bound to follow Britain's example to prevent a British monopoly of China markets.

The China embargo list—containing 207 more items than the Soviet one—was imposed at the height of the Korean War in 1951 and is described by London as "stenographish, Conservative, as an "increasingly pointless and vexatious anomaly."

The Manchester Guardian, Liberal, says: "Trade is nothing more than how to reality," while the Labor party's London Daily Herald says the control relaxation "should have been made at least a year ago."

In Moscow Thursday night, the official Soviet news agency Tass said some commentators regard the move as a "serious blow to the American policy of detention."

"SENSIBLE" DECISION

Comments The Times of London: Independently, the government has sensibly decided that the restrictions . . . should be no different from those on trade with the Soviet bloc.

"It is perhaps natural that the United States should still wish to maintain in most of its entirety the blockade imposed against the Chinese at the time of the Korean War.

"But that is no reason why the nations of Europe, living in fear of greater extent on world-wide trading, should do the same, though how other countries will follow Britain's lead remains to be seen."

CLOSE CALL IN BRONX

NEW YORK (AP) — A live lion, a white bear which had been lighted but fizzled out, was found Thursday night in the men's room of a Bronx theatre. Horace Reddick, a porter, found the fierce lion in a paper towel receptacle of the room, in the basement of the RKO Chester Theatre. He rushed it to an adjoining vacant lot and called police. Some 1,000 patrons watched as Pamela Mason, of what was happening.

GIVES RECITAL

Virginia Belfer, nine-year-old pianist with perfect pitch and a flair for improvising, gave her first full recital in Toronto before a special gathering of 50 persons with special interest in classical music. She played 10 selections by Bach, Beethoven, Chopin, Haydn and MacDowell and one she wrote herself, "God Made Us All." Virginia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Belfer of Galt, Ont., first began playing the piano at five and has what her teacher calls "the authoritative touch of an experienced musician." (CP Photo)

Will Demand Recount of Liquor Vote

KITCHENER (CP) — Both "wets" and "drys" were expected today to seek recounts of a liquor vote here in which dining lounges were approved and cocktail bars rejected—each by less than one per cent.

Voters in this city of 60,000 Thursday gave 60.4 per cent approval to liquor by the glass in dining rooms but only 59.4 per cent approval to cocktail bars. Adoption needed 60 per cent.

After the plebiscite, leaders of both opposing factions said they would probably ask for a recount. The totals now: Dining lounges; For—12,474, against—8,169. Cocktail bars; For—12,388 against—8,394.

59 PER CENT VOTE

Slightly more than 59 per cent —20,643—of the city's 34,939 eligible voters cast ballots.

Their split decision put a brake on a trend toward more liquor outlets in major Ontario centres this year. Both bars and dining lounges were approved earlier this year in Cornwall and Niagara Falls.

Kitchener's "drys" and "wets" campaigned vigorously for this test. The "wets" formed a church group which called itself the "Vote No Campaign Committee," issued pamphlets and had them distributed by most Protestant churches during recent services.

The Kitchener Citizens Committee, balloons marked "Vote Yes."

Until now sale of spirits in Kitchener has been restricted to retail stores and hotel beer parlors.

Cooped up For Hours With Chickens

NEW YORK (AP)—Francis de Santis, 65, will long remember Memorial Day. She was cooped up for almost three hours with 1,000 chickens.

Miss de Santis likes eats, and regularly goes to market to buy chicken heads for the fellnes in her Upper Manhattan neighborhood.

She went into a poultry market Thursday. The proprietor didn't see her and let the shop, closing up for the day.

Trapped, Miss de Santis went to the window and waved to passers-by. They waved back, but continued on their way. Two hours and 40 minutes later one pedestrian caught on and called police.

When she was freed, Miss de Santis commented:

"I don't ever want to see another chicken again."

She headed for a delicatessen to buy canned fish for the cats.

Labor Hails By-Election Results As Jolt to Tories

LONDON (Reuters) — Opposition Labor party politicians today hailed three defeats suffered by the ruling Conservative party's popular delivered in the last two days by parliamentary by-elections.

The setbacks came in votes in South Edinburgh Wednesday and in two industrial-residential London suburbs Thursday.

In the Edinburgh contest and in the north London suburb of Horsey, former government majorities of more than 12,000 votes were slashed to 4,640 and 3,131 respectively, reducing these one-time Conservative strongholds almost to the status of marginal seats.

And in the London east end suburb of East Ham North, the Labor party, defending its seat against a Conservative and two Independent challengers, slightly increased its majority.

The Conservative share of the total East Ham vote fell by 11 per cent compared with the 1955 parliamentary election.

Labor spokesman say the Conservative setbacks resulted mainly from dissatisfaction with the government over last fall's Suez crisis but mainly from discontent at the continued rise in the cost of living.

The results of the last two days followed the pattern of a string of by-elections earlier this spring in which the government lost one parliamentary seat to Labor and slumped badly in its share of the total polls elsewhere.

Surprise of the Edinburgh election was big poll of Liberal candidate Douglas - Home, a popular playwright who likes to poke gentle fun at British aristocrats in such plays as The Chiltern Hundreds and The Reluctant Debutante.

Douglas-Home is the brother of the Earl of Home, a Conservative who is majority leader in the House of Lords. He polled 7,439 votes to 9,781 for the Labor candidate and 14,421 for the Conservative winner.

Members of Parliament say the inroads made by Douglas-Home once again underline a significant feature of many recent by-elections. This is that a section of Conservatives, disaffected by the recent political crises, are not prepared to vote Labor but will support an alternative anti-Socialist candidate in preference to the government nominee as a gesture of protest.

The state of parties in the House of Commons now is Conservatives and allies 235; Labor 279; Conservative Independents (right) 1; liberals five, Independents two; vacant one.

Memorial Day Highway Toll In U.S. Declines

CHICAGO (AP)—The highway toll over the United States Memorial Day was substantially below pre-holiday estimates.

At midnight Thursday night, the close of the 30-hour measuring period from 6 p.m. Wednesday, the totals stood: 89 traffic deaths, 37 drownings and 33 "miscellaneous" or holiday-connected fatalities.

The National Safety Council had predicted 120 highway deaths for the 30-hour period. Last year the total was 109—against a prediction of 110.

Modern Chemical Combat Wins Home Insect Battle

Modern insecticides greatly simplify the control of all types of household insects. These chemicals enable you to make that proverbial ounce of prevention really worth a pound of cure. Ingredients such as dieldrin and DDT leave invisible films which kill insects walking across the residue.

Reliable insecticides for every bug known to come into a house are available at drug stores, hardware stores and department stores. You can get them in aerosol spray cans, soluble powders and liquid forms to be used in ordinary garden sprayers, oil cans, or even applied with a paint brush.

Before the development of modern insecticides, many books on home care recommended the use of kerosene or carbon tetrachloride. While kerosene is a fire hazard, causes stains and oil spots, non-inflammable carbon tetrachloride proved dangerous to inhale. Now more effective bug killers, entirely harmless to humans and stainless for walls and fabrics, have revolutionized insect control in homes. Some are even suitable for use in the garden without injury to plants.

You have to read the label on each.

PREVENTION IS THE SECRET

Entomologists point out that the best form of insect control is preventive control—spraying all cracks and crevices before crawling or flying bug appears.

Many people moving into new homes have found roaches there ahead of them. The roach is the most common of all household pests. It not only can be carried on groceries, but also has been known to arrive on new lumber. It spreads disease germs and contaminates food and clothing, destroys books, papers and soiled or starched clothes.

Ants are another perennial nuisance. They will chew on everything from wood to almost anything that is eaten by man. Garments soiled with food have been damaged by ants, while moths often get the blame. Ants also spread disease because they crawl through filth as well as over food and dishes.

Silverfish often are mistaken for centipedes and ignored because one hears that centipedes are harmless. But silverfish will attack any book, magazine, piece of cotton, linen, rayon, silk or nylon. They contaminate flour and cereal.

THE MOST COSTLY BUG

Most destructive of all household insects, when it comes to dollar value of damage, is the clothes moth. This is a very small moth. Large flying moths, darting around lights at night, may be annoying but aside from leaving a smudge when crushed, they are harmless. The little moth is the devil when it comes to clothes, carpets, pianos, upholstered furniture, furs and blankets.

And they have a rival in the carpet beetle. Much of the so-called moth damage is really the work of carpet beetles.

It would take a book to list all the problems presented by ordinary household insects—and of course, many books are available, including free pamphlets on the subject.

The wise householder sprays, and keeps on spraying.

BABY BUFFALOES

WATERTON LAKES, Alta. (CP) Four new-born calves now are ranging with the buffalo herd in Waterton Lakes national park. The additions bring the buffalo herd to 23.

No Problem to Baseboard Finish

Baseboard finishes and mouldings are no problem when you panel your room in fir plywood. Six variations shown above can be achieved with material obtainable from most lumber or building supply dealers.

Most baseboard or mouldings illustrated, simply involves nailing the finishing material to the face of the plywood panel. Shown also is a neat-appearing baseboard in which the bottom of the fir plywood panel butts against the bullnosed top of the baseboard.

Baseboard and floor mouldings can be selected to correspond with other joint finishes in the paneled room. Care in covering joints adds a great deal to the professional appearance of the carpentry. It is not difficult to install fir plywood paneling in a room yourself and have the result look like a professionally finished job if care is taken in the selection and application of mouldings, baseboards, battens and other finish materials.

PROPER PRECAUTIONS

In preparing your present house for air conditioning, you should insulate walls and attic and paint walls a light color and the roof a white or light color.

Wood Paneling Gives Life to Older Rooms

Many people who are remodeling their older homes frequently turn to wood paneling to give new life and sparkle to once-drab rooms.

For family rooms, dens or kitchens, lumber can be selected which enhances the beauty of grain, texture and color.

Sailing Dinghy Nears Completion But Many 'Finish' Jobs Still to Do

Inside of Sabot shows centreboard trunk with both centre and aft seat supports in place. Arrangement of keel stripping around centreboard opening and the small skeg aft are shown in the illustration of the bottom. Note the two rubbing strips halfway between keel and chine. Exposed edges are bullnosed.

Bracing of forward deck must be strong to support thrust of the mast. Note the half-lapped joints. Do not make mast hole until the size and type of mast is determined.

"This is the fourth in a series on how to build an eight-foot sailing dinghy."

By HARRY FURNISS

Now that the hull is right side up, you will find an increasing temptation to stand off a few feet and admire the lines your handiwork has produced. But there is still much to do, although it is pleasant "finishing" work.

First of all, draw in the sheer with a batten. Place the slats down to the sheer line. Sight along the sheer from time to time as you work, making sure the curve is "sweet," even if it means departing slightly from the line.

KNEES ARE NEXT

Then fashion the four knees of 1x4 inch oak. Knees are glued and screwed in place from the outside where the transoms meet the planking at the sheer line. At this point, decide on the ultimate finish of Sabot. If you wish to varnish these knees, choose pleasingly grained stock and work carefully.

Spread the sides of the hull with a temporary centre seat to make sure the knees will join the planking at the proper angle.

A small forward deck is necessary and inside braces of 1x2 must be fitted and glued to form a bed on which to glue the deck, which can extend two feet aft. A cross piece of 1x4, crowned on top to the same degree as the top of the bow transom, is next fitted and joined to the centre line of the bow transom by a piece of 1x4. This work must be solid, for the 1x4 is later drilled to take the mast and will bear its thrust.

SEAT FOR MAST

Below the mast hole, trim down the knee and build a box around it to seat the foot of the mast. Glue and screw the sides of this "box" to the knee itself to provide rigidity and a firm base for the mast.

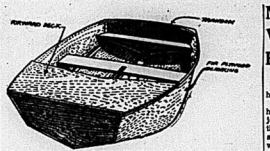
Then bend and attach the deck piece, to which a splash rail can be attached if you so desire.

The centreboard trunk comes next and should be made with an ample bearing surface where it fits the inside of the keel. As with other such curves, it is advisable to place the trunk in approximate position, and then, with a pencil held flat on the bottom of the hull, draw a line along it, giving the actual curve of the keel at that position.

WORK CAREFULLY

Fit this trunk carefully for if Sabot is going to leak when finished, your trouble will probably come here. When ready, apply glue liberally to both the knee and face of the trunk, and in stretching a piece of cotton between the two, screw the trunk well down.

The centre seat, as you will see from the plans, fits across the top of the trunk (and is screwed on) and can be secured at either side to 1x1 slats, glued and screwed (from the outside) to the inside of the hull.



The stern seat is secured, in a similar way, to slats across the transom and along the side of the planking. This seat will be quite firm with only two screws. No glue is used here in case you wish to remove the seat for greater leg room when sailing. All that remains now is to strengthen the sheer. Before rubbing strips to add strength to the sheer are placed on the outside of the hull, hardwood oar blocks should be glued in position first and screwed from the outside through the hull planking. If required gunwales could be added on the inside. Strips can be cut from 1x1 inch spruce, pine or yellow cedar.

Now turn Sabot upside down again and fit a square strip of oak along the bottom from the bow to the centreboard hole and two strips around that. The small skeg is usually led aft from that point and can be easily marked to the correct curve by laying the pencil athwartships on the hull and tracing out the curve.

SCREW ON SKEG

The thin forward end of the skeg can be screwed down into the hull, but don't forget to drill a couple of holes right through the keel further aft to enable the thicker portion to be secured by screws from the inside.

It's usually a good idea at this point to attach rubbing strips along each side of the bottom—

Sabot with forward decking in place and seats and sheer knees in. Drawing shows rubbing strip on the outside of fir plywood planking but they are often placed inside or in some cases one roughly half way between the keel and the chine. Mark these in position, drill the holes from the outside of the hull in, but screw them into position from the inside out.

Now get out your can of favorite crack filler and "putty up" all the screw heads, gouges or other slips that have occurred. A coat of primer, an undercoat and two of enamel completely finishes the outside of the hull.

In Part V we will explain the construction of mast, rudder and the installation of floor boards.

INSULATING WINDOWS

Double-pane insulating windows are important to summer air conditioning just as they are to winter heating, latest studies of temperature control problems reveal.

Builders are finding the double-pane glass, which reduces heat loss in winter months, plays the same role in summer by cutting heat intake by lightening the "load" of the air-conditioner.

More Families Want Extra Bath Facilities in Home

Is another bathroom for your home top on your wish list?

A new more practical bathroom heads the home modernizing projects of many folk. Sometimes this merely involves bringing an antiquated bathroom up to date with new fixtures, colored tile walls and other bright decorations and accessories.

More often it means an added bath for a family that has outgrown facilities offered by a single bathroom.

A good bathroom is a lot more than just space for three plumbing fixtures — and it doesn't have to be a large room.

Here are important factors to consider when planning the addition of a new bathroom, or modernizing the old:

Storage facilities for towels, soaps, etc. Materials must be durable, easy-to-care-for and waterproofed. Good lighting is an essential. Ample mirror space. Position of the bath-tub.

It is important to remember that a tub placed beneath a window is dangerous. The FHA will not approve installations on homes with beneath-the-window bathtubs.

Air Conditioning Takes on Star Role In Modern Living

Your air conditioner may soon be as common a factor in everyday living as your refrigerator.

In 1942, only 11,450 room air conditioners were manufactured! In 1953 more than one million were made. Within a few years the non-air conditioned house will be a thing of the past.

Aside from the value to your house, air-cooled living may also make as profound changes in day-to-day living habits as the advent of television.

* This name is fictitious, any similarity to persons living or dead is purely coincidental.

Triple-Tube Cooling, on all 1956
Frigidaire Room Conditioners, pulls the temperature down faster, holds it down easier, even on those scorching hot days.

Why sweat it out another summer? It costs less than ever to air-condition with Frigidaire—the most famous name in refrigeration

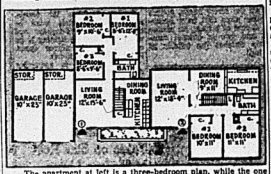
The Vanderbuilt is a two-family all-on-one-floor house plan. The exterior of the apartment next to the garages is finished in brick while the second apartment has a frame exterior. The roof overhang shelters both entrances as well as a long planting area.

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

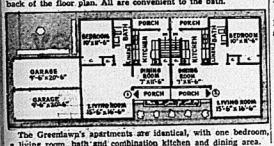
It's cheaper to build two homes at the same time than it is to build just one. That's one sound reason why the two-family house is rating more and more attention. It pays you in monthly rent and that makes it a good investment.

TWO APARTMENTS



The Vanderbuilt, pictured above, is a brick and frame dwelling with two garages and two completely separate, completely different apartments.

The apartment at right is a two-bedroom plan. Each bedroom has an extremely large wardrobe closet and is cross-ventilated. At the end of the bedroom hallway is a large main bath.



DOUBLE WINDOWS

The living room runs the depth of the house, making it over 18 feet long, and has double windows at front and back. A small dining room is adjacent to the kitchen, which is arranged corridor style, with appliances and cabinets lined up along opposite walls.

The second apartment has three bedrooms, placed at the back of the floor plan. All are convenient to the bath.

The apartment at left is a three-bedroom plan, while the one at right has two bedrooms, in each, dining room and kitchen combine.

The Greenlawn's apartments are identical, with one bedroom, a living room, bath and combination kitchen and dining area.

The living room is at front, with two full-length windows looking out on the yard. As in the other apartment plan, kitchen and dining areas are combined.

The Vanderbilt comprises 31,280 cubic feet.

IDENTICAL APARTMENTS

In the Greenlawn, another two-family plan, both a...ments are identical.

The living room — almost square—with a multi-paned picture window, is at front. The kitchen, which opens on a back porch, is combined with a dining area. There's one bedroom and a good-sized bath with a large linen closet. Each apartment has its own basement area.

The Greenlawn comprises 26,120 cubic feet.

Insulation Is Low-Cost Comfort Item

How much does year-round comfort cost? Practically nothing when you insulate your home, because insulation pays for itself in just a few short years! You get a yearly dividend in the form of lower fuel bills and increased comfort. Insulation will heat-proof your home in summer and seal in heat in winter.

There are many types of insulating materials to suit your needs and your budget. Reflective aluminum sheeting is easy to install in attic rafters. There is a lightweight mineral wool insulation which is poured, or blown, into walls and ceiling. Batt or blanket type insulation is used in sidewalls and attic rafters.

Insulation board — in panels, planks or tile sizes — is an inexpensive way to shut out cold and reduce noises.

Insulation can be effectively used in old as well as new homes. Call your local insulation expert today for a free estimate on insulation for your home. Enjoy a comfortable home this winter!

LOW-COST STORM DOOR

A screen door can be quickly converted into a storm door at a low cost by covering the wire screening with translucent wire cloth. Tack the wire cloth to the door frame, using enough tacks so that it will not be torn off in a high wind. Apply masking tape around the edge of the wire cloth to make a tight joint.

All National League Clubs Split Holiday Double Bills

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Memorial Day in the National League might have been renamed Treadmill Day as all teams played doubleheaders but none of them went forward or backward.

All teams won one and lost one, leaving Cincinnati still atop the loop with a 1½ game lead over second - place Brooklyn Dodgers and two games ahead of Milwaukee Braves.

Cincinnati rallied for four seventh-inning runs on homers by Gus Bell and Frank Robinson to beat St. Louis in the second game 7-3. The Cards, with Wally Moon extending his hit streak to 22 games through the twinbill, won the opener 7-2.

Brooklyn beat Pittsburgh 4-2, then lost 2-1. Milwaukee defeated Chicago 5-2, but lost the second game to the Cubs 4-2. Philadelphia, still in fourth place, three games behind, defeated New York 2-1 in 10 innings, but the Giants took the nightcap 8-1 with Willie Mays' hitting streak reaching 18 games.

BACK-TO-BACK HOMERS

George Crowe, Gus Bell, Frank Robinson and Ed Bailey homered for Redlegs in the second game, with Bell and Robinson connecting back-to-back against loser Wilmer Mizell in a four-run seventh. Bell's was a three-run inside the park homer. Willard Schmidt stopped Cincinnati with four hits for his fourth victory in the opener, backed up by three-hit performances by Don Blasingame, who was four-for-four, and Alvin Dark. The Cards' Wally Moon hit safely in both games, stretching his string to 22 games.

The Pirates won their 11th game of the season and fifth from the Dodgers on RBI singles by Bill Mazerowski and Frank Thomas in the two-run fifth against Sandy Koufax. Bob Purkey won his third—all against the Brooks—by striking out pinch-hitter Elmer Valo with one run home and the tying run on first in the ninth. Duke Snider's two-run homer and Clem Labine's relief brought Sal Maglie his second victory in the first game in his first appearance since May 19 because of a troublesome neck.

CAME WITH BASES FULL

Relief pitcher Turk Lown came on in the ninth with bases loaded and two out to nail the nightcap for the Cubs and young Don Elston. Lown ran the count to 3-0 against Felix Mantilla, then struck him out. Ray Crone gained his first complete game for Milwaukee since last June 26 in the opener, supported by Del Rice and Billy Bruton home runs. The loser was Dick Drott, the kid who fanned 15 Braves last weekend. He struck out six before leaving in the seventh.

Ruben Gomez had a one-hitter for Al Bouchee's home run — for nine innings against the Phils, then lost it on Bouchee's single, two intentional walks and an infield hit by Curt Simmons. It was Simmon's 100th major league victory. Rookie Curt Barclay fourhit the Phils in the second game, settled early as Willie Mays hit a two-run inside the park homer in the first inning.

Lone American Remains in British Amateur

FORMBY, Eng. (CP) — Three Commonwealth players and one American reached the semi-finals of the British amateur golf championships Friday.

Leslie McClure, a gallant Scot with nine stitches in his split ear, fought in vain to stave off defeat but yielded to Harold Ridgeley, the only American left in competition.

The other semi - finalists are Arthur Walker, a wealthy real estate man from Johannesburg, South Africa; Reid Jack, a former Commando officer from Glasgow; and Alan Bussell, a 20-year-old Glasgow youngster.

Walker, 36, meets Ridgeley, 43, today in a 36-hole semi-final, while Jack and Bussell meet in the other semi-final.

BEAT 'ENGLISHMAN

Walker, recent winner of the English amateur—a tournament for which he is eligible because his parents are English-born—defeated W. J. B. Girardet of England, 4 and 3.

A highlight of the day was the competition between McClue and Ridgeley, who won 7 and 5. McClue, his right ear bandaged, played purely on nerve after walking into a driver swung by Dale Morey of Indianapolis during their fifth round match Wednesday.

He had nine stitches taken in the gash in hospital, but refused an anaesthetic because he thought it might make him groggy for the quarter-final match.

The sight of the Scot with fresh blood coming from the long gash was strange and pathetic for a peaceful golf tournament.

Champs Ready For Golf Day

TORONTO (CP) — Al Balding turned up for National Golf Weekend Thursday by firing a one-under par 71 in a practice round at St. George's golf club.

Marlene Stewart Streit, who accompanied the Toronto pro on the familiarization tour, shot a 77.

Marlene and Balding will play the same course Saturday to establish scores at which challengers from across Canada will shoot.

National Golf Weekend, sponsored by the Royal Canadian Golf Association to raise funds for development of junior players, started Thursday and will continue through Sunday. Golfers unable to make it this weekend will have a chance to try to beat the champs throughout next week.

The gross scores of Balding and Mrs. Streit will be matched against the net scores of all challengers, paying $1 a round.

Balding is the Canadian pro champ and Marlene the amateur titleholder.

Sam Hanks Sets New Mark In Indianapolis Race Epic

BY DALE BURGESS

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The Indianapolis Motor Speedway will have to get along hereafter without Sam Hanks, winner of the 500-mile race Thursday on his 12th attempt, but it won't soon forget the 40-year-old driver.

His record of 133.601 miles an hour, compared with the late Bill Vukovich's 130.840 mark of 1954, could stand for a long time.

Hanks and a splendid experimental auto which probably will revolutionize race car design were just too good for the rest of the field.

Jim Rathmann, 28-year-old Miami driver, tried desperately to catch Hanks for the last 64 laps but Hanks was pulling away when he finished 17½ seconds in front.

SHIMMIED ON TURNS

Rathmann, who also finished second in 1952, said something broke in the frame of his car and it "shimmied" so much on the turns that he couldn't match the front man from Pacific Palisades, Calif.

Hanks climbed out of his Belond Special, a horizontal engine dream by George Salih, and said, "That's it. I'm all done."

He said he'll probably race in Italy's Monza Autodrome "500" June 29 and finish his contract this year with a stock car team. Then he'll quit racing.

"Dad's going to win this one," Hanks said before the race.

It was a bold statement for a man who began driving on the speedway in 1940, when he finished 12th. He wrecked his car warming up for the 1941 race, spent the war flight testing airplane engines, and missed the 1947 race.

Until Thursday, Sam often was a contender but never won the pot. He was third twice, in 1952 and 1953, and second to Pat Flaherty last year in spite of a spin that damaged his car.

Sam led a total of 141 laps, good for $81,150 in lap prizes ($150 for each lap led). His total earnings for himself and Salih won't be announced until the victory dinner tonight. Their total take may reach $100,000 of an anticipated $300,000 purse.

The unofficial finish, subject to an overnight check of the electric timing tape, showed all of the first 10 cars broke Vukovich's three-year-old record.

ONLY ONE INJURY

There were only four mishaps during the actual race and rookie Mike Magill of Haddonfield, N.J., who suffered a back injury, was the only person hurt. He hit the wall on the northwest turn and Al Herman of Allentown, Pa., also crashed trying to miss Edmonds.

Many of the cars developed mechanical faults in the race's furious pace and only 17 were running when Hanks took the checkered flag.

Unofficially behind Rathmann and his 125.420 miles-an-hour performance were Jimmy Bryan, 124.238; Paul Russo, 133.819; Andy Linden, 133.646; Johnny Boyd, 132.41; Marshall Teague, 132.724; Pat O'Connor, 132.725; Bob Veith, 131.5, and Gene Hartley, 131.339.

Spain Retains Soccer Crown

MADRID — Real Madrid renewed her title as champion of Europe defeating Fiorentina of Italy, 2-0, in the final of the Europe soccer cup championship before 140,000 spectators in Chamartin Stadium today.

Gen. Francisco Franco, Spanish chief of state, presented the cup to Madrid captain, right half Miguel Munoz, at the end of the game as the crowd roared its approval.

Madrid won the game in the second half after playing a mediocre first period. The Spaniards came back like lions. The first goal came on a penalty which members of the Italian team protested.

Fiorentina right back Magini kicked Madrid inside right Mateos within the area. The Italians said Mateos was offside at the time. Referee Leo Horn of the Netherlands did not allow the protest after consulting the linesmen and Di Stefano scored at 70 minutes.

The second Madrid tally was a beautiful shot after an individual play by outside left Francisco Gemez at 76 minutes.

The Italians took their defeat philosophically and embraced the Madrid players warmly at the end of the game. They were given a big hand by the crowd.

SAM HANKS WINS .... INDIANAPOLIS '500' RACE

Sam Hanks roared to victory yesterday in the 500-mile Indianapolis Speedway Classic at an average speed of 135.6 m.p.h. to become the 34th consecutive winner on Firestone tires.

... but Indianapolis drivers agree

"The real winner at Indianapolis is YOU!"

As speeds increase at Indianapolis, Firestone engineers have had to develop tires strong enough to withstand the punishment of this 500-mile tire torture test.

Firestone has learned much at Indianapolis. From it have come improved rubber compounds ... stronger, safer tire bodies made from Rayon and Nylon cord ... skid-safe tread designs and many exclusive tire-building methods.

What this experience means to you. This pioneering has resulted in the ultimate in blowout-safe, puncture-safe, skid-safe tires—the tires you need on today's highways.

Chisox Wigwams Tribe In Doubleheader As Yankees Split With Nats

Sport Slices

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Not so many years ago Canadian football was a hand-to-mouth affair, a toddling youngster that was getting barely sufficient financial milk to maintain subsistence.

Then it started to grow. As the years passed and the gridiron bug started to bite the public, some of the dreamers had visions of fantastic things to come. Now the toddling youngster has mushroomed into a business giant of fabulous proportions.

This year nine Canadian professional clubs have launched into a spending bee that might lead to the edge of oblivion if not bankruptcy. They will spent close to five million dollars on players from the United States and some from Canada.

A place in the current issue of McLean's says "businessmen who warned five years ago that football budgets of $300,000 would lead to ruin are now budgeting $500,000. At least three clubs, Calgary, Hamilton, Ottawa, and likely Regina will need larger stadiums to survive.

Since that memorable day in 1948 when the Calgary Stampeders stormed out of the west bringing all the color and pageantry of the prairies — and took the Grey Cup back with them — the country has become football mad. But the question is can the big mushroom of flim ardirom stand this spending?

Such men as Sydney Hailer, commissioner of western football and Leo Dandurand, prexy of the Montreal Alouettes, say "Yes." Other men such as James McCaffrey, Ottawa; Dan McKenzie, Regina; Frank "Pep" Dutton, Calgary and Jake Gaudaur, Hamilton, say "No."

McLean's details the picture in the following.

Vancouver Lions will spend $515,000 this year but they still expect to make a $50,000 profit. Last year the Lions had $85,000 on the right side of the ledger. Lions' manager Herb Capozzi says "there's no reason to worry about. All the clubs losing money need is to win."

The Grey Cup champions from Edmonton made $50,-000 on an income of a half million last year but ti was all thanks to their playoff wins, worth$90,000."Football clubs are not yet prohibitive" says president Cecil Ross. "but they're working that way." Coach Frank Ivy's men are the highest paid in Canada.

It hasn't been so good with the Calgary Stampeders. They have shown deficits of varying size for the past three years. "The battle to exist is tremendous and the competition with other WIFV clubs with larger stadiums" says president Dutton, "but we don't intend to quit."

The Saskatchewan Roughriders look to other methods besides the box office to escape bankruptcy. They run raffles and make friends with every customer. They spent $430,000 last year; gate receipts wwere $250,000. Playoffs and fund drives raised the difference. "We'll have to think of quitting if we don't get more help from the province" says prexy MacDonald. The western clubs have a small pool to help have-nots.

The Blue Bombers from Winnipeg had a profit of $5,000 on total receipts of almost $490,000. "Providing we have no serious injuries, we expect to do better," is the opinion of president James Russell. The "Peg" favors profit-sharing for western clubs, "but we won't bonus inefficiency."

Toronto Argonauts lost $60,000 last year, their third bad season in a row. But with a new manager, Lew Hayman, they'll increase spending. "We will need $500,000 to break even," he says.

The Rough Riders from Ottawa had their best year (a profit of $20,000 on receipts of $390,000) but it took television and radio rights worth $100,000 to save them. "Since we started to import players salaries have gone beyond the reach of everybody," says McCaffrey, "and the situation is getting worse."

Hamilton Tiger Cats showed a small profit thanks to $150,000 from television, radio and concessions. "Our only chance of surviving is a stadium to seat 25,000," says president Gaudaur.

Montreal Alouettes, a privately-owned club, have never let the public look at their finances, but do not try to conceal the fact they are making money — perhaps more than any team in Canada. "Despite rising costs," opines boss Dandurand, "the future looks healthy."

And lest we forget tonight's the night ferocious Gene Kiniski takes on Pat O'Connor for the British Empire heavyweight wrestling championship at Memorial Arena. The two Lewins will be around and so will Fred Atkins and Bob Leipler. Looks like a good show.

Billy Pierce Wins Eighth Slipping Indians to Third; Yanks Split With Senators

Billy Pierce was a good pitcher in '55 — but it wasn't until last year that he finally had a 20-victory season. Most of time he was just "a good little lefty" behind Cleveland's Feller, Lemon, Wynn and Garcia and Yankees Reynolds, Raschi, Lopat and Ford.

Now he's the leading the league (and the majors) in victories, claiming his eighth with a three-hit, nine-strikeout (which upped his league leading total to 57) job against Cleveland that gave the White Sox a sweep of the Memorial Day doubleheader. Pierce's 2-1 victory, nailed on Billy's RBI single in the fifth, followed a 6-4 opening success and lengthened the White Sox' first place lead to three games.

Yankees gained a full share of second place, defeating Washington 9-0 after the Senators had won their fourth in a row, 5-1 in the opener, as the Indians slipped to third, four games back. Detroit held on to fourth, defeating Kansas City 6-5 in 10 innings and 3-2. Boston remained fifth, a half-game behind the Tigers, by beating Baltimore 7-6 in 10 and 6-5.

Pierce didn't allow a hit after the fifth inning while putting together his fourth consecutive complete game and finally edging ahead in his career decisions against the Tribe, 34-33. A walk and George Strickland's triple left it 1-1 for Cleveland in the 8th—the first Indian run off Billy in 39 innings—but two errors and an intentional walk loaded the bases against loser Mike Garcia and set up Pierce's cinching single.

Dick Donovan, who one - hit Cleveland last Saturday, was tagged for 11 hits in the opener but struck out five and walked none while driving in three runs himself.

Jim Lemon hit a two-run homer and a pair of singles as Yankee Gery Coleman produced two more runs for the Senators as Camilla Pascual beat New York for the first time. The right-hander, 0-10 previous against the champs, gave only two hits before leaving the game in the sixth when hit by loser Al Cicotte's liner. Yankees bagged the second game with a five-run third for Bobby Shantz, who won his fifth with a five-hitter and drove in two runs.

Mickey Mantle, one-for-seven for the day, became a non-switching-twitch-hitter for the first time in the majors in the nightcap, but hit into a doubleplay as he experimented with a righthand swing against righthander Ev Hermandez.

Jackie Jensen had himself a whale of a day for the Red Sox, winning the opener and breaking a three-game Boston slump with the first of his two home runs. He was five-for-seven, driving in four runs and scoring six. Bob Porterfield won his first, in relief, in the opener, and Dick Sisler gained his fourth victory as Billy Klaus and Jim Piersall matched Jensen's two-run homer in the afterpiece. Ted Williams was two-for-four, sitting out the nightcap.

Charley Maxwell's two - run double brought Detroit a ninth inning tie in the opener and relievier Lou Sleater than won his first with his first home run in a five-year major league career. Frank Bolling hit two home runs in the second game, with Paul Foytack winning his fifth on a throwing error by Vic Lower, who shifted from first to right field to replace the injured Harry Simpson.

KRETLOW TO BISONS

SEATTLE (AP) — Two former major league pitchers, Lou Kretlow and Joe Black, have been sold by Seattle Rainiers, the club management announced Saturday. No terms were announced.

Joe Black, one-time Brooklyn hurler was sold to Tulsa of the Texas League.

Leafs Win Two From Buffalo; Vees Take Pair

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Richmond still has a 1½-game lead in the International League today, thanks to the Vees' short southpaw, Jim Kite, who's strictly a throwaround guy.

He unloaded a grand-slam home run in the seventh inning for a 4-3 victory that gave the Vees a sweep of the Memorial Day doubleheader at Columbus after defeating Jets 6-5 in the opener.

Second-place Toronto kept pace, knocking off Buffalo's fading Bisons twice, 8-2 and 5-3, and Rochester kept rising in the flight from the cellar by beating Montreal twice, 9-1 and 4-1. Havana defeated Miami 2-0, with rain postponing the scheduled nightcap.

Kite's smash, breaking up a scoreless duel with Cholly Naranjo who had permitted only three hits for six frames, apparently startled Kite, too, as he weakened for all three Jet runs in the eighth. Vees took the opener as Jets blew a 4-0 lead with four errors. Neal Watlington's three - run homer got Richmond started.

SIX LEAF HOMERS

Toronto swatted six home runs in the twinbill at Buffalo, which drew 12,590—the Bisons' largest holiday crowd since 1949. Rocky Nelson, Lou Morton and Don Jethroe each hit two home runs for the twinbill, with Morton and Jethroe belting back-to-back home runs to win the nightcap in the 8th. Luke Easter hit two homers, raising his league leading total to 14, for the Bisons, who dropped 3½ games behind in third place.

Allie Clark hit a bases-loaded home run as Johnny Mackinnon won the opener with a two-hitter for Red Wings, who jumped from a last place tie into 6th with a sweep of the four-game series. Mackinnon, back from a 19-day layoff, gained his second victory with a no-hitter for 3 2-3 innings. Dick Ricketts won his fourth in the second game, striking out eight in an eight-hitter. Mauri Mozzali singled and doubled twice for Rochester's 11-hit nightcap attack. Gerald Grob, Both Royal runs came on homers—John Rosebboro's in the opener and Bobby Del Greco's in the nightcap.

Miguel Cuellar, Havana's 19-year-old rookie, won his second in his second start in organized ball with his second consecutive two-hitter. Marlins tagged him for only two singles, but he walked five. Angel Scull's RBI double in the third was all Cuellar needed.

LEGEND OF THE MUSKRAT

Muskrat helped his Indian friend Wisagatcak prepare dinner by hardening the bear's grease. He did this by swimming through the water with it.

As a reward, his broad, fleshy tail became thinner and smaller, allowing him to swim much faster. That is how the muskrat got his tail and why he leaves a smooth, greasy wake when swimming.

Durelle Knocks Out Wallace, Will Claim Empire Crown

By GERRY McNEIL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONCTON, N.B. (CP) — Canadian light heavyweight boxing champion Yvon Durelle of Rate Ste. Anne, N.B., retained his title here Thursday night and says he intends to claim the British Empire crown as well.

Durelle, 174, kayoed Empire champion Gordie Wallace, 186, of Brantford at 2:17 of the second round of a scheduled 12-rounder. Officially only the Canadian title was at stake but Durelle feels he has a right to Wallace's crown after whipping Wallace three times by decision and once by a knockout.

The fighting fisherman set up Wallace with a left hook and finished him with a short right uppercut. Earlier in the round, Durelle put Wallace down for a seven count.

FLAT ON HIS BACK

His eye streaming blood, Wallace lay flat on his back on the canvas for about two minutes.

He was nearly forgotten in the rush to Durelle's corner by wildly partisan fans, many of them crew members on the stoney-faced fisherman's fleet of boats.

Durelle was one of two New Brunswick fighters who claimed Canadian titles in less than 10 minutes of actual fighting.

In another scheduled 12-rounder 103-pound Lloyd Gordon of Saint John, N.B., knocked out Gaston Bisson, 106, Quebec City, at 1:35 of the first round to win the Canadian flyweight title vacant almost shortly after the Second World War when Pete Lamothe of Quebec City retired.

PLANNED EARLY WIN

Both winners said they planned on an early win. Gordon said he was in the "best shape ever" and had hoped to finish his opponent in the first. Durelle said he had planned taking Wallace "between the second and the fifth."

Durelle stalked his opponent from the start. In the first round he brushed aside Wallace's hay-making rights and fired salvos at the body.

Early in the second, a crushing right to the stomach bounced Wallace off the ropes. Seconds later another right opened a cut over his eye.

A sharp combination to the head sent him down for the seven count. When it arose, Durelle was waiting. Wallace took at least 15 heavy punches before a left hook set him up for the lethal uppercut.

It was the fourth time Durelle has beaten Wallace. He took three earlier decisions, the last in 1954. Since Wallace won the British Empire title from Ron Barton in England last year, Durelle has been after him for a match.

LAYOFF HURT GORDIE

Said Frank Bricker, Wallace's manager, "My boy is still capable of beating him. It was Gordie's long layoff that hurt him.

But, he added, "Every Anthony will have to be on his toes when he meets this boy."

Anthony, No. 1 contender for Archie Moore's world title, is scheduled to meet Durelle in Detroit June 14. Anthony kayoed Wallace in one round last December.

Durelle, in his dressing room, said: "A lot of people have argued about me winning by decision. From now on there'll be no decisions."

"Wallace," he added, "is a sucker for a right."

WEPT WITH JOY

Gordon wept with joy after his stunning knockout of Bisson. The fight began quickly, with Gordon forcing Bisson into inside exchanges.

"When I threw the hook, Bisson stepped into it," said Gordon, still sweating in his dressing room. "I meant it to be an uppercut. I didn't expect to get him so soon with it."

Said Bisson's manager: "He was pretty cold and didn't have time to warm up. It'd never happen again in a blue moon."

Said the still dazed Bisson: "I hit my head on the canvas when I went down. It still hurts."

Gordon said he will give Bisson a rematch "anytime." More than 3,000 fans paid $10,410 to see the card.

Hogan Leads Round Robin With 20 Points

NEW ROCHELLE, N.Y.—Ben Hogan, using a new baseball putting grip in warming up for a record fifth U.S. Open, fired a four-under-par 34-33—67 yesterday to take the first-round lead in the Palm Beach round robin with a score of plus 20 points.

Bantam Ben, two-time winner of this event in which a competitor earns a plus or minus rating by matching medal scores with other members of his foursome, chopped up Mike Fetchick, Ed Furgol and Gene Littler for the plus 20 which put him a fat 13 points ahead of Sam Snead and Australian Peter Thomson. They were tied for second at plus eight.

Hogan was putting well with his new grip as he cracked par of 37-34—71 over the rolling, wind-swept course. This gave him five points from Fetchick's 37-37—74 and nine points from Furgol's 40-34—74 and eight points from Littler's 37-38 —75.

Snead, who has finished second in the plus four times and at 45 still hopes to win Antonio's greatest golfing prize, went far off Hogan's pace, 37-37—74 and Thomson both shot 68's, which gave them each eight points against a 70 for Billy Casper and a 74 by husky Mike Souchak.

Dow Finsterwald took fourth place with plus seven on a 36-33—69 against a 70 by Ken Venturi and 72's for Cary Middlecoff and Dick Mayer.

Masters champion Doug Ford improved into fifth place with plus six, with a 34-35—69 against 71's by Tommy Bolt, Fred Hawkins and Jack Burke.

Thus, at the end of the first of five rounds the plus and minus ratings were:

Hogan plus 20, Snead and Thomson plus eight, Finsterwald plus seven, Ford plus six, Venturi plus three, Casper and Fetchick both even.

Bolt, after some, at minus two, Bolt, Hawkins and Burke, with Middlecoff and Mayer minus five, Furgol minus eight, Littler minus 12 and Souchak minus 16.

TORONTO (CP) — In 1956 trainer Charlie Lawson moved 130 miles to look at a foal on a farm at Durham, Ont.

It would be nice to report that Charlie bought it—Flying Atom—on the spot for a song and that it made him a rich man. That's just about what happened, but it's getting ahead of the story. Lawson wasn't particularly impressed by what he saw and headed back for Toronto.

A few weeks later the breeder, W. J. Porter, brought Flying Atom to Toronto, Lawson took another look, liked what he saw and bought Flying Atom for $600. That was the start of a success story that could be enriched June 8 in the 68th running of the $25,000-added Queen's Plate stakes at New Woodbine racetrack.

1956 SUCCESSES

Charlie trained the animal and the dividends started coming in.

As a two-year-old last year, Flying Atom started 15 times, was an also ran only once and finished fifth in the other 14, with $13,500 in purses. The brown colt won five times in the money every other time.

That's half the story.

Owner Charlie Stinson of the Bayfield Farm stable in Toronto was looking around for a top-flight 1957 Queen's Plate candidate. He bought Flying Atom from Lawson for $4,000, making it a juicy $27,500 on a $600 investment.

Lawson continues to train Flying Atom. Instead of the usual 10 per cent of purses received by trainers, he gets double that.

On his record as a two-year-old, Flying Atom is considered by some observers as a threat for the Queen's Plate which will be run over the 1¼ - mile distance this year. Thirty-seven Canadian-bred three-year-olds still are eligible for the classic and gross purse to the winning owner could be more than $20,000.

In his only start this year, Flying Atom placed second behind Third Cav, owned by E. P. Taylor of Toronto. Lad Ator, during the winter the favorite in the "future book," finished third, four lengths behind Flying Atom.

Lawson was pleased with the running of Flying Atom. The race was over only 6½ furlongs, compared to the 1¼-mile plate distance.

Incidentally, Stinson could have had Flying Atom for the bargain basement price. He was with Lawson that spring day on the trip to Durham.

Still on the plate: a likely starter is Porter Grata, black gelding owned by nine Toronto men. They were talked into buying it in 1954 by John Mooney, general manager of the Ontario Jockey Club. Mooney had a share of it, but when Porter Grata raced last year—two wins in six starts—Mooney decided it best to drop out of the picture.

Porter Grata was 12-1 in the last callover.

Pacific League Will Demand Reparations

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Pacific Coast League last night to fight a "brutally handled" plan to move National League teams to San Francisco and Los Angeles but will demand reparations, its president says.

Leslie O'Connor said Thursday this league would expect the National League to "pay just compensation," which it "can well afford" in light of the gate funds which are being "preferred to induce the shift of PCL territory."

O'Connor specifically singled out San Francisco's Mayor George Christopher as saying that local politicians, with National League baseball are guilty of "brutally handling" the negotiations. He rands it clear that the term "local politicians" also applied to those in Los Angeles. The National League must get approval for moving the Brooklyn Dodgers to Los Angeles and the New York Giants to San Francisco.

O'Connor called a PCL owners meeting for Monday at Sacramento to "explore all possibilities," which he said included possible damages. He said the majors have the right "to take our territory" under the PCL contract with the National Association of Baseball which controls minor league ball.

Visit to Obesity Clinic Covered on Medical Horizons

AT THE PARK — Hocus-Pocus Dane —Comedy star Stanis Hall is shaced under a hypnotic spell by guest Peaula Goldsmith in the CBC-TV production to be seen on the variety hilarious series Dean Allen Artists' new Bowery Boys comedy, "Hold That Hypnotist", showing for the first time in Belleville at the Park Theatre today and Saturday. On the same bill on Sunday and Monday is the feature "Tribute to a Bad Man", starring James Cagney and Irene Papas.

AT THE PARK — James Cagney, outstanding surveyor of hard-hitting films, has another two-fisted characterization in MGM's "Tribute To a Badman", showing today and Saturday at the Park Theatre, in which he is seen as a homesteader of the rare breed who "settled the West" by forged in a land where the strong survived. On the same program "Hold That Hypnotist", starring the Bowery Boys in their latest hit.

NEW YORK (AP)—If you want to start anyone talking about himself these days, merely mention one of two words: Diet or weight. It is indeed an unhappy age for the fat.

Medical Horizons, that most excellent of programs on the subject of medicine which comes on ABC-TV each Sunday, found a subject of universal interest when Dr. Goddard and his cohorts settled the obesity clinic at the Graduate School of Public Health of the University of Pittsburgh.

Speaking of how subjective the matter of weight can make you, I haven't been able to get that obesity clinic off my mind since Sunday. In fact, I have lost one pound. Although one's weight is of no concern to anyone but himself, a program such as Sunday's shows the immediacy of experience that television can bring into the living room.

No one will portray the all too human enjoyment of eating at the table and the total lack of the clinic when confronted by the low-calorie diet which had been worked out for her.

In her expression there stug-gled all the agonies of the menu, the desire to be slim and a flicker of willpower. It was pure eloquent on the subject of dieting than a hundred thousand words.

And how about the stout gentleman who used to enjoy eight bottles of beer a day? He had manfully reduced his daily intake to four bottles, but the weight refused to shed fast enough. The doctor, the physician who proposed a "compromise" struck the poor fellow like the voice of doom: "one bottle a day."

Although Medical Horizons packs a great deal of information and human drama into half an hour each Sunday, it sometimes could well use an hour. The analysis of the weight problem was such an instance. It could well have used the time to discuss the background of this preoccupation with weight that's sweeping a country.

Sociology, as well as physiological medicine, is interested in the subject of weight, the program emphasized. As a psychologist on the clinic explained, weight may be the result of one's seeking self-protection from emotional tensions.

"The value of will power in the matter of weight is often overrated," he said. "Unconscious needs can readily overcome will power. When people reduce their eating, something must be substituted for it."

Demand $600,000 Rental

Yankees Snap Money Whip 'Pay If You Want to Play'

NEW YORK — If and when the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants move to California, the New York Yankees will demand a rental of approximately $600,000 for the use of Yankee Stadium by the Cincinnati Redlegs or any other National League club.

President Dan Topping of the Yankees has said "we could not be averse" to sharing the stadium with another club—provided that the tenant met the Yankees' terms.

These would include a high rental fee and Yankee dictation of television and radio policy.

"When the Redlegs come into Yankee Stadium, they will have to sign a long-term lease," an baseball source told The United Press. "The Yankees have that thing all worked out and it will cost another club at least $600,000 a year to move in. In addition, the Yankees will insist on dictating television and radio policies.

The Yankees no longer own the stadium. Topping and his associates sold the park more than two years ago to the Knights of Columbus. However, they still are in position to dictate terms under which they would share the stadium with another team.

As one baseball official put it, "those terms will make the Redlegs think they're paying off the mortgage on the House that Ruth built."

The Yankee terms are regarded as somewhat exorbitant, but the Redlegs are believed willing to pay it. As the lone National League franchise in New York, playing in swank 67,000-seat Yankee Stadium, the Redlegs could be assured of an annual attendance of nearly two million fans.

Topping, in commenting recently about the prospects of the Giants playing at Yankee Stadium, said that any incoming club "would have to match the thinking of the Yankees on such subjects as radio and television policy, number of night games and the operation of the stadium club."

The stadium club is a plush bar and restaurant made available to box seat and season - ticket subscribers. It is regarded as a big attraction to the higher-paying patrons at the stadium.

At present, the Yankees pay a rental of approximately $600,000 a year. They pay an additional $250,000 for maintenance of the stadium and about $150,000 in taxes, running the total to about one million dollars The Yankees get back a portion of that money by renting the park to the New York Football Giants in the fall.

In the event that the Dodgers and Giants moved to the west coast, as expected, New York would forfeit American League territory. A National League club wishing to move there would have to obtain the Yankees permission.

Industry Should Take Interest In Sport

TORONTO (CP)—An executive of the firm which sponsored the Wnitby Dunlops, Allan Cup hockey champions, has suggested a royal commission or similar body should study Canadian sport pools.

Sport, rather than the cultural arts, reflects "the true dynamism of our Canadian society, " said George F. Plummer, vice-president of the Automotive Sales Division of Dunlop (Canada) Ltd., in a speech Thursday before the Downtown Toronto Canadian Progress Club.

"If not a royal commission, certainly a quasi-government, sponsored group should be set up to investigate the whole area of further development of participation in team sports."

Mr. Plummer also urged Canadian industry to take more interest in sport.

Czechs Hiss Russ Winner

PRAGUE — Czech fans attending the European amateur boxing championships here today hissed loudly when Russia's Vladimir Engibarian scored a decision over France's Claude Saluden.

It was the third time in the tournament that a Russian victory drew prolonged hissing from the crowd. Engibarian won the Olympic light welterweight title at Melbourne.

Russia holds a commanding lead in the team scorings with a total of 12 wins after 91 bouts.

est in team sports for its own benefit.

"Productivity at the Dunlop plant has never higher than during the latter part of the season" when the Whitby team was in the playoffs.

"Employees at all levels began to take a vital interest in the hockey team. Here was a subject on which they could all express themselves with equal emotion and authority."

Secretary's Job Exciting Says Barbara Salisbury

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — How would you like to be secretary to a star?

Take it from Barbara Salisbury, pretty girl Friday for June Allyson, the job is exciting, exhilarating and sometimes exasperating.

But she loves it.

At first it seemed like strange casting for Barbara, who has been an actress, model and showgirl herself. How would she react to aiding the career of another girl who had found success where Barbara had failed?

The answer lies in the fact that Barbara has been an almost indispensible helper in the Allyson career for four years.

Barbara was born in San Francisco, reared in Rockford, Ill., and started in show business before she was out of high school.

"My family were old friends of Bing Crosby's family," she said. "I got a contract with Paramount when I was still in school."

What happened to her at Paramount? Nothing. She was one of a vast number of starlets at the time in those lush, pre-war days. Only Dean Hayward, Ellen Drew and Evelyn Keyes of that crew made good. The others were dropped, Barbara included.

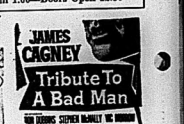
Still anxious to try her luck, she went to New York for a summer, promising her family to return and go to college if she failed. She never made it to college. She clicked as a Conover model, got a job in Hollzapoppin and had a fling as a Copacabana girl.

Then came another contract—to 20th Century-Fox. Four years and many bit roles later, she was dropped.

A mutual friend, writer Bill Bowers, introduced her to Dick Powell and June Allyson one night at a Hollywood cafe. Both girls have gravel voices and developed an instant affinity. When June left MGM, Barbara started with her as secretary.

"I could type, but I couldn't do shorthand, except for my own special brand," she said. "I hadn't done that kind of work at all But I learned in a hurry."

What does she do?



"I write letters of a personal nature, make appointments, break appointments, keep June informed of her engagements, shop for the children (not the groceries) but things for the children, shop for gifts, answer the phone and screen the legitimate calls from the cranks — somehow a few of them manage to get the phone number."

She also helps June study her lines.

"I've been Jimmy Stewart, Jose Ferrer, David Niven and any number of stars," Barbara said. "I've got a lot of laughs out of my delivery."

YOUR HOROSCOPE

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Saturday, June 1, 1957

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — While this day'f influences are not entirely auspicious, delicate matters, home and family affairs can be bettered in many little ways. Sound finances may be successfully promoted. But be sensibly cautious in all things.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — An ideal setup for your interests and the special talents with which you are endowed. Family and personal matters under good aspects; also buying, selling, making new investments.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — You will be under no strain mentally or physically if you act calmly, cheerfully. Be conservative and moderate. Friendly get-togethers, outdoor activities especially favored.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — A "comfy" period for such relaxing activities as music, wholesome entertainment, reading and not-too-strenuous sports. Do necessary household and other 'must' tasks early.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Sun's position indicates certain restrictions. Don't go overboard in any activity or strain to get more done than is necessary. Keep it a friendly day.

August 24 to September 22 — (Virgo) — This should be a restful, not-too-mentally-active day — appropriate for shopping, family affairs, wholesome fun, children's entertainment.

September 24 to October 23 — (Libra) — A bright outlook if you remain your innately understanding self. Romantic matters, the artistic professions, healthy hobbies and outdoor activities also necessary occupational tasks highly favored.

October 24 to November 22 — (Scorpio) — Your Saturn and the Sun's aspects now stress a need for self-control, mental restfulness. Day has many happy indications for attainment in all your interests. Be cheerful!

November 23 to December 21 — (Sagittarius) — Fine Jupiter vibrations. Benefits and monetary gains can be had through smart planning and management. Business interests highly favored. You can have a good day.

December 22 to January 20 — (Capricorn) — Saturn's position suggests avoidance of extravagance. Otherwise, the day is helpful, stimulating, and can be turned into a freshly profitable period.

January 21 to February 19 — (Aquarius) — There may be people who irk you; situations that irritate. But you shouldn't let either ruffle your disposition. Use free time well; take an interest in children's affairs.

February 20 to March 20 — (Pisces) — Neptune's aspect stresses caution in confidential matters; handling or manufacturing beverages, oils, anything liquid. Otherwise, the influences are generous for all useful and worthwhile activities.

You born today are among the Zodiac's most delightful, interesting and versatile natives. You have so much talent that it must be handled with astuteness, thoughtfulness. You are restless, at times changeable in mood, but innately faithful, loyal to high principles and a hard worker for achievement; will help others as you climb the ladder of fame. Curb impatience.

Adenauer Says West Prepares Vital Proposal

BONN, Germany (AP) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said today the West is preparing to submit to Russia an important proposal of "great moral significance to the whole world."

Adenauer made this announcement at a press conference a day after returning from Washington, where he conferred with President Eisenhower and State Secretary Dulles.

The chancellor said he could disclose no details now, explaining that consultations are still going on between the Western allies.

He hinted, however, that the proposal will be made in the London disarmament talks in an effort to win the confidence and goodwill of Russia in the search for a formula to relax East-West tension. The London talks now are in recess until Monday.

Adenauer warned that an agreement on disarmament could not be reached "in a matter of days." He said it might take "a year or two" to settle the first phase of international inspection. Then, he said, would be the time for a conference of the foreign ministers of the United States, France, Britain and Russia on German reunification.

Kidnapping Case 'Not Very Usual' Briton Admits

LONDON (Reuters)—A 26-year-old Londoner was accused in court today of kidnapping a young woman from her bed and imprisoning her for 101 days in an underground chamber in his back garden.

The "not very usual" case against John Bridal was described by the prosecution at a preliminary hearing to decide whether Bridal should stand trial.

The prosecution said that there were "no signs of sexual interference" during the entire time that pretty, 28-year-old Marjorie Jordan was kept in the electrically-heated chamber nearly 10 feet underground.

TREATED AS SLAVE

"If one can understand this case at all, what he wanted was a sort of unpaid servant," the prosecution said. "His attitude was almost that of a master toward a slave."

Miss Jordan, a London shop assistant, said Bridal was a complete stranger to her.

Bridal is accused of unlawfully imprisoning Miss Jordan, detaining her against her will from Jan. 5 until April 21, and of assaulting her causing actual bodily harm.

The prosecution said Bridal forced her to get out of bed in the early morning, gagged her, and tied her to him on his motorcycle. He then drove five miles to his home in southeast London and placed her in the concrete-reinforced underground room under his tool shed, the prosecution said.

He allegedly beat her when she tried to escape and took her clothes until she agreed to eat the food he brought.

The prosecution said that Bridal forced her to shovel loose sand from the underground room, often making her work from noon until 11 p.m. Later, he allegedly allowed her to enter his house to clean his room and do his washing, but threatened to hit her again if she tried to escape.

NOT FOR BEAUTY

VIENNA (Reuters) — Too much meat may mar a woman's beauty, Professor Franz Halla told the International Congress for Cosmetics. Too great an indulgence in pork and pork fat could lead to hardening of the arteries and baldness, he said, while over-eating of meat in general could ruin the skin.

PRINCESS RECOVERED

LONDON (Reuters) — Princess Margaret has recovered from the cold which kept her at home for the last two days, it was announced today. The princess will resume her engagements this afternoon by placing the foundation stone for a church at Newington, a London suburb.

Little Benny's Notebook

The telefone rang during dinner, and I jumped up, saying, I'll go.

You'll stay, if you dont mind, pop said. Kindly resume your seat and your dinner. I'll go, he said.

Which he did, and I heard him talking on the fone, saying. Hello. Yes, he's here, but he doesn't receive calls during the dinner period. This is his secreterry, good bye.

And he came back, and I said, Aw G, pop, who was it?

A gentleman who gave his name as Puds, pop said.

Proving it was Puds Simkins, and I said, Well heck, pop, maybe it was something important.

Goodness yes, ma said. It might of been a serious matter of life and deth, she said, and pop said, That thought hadn't occurred to me. If it really was something urgent and vital perhaps we'd better let Benny call him right back. Suppose Puds just struck oil in his back yard and wants to offer Benny a half interist. It would be a bad thing for the family fortunes if he changes his mind in the next few minutes, he said.

Mersey yes, ma said. Oh perhaps he's in need of immediate help of some kind. Maybe the family is being held up by a band of thugs and outlaws and he wants Benny to come to the resuce with his baseball bat and water pistol, she said, and pop said, What do you think, Benny?

Aw never mind, if it's important enough he'll call again, I said.

Which he did, after dinner. What he wanted being to tell me he thinks he's going to be allowed to make molasses candy in his kitchin, and he'll let me know for sure tomorrow.

Proving I was right about it being important.
